When thinking of the greatness of the central figure in the cantata, the Jewish prophet, who was lifted from the lot of a prisoner of war to be the third ruler in the mighty Kingdom of Babylon, one cannot help feeling surprise, upon some reflection, at how many truly great men, in various walks of life, have been of the same name. America's great orator, Daniel Webster, won immortal fame by his eloquence. Shakespeare, in writing of the "father of English poetry," styles him "Dan" Chaucer. Samuel Daniel, an English poet who lived in the 16th century, is said by Craik to be "in his verse always careful and exact." Then we have the champion of Irish rights, "Dan" O'Connell, whose eloquence, together with steadiness of purpose, did much service for the land of his birth. But to come home to Peterborough, was not Daniel McDonald a prodigy of physical strength?

These great men in their several spheres of life are now all dead and gone, but there remains a Daniel who still lives to do credit to the name. He is in the furniture business. His origin, commercially speaking, was not particularly brilliant. He did not start business with a big capital, as some have done, but with a very unpretending stock of goods started business on Hunter street six years ago. It was, to quote some of the qualities of the preceding Danies, by his "strength of will," "persevering labor," his "carefulness and exactness," and "steadfastness of purpose" in all business dealings, and above all to his most prominent trait of character, his enterprising. That he is in the position he is to-day the acknowledged leader of the furniture trade in Central Ontario. His success as a business man is indeed astonishing. But he is not the kind to look back; he is going to press on ever onward. Next year will see him advertised as "D. Bellegum, Manufacturer and Wholesale Dealer in all kinds of Furniture." He is now preparing to increase his already large factory to nearly twice its size. It might be here remarked that Mr. Bellegum has decided to throw off all profit from goods and give the people the benefit of surprisingly low prices during the holiday season commencing at the present date.

POLICE COURT

ASSAULT.

WEDNESDAY, Dec. 16.—John D. Shannon, of Ennismore, was charged with having assaulted, beaten and ill-treated George Curtis and Eliza Jane Curtis, also of the Township of Ennismore. A plea of not guilty was entered, and Mr. Edmond, acting for the prisoner, asked for an adjournment, so as to get witnesses. The Magistrate disallowed the request, and the trial was proceeded with. From the evidence for the prosecution it appears that on December 14th the complainant and his sister were driving along towards their home in the Township of Ennismore. A short distance before them on the road they saw the prisoner and others on a load of straw. As soon as the prisoner saw them he took a pitch fork in his hand and slid down the back end of the straw. From threats that had been made the complainant surmised mischief, and would have turned around and driven in another direction had it not been that the narrow road would not admit it. Having no alternative, he whipped the horse into a gallop and passed the prisoner's side. But in going past they received a blow from the fork in the hands of the prisoner. The girl was struck on the head, and as a result her nose bled freely. Her brother was not much hurt. After the blow was struck the prisoner ran after them with the fork, but could not overtake them.

The prisoner was called and admitted having intended to strike George Curtis, but he did not intend to hurt the girl. He stated that he had good reason for doing what he did. The Magistrate held the prisoner guilty and imposed a fine of $30 in the case of George Curtis and $10 in the case of Eliza Jane Curtis, and in default two months in goal. He also bound the prisoner over to keep the peace, placing the bonds to be given at $1,000, himself at $500, and two others at $250 each.

Mr. K. B. Edwards for the complainants.

The Saved Army and Gospel Army.

The Saved Army and the Gospel Army have been amalgamated. The Rev. M. Baxter, of London, Eng., who recently lectured here on the "Second Coming of Christ," is the President of the Gospel Army, and he was favorably impressed with the working of the Saved Army in Canada. Negotiations were set on foot and the result was that the two Armies are now one. The new Army will probably be known as the Gospel Army. The Rev. Mr. Baxter will be President, with headquarters in Toronto. Gen. Lindsay will be Commissioner of the amalgamated bodies, and the officers of the Saved Army will be continued in their present rank. The program of the Army, will be published in Toronto under the direction of the Rev. M. Baxter. It is to be a grand and otherwise improved, among the new features of the new Army, is that the new Army, Mr. Joseph McClelland, will edit the Trumpet since its removal from Peterborough, will continue to fill the position as editor. Mr. McClelland goes to Toronto in the m.-ring.

It is Simply Marvellous

Mrs. Thora Burr, of Adrian, Michigan, writes that her World's Wonder or Family Liniment cured her daughter of Rheumatism, which she had been afflicted with from childhood. It is infallible. Price 25c and 50c per bottle. And sold by J. D. Tully.

The discovery of the instantaneous process of taking photographs has been quickly followed in the medical world by a perfect and instantaneous remedy for all acute aches and pains, as Neuralgia, Tracheitis, Rheumatism, etc. This valuable remedy is called Tru's Lightning, and is sold at 15 cents a bottle by John McKee, druggist.

Serravallo's Bile Beans

You are allowed a free trial of thirty days of the use of Dr. Serravallo's Bile Beans. It is a healthy and permanent cure of Nervous Debility, loss of Vision and Hearing, and all other troubles. Ask for Serravallo's Bile Beans. Complete restoration to health, vigor and manhood guaranteed. No risk is incurred. Illustrated pamphlet, with full information, terms, etc., made free by addressing Voltaire Bell, Rue de Valenciennes, Paris.

Rev. J. G. Farnham, writes: "For some years my wife has been troubled with Tru's Beans, and has tried one thing after another recommended with but little or no effect. I have advised her to give Serravallo's Bile Beans a trial. Since taking the first bottle I have noticed a decided improvement, and can with confidence recommend them to all who are afflicted with the same ailments. This invaluable medicine for Rheumatism, Tracheitis, Neuralgia, etc., is sold at 15 cents a bottle by John McKee's Drug Store. Trial bottles given free."

AN EVENT IN ORANGEISM

THE BANQUET GIVEN BY C. W. SAWERS

W. M. F. O. L. NO. 80.

Is Largely Attended—Over a Hundred

People of All Ages—A Most Decorous and Orderly Conducted Dinner

The dinner given by Mr. C. W. Sawers, W.

M. of L. O. L. No. 80, at the Canadian Pacific Railway Hotel, on Wednesday evening, was certainly an event in Orangeism. Never was there any other meeting of the kind that has passed off in a more orderly and decorous manner, or a meeting where a keener sense of brotherly feeling existed.

At eight o'clock a reception was held in the lodge room, corner of George and Simcoe streets. Here the brethren and a number of the invited guests passed a pleasant hour in conversing with each other, interper-sued by the pretty plays by the Fire Brigade

Band. At nine o'clock the host addressed a few words to the brethren and invited them to adjoin to the hotel. The four marshalls appointed paired off the large gathering, and two by two, headed by the band, the brethren and guests marched to the Canadian Pacific.

The dining hall had been beautifully decorated, and in a manner which showed that the Orangeans were truly loyal subjects. Along the ceiling hung festoons of red, white and blue bunting, while the walls were liberally covered with union jacks. In due time all were seated around the elegantly and substantially spread tables, with the worthy host in the chair, with Mr. McQuade, ex-M. P. of South Victoria to his right, and Sheriff Hall, of Peterborough to the left. Among other present were Messrs. James Stevenson, the prospective Mayor, Dr. Shaw, Messrs. Thos. Stave-son, Omamee, ex-County Master of Victoria,

Thos. Meacham, Charles Porter, of Porter Bros.,
B. M. Wylie, Keesee, Deputy Master of 484, J.

Whyte, of J. Whyte & Co., Dr. Clarke, Peter-

CONCERNING
CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR.

SENSEFUL AND SEASONABLE!

This is particularly the season of giving. Every body has, or should have, a present to make to some body else. The question of the hour is:

WHAT SHALL I GIVE?

Come to our FANCY GOODS DEPARTMENT and you will have a hundred answers. The more useful the article the more appreciated it will be by the receiver. Now in looking after Christmas presents, it should be the aim of everyone to select something that will be useful as well as ornamental.

Nothing can be more acceptable or appropriate than a nice WOOL HOOK or JACKET for a man; a warm comfortable CLOUT or KNITTED SQUARE for a lady; a pair of handsome fur lined KID MITTS or GLOVES for either lady or gentleman; or a nice SCARF or BILK HANDKERCHIEF for each and every body.

We have in addition many nice things cheap, fresh and inviting, and as the busy season is drawing to a close, all can be satisfied that they will receive a most generous money's worth.

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 17, 1886.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

"Rubenstein's Piano."

Mr. Belford will repeat this piece to night, by request. His rendering of it last evening was magnificent.

The Fire Brigade.

The members of the above institution will hold a ball and supper in their hall, Bimco street, on Christmas Eve. A pleasant evening is expected.

Sudden Death.

Not of any one in whom you take an especial interest, but of a very bad cold. One bottle of McCre's A. No. 1 Cough Remedy was the means of a prompt cure. Try a bottle. 2c.

Try Your Speed.

The Turf Club have thrown their gates open to public, so that those who wish to try their speed can do so on the Driving Park course and need not be brought in question for racing on the streets.

Personal.

Mr. D. Bellingham is suffering from the effects of a bad cold contracted while delivering goods to a distant part of the county. He is not seriously ill, however, and will likely be around in a few days.

Mr. Henry Denne has been confined to his bed for some time by a severe attack of lumbago. We are requested to state that the Mr. Denne who has just left for California is not Hugh but his brother Richard.

Presentation.

As Mr. Smith the Head master of the West Ward School has been promoted to the position of Principal of the Public Schools, the teachers and pupils of the West Ward School presented him with an address and a very handsome hanging lamp for his hall. The address was read on Wednesday afternoon at the school and Mr. Smith replied in appropriate terms.

The Ball.

The Ball which was to have been held in Bradburn's Opera House a few evenings ago was postponed. It will be held in the Parlor Roller Rink on New Year's Eve. A full orchestra of the Fire Brigade Band has been engaged to attend, and persons intending to be present may expect to spend a very enjoyable evening.

Entertaining Merchants.

The Port Hope Times says: "Peterborough is undoubtedly a progressive town, and a walk through the principal streets after dark, will convince any one that the merchants are a live lot of pushing fellows." The "after dark" reference to the number of electric lights used in stores. The Times thinks that our street electric lights are too close to gether.

A Costly "Catch On."

On Wednesday afternoon a boy named Willie Bradley made an attempt to "catch on" a sleigh as it was being driven along the northern part of George street. In his attempt he was knocked down and was struck in the face by the sleigh in motion. The blood flowed freely from his nose and mouth, and when he attempted to get up he fell again to the ground. He was driven to his home on Harvey street.

The English Elocutionist.

Mr. George Belford, the English elocutionist, gave a recital in Bradburn's Opera House on Wednesday evening under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association. The attendance was very small, but Mr. Belford gave those present an entertainment such as is rarely enjoyed. Several elocutionists of ability have visited Peterborough this season, and among them Mr. Belford takes a first place. The first selection was a suitable one with which to open the entertainment, as Mr. Belford's recital of how King Robert of Sicily, for his scolding reference to a religious service and his acrimonious meeting, was rebuffed and humbled, and finally restored to his throne on submitting to divine authority, was masterly and at once established him in the good opinion of the audience. The selection from Sheridan's comedy of "The Rivals" enabled the elocutionist to display his ability to suit his voice and manner to the character represented, for he impersonated the gentle but firm Captain Absolute and the ill and irascible Sir Anthony admirably. "Boots at the Holly Tree Inn" was hardly given with so near an approach to perfection but when the "Young Master" spoke, or the pathetic scenes were described, the recitation was admirable. "Rubenstein's Playing" was given with power, and the audience was consoled with laughter. The scene from "Richard III." was a masterly display of elocution, and "My First and Last Appearance on the Stage" was irresistible. As the unfortunate amateur recited his recitation the audience listened continuously, and appeared to be afraid to laugh aloud lest the unhappy youth might hear them. "The Revenge" was given with spirit and ability, and the closing piece, "The Charity Dinner," was another irresistibly humorous recitation. The whole programme was good, and it is to be regretted that the attendance was not larger, both on account of the character of the entertainment and because it was for the benefit of the Young Men's Christian Association. Mr. Belford will appear in the Opera House again this evening, when it is hoped that he will be greeted by a full house.

Belford Again To-night.

The last opportunity of hearing this splendid elocutionist. You cannot afford to miss it.

Christmas Ale.

For the finest ale in Canada call at Chamberlain's restaurant and ask for Calcutti's Christmas brewing.

Piano Tuning.

Geo. Gumprecht is in town. Orders left at Mr. T. Menzies' store or Messrs. Taylor & McDonald's store will be attended to.

100 Second Hand Watches.

All in good running order, suitable for both men and boys, at prices ranging from $2 to $10, at W. A. SANDERSON'S, the jeweller.

Run Away.

It's all over town. Don't be a clam and pretend not to hear it. Don't run away either, but remember that the best variety of plush goods, gift books, and Xmas cards is at SAILOR-BAY BROS., who are selling everything very low.

Christmas cheer at the Golden Lion. Every department full of choice new goods with many specialties for the festive season. Every intending purchaser should visit the establishment to be convinced of the variety and bargains now being offered by FAIR, VAN ECKY & CO.

"DANIEL"—On Friday Evening, December 18. Don't miss it.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Moderate to fresh winds, mostly fair weather, higher temperatures, light showers of sleet or rain in a few places.

Smith's Market.

Fresh haddock, fresh cod, fresh flounders, fresh trout, haddies, mackerel, bladders, ciscoes, etc. Malaga grapes, Catawba grapes, and to arrive, lot of western imported Concorda. Florida oranges, lemons, nuts and canned goods. Lot of very choice new hams from eight to twelve pounds. Oysters, the very best, bulk and New York counts. Poultry, game and everything usually kept in the market.

The Anniversary Services of the Murray Street Baptist Church will be held on Sunday, 20th Dec., when the Rev. Dr. Castle, Principal of McMaster Hall, will preach both morning and evening. On Monday, 21st Dec., the annual tea meeting will be held in the basement of the church. Tea will be served from 6 to 8 o'clock p. m., after which the Rev. Dr. Thomas, of Jarvis Street Church, Toronto will deliver his great lecture on "Men for the Age." Tickets for tea or lecture 25 cents each; for both, 35 cents.

Bazaar.

The ladies of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church will hold their bazaar in Mr. Cox's new office on George street adjoining the Bank of Commerce, Saturday, Dec. 19. Luncheon to be served from 12 o'clock until 2 o'clock p. m. There will be a sale of useful and fancy articles, thus an opportunity will be given to those who are desirous of purchasing useful and beautiful presents for the coming gift season. The rooms will be tastefully decorated and every bazaar attraction offered. Admission at the door 10c. Luncheon, 25c.

Sweeping Reductions in Underclothing.

Underclothing suitable for a Merchant. " " " " Clerk. " " " " Prince. " " " " Lawyer. " " " " Minister. " " " " Labourer. " " " " Scientist. " " " " Professor.

Underclothing in all grades and sizes now being offered away down below cost at Andrew McNeill's Haberdashery Hall, George street. Call and see them: the prices sell them every time. No better value in Peterborough.

Curling Notes.

The Curlers' Annual, of the Ontario Branch of the Royal Canadian Curling Club, has come to hand. It contains its usual budget of that kind of news so interesting to all who play the stone. The frontispiece consists of a well executed engraving of Mr. Henry Michie, of Fergus, President of the Ontario Branch.

A new departure this year consists of the publication in the Annual of two capital curlers' songs. The chorus of one runs thus: While dadlin bodies stay at home On hills o' life to think O, Be ours to join the merry game I got the roarin' rink O. This is sung to the tune of Betsey Byker. The first verse of the other song, which is sung to the tune of "When the Kye Comes Home," is as follows: Come a ye jolly curlers that put the curling stone, And help to sing the chorus I cauna sing alone: What was the grandest sight that ever yet was seen? 'Tis to see a lot o' curlers when the ice is keen. The chorus then comes in: When the ice is keen, when the ice is keen: 'Tis to see a lot o' curlers when the ice is keen. Mr. C. McNeill returned from Toronto on Wednesday, where he had been purchasing five new pairs of stones. Four pairs, Ailsa Craig, were purchased on behalf of the Club, and one pair of blue stones were purchased for himself. These make the sixteenth pair that has been purchased this season, at an aggregate cost of $240. They were all bought off J. S. Russell, Toronto.

The Peterboroughs are drawn to play against the Orillias for the Caledonia medal. Mr. J. Keith, of Lindsay, is appointed umpire, and the duty of naming the date and place for the contest is left with him.

The two risks that lately returned defeated from Lindsay are not going to stand the challenge of their "brothers" any longer. They challenge any other two risks in the club to play them a match the night the rink opens. They are willing to stake the oysters on the result.

Smallpox in Montreal.

MONTREAL, Dec. 16.—There are only 200 persons in the hospital to-day—the lowest number for many weeks. Seven reports of alleged cases of smallpox were made to the health department yesterday; the physicians visited 45 houses and verified 4 new cases; 14 houses were visited and 6 placed under quarantine. The vaccination committee will commence actions to-morrow against those who refuse vaccination. Not a single death from the disease was recorded in the city yesterday.

Bodega.

Spanish Wines, Portes and Sherries drawn from the wood, at the Parlor Restaurant of W. H. Chamberlain.

"DANIEL"—On Friday Evening, December 18. Don't miss it.

The Mexican Revolution.

LARRO, Tex., Dec. 12.—General Rios, commanding the Federal troops at Monterrey, received orders from the City of Mexico yesterday to depose Acting Governor Sepulveda and place the State of Nuevo Leon under martial law. Governor Sepulveda refused to vacate his office, and last night General Rios received orders to remove him by force and take possession of the archives of the office. He undertook to execute the order during the night at the head of two hundred soldiers, but was repulsed by Governor Sepulveda with the loss of three soldiers killed and several wounded. The troops stationed at Laredo refused to obey the order to depose Sepulveda, and have been ordered to Monterrey. It is rumored that a portion of the Bishop's palace was blown up last night.

Fell Among Thieves.

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—John Oryer, a ruddy, good looking man, of London, Canada, warmly clad in a fur trimmed overcoat, strolled down Broadway last evening, and was seized by "Grand Central Pete," a famous "bunco" stealer, who, after the usual formalities, induced Oryer to accompany him to a secluded room, where they met a stranger. Pete's pal, Oryer declined to play cards, whereupon the bunco stealer asked him to chance a $10 bill. He took a roll of money, $30 in all, when Pete's pal snatched it and disappeared. Oryer cannot identify the men nor the place where he was robbed.

Four persons Burned to Death.

DETROIT, Mich., Dec. 16.—Last night the house of Frank Knox, market gardener, just off the Dix road, near Woodmere Cemetery, took fire and was burned to the ground. In the flames perished Frank Knox, aged 28; Susan Whitman Knox his wife, aged 23; George Knox, their oldest child, aged three years; Frank Albert Knox, a baby in arms, aged nine months. The origin of the fire is unknown.

BELGRADE, Dec. 16.—The weather is intensely cold throughout this region. Soldiers at the front are suffering severely from it. A number of Serbian soldiers have been frozen to death while asleep.

BULGARIA ACCEPTS.

SOFIA, Dec. 16.—Bulgaria has accepted the proposal of the Powers for an international commission to demarcate the Bulgaro-Serbian frontier under certain reservations. She wishes the commission to consider fairly the recent victories of the Bulgarian Army.

SPLIT IN THE ROYALIST RANKS.

MADRID, Dec. 16.—A split has occurred in the ranks of the Royalist party, and the rival actions are violent in their denunciation of each other. A breach took place at a meeting of a Royalist club last evening, when a stormy discussion arose which culminated in an exchange of blows by some of the members. The section headed by Senor Canovas, y Castillon, ex-Prime Minister, withdrew from the club room. Senor Romero y Robledo, ex-Minister of the Interior, leads the schismatics. The Royalist followers were dismayed at the rupture.

CABINET COUNCIL.

LONDON, Dec. 16.—At a Cabinet Council yesterday views were exchanged regarding the draft of a scheme for local government in all sections of the kingdom alike, in other words, equality of parliamentary decentralization. It is believed the committee having this in view will be composed of Lord Salisbury, Lord Ashburnham, the Lord Chancellor of Ireland and the Duke of Richmond, the latter particularly as regards Scotland, aided by the Attorney-General, Sir Richard Webster. It is well understood the Cabinet agreed to keep the Egyptian military operations within the lines now existing.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Piano Tuning.

Geo. Gumprecht is in town. Orders left at Mr. T. Menzies' store or Messrs. Taylor & McDonald's store will be attended to.

Preparatory.

The village of Campbellford appears to be prospering. Last year about $31,000 was expended in building operations. The Herald shares in the prosperity, and was compelled to issue a double number this week, and promises a permanent enlargement. The Herald is one of the best village papers on our exchange list.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Moderate winds, partly cloudy or cloudy weather with light fall of sleet or snow, slightly higher temperature.

The Cantata.

The long looked forward to grand musical performance, the cantata "Daniel," which is to be presented by the Ontario Lodge of Oddfellows, No. 13, takes place to-night. The costumes, which have been manufactured under the supervision of an acknowledged artist in this work, are of a magnificent kind. Especially are the costumes of the King of Babylon, the Queen, the Prophet "Daniel," and the Prophets, especially gorgeous and striking. The performance, in which fifty-eight people are to take part to-night, was practised for the last time this afternoon. An overflowing house and a successful rendering of this grand musical event is assured.

Obituary.

It was with the sincerest sorrow that we learned this morning of the death of Mr. James Campbell. A short time ago he contracted a severe cold, which settled on the lungs, causing the disease, inflammation of the lungs, by which he was carried away. The deceased was a man who, by his quiet demeanor, commanded the respect of the whole community. He was a man of good qualities and good principles. He was born near Liverpool, Lancashire, England, and when he departed this life was in the 61st year of his age. He came to this country in the year 1857 with a capital of about $700, which, by his careful guidance, increased itself in less than fifteen years to an amount sufficient to ensure him for the remainder of his days a life of ease and retirement. In 1858 he came to Peterborough and opened out a grocery on Hunter street, three doors east of Mr. E. Hartley's music store, and by close application to business, in a few years built up a large trade. In 1863 he moved to the place of business now occupied by Mr. John Cameron, and continued in business until 1871. He then sold out his business to Mr. John Cameron, and from that time has lived a life of retirement. In religion he was a member of the Church of England and in politics a Reformer.

Entertainment and Supper.

Mr. Charles Porter, of the firm of Porter Bros., carriage makers, of Peterborough, gave a grand supper at his residence on Aylin street on Thursday evening, the 17th inst., to all the employees of the firm and their wives and other personal friends. Before sitting down to the bountiful laden tables, Mr. Porter, on behalf of himself and wife, welcomed them one and all for their presence, and called upon Mr. J. A. Stewart, the book-keeper, who made a brief speech of welcome to all. After grace had been said and all present had partaken of a hearty supper, the chairman proposed the "Queen's Health," "The Prince and Princess of Wales and the rest of the Royal Family," "The Governor-General," "The Lieut. Governor of Ontario," "The Army and Navy of Great Britain and the Canadian Volunteers," "The Mercantile Interests of Peterborough," "The Peterborough Base Ball Club," etc., which were all duly responded to by Messrs. G. W. Hall, W. H. Dayman, Sam. Fitzgerald, H. H. Wright, Joseph Batton, C. Lyle and others in neat little speeches. During the early part of the evening Mr. Lyle, on behalf of the employees of the firm, read an address to Mrs. Porter and presented her with a very handsome ball lamp, which was duly accepted. In a clever speech, Mr. Porter replied to the address, thanking his employees for the handsome present, and also for the kind words expressed in the address, and was really glad to meet them all to-night and hoped it would bind all together in closer unity. The chairman having vacated the chair which he so ably filled, the remainder of the evening was spent in short speeches, songs, recitations and dancing. Mr. J. A. Martin played the violin, and Mr. C. Lyle and Miss Fainstone the organ. After Aunt Lang Syne and God Save the Queen were sung, the very happy gathering was broken up just as the wee ones' heads crept around. There were about forty present.

The Anniversary services.

of the Murray Street Baptist Church will be held on Sunday, 20th Dec., when the Rev. Dr. Castle, Principal of McMaster Hall, will preach both morning and evening. On Monday, 21st Dec., the annual tea meeting will be held in the basement of the church. Tea will be served from 8 to 8 o'clock p. m., after which the Rev. Dr. Thomas, of Jarvis Street Church, Toronto will deliver his great lecture on "Men for the Age." Tickets for tea or lecture 25 cents each; for both, 35 cents.

Bazaar.

The ladies of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church will hold their bazaar in Mr. Cox's new office on George street adjoining the Bank of Commerce, Saturday, Dec. 19. Luncheon to be served from 12 o'clock until 1 o'clock p. m. There will be a sale of useful and fancy articles, thus on opportunity will be given to those who are desirous of purchasing useful and beautiful presents for the coming gift season. The rooms will be tastefully decorated and every bazaar attraction offered. Admission at the door 10c. Luncheon, 25c.

Risk Re-opening.

The Charlotte street ice rink re-opens for the season this evening. A few weeks ago the caretakers for this winter were appointed, and since that time they have been busily engaged in putting the rink in first-class order. The dressing rooms and platform have been scrubbed thoroughly clean, and the walls of the ladies' dressing room have been carefully painted. To-day both the skating and curling rinks are ready for their opening to-night. The ice is in excellent condition and no doubt there will be a large attendance this evening.

"DANIEL"—On Friday Evening, December 18. Don't miss it.

Sweeping Reductions in Underclothing.

Underclothing suitable for a Merchant. " " " Clerk. " " " Peppercorn. " " " Lawyer. " " " Minister. " " " Labourer. " " " Scientist. " " " Professor.

Pencil Points.

The cantata "Daniel" to-night. The ice rink re-opens this evening. The curlers will also re-open their rinks. And no doubt the skaters, as they glide along, will recall old times when they hear the merry and musical "Soup or up!" That inimitable Lindsay Post says that curlers carry latch keys at this time of year. A somebody has accused the Scots of being classed as the ten in ten. At least it is in Peterborough. The officials at the rink this season are sons of Merry England and the Emerald Isle. P. C. McGinty reports that a number of rigs are being driven about without having bells attached. He gave timely warning to several to-day, and will prosecute offenders if the nuisance continues.

Municipal.

It is altogether likely that all of the members of the present Town Council will be candidates for municipal honors for the year 1887. Councillor Cahill says that he has decided to stand for re-election, and Councillor Davidson is also going to stand at the same time more. Councillor McLaughlin says that he has not told anyone whether he will be out for a representative for No. 1 Ward or not. It is quite probable, however, that he will come forward on a nomination day. Councillor McKelland says that he did not intend to seek the confidence of the people this year, but certain individuals in No. 2 Ward had said that they would see by the voice of the ratepayers as to whether his action in the exemption affair was popular. He was quite satisfied to have the matter decided at the polls, and would therefore be at the service of the people again if they chose to put him back in the Council. Councillor Green says that it is not his wish that he should stand again. But he was not yet decided as to whether he would do so or not. Councillor Kelly is to be in the field for No. 2 again. Councillor Douglas says that he had a seat at the Council board is a pretty thankless job. But still he would not like to see an extravagant Council managing the town affairs. It needed a few canny heads to balance this set of representatives. Councillor Veiland did not intend coming out into the field this year, but it had been reported that the licensed victualler was going to put him out. Well, he was not the sort of man to be deterred from seeking the suffrage of the people by such threats or whatever they were. He was, therefore, going to give his opponents a chance at trying their hand at putting him out. Councillor Rutland, who has so long represented No. 3 Ward at the Council is again a candidate. In reply to questions by the Review reporter as to whether they would be Conservative candidates, the representatives of No. 4 Ward, Councillors Meenan, Keedy and Hartley gave the laconic affirmative "Yes."

Christmas Ale.

PRELIMINARY VISIONS

MODERNLY CALLED IMPRESSIONS, IF RESPONDED TO, LEAD MEN

Out of Darkness into Light—Some examples to Verify the Assertion and Lessons Deduced Therefrom

On Sunday, a year ago, the Baptist congregation worshipped for the first time in their new church on Murray street. To celebrate this event special sermons were preached on Sunday, the Rev. Dr. Castle, Principal of McMaster Hall, Toronto, occupying the pulpit both morning and evening. In the evening he took for his text, Acts ix, 10, "And there was a certain disciple at Damascus,

CONCERNING
CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR.

SENSIBLE AND REASONABLE!

This is particularly the season of giving. Every body has, or should have, a present to make to somebody else. The question of the hour is—

WHAT SHALL I GIVE?

Come to our FANCY GOODS DEPARTMENT and you will have a hundred answers. The more useful the article the more appreciated it will be by the receiver. Now is looking after Christmas presents, it should be the aim of everyone to select something that will be useful as well as ornamental.

Nothing can be more acceptable or appropriate than a nice WOOL HOOD or JACKET for a little girl; a warm comfortable CLOOT or KNITTED SQUARE for a lady; a pair of handsome fur top lined KID MITTS or GLOVES for either lady or gentleman; or a nice SCARF or SILK HANDKERCHIEF for each and every body.

We have in addition many nice things cheap, fresh and lively, and as the busy season is drawing to a close, all can be satisfied that they will receive a most generous money's worth.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, DECEMBER 21, 1886.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Literature Class.

Mr. Earle Literature Class in connection with the Y. M. C. A. will be held this week on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Wanted Immediately.

Twenty-five young ladies at Salisbury Road, Hookingford, for driving cases for their gentlemen friends.

George Street Methodist Church.

This evening a most interesting service will be held at the George Street Methodist Church on the occasion of the Sunday School anniversary. There will be addresses by the Rev. M. L. Pearson, L. Tovey and others. The primary department will take part in the entertainment. The public are cordially invited.

Xmas and New Year Presents Given Away. At the People's T Store. Every purchaser of 1 lb. of our Celebrated Tea can choose a handsome Present from 1,000 Fancy and Useful Articles. Never such value before. A trial solicited. HAWLEY BROS., Hunter street East.

Music for Stages.

The large list of graphs of the Rock Band Concert Co. are attracting much attention. This company plays on a large instrument made from steel, and also on 20 other instruments and are good vocalists as well.

Personal.

The Madoc Review says: "Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Macdonald, of Peterborough, have been visiting old friends in this village and neighborhood for the past few days. As both were great favorites when stationed here, it is needless to say that the visit has been an acceptable one."

Successful Sale.

The sale of farm stock and implements on the premises of Mr. James Galvin, Smith, was a very successful one. Twenty-two cattle were sold at prices ranging from 23 to 32 dollars each and 13 head of horses sold readily at from $120 to $150 a head. The implements, which were in the best of order, brought high prices. Mr. Chas. Stapleton conducted the sale.

Our prices for Family and Pocket Bibles knock peddlers' updwys. A. L. Davis & Co.

A Large Market.

Our readers will find in our advertising columns a very striking likeness of Mr. Gladstone, to whom even more than usual attention is being directed at present, in the uncertain position of Imperial politics. As to the current question, whether what is attributed to the "Grand Old Man" will end in smoke, Mr. Geo. W. Hall may be consulted with advantage.

A Fair Trade.

On Saturday night certain members of the perianthian fraternity entered a house in the west part of the town and asked for something to eat. A boy, who was alone in the house, produced the desired edibles, and after having finished their repast, the unwelcome visitors departed, apparently well satisfied with the treatment they had received. When the lander was visited, a short time after, it was found that the trunks had given proofs of their ingratitude by purloining three fat turkeys.

Christmas Mena.

Howden's meat market, George street, is now open for the Christmas season. The display is the largest shown this season in Peterborough, and is of the finest variety, embracing, as it does, all kinds of Sausage and Fancy Meats. Mr. Howden has taken particular care in selecting the choicest animals that have gone to make up the display, and a part of them have been stall fed for a whole year in anticipation of the Christmas trade. The people should favor their orders early, so as to avoid the rush on Thursday.

Jubilee Singers, Etc.

Prof. H. R. Brown and family will give an entertainment in Bradburn's Opera House on Tuesday evening. The company includes a jubilee singing quartette, and Prof. Brown is a musician and pianist. He will give memorable performances on Tuesday night. Madame Brown also gives examples of her power of second sight. Prof. Brown has shown us the following written by the editor of the Oshawa Herald:—

"Oshawa, Dec. 16, 1886.

"This is to certify that I attended the performance of Prof. Brown, in the Opera House, Oshawa, last night and was well pleased with it. We can recommend the troupe."

GOVERNMENT OFFICE

THE NEW INLAND REVENUE AND CUSTOMS OFFICES

To be Situated on the Corner of Charlotte and George Streets—Buildings that will be an Ornament to the Town.

As previously intimated in the Evening Review the plans for the new Customs and Inland Revenue offices to be erected in Peterborough have arrived and are to be seen at the office of Mr. J. E. Belcher, Town and County Engineer.

The new buildings will be situated on the corner of Charlotte and George streets, having a frontage of thirty eight feet on the former and fifty feet on the latter. Including the basement and the attic the building will be five stories high. The foundation will rise above the ground to a distance of four feet, counting to the tip of the pylon. On this the Belleville red brick structure will rest. The windows will be bordered at the top with a heavy arch of stonework, which, as it comes into conjunction with the string course, is elegantly carved. There will be five string courses of cut stone, and the window sills, columns and pilasters will also be of rock faced.

There will be a mansard roof on the building, faced with slate. The deck of the roof will be of galvanized iron. In the mansard roof there will be, altogether, four gables, together with several dormer windows.

In addition to the main building there will be a one story attachment, which is reached by a lane leading from George street and running along the south side of the building. This is the examining room. It is situated sixty-seven feet from the main building, and will be built in the Romanesque style of architecture. There is only one main entrance. It leads from George street. Passing up a flight of cut stone steps, and entering, there will be a vestibule 10x10. This will lead to a hall which runs north and south, 6 feet 5 inches wide. The whole of this flat is set apart for the inland revenue department. On either side of the hall there will be a large office 11x17 feet, with double doors and fan lights. At the corner of Charlotte and George streets there is another office 12x14 6, which, going westward, leads to another through double doors that swing at right angles. The examining room is 14x22, and is reached by passing through a private entrance at the back, or going through the main building. The second flat is set apart for the Customs department. A long room at the north end of the full length of the building, and is 17 feet wide. A hall runs down the centre, similar to that of the first flat, with clerk's offices on each side. The examining room is reached from this department by a stairway, which extends directly into it. The third story is divided off, similar to the second, but it is not yet known for what purpose it will be used. The basement flat will be used as a storeroom.

The walls throughout will be two bricks thick with two inches of space left between.

THE SCOT ACT.

The Official Proclamation Goes into Force on May First.

"GOVERNMENT HOUSE, OTTAWA, Thursday, 17th of December, 1886.

"On a report dated 11th December, 1886, from Sir Hector Langevin, the Secretary of State, concurred in by the Minister of Justice, in the matter of the petition under the Scott Act, 1878, of certain electors of the County of Peterborough, in the Province of Ontario, claiming that the proceedings had by the Returning Officer appear to be conformable to the Act, and that the petition has been deemed proper by the electors of the said County."

His Excellency, on the recommendation of Sir Hector Langevin for the Secretary of State, has been pleased to declare, and it is declared, that the second part of the Scott Act, 1878, shall be in force and take effect in the said County of Peterborough, upon, and after the day on which the annual or semi-annual license for the sale of spirituous liquors goes in force in the said County and every part thereof, and if it is found, then on the day in the following year; and if there are no houses in force in the said County of Peterborough, that then the said second part of the said Act shall become and be in force and take effect in the said County after the expiration of thirty days from the date hereof.

"JOHN J. MCGEE,
"Clerk, Privy Council."

Among the bargains Mr. Turnbull secured while visiting the wholesale markets are some ready-made Mantles heavily trimmed with Fur, which he is selling cheap.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for the district for the twenty-four hours ending from 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—South to south winds, partly cloudy or cloudy weather with light local drizzle or rain fall, higher temperatures.

Christmas Cheer at the Golden Lion.

Every department full of choice new goods with many specialties for the festive season. Every enterprising purchaser should visit the establishment to be convinced of the variety and bargains now being offered by FAIR, FARE, EVERY & CO.

Some lovely hand-made (children's) Jackets (with caps to match), Trunks, Fascinators, etc., for Holiday Presents at Turnbull's.

Smith's Market.

Fresh butter, fresh cod, fresh hounders, fresh trout, sardines, mackerel, bladders, caviar, &c. Malaga grapes, Catawba grapes, and to arrive, lot of western imported Concord, Florida oranges, lemons, guavas and canned goods. Lot of very choice new hams from eight to twelve pounds. Oysters, the very best, bulk and New York counts. Poultry, game and everything usually kept in the market.

Sweeping Reductions in Underclothing.

Underclothing suitable for a Merchant.

Underclothing in all grades and sizes now being offered away down below cost at Andrew McNicoll's Haberdashery Hall, George street. Call and see them: the price sells them every time. No better value in Peterborough.

Prang's and Raphael Tuck's Celebrated Xmas Cards at A. L. Davis & Co's.

For the latest in Canada call at Chas. Lala's restaurant and ask for Calcutti's Christmas Evening.

POLICE COURT.

CARLISLE vs. WEBBER.

MONDAY, Dec. 21.—His Worship the Magistrate delivered judgment in the case, Carlisle vs. Webber, as follows:—

The complainant complains that the defendant maintains a slaughter house within the limits of the Town of Peterborough contrary to the town by-law No. 287. The by-law absolutely prohibits any slaughter house being maintained in the town. The evidence proves that the defendant has a slaughter house on a lot lying between Park and Pungel streets, and that he slaughters there. Mr. Webber, for the defence, contends that under the Public Health Act of 1884 the by-law given in schedule A, which the Act declares shall be in force in every municipality in this Province, for which there is a Medical Health Officer and a Sanitary Inspector, is in force in Peterborough, and that under sections 8 and 9 of that by-law the defendant may maintain a slaughter house if it is two hundred yards from a dwelling and not less than seventy yards from a public restaurant under inspection under the Board of Health—that, in fact, the town by-law passed in 1873 is repealed by the statutory by-law.

The Legislature enforced that by-law in order to make some fair provision in the interest of public health; and every municipality must make its by-law in harmony therewith if they undertake by by-law to regulate the placing and management of slaughter houses. There is nothing, however, in the statutory by-law which says that slaughter houses may exist in a municipality, but simply if they are permitted they shall be subject to the regulations of that by-law.

Now the Town of Peterborough, acting in the same line as the Legislature, but going a little further, has declared that no slaughter house shall exist within the limits of the town. I think this perfectly consistent with the statutory by-law and is in any way affected by it; that the town by-law is in force and that the defendant has violated the by-law.

This question is an important one, and I believe affects a number of persons. But as I have only to administer the law—in this case a very good law—I give judgment against the defendant and adjudge that he do pay a fine of $20 and costs, to be paid in ten days.

THE DOMESTIC.

THE HUSBAND.

Dear wife, I am weary of seeing
You till every day for our bread.
While I am a poor helpless being.
The often I wish I was dead.

You never was accustomed to toiling,
Your hands were once as white like the snow;
While I watch you sit night and morning
Your movements seem weary and slow.

THE WIFE.

Dear husband, give over your worry,
My work seems like labor, I ween,
But I'm never compelled, dear, to hurry,
For I run the DOMESTIC machine.

It lightens by two-thirds my labours,
And makes all our garments so fine
That our clothes are the envy of neighbors,
Who adore the DOMESTIC machine.

THE PLANS SHOW THE NEW BUILDING TO BE SITUATED

On the Corner of Hunter and Water Streets. The Building to be a Handsome One in the Romanesque Style.

The plans of the post office which is to be erected in Peterborough, were opened at the office of Mr. J. E. B. Lecher to-day.

The new building will be much similar in style to the Customs and Island Revenue offices.

The building will be fifty-six feet high, and will have, including basement and attic, five stories. The plans show a frontage on Water street of sixty feet, and on Hunter street of fifty feet. There will be two main entrances on Hunter street, a side entrance on the west elevation for the reception of mails, and a private entrance on Water street.

The building will be a brick structure trimmed with stone. Most of the windows are to be arched over with cut stone, while a few have horizontal lintels. There will be a large amount of carving in the enclosures of the arches over some of the windows, the details being very beautiful. The roof will be a slated mansard one, the deck being of galvanized iron.

The whole of the first floor will be used for the post office. The plans do not show any partitioning off. This will be done hereafter. Four iron columns support the beams. To the back, provision is made for a vault. The second floor will be used as a dwelling.

The building will be a very fine piece of architecture—a building that would add grace to Broadway.

THE COLONIAL EXHIBITION

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—In the Mail of Saturday a list of exhibitors from Ontario to the Colonial Exhibition is given, and the only exhibitors from Peterborough appear to be, the William Hamilton Manufacturing Company, the Ontario Cane Company, and Wm. Forsyth. Why should not every manufacturer we have be represented? We surely do not want the impression to go abroad that those named are the only ones we have, when we possess Lock Works, Stone Foundry, Woolen Mills, &c. Look at the number from Bradford! They appear to have taken hold and exhibit every thing they have. I can conceive of no better means of advertising our town and our capabilities than by making a good exhibit. You will bear in mind that Canada does not compete against Great Britain or any other foreign country, but the contest is between the colonies only. The Government takes the exhibits over and returns them free, and the donors of the exhibits are not creditably represented. Let the Council take the matter up and appoint some one to secure exhibits. No time is to be lost.

Yours,

Peterborough, Dec. 22, 1885.

L'Espresso had at the head of its column for some days a challenge to La Minerve. A Conservative to find an intelligent, educated and honest French Canadian who will approve, and sign the signature, of the complete course pursued by La Minerve in regard to the execution of King and the affairs of the North-West. This morning La Minerve met out with letters from two Minerve.

The Northwest.

WINNIPEG, Man., Dec. 21.—A St. Laurent despatch says: "Everything is quiet around here. A good deal of disease prevails, but every known case of want has been met. J. McKee, Indian agent, is en route to Prince Albert. He has been visiting the reserves in this neighborhood. He found the Indians all peaceable and inclined to remain so."

A German Protectorate

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 21.—Advises by the steamer Oceanic say that the German man-of-war Nauticus has raised the German flag in the Gilbert group of islands in the Southern Pacific, numbering about fifty in all, and proclaim a protectorate over them. The natives are said to be civilized, and for many years have been under the influence of the American Missionary Society.

The Michigan Murders

DETROIT, Dec. 21.—Yesterday the officers continuing their search among the ruins of the Knock house, found the skull of the oldest boy, aged three years. Two bullets were found in his brain, showing that assassin had shot him as well as the mother and father before setting fire to the house.

Formal Entry

DUBLIN, Dec. 19.—The second trial of Wm. Sheehan for the murder of his mother, sister and brother near Castlehow, Roscommon, Cork, in 1877 resulted in the conviction of the prisoner, who was sentenced to be hanged on January 30. The spectators applauded when the foreman announced the verdict. The prisoner addressed the court protesting his innocence. In a former trial eleven of the jurors favored conviction.

A Supposed Murderer Arrested

ROCHESTER, Ont., Dec. 20.—A man answering the description of John M. Kishler, who shot and killed John Devine in Buffalo on November 25 last, and for whose apprehension a reward of $700 has been offered, was arrested here this evening by Chief Reynolds of Gosport, who had been informed by Constable Carter of his presence here. A full list of burglars' tools were found on the prisoner. The prisoner was taken to Gosport to await the arrival of word from Buffalo as to his identification.

Franchise and Autistic

DETROIT, Mich., Dec. 21.—The particulars of a terrible tragedy near Almonte, Mich., have just been received. Two sons of John Smith, a wealthy farmer, Cameron, 18, and Edward, 17 years of age, quarreled. Cameron swore he would kill Edward. On Thursday Cameron left his home ostensibly to go to a neighbor's. Not returning up till a late hour a search was made and his body was found in his father's hay mow, where he had gone, laid down and held a spruce extended with a knife, to his neck until life was extinct. As his brother Edward came to the find it is supposed that Cameron killed Edward and then committed suicide.

ARRIVED AT PARIS.

PARIS, Dec. 21.—Four children who were bitten by mad dogs in Newark, N.J., reached this city to-day, and have proceeded to M. Pasteur's house, where special arrangements have been made for their treatment.

DIED FROM HYDROPHOBIA.

PARIS, Dec. 21.—Two Hungarian soldiers, who have been bitten by a mad dog, are on their way here to be treated by M. Pasteur. On Saturday M. Ratin, died of hydrophobia at the Hotel d'Orleans, where he had been bitten. A week ago symptoms of the malady threatened, and the victim immediately left to consult M. Pasteur. The latter had gone on a short journey to see a patient. Disappointment, it is believed, depressed Ratin who at once succumbed.

A BLACKMAILER'S SENTENCE.

LONDON, Dec. 21.—Charles Mulvey, not a Member of Parliament, the gamekeeper who pleaded guilty, on Saturday, to a charge of sending a letter containing threats and accusations against Lord Childers with a view to extort money, was to-day sentenced to five years imprisonment.

IRVING'S "FAUST" A SUCCESS.

LONDON, Dec. 21.—Mr. Irving's "Faust" was a gorgeous spectacle, the closing scene probably surpassing anything ever seen on the stage. Miss Ellen Terry was extremely good. Mr. Irving is well fitted for his part. He played admirably what there was of it, but his criticism is not a surprise that he should produce so magnificent a play showing his personal so little scope. It will prove a great popular success.

CHOLERA.

COWEN ON HOME RULE.

LONDON, Dec. 21.—Joseph Cowen, Radical Reformer, member of Parliament elect for Newcastle-on-Tyne, has issued a manifesto to his constituents, respecting Home Rule for Ireland. Mr. Cowen was the chief of the exceptions made by Mr. Parnell in his manifesto instructing the Nationalists not to vote for Liberal or Radical candidates. Mr. Cowen says: "It is impossible for me to vote in support of protective tariffs for Ireland, the confiscation of the property of landlords in Ireland or to allow Irish members to legislate on home affairs in England, in addition to which I am a member of the House of Commons."

THE COLONIAL EXHIBITION.

A CORRESPONDENT calls attention in another column to a matter of importance, namely, the desirability of having the manufactures of Peterborough largely represented at the Colonial Exhibition at London, Eng. Other colonies are preparing to make the display from their respective countries as large as possible, in order to impress the people of Great Britain and all who visit the Exhibition with their importance and progress. Canada is an important colony; its resources are vast and almost inexhaustible, and the necessity for an exhibit at this Exhibition worthy of the country has impressed itself upon the Government. Facilities for sending exhibits have therefore been made, and the result is that the entries made by Canadians are very numerous. This is gratifying, especially as an American exhibition is also to be held in London, and the natural resources and manufactures of Canada will be largely represented.

While we feel pleased, as Canadians, that the appeal made by Sir Charles Tupper for a creditable exhibit from this country has met with such a hearty response, it will be a cause for regret if only three manufacturers of Peterborough are represented. These three manufacturers who have made their entries can make a creditable exhibit, but if these entries are not supplemented by others the visitors to the exhibition will not receive a correct idea of the manufacturing industries of the town, and the manufacturers that are not represented, as well as the town, will lose the benefit which might have been derived from the exhibition, and their loss will be the gain of other manufacturers in other towns.

The matter is important and no time is to be lost if Peterborough is to be adequately represented at this exhibition.

THE STREAMS BILL.

HERON papers endeavor to make the people believe the Privy Council decided against the Dominion on the Streams Bill question. The Streams Bill was never before the Privy Council and they gave no decision upon it.

A case regarding improvements on a stream used by lumbermen was before the courts. One of the litigants was a political friend of the Mowat Government, and that Government attempted to aid him by passing a bill through the Legislature which legislated on the point at issue. The Dominion Government, believing that the Legislature should not interfere with cases before the courts, disallowed the bill. The case was finally decided by the Privy Council in favor of the friend of the Mowat Government, and as a proof of their friendship, they having not been able to assist him by legislation, they took a large sum from the Provincial Treasury to help him pay his expenses in the suit.

The Reform papers should be careful about referring to this matter, for the people may want to know why they should be required to pay the expenses incurred by a private individual in a private law suit.

FOLLOWED MR. JOLY.

Another Reform Magazine on Account of the Elii Agitation.

ANTHURVILLE, Que., Dec. 19.—Mr. J. S. Watts, member of Drummond and Arthabaska to the Legislative Assembly, yesterday forwarded his resignation to the Speaker. This step is taken owing to the Riel agitation in the Province. Mr. Watts knowing that his views on the matter are not in sympathy with those of the majority of his constituents.

Mr. Watts was first returned to the Legislative Assembly in the Liberal interests for Drummond and Arthabaska in February, 1874, and has represented the constituency continuously ever since. His father, also, represented the same seat from 1841 to 1851 in the Canadian Assembly. With the exception of Megantic, Drummond and Arthabaska is the only constituency in the Province, in which the French Catholics are a majority, that is represented by an English speaking member. Mr. Watts, who is known as a very clever lawyer, was a member of the education committee of the Quebec Legislature, and one of the ablest deputies in the Liberal ranks.

"Clutch" Donahoe.

In the case of United States Express Company v. Donahoe, the Common Pleas Division of Court delivered judgment on Saturday directing a new trial. The action is one against the prisoner "Clutch" Donahoe, now in the Kingston penitentiary serving a term or robbery, to recover from him $13,000 alleged to have been stolen from the company at St. Quebec, Pa. It is in this case that we have seen the money and the prisoner in the hands of the jury. The action is one against the prisoner "Clutch" Donahoe, now in the Kingston penitentiary serving a term or robbery, to recover from him $13,000 alleged to have been stolen from the company at St. Quebec, Pa. Yesterday George at St. John, N. B. ST. JOHN, N. B., Dec. 19.—A Mrs. Corbin, in company with her husband who waited out side, went to the house of the landlady for some clothes left there. The woman was told to go up stairs and get them, but no sooner had she got there than she was seized by a couple of rascals. On her calling out for help, the wretches threw her out of the window. She was picked up in a heap, having both arms broken and an artery in her leg severed. She is badly lacerated about the face, and her recovery is doubtful. The rascals have not yet been captured.

A Myriophorum Chrysanthemum. OTTAWA, Dec. 18.—J. Nedra, one of the city citizens, left his home at 8 p. m. on Wednesday morning with his wife and three children, apparently happy at home. On his return in the evening he found two of the children crying by the cold stove and his wife and children apparently dead. He knows no reason for her sudden departure. The two children have been placed by their father in the St. Patrick's Asylum. No trace of the fugitive has been discovered up to the present.

IMPRISONED IN A MINE.

Twenty Men Shut in by an Overflow of the Suquehanna.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Dec. 18.—The water of the Suquehanna river at Naticoke broke through the overworking of No. 1 slope of the Suquehanna Coal company this morning. The alarm was at once sent through the workings and the men hurried to the mouth of the slope and escaped. There were nearly a thousand men and boys at work in the various openings, but at a particular spot where the water first appeared there were not over thirty persons at work at the time. There were about twenty men in the face of one of the gangways, who are shut in by the water and rubbish that have accumulated in the west gangway of the second lift of the K. mine. A large force of men are at work removing the rubbish that blocks the gangways. The rescuing party are now within forty feet of the men, and there are strong hopes of reaching them in time to save their lives. The damage to the mine will be extensive.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Dec. 20.—At 8 o'clock tonight the rescuing party struck a mass of wet mud, and, as additional men were sent in to remove it with buckets as fast as it is thrown out. At 9 o'clock an official report was received stating that the rescuing party were within twenty feet of the fatal chamber, and were in hopes of rescuing the imprisoned men by 11 o'clock. At 11:30 o'clock a messenger connected with the rescuing party came out of the pit and reported that the rescuers were still vigorously at work but had not reached the imprisoned miners. From the present outlook it is doubtful if they will gain an entrance to the fatal chamber before tomorrow. As fast as the sand is removed it continues to fall in again, and the workers are now laboring under great difficulty. WILKESBARRE, Pa., Dec. 21.—At 1:30 a. m. a report from Naticoke says the rescuers finally reached the place where the men were supposed to be, but they were not there. The rescuing party is now pushing forward to another chamber with hopes of finding them in a few hours.

THE MURDER AT RENEW.

Brutal Ferocity of the Poles—Ten of Their Number Arrested.

RENEW, Ont., Dec. 19.—The scene of the recent tragedy here was a low grocery kept by a Pole named Prince. After the two Mulvillies and Conway had spent all their money they were ordered out, and refusing to go, Prince sent word to a gang of his countrymen. Pretty soon fifteen of them arrived on the scene armed with clubs, and attacked the three men named, who fought desperately, using chairs, with which they got the best of their opponents at the outset, but being drunk they became exhausted, and when it came to close quarters the Poles used knives. Conway dropped first, Michael Mulvill next and Edward last. The last named, it is said, used up four Poles before being overpowered. While the men were lying on the floor they were pumpeled with clubs by the excited and bloodthirsty Poles. After the three men had been conquered they were left lying where they fell until morning, when a Pole passing by them, went for a doctor. Michael Conway was found to be stabbed in the eye, in the side and the back of the neck, and in the side and back of the neck. A bill was cut about the head in several places and in the side, and one of his ribs was broken. E. J. Mulvill had several bad bruises on the head and was stabbed about the body. The three victims were removed to the Albion hotel, where Conway died on Thursday evening from loss of blood. Michael Mulvill is not expected to recover, but Edward is doing well. Ten Poles have been arrested, and Prince, the proprietor of the house, as Conway and Mulvill are well known in the woods, it is feared that a gang of abductees will arrive in the town and attack all the Poles they meet. There are many Poles in the woods also, and these may act roughly handled unless they clear out. A guard has been placed on the jail, fearing that abductees may make an attempt to capture the Courtenay and Lynch men.

GAS EXPLOSION.

Scare in the Quebec Parliament Building—Two Men Badly Burned.

QUEBEC, Dec. 19.—An explosion which might have been attended with very serious consequences occurred at the Parliament House last night. The watchman on guard within the building having observed a strong odor of gas efforts were made to ascertain the cause. One of the watchmen, named Dumaine, and an Indian plasterer from Montreal, who was engaged by the contractor, proceeded to the basement of the building, to look for a lighted candle with them. On entering the room, Mr. Kobitaille, chief messenger, at the south-east corner of the building, immediately under the apartment of the speaker, the gas with which the apartment was filled took fire, and both men were very seriously burned, and the hair being scorched from their faces. It appears that one of the gas jets had been left open, and hence the escape. The injured men were at once attended to. The Indian, whose name has not been learned, was conveyed to the Marine hospital, and Dumaine was taken to his home. He has a wife and family. The damage to the room in which the explosion occurred is very slight.

IMPRISONED SIX YEARS FOR DEBT. Extraordinary Experience of a Canadian in New York City.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—Today there was liberated from Ludlow street jail, in this city, a debtor who has been confined there for six years on an obligation of less than $500, which indebtedness he alleges was incurred through his having been made the victim of a confidence conspiracy a few months after his marriage. Owing to a certain decision given by the court of appeal it was impossible for him to regain his freedom by any process known to the law except by the organic one of paying the debt. Thus it is seen that in New York in the last quarter of the 19th century a poorer man can be kept in prison for six years, or for that matter sixty years, for a debt which he is unable to pay, and the law prevents him from paying. The man was a Canadian named Macdonald, and the circumstances have come to the knowledge of Mr. Ernest Wiman, that gentleman brought the matter before Judge Donohoe at once, but finding it impossible to get the prisoner released, Mr. Wiman with the aid and the prisoner was set at liberty to go in his young wife. Employment has been secured for him.

A Profitable Year.

Canon Farrar took with him from this country, as the result of his lectures, about $15,000 and a two dollar gold piece which one of his admirers had paid for a ticket, and which the canon intends to preserve as a souvenir. Previous to his visit Mr. Cyrus W. Field guaranteed him $5000 apiece for three lectures in New York City. When they had been delivered they netted $10,000 apiece. The canon did not expect to deliver any other lectures, as his purpose in making the voyage was to arrive at Quebec he received a proposal from a Boston lecture bureau, which has since paid $12,000 into his pocket. Dr. Morgan Dix offered the canon a good round sum for similar offers to deliver lectures on temperance were repeatedly received. But the canon politely yet firmly refused them all, expressing his determination not to preach and not to lecture on temperance for money.—Brooklyn Times. Advertiser.

"Father," he asked in his childish way, "supposing you owned a silver mine way out in Nevada, and you were afraid it would spoil the weather?"
 "Spoil it how?"
 "Well, I don't know how, but the boys all say you had to go out to carry it through, and I was going to ask—"
 "That's enough, sir. It's already four minutes past your usual bedtime. You go to bed and let the boys say so."

The oldest and most reliable brand of cigars in the market. Free from all chemicals and artificial flavorings.
 "El Padre" Cigars.
 Universally acknowledged to be the finest tobacco manufactured. Don't be persuaded to take other brands. No chemicals or artificial flavorings used.

S. Davis & Sons have moved into their new mammoth factory, the finest of its kind in America. They are the only cigar manufacturers in Canada who manufacture their own cigars and packing cases, which industry gives employment to sixty hands.

Beware of cheap artificially flavored for the purpose of hiding the poor quality of tobacco used in flavored cigars. In-lit upon having the reliable brands—"CABLE" and "El Padre."

A trial will convince the most skeptical that S. Davis & Sons' manufacture of cigars are superior in every respect to any in Canada.

Prize medals against the world were awarded to S. Davis & Sons, of Montreal, for their manufacture of cigars, at Paris, 1867, Centennial, 1876, Montreal, 1883-85.

CONCERNING
CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR.

SENSIBLE AND SEASONABLE!

This is particularly the season of giving. Every body has or should have, a present to make to some body else. The question of the hour is

WHAT SHALL I GIVE?

Come to our FANCY GOODS DEPARTMENT and you will have a hundred answers. The more useful the article the more appreciated it will be by the receiver. Now in looking after Christmas presents, it should be the aim of everyone to select something that will be useful as well as ornamental.

Nothing can be more acceptable or appropriate than a nice WOOL HOOD or JACKET for a little girl; a warm comfortable CLOAK or KNITTED SQUARE for a lady; a pair of handsome fur top lined KID MITTS or GLOVES for either lady or gentleman; or a nice SCARF or SILK HANDKERCHIEF for each and every body.

We have in addition many nice things cheap, fresh and inviting, and as the busy season is drawing to a close, all can be satisfied that they will receive a most generous money's worth.

Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 22, 1885.

Wanted Immediately.

Twenty-five young ladies at Salisbury Bros. Bookstore, to buy drawing cases for their gentlemen friends.

Piano Tuning.

Geo. Gumprecht is in town. Orders left at Mr. T. Menzies' store or Messrs. Taylor & McDonald's store will be attended to.

Young Men's Bible Study.

All young men are invited to avail themselves of the privileges offered by this class. It will be conducted as usual this evening by the Rev. F. H. Wallace, M.A.

Lifted.

A valuable milk cow was taken from a counter in Messrs. Fair Van Every & Co's dry good store a day or two ago. The party who appropriated it is known and if saving costs is any object the milk should be returned to the place from where it was taken, at once.

The Hop.

The Ball which was to have been held in Bradburn's Opera House a few evenings ago was postponed. It will be held in the Fair Roller Rink on New Year's Eve. A full orchestra of the Fire Brigade Band has been engaged to attend, and persons intending to be present may expect to spend a very enjoyable evening.

Apathy Now.

There is nothing that grates on the feelings of a visitor like being asked to play on a piano that is out of tune. For your own sake, then, and for the sake of your visitors, get your piano put in good order for Christmas holidays. Speak now, and Mr. Hyde (the quarter at Stuart's music store) will attend to the matter at once.

No One Ward.

Mr. John M. Noughton requests us to state that he will be again a candidate for our council for No. 1 Ward, by request of many of the ratepayers, including Lady voters, and that he will express his views to the ratepayers on the extension and other questions the week after next. Bravo John!

Another Candidate.

Cantatas are now "coming in," as the fashion magazines would say. A few nights ago "Daniel" was gone to an overhanging house and now there is to be another. It is to be held on Wednesday night in the Baptist Church school-room and is entitled "A Christmas Cantata." Santa Claus will be the personage to whom most attention no doubt will be directed by the younger part of the audience.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows: South-east and south-west winds mostly light continued mild weather, with light showers of sleet or rain in a few places by night.

A New Branch.

In addition to the many branches of education taught in the Convent De Notre Dame is that of a knowledge of powers of the violin, a branch lately added. The officials at the convent recently decided to have this branch taught and as a teacher they have found Mr. Julius A. Duncanson a competent one. Mr. Duncanson will commence his duties as violin teacher there on the 11th of January.

Christmas Services.

A special Christmas musical service will be held in St. Paul's Church on the morning of Christmas Day. The following is the programme: Opening voluntary, Pastoral hymn, Handel's Hymn, Hark, the Herald Angels Sing, Tunes, Hallelujah, Anthem, Behold I bring you Good Tidings, Goss Chorale, O Thou that Tallest, Handel's Anthem, Adagio Fugue, F. Novello, Solo, (Concert) Yes, Handel's Chorale, And the Glory, Handel's Chorale, For Unto Us a Child is Born, Handel's Concluding voluntary.

THE CHILDREN'S NIGHT.

The 49th Anniversary of the Opening of the George Street Methodist Church & C. On Monday evening an entertainment was held in the school room of the George Street Methodist Church in celebration of the organization of the Sunday school forty-nine years ago. Mr. J. W. Flaville, the energetic and painstaking superintendent of the Sunday school, occupied the chair and conducted the meeting in a very satisfactory manner.

At the opening the children sang a chorus of welcome, and, after the prayer which followed, sang the anniversary hymn. The pastor then delivered an address. After this came another chorus, a Kindergarten one.

The Secretary and Treasurer, Mr. A. Clegg, then presented his annual report. Owing to such an elaborate programme having been prepared, he said, it was not his intention to trespass on the children's entertainment by giving any long address, but to present, as briefly as possible, a few statistics, leaving other matters to be dealt with by the chairman and the pastor. Next year the Sunday school would attain its 50th birthday, its semi-centennial, and it was just possible that the services on that occasion might partake more of the character of a celebration in which incidents and reminiscences connected with the school would form a part. During the past year the school had been fairly prosperous. The difficulties met with had been only such as incident to most schools as large as this one. The number of scholars on the roll at present were: in the primary department, 194; in the intermediate classes, 277; and in the Bible class, 88. Total 559. The average attendance during the past year was 293. The number of teachers was 48 and the number of officers, 7.

The number of verses recited by the scholars was 16,832, making an average per Sunday of 230.

He read the Treasurer's report as follows:

RECEIPTS.
 Balance on hand, $45.92
 Proceeds of anniversary services, 21.70
 One year's collections, 191.00
 From papers, etc., 9.16
 Balance due treasurer, 14.81
 Total, $282.41

EXPENDITURE.
 Lesson helps, $107.24
 Bibles and books, 88.88
 Missionary donations, 28.00
 Printing, 8.35
 S. S. pupils, 25.00
 Incidentals, 13.11
 Total, $282.41

The income would be about equal to the expenditure, he said, if two items were left out—those of the missionary donations and the Sunday school picnic expenditure, but instead of cutting down the grant to the Missionary Society, the school would like to make it larger; they would be glad if they could devote all of the Sunday school collections to missions and charities.

A Kindergarten chorus came next, entitled "The Pigeons." It was a most amusing one. The Rev. Mr. Pearson made an address, and more Kindergarten songs and choruses followed. The Christmas carol, "The Thrush," was very beautifully and impressively sung by the children. The second last number on the programme was entitled "Building the Cross." Twelve little boys and twelve little girls each held a black. At a given signal they came forward one by one, each reciting a couplet as they laid the blocks on the rising cross. When it was finally built letters were to be seen on the face forming the words, "Jesus our Refuge." The cross was afterwards crowned and a carol was placed on top. The concluding hymn, "Gloria Hui," was sung, and the pronouncing of the benediction closed an exceedingly agreeable entertainment.

Miss Grundy, Miss Wells and Miss Keale, who trained the pupils in the Kindergarten choruses, were very successful in the work.

POLICE COURT.

DUNK.

TUESDAY, Dec. 22.—Robert Beverly was the only one charged with any depravation at the Court this morning. He acknowledged that he had been drunk. (The charge preferred against him) but did not know how it came about. He had come up from Gardenhill intending to go back to the shanties. On promising to return home at once he was allowed to go.

Christmas Beef.

A visit to Mr. Harry Winch's butcher stall will convince those who have seen his displays of meat in former years that he has filled his stall with materials this year that will in no way detract from his prestige as caterer to the public. In fact, his show this year eclipses anything he has ever attempted before. Meats of all kinds hang, beautifully decorated, in abundance. The whole place is filled to overflowing. A novelty in the decorations this year is festoons of half plucked turkeys. They are stretched out on lines in regular order and form quite an attractive feature. But the excellent meat itself is the strong attraction and, as one of those who were at the stall pointedly remarked this morning, "The roasts look better than the pictures that adorn the walls of the dining room. Mr. Winch, as he has ever done, has made elaborate preparations for the Christmas trade. Mr. J. W. Hall, of South Mountain, has supplied one prime Durham steer and two prime Durham heifers. That these cattle have been purchased from Mr. Hall is a guarantee of the good quality of the beef. Mr. J. Carter, of Otonabee, who never fails to furnish the best cattle for the Christmas and Easter market has supplied one Durham heifer. Mr. Jas. Brown, of Smith, a man who has had a long experience in feeding cattle, and knows in just what condition to send them to market, contributes one grade cow to Mr. Winch's display. Mr. Richard Tesson, of Cavan, also supplies a grade cow. Mr. Tesson spares neither feed nor care to bring his cattle to the prime condition. Mr. Wm. Denoon, drover, purchased some cattle for the Montreal market. But Mr. Winch stepped in picked out and captured one fine cow before the shipment went off. Mr. Winch has fed two cattle especially for the trade. One of them he took the first prize at the Central Exhibition and the other was also fully up to the mark. Lamb and sheep have been taken from the folds of Andrew Finlay, Otonabee, and John Maloney, Rivers of Huron, and pigs have been purchased from Messrs. S. Stewart, of Otonabee, H. Mohr, of Otonabee, and E. Sutton, of Cavan to complete the display. Suet, sausage, geese, turkeys and other fancy meats in abundance. Leave your orders early.

Recovering.

We are pleased to learn that Mr. John B. Young, Aylmer street, who has been dangerously ill for some time past with congestion of the brain is gradually improving. His many friends both in Peterborough and Warram, will be glad to know that he is recovering, notwithstanding his advanced age.

Prof. Hotchkin's treatment is practical, rational and successful. Its object is immediate relief and eventual cure. It is based on scientific principles and easily demonstrated to the comprehension of every intelligent person. The truss without steel springs or hard substances, having healed legions and unobtainable as well as Vorlancas, at the advanced age of 60 years, has been cured. Prof. H. having had 30 years' experience, he has become master of his profession, and DEPENDS the Hernia he cannot hold in its place. Prof. H. has invented an apparatus to hold the PILES in their proper place, which has been as successful as his other inventions. Go and see for yourself.

MARKS OF DISAPPROVAL.

The efforts made by the Reform Journalists to deceive the people regarding the combination formed with the Rialto agitators to defeat the Government have not deceived some members of their own party. The Hon. H. G. Joly saw plainly the turn affairs had taken and the nature of the alliance. He could not shut his ears to the unjustifiable language used by leaders of the party with which he was identified, as he eyes to the discreditable and dangerous methods adopted by that party, and to show his disapproval of the course they had adopted he resigned his seat. Mr. Joly is not alone. Another member, Mr. Watt, has followed his example, and has marked his disapproval of the tactics of Messrs. Laurier and Edgar by also resigning. Many Reformers throughout the country are not in sympathy with the attempt to punish the Dominion Administration for not interfering with the law and the course of justice to save Riel from punishment, and when the opportunity arises they will mark their disapproval in a manner as telling as the course adopted by Messrs. Joly and Watt.

And here comes in a question for the Ontario Reformers. If Mr. Joly and Mr. Watt cannot act with the Reform party any longer without identifying themselves with the Revenge movement, and therefore feel bound to leave the party or resign, in what position are the Ontario Reformers placed? If it would be wrong for Mr. Joly, as a conscientious man, a life long Reformer and a Canadian, to continue his connection with the party after the revenge movement had been inaugurated, it must also be wrong for the Ontario Reformers, Mr. Joly and Mr. Watt have recognized the best of the movement, they know that a triumph for the Reform party at the present time means that the Rouges of Quebec will claim it as upholding their position that the Government and the volunteers were wrong and Riel right, and they resign rather than have sympathy with the movement imputed to them. When the Reform organs cannot devalue their own party papers or leading members of the party as to the nature of the action against the Government, they will hardly succeed in deceiving the people generally.

Some of the small fry of the Reform Rebel coalition press are still taunting Sir John Macdonald with "skulking." Yet they are really hoping to overthrow the Administration on account of the steadfast courage of Sir John. A number of his supporters threatened him with vengeance if he suffered law and justice to take their course against a condemned criminal, but he declined to be thus frightened into a breach of his sworn duty to his Queen and country. So the Reform leaders have formed an alliance with these advocates of rebellion and murder. Hundreds and thousands of Reformers refuse to countenance such iniquity.

The planners of the Reform Rebel coalition, seeing the unpopularity of their alliance, are endeavoring to explain it away. But it remains on record, even in the Globe, that Mr. Laurier, the leader of the French speaking wing of the Reformers, publicly boasted that he would have joined the active rebels, if in their neighbourhood, and that Mr. Edgar, the deputy of Mr. Blake, the leader of the English speaking wing of the Reformers, publicly justified Mr. Laurier's boast.

REBELLION CLAIMS

Work Already Accomplished by the Government

OTTAWA, Dec. 21.—Mr. Alexander McGibbon, of Montreal, who was a Government transport and supply officer at Calgary, is in town. He is engaged settling small affairs with the Militia Department prior to the meeting of the claims commission in this city next month. Mr. McGibbon stated to day that the recent reports of a rising of the Blackfoot and other Indians in Alberta district were greatly exaggerated. Beyond a few cases of horse stealing in the vicinity of Fort MacLeod the members of the various tribes are unusually quiet. The American Indians across the border need not be expected to commit any incursions on British territory on account of stringent measures adopted by the Government. The Blackfoot, the strongest and most warlike tribe in the Territories, are still friendly. Speaking of the work accomplished by the war commission, Mr. McGibbon said that between 1,000 and 2,000 claims have been considered. In the majority of cases they were to recover the amount sustained by the loss of horses, on the trail or in action, broken vehicles, etc. Several enterprising individuals who thought to realize handsomely by claiming heavy amounts were disappointed to find that their bills were considerably reduced. One-third of the task is uncompleted but it will be disposed of at the approaching session of the board in this city next month. The amount paid out in Winnipeg so far as contingent expenses of the campaign, including claims liquidated, was about $3,350,000.

EXTRAORDINARY COMPOSITORS

Eight Thousand and Sixty-Two and a Half Lines in Four Hours

White House of excitement, says the Montreal Free Press, was created among the compositors of newspaper offices the other day by a match for $1,000 between two printers in New York—one from the New York World office and the other from the office of the New York Herald. Some interest attached to the match locally. Mr. W. O. Barnes, the World man, having been a resident of this city and a compositor in the Witness newspaper, where he had the reputation of being a very fast man, but not the fastest man of them. At all events, he is a fast man to-day, and the World has always been noted for its fast men, most of whom were Canadians. The Associated Press gives the following:

New York, Dec. 15.—The type setting contest between Joseph McCann, of the Witness, and W. C. Barnes, of the World, for the championship of this city and state, began to-day in the presence of a large number of printers. Both men appeared to be in good condition. Barnes finished his first 1,000 lines in 22 minutes, 30 seconds. McCann completed his first 1,000 lines a minute later. The prize is $1,000. At three o'clock, according to the rules, the men stopped work. McCann had set out 6,000 lines, and Barnes 7,501. Then each man was obliged to correct his own proof. When the corrections had been made and the number of lines deducted which each had lost through mistakes it was found that McCann had 7,000 lines to his credit, and Barnes 6,574. McCann was declared the winner.

FATAL SUPERSTITION.

A Philadelphia killed by His Belief in Witchcraft.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 21.—Geo. W. Kelpin, a house painter of No. 526 North Fifth street, died yesterday after six months' illness. He believed he was bewitched by Samuel Love, a wealthy citizen, who had loaned him some money to carry on his business. Dr. Thomas C. Williams, who attended Kelpin, says he died of nervousness the result of starvation. Mrs. Weeks, a housewife who lived across the street from Kelpin, told him that she saw a black cat on the side of each of her husband's feet, and that the cat was black and white and was the picture of a top of his head behind his ears and around his wrist. The treatment was to drive the devil out of the man's nerves and to treat him to full physical and mental rest. Mrs. Kelpin did as she was directed, but Dr. Williams called and told the patient that the treatment was ridiculous, and that there was no such thing as witchcraft. The physician removed the mackerel and onion poultices, and prescribed nerve tonics, telling Kelpin that there was nothing the matter with him, and that if he would take the prescribed medicine he would be about in two or three days. Mrs. Kelpin and her son, however, are firm believers in witchcraft, and they refused to administer the medicine. Mrs. Kelpin frequently told Kelpin that he was bewitched, and the man would rid himself of death.

A WELL-ARMED FOOTPAD.

And a Couple of Gentlemen Who Would Stand and Deliver.

There was a sensation in Simcoe street, just outside of Government house, Toronto, at about 10:30 o'clock on Monday night. The excitement was not confined to this thoroughfare alone, but it spread to Widmer street, thence to police headquarters, before it was abated. At the hour named Mr. John Laidlaw, the well known railway man, and Mr. Herbert C. Holt, were walking north on Simcoe street on the west side, about midway between King and Wellington streets. A young man approached them from the north and quickly covered the two gentlemen with a brace of revolvers. He demanded money. Both were perfectly cool and refused to give him a cent. The man then turned and fled. Mr. Holt was met with more determination than the other two and a bullet from one of the revolvers whizzed past him. It came so near striking him that he threw up his hands. By the time the man had reached Adelaide street, Sergeant Stevens, who was on duty in the vicinity, heard the noise, and sounded his whistle. There was the signal for a general chase and cry and soon a crowd of fifty people were in pursuit of the highwayman. He ran west on Adelaide to John through a couple of lanes and then made for Widmer street, the crowd still in hot pursuit. When he reached this thoroughfare he began to tire, and jumping a fence ran behind a house and into an arched. His pursuers soon overtook him and he was handed over to Sergeant Stevens.

At police headquarters he gave his name as Frank Leslie Clark, aged 23, resident at 123 King street east. Both the revolvers, which were small, harmless looking seven shooters, with all the chambers loaded but one, were recovered. The man acted as if he had been drinking. Clark was released from penitentiary on parole. He was formerly a clerk in the post office, and three years ago he was sent to the penitentiary for a term of years for opening letters. But he was released before his term was up. When he was released he turned a religious turn of mind, and was in the habit of repeating his fellow clerks for profanity. He was always looked upon as being a "good" man. —Toronto World.

How to Ornament the Christmas Tree.

Last year in many cities and towns there appeared certain churches and halls Christmas trees of marvellous beauty. The tips of the green boughs were glittering with crystals, and reflected the light in many beautiful colors. Some of these trees, in addition to the crystals, seemed laden with golden fruit, like an orange tree in an untimely fruit or snow-berry. Other trees were ornamented with hand painted flags of all nations.

One method of covering green twigs with crystals in a very simple and inexpensive manner is to put into a bucket a pound or more of alum, and pour a gallon or more of boiling water over it. Place the tree in such a position that the tips of the boughs may reach in the solution for some hours, perhaps over night. Repeat the process until as many boughs are tipped with crystals as will make the tree very beautiful. Or cut off the twigs, crystallize them, and fix them again on the boughs.

The golden fruit is simply made by gluing English walnuts. Hammer a long tack into the end of the walnut by which to suspend it after gilding. Wash the nut with the white of an egg with a feather. Then roll it in gold leaf, or powder, until it is well gilded. Or cover it with tin foil or lacquer of gold leaf, as the real gold leaf is somewhat expensive.

How Can I Help to Make Home Happy?
 The following good resolutions, if adopted, will make home happy, bright and cheerful:
 1st. To make home the centre of the first important place; not to despise the very smallest, but to perform even it as "unto God."
 2nd. To undertake no work outside which may cause the neglect of even that "small duty" at home.
 3rd. To think of the happiness of others before my own; for even "thine" pleased not himself, and went away, "leaving us an example, that we should follow his steps."
 4th. To try to add to the happiness of every member of my family, sympathizing in both what gives them pain and pleasure.
 5th. To end not by beating sin, and fight hard to overcome it; for "I can do all things through Christ who strengtheneth me."
 6th. To remember that God formed my home, and as long as he leaves me in it, to give myself to fill the niche in which he has placed me.

Content to fill a little space
 If Thou be glorified.
 7th. To improve the talents that God has given me, especially those that will give pleasure to others, remembering the command: "Whatever ye do, do all to the glory of God." —Faith and Works.

Queer Facts and Happenings.
 A novelty at Cumberland Md., is a game that grows louder than a revolver.
 A death from seasickness occurred recently on a vessel in the Gulf of Mexico.
 The only pig, their winter's pork, was sold by a family in New York, to obtain money to buy a ticket to a circus exhibiting at Kingston.

Twenty-three years ago, when stationed as a soldier at Liberty, Mo., W. R. Mason, of Mattoon, Ill., had $18.50 stolen from him. He recently received anonymously $100, being principal and interest.

Old Dave (the way of Canadian), Vt., fired upon a certain day to harvest a big pile of grain. As the light broke upon the field the morning he saw that it was going to rain, and, seeing a firebrand, he rushed into the field and burnt up his harvest.

A fat sheep was grazing in a field near Mount Pleasant, Pa., when a big bald eagle swooped down upon it like a hungry hawk. It perched its talons deep in the sheep's back that it could not release itself, and the sheep ran home, when the immense bird was captured.

Unexpectedly Judge George W. Ward, of Abingford, Vt., was confined to his room. He placed himself in a window in sight of the polls one hundred yards away, tied his ball to a key, and let it slide along a string attached to the ballot box. The crowd recognized him, cried his vote, and the ballot went into the box.

CABLE NEWS

The oldest and most reliable brand of cigars in the market. Free from all chemicals and artificial flavorings.

"El Padre" Cigars.
 Universally acknowledged to be the finest 10c cigar manufactured. Don't be persuaded to take other brands. No chemicals or artificial flavorings used.

S. Davis & Sons have moved into their new manufactory, the finest of its kind in America. They are the only cigar manufacturers in Canada who manufacture their own cigar boxes and packing cases, which industry gives employment to sixty hands.

Beware of cigars artificially flavored for the purpose of hiding the poor quality of tobacco used in flavored cigars. Look upon having the reliable brands—"Cable" and "El Padre."

A trial will convince the most skeptical that S. Davis & Sons' manufacture of cigars are superior in every respect to any in Canada.

Prize medals against the world were awarded to S. Davis & Sons, (Montreal), for their manufacture of cigars at Paris, 1867; Centennial, 1876; Montreal, 1883-84.

Still in Their Tomb
 WILKESHAIRE, Pa., Dec. 21.—Forty men are now at work at No. 1 shaft which enters the fatal chamber working on eight-hour shifts. One hundred men are vigorously digging away at the air shaft being raised every six hours. Fifty cars of rock and sand are sent out every eight hours from the shaft, but the treacherous quicksand, mixed with clay, keeps on rising in, so that it is impossible to form the idea of the vastness of the work that lies before the relief party.

In order that (than) Fum, of Denver, Col., might have plenty of room to make his flight into the Platte River, they treated him thus: His Chinese attendant, thinking he was going to die, caused the removal of the patient to a vacant building on Wason street. Here the wounded Chinese was placed on a bare couch, without blanket or covering, the windows and doors were opened wide, and Chin Fung was left alone.

CONCERNING
CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR.

REMARKS AND SEASONABLE!
This is particularly the season of giving. Every body has or should have, a present to make somebody else. The question of the hour is

WHAT SHALL I GIVE?
Come to our FANCY GOODS DEPARTMENT and you will have a hundred answers. The more useful the article the more appreciated it will be by the receiver. Now in looking after Christmas presents, it should be the aim of everyone to select something that will be useful as well as ornamental.

Nothing can be more acceptable or appropriate than a nice WOOL HOOD or JACKET for a little girl; a warm comfortable CLOAK or KNITTED SQUARE for a lady; a pair of handsome top knitted KILNITS or GUANTLETS for either lady or gentleman; or a nice SCARF or SILK HANDKERCHIEF for each and everybody.

We have in addition many nice things cheap, fresh and inviting, and as the busy season is drawing to a close, all can be satisfied that they will receive a most generous money's worth.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 23, 1885.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Wanted Immediately.
Twenty-five young ladies at Salisbury Bros. Bookstore, to buy drawing cases for their gentlemen friends.

Piano Tuning.
Geo. Gumprecht is in town. Orders left at Mr. T. Menzies' store or Messrs. Taylor & McDonald's store will be attended to.

A Literary Paper.
The Globe has published a Christmas paper, the reading matter in it being chiefly short original stories. It has an elegant title page and is altogether a creditable production.

Out Again.
Mr. Geo. B. Sproule is the first of the members of the School Board to signify his intention of again standing as a candidate for the office which he has so capably filled for the last few years. Mr. Sproule is a well known economist, and his chances of re-election are bright.

Personal.
Mr. W. H. Cooper, for some years Official Assessor for Ottawa and County of Carleton, and afterwards for Toronto, is visiting town looking after the interests of a Toronto company. Mr. Cooper is an old journalist, having been connected with some of the leading Toronto papers.

New Baseball League.
There is a movement on foot to organize a new Canadian Baseball Association against the International League. Mr. Harry A. Power, of Toronto, seems to be one of the leading spirits in the movement. He has written to the Peterboroughs to ascertain whether, in the event of the Association being formed, they would join.

See our Satchels, for good Goods and low prices they can't be beaten.
A. L. Davis & Co.

Better Shaking Contest.
A roller skating competition is to be held on the opening of the new rink at Lindsay early in January. The prize, a silver medal, is offered by the manager of the rink for the winner of a mile race, the manager having the privilege of putting a candidate of his own into the field. Mr. J. Sherrin, our local champion, is not decided as to whether he will enter or not. If the rink is a fair size he is of opinion that he will enter.

Barter for Bargains.
The bargains that the Bon Marche is giving are simply astonishing and people can only realize what bargains are when they go there to buy. All kinds of useful presents are offered at such a price as would pay one, even if the presents are already bought, to go and bargain and hold them over till next Christmas. Let everybody go to the Bon Marche and see for themselves.

For a good assortment of Cheap Millinery for the Holiday Season call at Turnbull's Showrooms.

Restraint.
The wise men of the borough have decided to legislate on behalf of the small boy. At the meeting of the Council on Tuesday evening a motion was carried instructing the clerk to prepare a by-law to restrain boys from sleigh riding down hill within the corporation. It is to all of the tobogganers also, so that they will also have to come riding down any hill in town. The unwary pedestrian will now no more be landed on his head, and the Riverside toboggan slide will be benefited—when it is built.

The New Wood and Shoe Factory.
Some of the most important pieces of machinery for Mr. J. Carey's boot and shoe factory have arrived from Boston. Mr. Carey is now negotiating for other requisite machinery. It is expected that the factory will commence operations early in January. The work of setting up the machinery and getting everything in order is now steadily going on. Mr. Carey deserves credit for the manner in which he has launched out. He intends to make no shoddy goods whatever, but will manufacture lines of the solid substantial sort. No doubt the Provincial trade is to be the future will appreciate his goods as truly as the local trade has appreciated them in the past.

A fresh stock of Goods' Ties and Silk Handkerchiefs for the Christmas Trade just received at Turnbull's.

To Appeal.
Mr. Geo. Webber, who was recently arraigned for maintaining a slaughter house within the corporation and fined, after the Magistrate had considered the case, has authorized his counsel, Mr. C. A. Walker to appeal. Mr. Webber says that he can get these living in the vicinity to testify that they have not been unreasoned for the last two years by the slaughter house having been situated there. Mr. Webber has, in fact, been acquitted on the charge of maintaining a nuisance. The question now arises, is the town by law of 1873 compelling slaughter houses in town? The Magistrate rules that it is, while Mr. Webber holds that it is not. Further judgment will settle the matter.

Some lovely handmade Christmas Jacks (with caps to match), Trusses, Trussings, etc., for Holiday Presents, at Turnbull's.

Harry Lindley
The Toronto papers are unanimous in their verdict regarding the excellence of the Lindley Company during their late prosperous season in that city. Don't miss the first night.

For Christmas Presents you will find at Turnbull's a nice range of Ladies' Satchels in Leather, Alligator and Fish.

No Quotations.
The New York and Chicago boards of trade adjourn from this evening till Monday morning. There will therefore be no market quotations in the Review from this date till Monday evening.

Enlarged.
The Morning Times appeared to day in an enlarged form. In a leading article the publisher expresses his satisfaction with the patronage he has received and promises further improvements in his paper.

Christmas Cheer at the Golden Lion.
Every department full of choice new goods with many specialties for the festive season. Every intending purchaser should visit the establishment to be convinced of the variety and bargains now below offered by FAIR, VAN-EVERY & Co.

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Strong winds and gales from the south-west and north-west, mostly cloudy weather with local showers, slightly higher temperatures.

The Funeral.
The quarterly fair, once so popular here, are now, to all appearances, dead. Mr. John Doherty, the market clerk, was the only one present at the funeral, which took place yesterday, not even Mr. James Brown, who has so long, with his solitary toad, watched the slowly expiring spark of life, being present to see the final fading.

Just in at Turnbull's, a choice lot of Silk Chemise Ties for Christmas Trade.

Nominations.
The nomination for Mayor of the Town takes place at ten o'clock on Monday forenoon, in the Council Chamber. The nomination of Councilors will take place at noon on Monday in the following places:—
Ward No. 1.....Minton School
" 2.....Council Chamber
" 3.....Mr. Velland's Office
" 4.....Mr. Lee's Shop

Smith's Market.

Malaga grapes, Catawba grapes, and to arrive, lot of western imported Concorda, Florida oranges, lemons, nuts and canned goods. Lot of very choice new hams from eight to twelve pounds. Oysters, the very best, bulk and New York counts. Poultry, game and everything usually kept in the market.

Another New Industry.
There is a project of another stove foundry being established in Peterborough. The McCleary Manufacturing Company of London, Ont., have decided to vacate their present premises and seek a more commodious place. The Mayor has been instructed to communicate with the company and invite them to send their representative here. The Council were unanimously in favor of granting the company a large lease of thirty acres of ground and exemption from taxation for a term of years.

United Workmen.
The annual election of officers of the local lodge of United Workmen was held on Tuesday evening. The officers for the current year were elected as follows:—
Mr. J. W. Patterson.....M. W.
" W. C. Barry.....Foreman
" W. M. Robinson.....O.
" John Irwin.....P.
" C. W. Havers.....Rec.

" J. Andrews.....J. W.
" Capt. Meade.....Trustee
Dr. King and Dr. Halliday.....Physicians

The Christmas Market.
The market this morning was altogether unchristianlike. The weather was warm, the roads were slushy, and the sleighs had difficulty in getting along. But the offer of fowl, the striking feature in to-day's market, was unpedestrian. Both the upper and lower markets were crowded to the doors, and fat turkeys, geese, chickens and ducks were offered in such abundance as to make the visitor wonder where the people were to come from that were to eat them. Nevertheless, the whole affair was well cleared out before noon at fairly good prices. Turkeys sold at from 70 cents to $1.25 each, geese at from 50 cents to 75 cents each, chickens at from 25 to 50 cents per pair, and ducks at from 30 to 70 cents per pair. Butter sold at from 16 to 19 cents per pound for print, and 12 to 15 cents per pound by the skinn. There was not much grain offered.

A Complete Outfit.
Mr. Wm. Howden, of the Phelan House, sends a spanking team of horses, well caparisoned, and an obliging and good-looking driver, to meet the incoming trains. The one complete outfit that has been lacking to make the outfit complete was an elegantly appointed sleigh. This has been supplied to Mr. Howden by Messrs. Porter Bros., the well-known carriage manufacturers, and as the new sleigh is driven up George street every day it attracts all eyes. There is nothing new and stylish about it that makes one stop and look before he is satisfied. The technical name of the vehicle is "The Landon Wagon." The body is similar to those of hacks, while it sits comfortably as low bod sleighs. The sleigh is painted parakeet color, while the body is plain black, relieved by the rich upholstery, which is of red plush. The lamps in front are of silver and British plate glass, while the driver's seat is well upholstered also, and the dash is carpeted. In fact, every thing about the sleigh is as complete as complete can be. The finishing touch is put on—that of making the make's name—in a highly artistic manner. On the back of the dash, in an unobtrusive position a little silver plate appears on which is engraved "Porter Bros., manufacturers, Peterborough." Messrs. Porter Bros. are establishing in fact they have established—for themselves an enviable reputation as builders of the finer class of sleighs, buggies, carriages, and everything in their line. The outfit they have recently turned out is well worthy of inspection.

It might be Remarkable.
—That umbrellas and rain are often mistaken for the former, on such days as these.
—That Harry Lindley will again bow to the Peterborough public to-morrow night at the Opera House.

—That the curiers are despondent.

—That 'twill really be a pity if there is no ice for Christmas.

—That George Elliot, the novelist, died three years ago yesterday.

—That this is a red letter day among astronomers the two hundred and forty-third anniversary of the birth of Sir Isaac Newton.
—That Peterborough ought to be well warmed next winter if there are to be two stove foundries here.

—That a box of Quik & Co's cigars is the most acceptable present that could be made to any bachelor friend.

Telephone Patent Case Speculation.
The Public will be seen by the news from Ottawa this week that the decision in the case of the Edison patent, one of the principal patents owned by the Bell Telephone Co. of Canada, has been given by the Deputy Minister of Agriculture in favor of the patentees. The Bell Company officials say that this is quite enough—for their part one in suing infringers, and that they will at once push the case now before courts probably issue a fresh batch of writs at once if necessary. They say that nearly all the opposition Companies and Exchanges, little and big, which have been started during the opposition excitement by clever speculators assisted by "long headed" local capitalists have already been sold out by the Sheriff or otherwise failed for various reasons not connected with the patents, but that they are determined to stamp out any remnants of infringements that may be discovered.

THE STAR IN THE EAST

Triumphantly arising, clear and golden,
A star ascends the sky's far eastern height,
Mayhap the same that shone once in the manger,
When shepherds watched and wondered at the night.

Art thou not that one, thou great orb of splendor,
Uplifting with such a majesty the night,
Dost thou return at this time, the latest tender,
To watch the keeping of the Christmas feast?

O, happy East! that held the Christmas glory,
The West we feel thy splendor to behold;
O, radiant star! thy beauty and thy story,
As long as time is, shall be sung and told.

No more thy beams point where "merry men"
are feasting,
The tender mother guards the angel child;
Now on his knees he kneels in prayer and awe,
Who once provoked him, and his name rejoiced.

For one swift moment in eternal peace,
The children pause in the celestial choir—
"It is the hour," they cry, with pure, rapt faces
Best on a world moved from God's loving care.

Christmas comes but once a year,
Bright as joy's such blissful tidings bring,
When the end and the beginning meet,
A thousand bells in their high towers
are ringing,
A million voices about earth's jubilee.

Suppose, O star! with rays so clear and tender,
Thou shouldst bid us in thy joyous message bid,
From this time forth, will unto all nations render,
From then till now from now unto the end.

A CHRISTMAS STORY.

Miss Hanford's little village shop looked unusually festive just before Christmas, with its strings of cheap but brightly painted toys, its gay cards, and wonderful display of worsted work, to say nothing of the evergreen bush that adorned the window, hung with a variety of tinsel ornaments that glittered like silver and gold whenever the sun struck them. Today, however, no flattering sunbeams caressed that way, for old Sel had hidden his face beneath a heavy grey veil, and a thick cloud was falling quietly but steadily, as though it meant business, and Miss Hanford's face was almost as gloomy as the sky overhead, while she watched the clouds, and selected needles for pretty Mrs. Puffer, the Doctor's wife. "It will be a white Christmas, after all," says that cheery little woman, while the materials to complete her husband's slippercase are being tied up, "which, they do say, is bad for the doctors."

"Yes, a green Christmas makes a fat churchyard, and no mistake," sighs Miss Hanford. "Any sort of Christmas makes a fat pocketbook for you, I suppose," laughs Mrs. Puffer. "Not this year. The new shop with plate glass windows up the street, has cut into my trade sadly; but thank the Lord, Tom Tucker and I don't need much," and Miss Hanford patted a big black and white cat doing on one end of the counter. "It is sort of lonesome though, livin' all alone, 'specially about Christmas. Sometimes I get dreadful blue and down in the mouth." "No wonder, poor thing!" rejoins Mrs. Puffer, sympathetically. "You ought to have my three young rogues; you'd never have time to be dull then. But, good-bye, I mustn't chatter another minute; all the odds for the stockings are to be bought yet."

"That's it!" exclaimed Miss Hanford as the shop door closed with a slam. "That's just it! I'm an old maid and ought to be used to livin' alone dear knows! But Christmas seems to stir up all the social feelin's in my nature, and I'd a most be willin' to give the trade them plate glass windows for ten times to have a little easier to cuddle up, and make just such a Christmas for, as Cy, and I used to be, when we were youngsters, in the old red farm-house. Tom Tucker, why ain't you a baby?" to which query only responded by a blink of his green eyes, and purred harder than ever.

"Tinkle-tinkle!" rang the sheep-bell, and two eyes appeared on a level with the counter, surmounted by a sheaf of shaggy hair, and a shrill voice piped, "Please Miss Hanford, ma sent me over for a three-cent loaf, and wants to know if you will trust her a few days longer." The little country store was very mixed in its contents, and kept bread and cakes as well as toys and worsteds.

"Hey! is that you, Patsy Batt! Tell me, Patsy, my child, how's your poor, sick pa-to-day?"

"Very bad! Ma, she's been up with him all night, and most o' her eyes out."

"Then you won't hav much of a Christmas to your house to-morrow?"

"No; ma says, Santa Claus sent word no couldn't come this year," and a big sob choked the child's utterance.

"Poor little critter!" muttered Miss Hanford, under whose rather stiff exterior beat the kindest heart in the world. "There, you take this seed cake over to your ma, with my compliments," and as the tiny girl opened her mouth to express her thanks, she popped in a sugar plum, and laughed heartily at the amazed face that nodded good-bye, and disappeared across the road.

"It's mighty curious, how queer things are arranged in this world," soliloquized Miss Hanford; "Not that I want to question Providence; but there is Mrs. Batt, with four youngsters, and not so much as a peppermint drop to put in their stockings; and here am I, with a lot of knick-knack gittin' stale on my hands (thanks to the plate-glass windows), and plain to make a Christmas for somebody, and not a kitten worth a button to me, that I know of, for if brother Cy had a ben in the flesh, he'd turned up like a bad penny long before this, surely! It's a mystery and no mistake."

And that moment her eyes fell upon a card lying on the top of a pile of paste-board souvenirs, and took it up. It represented a lady and child feeding a flock of robins, and below was printed, "At Christmas, open wide thy heart!"

"That's party!" said Miss Hanford.

It makes me think of the Christmas sheaf we used to hang out for the birds. They were to kiss our kin, and if to birds, why not to us? Yes, I'll do it!" and the happy thought fairly irradiated the rugged face, even as the gleam of sunlight that just then shone through a rift in the clouds made the dismal ornaments in the window sparkle and glitter like a hundred Christmas candles. The new idea was more fully developed that evening over Miss Hanford's solitary cup of tea and plate of hot buttered toast in the wicker parlor of the shop, while Tom Tucker sat by, like his namesake, "singing for his supper," and keeping up a duet with the bottle that buzzed and spluttered on the stove, and to the good woman their song seemed to be,

Christmas comes but once a year,
Bright as joy's such blissful tidings bring,
When the end and the beginning meet,
A thousand bells in their high towers
are ringing,
A million voices about earth's jubilee.

And when the rush of Christmas Eve was over, the shutters barred, and the quiet of night descended upon the little town, the little village, the evergreen was removed from the window to the back parlor and made more gorgeous than ever, with red, white and blue tapers, cornucopias, and a veritable St. Nicholas, with reindeer and pack.

"I feel 'most as if I was makin' it for one of my own," said Miss Hanford, as she surveyed the results of her labors and tried on her nightcap; and there was a happy glow as she heard the said her prayers and went to bed, that lasted into the Christmas dawn and all throughout the service in the old, gray, vine-covered church, although few had wished her season's greetings and no gift graced her lonely morning board.

The overland express from the Pacific Coast comes steaming and thundering along over a wide, snowy expanse of fat country, and draws up with a sort at a desolate little wooden station, standing almost alone in the middle of a great prairie. Eager passengers crowd to doors and windows, glad of anything to break the monotony of their long journey, and the night that meets their eyes is novel enough to keep them there. A group of miners in rough attire, with bronzed faces and little grins, are clustered about a little girl of some eight or nine years, clad in a costume strange to the petted dainties of fashion, but warm and comfortable for that bitter winter weather. A gown of coarsest flannel, such as men's shirts are formed of, and a rudely-fashioned fur coat and cap, made by loving but unskillful fingers. Nothing, however, on the marvellous beauty of the little maid, whose brown eyes are dewy with tears, as she clings round the neck of one of the men, and holds up her lips to be kissed by all the others.

"You will look after my little girl, and take her safe," says the tall man who holds her, with a break in his voice, to the conductor, as he presses a generous fee into his hand.

"And give her the best of everything," puts in another, while he draws a sleeve across his eyes. "Nothin', I reckon, is so good for our Nuggie."

"The luck of the camp will go with her, I'm afraid," groans another; and then the engine blows the signal for departure, and amid sobs and hand-shakes the child is lifted to the platform and waves farewell, while the group of men about, "give the Nuggie" a good-bye hurrah! and loud cheers awaken the echoes of the engine or enter the Pullman car, leading the wee girl by the hand.

The passengers are deeply interested and crowd round, to enquire the history of the new-comer. "She is not exactly a passenger," says the gentlemanly official, "as she is sent by express; but I can't put her in the express car. There's her label," and he pointed to a card tacked on the little far coat, and addressed to

"Miss Hannah Hanford, Hollywell,
N. Y."

"That's my aunt, and I am her Christmas present from Pop. Poppy Sam says I can get there in time for Santa Claus to fill my stockings."

"What is your name, little dear?" asked sweet-faced Mrs. Farnsworth, drawing the little stranger to a seat beside her. "Nuggie!" "Nuggie! But that is not a name; have you no other?"

"Pim Nuggie of Gold Ore Camp. That's all. The men gave it to me, cause they say, I'm worth my weight in gold. Never had any luck at the mines till I came there. Sometimes they call me 'Nug' for short."

"What is your father called; for I suppose one of these men is your father?"

"They are all my Poppies: Poppy Sam, Poppy Jack, Poppy Kit, and Poppy Peter; but big Pop Cy is my real true one; and oh! I don't know what they will do with out their Nuggie!" And the bonny little face grew very sober at the thought.

"Have you no mother?" asked Mrs. Farnsworth.

"No. She went to Heaven three years ago, when the partridge berries were ripe, and Pop Kit says it's a nice place than even Redskin Canon."

"And you have lived with these rough men ever since?"

"They are not rough!" cried the child, flushing up in an instant. "they are my Poppies, dear, darling Poppies, and I love them, and shall go back to look for the mine! Just as soon as I learn to read and write, and keep house like a lady," and she burst into a wild fit of weeping, and was only pacified by many gentle words and a sight of the little ornamented berth in the sleeping car, which she was to occupy during her trip.

The pain of parting over, however, Nuggie became as happy as a lark, and the little red gown fluttered up and down the narrow aisle, like some bright tropical bird; her golden head peered out every crack and corner, and her quaint speech was a constant fund of amusement, while her brown eyes opened in surprise at all the new things she was constantly seeing and hearing, for she was as simple and ignorant as well as fresh and sweet, as a wild, long-outcast creature that passed through a perpetual wonder, and she was never weary of gazing out of the window, until just as they left Chicago, a heavy snow storm set in, so thick and dense as to shut out all the scene.

It was very strange, gradually along through this white mist, and the engine seemed to have to work its way through deep drifts, until on rising one morning the passengers found themselves at rest, and were informed they had come to a standstill in the dead country, and could go no further until the snow ploughs which had been telegraphed for, should come to dig them out.

"We should be in New York to-night," said the conductor, "but it looks very much as though we should spend our Christmas on the road."

"Oh! oh! oh!" came a chorus of disappointed voices.

"To-night is Christmas Eve, sure enough!" said Mr. Grundy, a jolly-faced old bachelor, and then looked down to see a dim-witted little fellow peering up into his.

"Well, Nuggie, what is it?"

"Isn't that the night Santa Claus comes?"

"I believe it is. It's lucky he didn't travel by this train."

"But he won't know where to find me!" cried Nuggie, in alarm; "he will never think of looking for me in a snow-bank!"

"Sure enough; but I guess Aunt Hannah will tell him you are coming, and have the stocking filled."

"No, she won't; for she didn't know it herself. I don't believe she knows where such a little girl as me in the world. Pop said she didn't."

"Well, that's strange; but, never mind, Nuggie will be as merry as she can, even if we are snow-banked. I'm going out now to explore, and maybe I'll see a snow-bird to send a message to Santa Claus by."

And the cherry old fellow tramped off, leaving his little friend somewhat comforted.

He came back an hour later, with his arms full of pine, laurel, and holly, and the ladies assisted themselves in decorating the parlor cars, hanging wreaths in the windows, and festooning garlands along the sides, until it was transformed into a perfect green bower.

But Nuggie was unusually quiet all day, although she helped to bunch the "greens," and when she had hidden her friends good-night, and was tucked away in her berth, she would not sleep, overcome with disappointment and homesickness.

"So, isn't that pathetic!" It was Mrs. Farnsworth who spoke, pointing to a little red stocking pinned to the curtain of the child's berth, which she had hung there in the faint hope that the snow-bird might tell St. Nicholas of her whereabouts.

"Can't we fill it with something?" asked Mr. Grundy. "I'll drop a little silver dollar in the toe." And he suited the action to the word.

"They gave me some raw apples and a few nuts over at yonder farm house to-day," said Fred Howell, and they rattled in the silver.

The conductor, who was a Yankee, and handy with a knife, carved some funny little animals out of wood, and a young lady contributed a pretty blue hair-ribbon, while, to round all Mrs. Farnsworth made her way to the baggage car, and managed to open her trunk, and bring out a beautiful wax-doll that she was carrying to her New York, "I can say Elsie another, in New York," she said, and fastened the doll to the top of the stocking.

Christmas dawned in a flood of sun and the occupants of the second sleeper on the eastward-bound train were awake at an early hour by glad shouts from within. "Where Nuggie was sitting up in her berth investigating the treasures hidden in her Santa Claus stocking, and "Merry Christmas!" resounded from behind the curtains on all sides.

"He came! the good Santa Claus came, after all!" cried Nuggie, in wild-glee; "and I'm sure, the snow-bird sent him, and good news—the conductor told them that the truck had been cleared and that they would be off in ten minutes."

So this railroad Christmas was not so bad, after all; for the travellers gathered together in the jined-up parlor car, where merry games and sweet carols made the hours fly. Nuggie was the guest of the blue snood binding her soft yellow hair; and, hugging her first real doll closely, she never realized that she was on an express package, until Holywell was reached just after dark, and she was turned over to the tender care of an expressman, with a covered wagon and a pair of prancing horses.

The cosy parlor behind Miss Hanford's shop was a vision of comfort and adroitness, cheer on that Christmas night, with the crimson curtains drawn, and glorious fire crackling merrily on the hearth. And the well-washed faces of the four little Batts reflected all the brightness as they gathered around the simple Christmas tree twinkling with tiny lights, and made their mouths into round O's, with delight Miss Hanford bustled about like a motherly old hen, passing doughnuts, filling mugs of sweet cider, and distributing the little gifts of which she had robbed the store to gladden the occasion.

How the tongues ran! How Tommy Batt beat his big drum, and Mat tooted his tin trumpet! How Hetty hid behind the sofa, to read her new fairy book, and how Patsy carried a coveted doll, with rosy cheeks, wild with delight, while Christmas cheer and charity reigned over all.

"It is a shame!" exclaimed Mat, as he set down his mug, drained of the last drop; "every one has a present, except Miss Hanford; it isn't fair!"

"It is enough for me to see you so happy as my little party," their hostess, eased her mouth to say, when she was interrupted by a tremendous knocking at the front door, and hurried off in a flurry, to open it.

It was a very large man and a very small girl, looking like the big bear and the little bear of the old fairy story, wrapped in their fur coats.

"Here, Miss Hanford, I've brought you a jolly Christmas-box this time, and no mistake," said the big bear; "express charges all paid."

"Please us, save us!" cried Miss Hanford, feeling for her spectacles; but the man had disappeared and the little bear was clinging to her skirts and stammering out, "You're Aunt Hannah, I know, and please, I'm Nuggie from Gold Ore Camp; says, I'm to live with you, and go to school; and here is a paper to tell you all about it."

Three minutes later, Miss Hanford was reading a letter from her long-lost brother Cy, in which he begged her to care for his motherless girl, and laughing over Nuggie, while she warmed the child's hands at the fire, and feeling that she was no longer all alone in the world.

"Now I know why I wanted to make a Christmas tree," she thought, as the graceful little figure danced around the evergreens, "exclaiming with a light. 'It is ever so much prettier than the trees in Redskin Canon; and must have grown in Heaven, I am sure,' while the quartette of little sat by in surprised silence. And then the quaint little child drew back with her sootier gown an old woollen sock that was fastened about her waist. It was filled with rich gold dust and ore, a gift from Cy Hanford to his dear sister Hannah."

So Miss Hanford had her Christmas present after all, and said it would more than make up for all she had lost by the snow storm, which had closed off a play-glass window to her own little shop, danced through her head.

It was a perfect evening to all, except Tom Tucker, who considered his nose out of joint, and sang in vain for his supper, until Hetty took compassion on him and gave him half a doughnut.

Nuggie said she was "so glad she had come in time for a little bit of Christmas and the lovely tree," and when at midnight Miss Hanford bent over the golden head, nestled in the centre of her big feather pillow, she was sure no one in Hollywell had so sweet a Christmas-box as her precious little Nuggie from Gold Ore Camp.—Agnes Carr Sage.

CONCERNING
CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR.

REMARKS AND SEASONABLE!

This is particularly the season of giving. Every body has or should have, a present to make to some body else. The question of the hour is

WHAT SHALL I GIVE?

Come to our FANCY GOODS DEPARTMENT and you will have a hundred answers. The more useful the article the more appreciated it will be by the receiver. Now in looking after Christmas presents, it should be the aim of everyone to select something that will be useful as well as ornamental.

Nothing can be more acceptable or appropriate than a nice WOOL HOOD or JACKET for a little girl, a warm comfortable CLOAK or KNITTED SWEATER for a lady, a pair of handsome top lined KID MITTS or GLOVES for either lady or gentleman, or a nice SCARF or SILK HANDKERCHIEF for each and everybody.

We have in addition many nice things cheap, fresh and inviting, and as the busy season is drawing to a close, all can be satisfied that they will receive a most generous money's worth.

Ward No. 3. Wm. Yelland's office
Ward No. 4. Wm. Lee's shop

Confiscated.

This morning, at the Police Court, His Worship the Mayor presided over the case of Adams on an expedition to confiscate a revolver which had, as the evidence in the Hutchinson vs. Evans case said, been put to wrong use. Officer Adams proceeded to the home of a lad named Walwright, living on Alymer street, where he seized possession of the rather antiquated looking weapon that the boy Evans had been unlawfully parading.

Reciprocation.

Some years ago the Lindsay papers kicked up a big fuss because the corporation of the town of Peterborough ordered a watering cart to be made by a Lindsay firm. One would almost think at that time that Lindsay, from that time forth, was going to make everything that the citizens of Peterborough required in the way of carriages, drinkables and wearing apparel. One day last week Mr. P. Hamilton shipped a snow plough as per order of the Lindsay council.

The Hospital.

The wards of the Nicholls Hospital continue to be pretty well taken up. Last week there were seven patients altogether, but since that time three have been cured and sent to their homes. The four remaining in the hospital are all from town. The first death that occurred in the hospital since its opening took place last week. The name of the deceased was Wm. Shuttleworth. He was affected with typhoid fever and was considered a hopeless case at the time he was taken there.

Regulating the Supply.

As Peterborough approaches in size and importance to the state of a city, the citizens find it more and more necessary that the wood business should not rest entirely in the hands of the local supply trade. It is now found that competing wood yards is the best method by which to keep the prices right—to keep the goods at the same point in all kinds of weather. There has of late been another added to the Peterborough woodyards. From Mr. John Moore, of Union street, whose yard is situated near the Canada Pacific Railway station, customers may rely on getting the best of hard and soft wood at reasonable rates.

Almost a Duel.

A few days ago two produce buyers had some little difficulty on the market. The language that they threw at each other had the effect of causing each to swell with wrath. But they each had the good taste to spare the people on the market such a shocking scene as a fight, and with five flashing from four angles and many a threatening snarl of two pairs of fists, it was agreed by mutual consent to meet at daylight next morning on the "roam" between Charlotte and King streets, and have it squarely out. They both appeared, and as No. 1 saw the enemy advance he glided up his heels in anticipation of a final encounter. When they met, however, No. 2 said that he had something to do up street (or badly) to make his will and advised No. 1 to go down and select the position. This No. 1 did with alacrity, but also, No. 2 came not. He had upon reflection thought it wiser to refrain.

Christmas Service.
A Praise Service will be held in the Y. M. C. A. rooms on Christmas morning at 9.45 o'clock, to which all are invited. The meeting will last for one hour.

Book Band Concerts to Large description circulars, of this company were circulated yesterday. As everyone will be waiting to hear this "greatest novelty of the age," we advise those wanting seats to secure them at once.

The Cantata.
The returns from those who sold tickets for the cantata, "Daniel," are now nearly all in and it is found that the receipts will amount to about two hundred dollars. But even this comparatively large amount will not pay off the expenses and there will still be a deficit. The Ontario Lodge of Oddfellows have, however, the satisfaction of knowing that all who went to hear the cantata were well pleased, and that the reputation of the lodge by offering the public only the highest and best kind of entertainment is, in this particular, well sustained. The success of the cantata reflects back on the conductor, Mr. Finch Miller. This gentleman is establishing not only a local, but a Provincial reputation as leader and conductor of large bodies of vocalists. The presentation of "Daniel" for some of our cantatas in January or early in February, is intended.

Christmas Cantata.
On Wednesday evening a Christmas cantata—an entertainment made up of recitation, choruses and tableaux—was given in the Baptist Church, Murray street. A festival had been held in the school room the evening before, and at the close of which each of the children present was handed a ticket for the cantata. As may be imagined, the youngsters were out in full force, and the cantata was sung by fifteen children holding banners in their hands. "Again the Christmas Time is come." A programme in which the tableaux presented were "The Star of the East," "The Re-Appearance of the Star," "Santa Claus," "The Old Year Attended by the Seasons," and a "Cross and Crown." Mr. E. Duff, who had trained the Barnardo Home boys in the choruses, did a very effective, the little fellows having sung the choruses allotted to them with accuracy. Mr. Paul Eastwood managed the scenic effects with satisfaction to all. Altogether the entertainment was a very pleasing and successful one.

A Complete Outfit.
Mr. Wm. Saunders, of the Phelan House, sends a spanking team of horses, well caparisoned, and an obliging and good-looking porter, to meet the incoming trains. The one complement that has been lacking to make the outfit complete was an elegantly appointed sleigh. This has been supplied to Mr. Saunders by Messrs. Porter Bros., the well-known carriage manufacturers, and as the new sleigh is driven up George street every day it attracts all eyes. There is something new and stylish about it that makes one stop and look before he is satisfied. The technical name of the vehicle is "The Landau Sleigh." The body is similar to those of hacks, while it sits comfortably on low ball wheels. The sleighs are painted parlour color, while the body is plain black, relieved by the rich upholstery, which is of red plush. The lamps in front are of silver and British plate glass, while the driver's seat is well upholstered also, and the dash is carpeted. In fact, everything about the sleigh is so complete as to make it a complete outfit. The finishing touch is put on that of making the maker's name—in a highly artistic manner. On the back of the sleigh, in an conspicuous position a little silver plate appears on which is engraved "Porter Bros., manufacturers Peterborough." Messrs. Porter Bros. are established in fact they have established a reputation for themselves as reliable builders of the first class of sleighs, buggies, carriages, and everything in their line. The outfit they have recently turned out is well worthy of inspection.

Small Points.

"La Poudre" Cigars.
Universally acknowledged to be the finest 100 cigar manufactured. Don't be persuaded to take other brands. No chemicals or artificial flavorings used.

S. Davis & Sons have moved into their new mammoth factory, the finest of its kind in America. They are the only cigar manufacturers in Canada who manufacture their own cigar boxes and packing cases, which industry gives employment to sixty hands.

Beware of cigars artificially flavored for the purpose of hiding the poor quality of tobacco used in flavored cigars. Look upon having the old reliable brands—"Cable" and "La Poudre."

A trial will convince the most skeptical that S. Davis & Sons' manufacture of cigars are superior in every respect to any in Canada.

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 26, 1885.

Bar law is about the most expensive luxury in which a man or a nation can indulge. Toronto Globe.

The Globe recently said that it was "bad laws" that the perpetrators of the Frog Lake massacre were condemned to die. The people, however, do not regard the laws which punish murderers as a luxury, but as a necessity.

For years the Reformers have been falsely telling the people that the French Canadian ruled the country. But now that French Canadians are claiming that a man of their race should be set above the law, some of the Reform leaders are forming an alliance with them on the platform of immunity for French criminals.

The Peterborough Review makes another attempt to render the Reform leaders and press of Ontario responsible for the agitation stirred up in Quebec over the execution of Riel. The Review has very little idea of the relation of cause and effect. It is following hard in the wake of the Mail in trying to stir up a war of races and in the attempt to smash confederation. - Brockville Recorder.

Again the Recorder misrepresents and bears false witness. We did not, in the article referred to, trace the origin of the agitation at all, but confined our statement to proving that the Reformers had joined hands with the agitators and that the Recorder had encouraged them. We defy the Recorder to prove that we have ever tried to stir up a war of race or ill feeling between races, or to prove that we have joined in any attempt to smash confederation. As to the Mail it can answer for itself, if it thinks it worth while, but there is a vast difference between warning the leaders of an agitation of the results that would necessarily be the outcome of the agitation, if successful, and attempting to bring about those results. The Reformers have joined with a party that desires the law of the land to be subject to their whims, but the combination will not succeed.

LIQUOR LICENSES

As a further proof of how little cause there is for either political party to crow over the other as to the question of jurisdiction over the liquor trade, we may quote from the Globe the following paragraph inserted by the Mackenzie Administration in the Speech from the Throne in 1878:-

It is very desirable that there should be uniform legislation in all the Provinces respecting the traffic in spirituous liquors. Hitherto that trade has been regulated by Provincial laws or laws existing before the Confederation of the Provinces, although there has been lately a conflict of authority as to the jurisdiction of the local authorities. A bill making the necessary provision will be submitted for your consideration.

In spite of this very plain declaration the Globe has the silly effrontery to maintain that the Reformers did not attack the licensing power of the Provinces. They attacked it to the extent of providing that under certain circumstances the Provinces should be deprived of the right given to them by our written constitution of raising revenue from liquor licenses, a right which the Mackenzie Administration carefully respected.

It is a question well settled, but has no political significance.

CONSTITUTIONAL AUTHORITY

The fact that a portion of the Reform press seems wild with joy over a decision by the judicial Committee apparently antagonistic to the opinions of Sir John Macdonald shows what little opportunity these critics have of attacking the Conservative leader as a constitutional lawyer, or indeed in any other character.

To give some weight to their absurd charge of ignorance of constitutional law, Sir John's assistants have concocted a list of cases in which he is asserted to have been proved by Privy Council decisions to have been in the wrong.

They are:-
 I.-The Insurance case.
 II.-The Escheat Case.
 III.-The River & Steamship Bill.
 IV.-The Boundary award.
 V.-The Liquor Trade jurisdiction.

In this jumble of cases there are some in which Sir John was proved to be in the right, and others in which it was not his opinion that was in issue.

As to the Boundary award Sir John's contention was that it was invalid and that the decision should be left to the tribunals. The Privy Council agreed with Sir John that the award was invalid and that Mr. Mackenzie, Mr. Mowat and his associates had exceeded their constitutional powers. The Privy Council also agreed with Sir John that it was a question for the tribunals, and as the highest Court of the realm decided the matter.

The River and Steamship Bill was not before the Privy Council, but by its decision in the litigation between Caldwell and McLaren it incidentally showed Sir John to be right and Mr. Mowat to be wrong. The decision that the executive law gave Mr. Caldwell what he asked, proved Mr. Mowat to be wrong in thinking further legislation was needed in his friend's behalf, and showed plainly that Sir John did right to veto a bill intended to effect litigation on which the final decision of the courts was still being sought.

In the Insurance Case Sir John's opinion was not in issue. It was the private collection of a private citizen, and the Dominion authorities had nothing to do with it. It was to watch the case to see that no rights were unduly prejudiced.

In the Mackenzie Case Sir John's opinion was also not in issue. The contention in favour of the Dominion was raised by the Mackenzie Administration, and the legal advice. All that the Mackenzie Administration had to do was to see that an unsettled claim made by its predecessor was fairly tried and decided.

The result of these four cases was that in the two of them where Sir John's opinion was directly or indirectly in question he proved to be right, and the legal advice of the Reform Administration to be wrong. In the two cases where Sir John's opinion was not involved, a private citizen in one instance and the Dominion Administration in the other, were proved to have taken an untenable position against the Province.

There only remains the liquor trade question. Sir John appears to have founded his opinion upon the then latest of apparently contradictory decisions by the Privy Council. No doubt these apparent contradictions will be reconciled hereafter when the reasons for the judgments of the Judicial Committee are published. It was a doubtful and difficult question, and the Dominion authorities without regard to party have always taken a view of it different from that of the Provincial authorities, also without regard to party. In Ontario Mr. Mowat and Mr. Meredith allies uphold Provincial jurisdiction. At Ottawa both parties when in power have claimed jurisdiction for the Dominion. In fact the Mackenzie Government and its lawyers went even further than the present Administration, for it legislated away the Provincial right of raising a license revenue, and it promised in the speech from the throne a measure making uniform provision for the liquor traffic throughout the Province. This promise was not kept as the people removed them from office.

An examination of the facts shows that the outcry against Sir John Macdonald as a poor constitutional lawyer is both silly and dishonest.

A COLD COUNTRY

A great deal is said about the frigidity of the Canadian climate; but this from the Glasgow Herald of the 11th inst. goes to show that the Dominion is by no means a monopoly in the matter of winter frosts:-

"A snow storm still continues in the north, and bitterly cold weather is reported from England and Ireland. Trains were blocked on Wednesday evening between Banff and Grange and on the Fraserburgh and Peterhead lines. By dint of continuous work, however, the lines were cleared, excepting the Fraserburgh section, and the Christmas traffic was yesterday dispatched to the south. Many of the country roads are impassable, and where they are yet open traffic is carried on with considerable difficulty. A cattle driver was yesterday found frozen to death near Pontypool, and at Oldham a boy lost his life by the breaking of the ice."

It is impossible to withhold sympathy from those who are suffering in Great Britain owing to the intensity of the cold. We are approaching the end of December; the short day in the year has passed; yet in Toronto there has been but one snow storm, and that of a rather slight character, while the frosty days we have experienced can be counted on the fingers of one hand. Manitoba, too, boasts of the mildness of the temperature. The latest agricultural returns do not say what the farmers are sowing up there, or what the general field operations happen to be; but the Manitoba papers are unanimous in their encomiums upon the weather, and point with just pride to its prolonged good conduct. As a matter of fact, the temperature this year has been piling old pranks with Canada. It was cold during a portion of the summer. Then in the fall we were favoured with some of the Indian summers. The winter, favorable as it has been to outdoor occupations, has also been unreasonable and far too warm for the business men who have stocked their stores in anticipation of a cold spell. Great Britain it seems, has been forced to go one better than Canada in the matter of climate. It is a just retribution, for our weather has been much milder on the other side of the ocean. Canada can but expect sympathy for the mother land, and in humble imitation of some of our detractors point out that Great Britain is not a good spot to emigrate to.

Attempt at Blackmailing.
 The magisterial examination of the case of John and Sarah Magee, arrested on the 8th at Kensington on the charge of attempting to procure money from the Prince of Wales by writing threatening letters, was held today. The letters referred to stated that four men would be appointed to murder the Prince of Wales for £200 each, and the Magees offered to inform on the intended assassin, provided they were given £1,000 and a free pardon. Detectives who were detailed to work up the case met the Magees by appointment, and gave them packages containing £500 farthings. This was done in accordance with the belief, by the size of the parcel, that their request was being fully complied with, so that detectives might get the whole story from the Magees and see if there was any truth in it. On John Magee discovering that the package contained farthings instead of sovereigns, he upbraided the Prince for his treachery, commanded £1,500, and threatened to send the policeman who arrested them. The Crown prosecutor, believing Mrs. Magee was innocent of the crime, and that she was entirely under the influence of her husband, withdrew the charge against her, and she was discharged. It was proved by drafts of letters found in Magee's pocketbook that the blackmailing letters were in his handwriting. He was committed for trial.

A Tremendous Moose

A few days ago, in the immense forest which extends hundreds of miles north and west of the Riding mountains, an Indian named John shot a moose deer of immense proportions. The animal is said to have weighed upon the scale a thousand pounds, and was in the most possible condition. The head and antlers were brought to Berlin, and are now in the possession of F. G. Lewis, merchant. The horns are remarkable for their size and beauty. The head is five feet, the blade of the antler is ten inches wide, and there are ten prongs on each horn. The head is two feet five inches in length. That such a large animal should exist in wild condition in this country will cause astonishment to many. It will be remembered that the moose of America is identical with the elk of Northern Europe, and that the latter is the deer kind. When poise and of sufficient refinement and security the moose grows to an enormous size, and in the extensive forests of the north the animal which we have been describing has reared his antlers until he became full grown. He has, however, had one narrow escape in his time, as there is an old bullet hole in one of his horns. The head and horns of the large deer has excited the curiosity and astonishment among those who have examined the curiosity. - Berlin Mercury.

Smallpox at League Point.

MONTREAL, Dec. 25.-The report of the smallpox having taken hold of the patients and servants in the League Point lunatic asylum is confirmed by the Government medical superintendent Dr. Howard. From information he has supplied it appears it has existed there for some time without the matter being known outside. Dr. Howard says that the facts are as follows: The nurse of the Central Health Unit, which immediately issued an order to have the inmates and servants vaccinated. The superintendent employed two doctors, who proceeded at once to the institution to carry out their instructions, but they were refused admission three times by the Lady Superior of the Providence nuns, who are the contractees under the Government.

CABLE NEWS.

"Cable."
 The oldest and most reliable brand of cigars in the market. Free from all chemicals and artificial flavorings.

"El Padre" Cigars.
 Universally acknowledged to be the finest 10c cigar manufactured. Don't be persuaded to take other brands. No chemicals or artificial flavorings used.

S. Davis & Sons have moved into their new mammoth factory, the finest of its kind in America. They are the only cigar manufacturers in Canada who manufacture their own cigar boxes and packing cases, which industry gives employment to sixty hands.

Smokers!
 Beware of cheap artificially flavored for the purpose of hiding the poor quality of tobacco used in flavored cigars. Insist upon having the old reliable brands - "Cable" and "El Padre."

A trial will convince the most skeptical that S. Davis & Sons' manufacture of cigars are superior in every respect to any in Canada.

Prize medals against the world were awarded to S. Davis & Sons, of Montreal, for their manufacture of cigars, at Paris, 1887, Centennial, 1876, Montreal, 1883-88.

PETERBOROUGH.-The Grand Central Hotel, January 19, 20 and 21.

Prof. Hotchin's treatment is practical, rational and economical. He objects to immediate relief and eventual cure. It is based on scientific principles and easily demonstrated to the comprehension of every intelligent person, that a truss without steel springs or hard substances, having heated internal and imbedded as well as forceful, at the advanced age of 70 years, from 10 to 15 years, must and will stand the test against all Spring Trusses to children as well as adults. Prof. H. Hotchin had 80 years experience has become master of his profession, and DEFEATS the Hernia cannot hold in its place. Prof. H. Hotchin is anxious to hold the PILLS in their proper place, which has been as successful as his own inventions. Go and see for yourselves.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Bible Class.

Mr. Munro's Bible Class meets in the Y. M. C. A. rooms to-morrow afternoon at 3.30 o'clock. Subject, "And Christ."

Fire Brigade Band.

The above organization have ceased serenading the citizens of Peterborough until the morning of New Year's Day, when they will call on all their old friends and delight them with choice new music.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours ending from 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—East and south winds, cloudy to rainy mild weather.

Grand New Year's Ball.

A grand ball under the auspices of the Social Club will be held in the Palace Ball Room, Water street, on New Year's Eve. A first class orchestra (Fire Brigade) will furnish music to the company. Supper at the Stewart House.

New Year's at the Y.M.C.A.

A concertation meeting is to be held in the morning from 9.45 to 10.45, to be conducted by the Rev. A. H. Munro. Everybody is invited to this meeting. All afternoon, from 1 to 6 o'clock, the lady friends and the officers of the Association will receive the young men of the town, who are all invited to attend.

Personal.

Mr. Patrick Rodkin, of this town, has made one more step forward toward the priesthood. At the recent examinations at the Grand Seminary, Montreal, he passed very successfully, obtaining the order of Sub-Deacon. Mr. Rodkin has now only two more examinations to undergo before being induced with the priestly robes.

For a good assortment of Cheap Millinery for the Holiday season call at Turnbull's Showrooms.

The "At Home."

As New Year's night approaches we trust our friends will not forget the "At Home" in the George Street Methodist Church lecture room. The last social gathering was a great success, and the committee of management are making strenuous efforts to make the social on Friday evening better, if possible, than the last. Refreshments will be served throughout the evening. Doors open at 6.30. Admission, 25c.

The Hospital.

The patients in the Nicholls Hospital had a pleasant time on Christmas Day, as Santa Claus did not forget to bring the sick, old, and weak, and the young. They also had an excellent dinner of turkey, vegetables, pudding and fruit. The following ladies are heartily thanked for their Christmas gifts to the hospital: Mrs. Geo. Hamilton, books, pictures and toys; Mrs. Smith, spiced loaf; Mrs. Vernon, oranges; Mrs. Dr. Halliday, turkey; Miss Sample, cards and stockings.

Bull Dogs.

In addition to having citizens who keep fighting cocks, Peterborough has one at least, who last week kept a fighting dog—a bull dog—in which he placed implicit confidence. So much confidence had the owner in his pet dog that he made him against another in Hamilton at $150 a side. For weeks previous to the date on which the fight was to take place the owner and those interested were unrelenting in their attention towards the dog. By degrees they got him down to fighting weight, and then started for Hamilton. The fight came off one day last week, and it is said by an eye witness, during the short time it lasted, to have been characterized with an unusual degree of savagery. But not many minutes had elapsed ere the Peterborough dog lay lying in his death throes, and thus the battle ended.

Some lovely handmade Children's Jackets (with Cape to match), Toggles, Fascinators, etc., for Holiday Presents, at Turnbull's.

A Central Ontario Amateur League. A movement is now on foot to organize a new Canadian Baseball League. It is proposed to incorporate the baseball clubs of Lindsay, Uxbridge, Cobourg, Bethany, and any in Central Ontario who wish to join into a league. It is also proposed that each club coming into this organization shall, while it is a member of it, employ no professional, but that the players be composed exclusively of amateurs. If the movement results in anything definite there will, as a matter of course, be regulations made as to the playing of matches. This latter point is one of importance. It will know that by the party, as the law between some clubs during last season the law was interfered with, and that the whole movement by with a very poor showing. A definite rule laid down would do away with all this nonsense as to who is to come here and who is to go there, while by the frequent meeting of the Central Ontario amateur club the public interest throughout the season would be maintained. It is understood that representatives of each of the Central Ontario clubs will be invited to attend a meeting at Peterborough to organize such a league.

Harry Lindley says: "Peterboro' Cigars are the Nerve-Soothers."

PITCHED FROM A WAGON.

Mr. John Moloney, Reeve of Beers, narrowly escapes serious injury.

At shortly before twelve o'clock on Tuesday night Mr. John Moloney, Reeve of Beers, had a fast and rough ride, resulting in what might have been serious injury or death.

He was staying at the Stewart House, and at a few minutes to twelve went to the yard to get his horse. He drove them from the yard and halted at the front door of the hotel to get some parcels. The parcels were placed in the wagon, but when the horses started off they did so in a very sudden and unceremonious manner. The driver was taken by surprise, and before he could recover himself the pair had turned Hunter street and were galloping along on the sidewalk on the south side. At the corner they turned down George street and careered along at one time on the street and then on the sidewalk. They tore furiously along the empty street, each ing and re-schelling the clattering of the hoofs and the rattling of the wagon. Opposite the market square some one ran out and waved his hands. At this the pair turned abruptly around and started off up street again. They turned in at Mr. John Garvey's store, the wagon smashing the hydrant in front of it and taking a slice out of the brick wall, about four or five inches from a plate glass window. All this time Mr. Moloney held firmly to the lines, but when the wagon culminated with a post in front of Mr. H. Rush's store he was thrown out.

Quite a crowd had now gathered, and several ran forward to Mr. Moloney's assistance. When they picked him up he appeared to be somewhat stunned. He was carried into the Grand Central Hotel and Dr. Kincaid was summoned. Mr. Moloney was soon all right again, however, and it was found that he had sustained no injuries other than that of having a swelling on the back of his head.

In the meantime the horses had "straddled" a lamp post at the corner of George and Simcoe streets, where they were easily captured. The wagon was minus a pole, but that member being supplied Mr. Moloney started for home in the morning apparently all right. It is to be hoped he will feel no further effects from the severe shock which he must have sustained.

Christmas Cheer.

Don't forget to see Harry Whitch's display of Christmas Bells. He intends keeping it up till after the New Year, as he has enough of the stock to fill up all vacancies as soon as they occur, so that he has to replenish his stall pretty frequently.

Separate School Trustees.

The nominations for Separate School trustees were held at the Separate School, Murray street, at 12 o'clock noon to-day. There being only one nomination for a candidate in each of the wards, the said nominees were elected by acclamation. The nominations were as follows: For No. 1 WARD.—Mr. J. A. Griffin; nominated by Mr. J. P. Bryson, seconded by Mr. T. B. McGrath. For No. 2 WARD.—Mr. T. B. McGrath; nominated by Mr. J. Griffin, seconded by Mr. J. P. Bryson. For No. 3 WARD.—Mr. M. Quisla; nominated by Mr. Jas. Henry, seconded by Mr. J. O'Meara. For No. 4 WARD.—Mr. W. J. Morrow; nominated by Mr. M. Thorne, seconded by Mr. J. O'Meara.

The new trustees are Messrs. W. J. Morrow, who succeeds Mr. J. Garvey, and Mr. J. Griffin, who succeeds Mr. C. Halpin.

Public School Trustees.

The nominations of trustees for the public schools took place at twelve o'clock noon to-day. For No. 1 Ward Mr. G. B. Spruile was nominated by Mr. L. Spey, and seconded by Mr. John McNaughton. For No. 2 Ward Mr. Richard W. Errett was nominated by Mr. J. R. Stratton, seconded by Mr. Jas. Stevenson, and Mr. J. W. Flavelle was nominated by Mr. W. J. Mason, seconded by Mr. H. S. Macdonald. For No. 3 Ward, Mr. J. R. Kivicki, seconded by Mr. R. Wier, and Mr. J. McKee was nominated by Mr. Jas. Alexander and seconded by Mr. W. C. Nicholls. For No. 4 Ward Mr. H. Deane was nominated by Mr. S. Griffin, and seconded by Mr. R. Thompson. In Ward number 1, 3 and 4 there will be no election. In number 1 and 4 Messrs. G. B. Spruile and H. D. were elected by acclamation respectively and Mr. J. McKee, nominated for No. 2, has declined a contest. Mr. J. W. Flavelle, however, has decided to run in No. 2 Ward, and as Mr. Errett is also in the field it is probable that there will be an election in this ward.

The Auction Sale at the Bon Marche will be continued until Thursday night, 31st inst.

Rathbun & Co. Messrs. Rathbun & Co., of Deseronto, have recently opened up a coal depot on Bethune street in the premises lately occupied by Mr. Wm. Yelland. In addition to handling all kinds of coal Messrs. Rathbun & Co. have opened out a saleroom which is stocked with all kinds of doors, sash, mauls, stair material, flooring and dressed lumber of all kinds. A office is in connection with the depot, which is connected with the telephone exchange.

Messrs. Rathbun & Co. have secured the service of Mr. W. B. Ferguson as manager of the depot. In doing so they have been fortunate, and in his hands there is no doubt that business will be cheaply and satisfactorily looked after. Messrs. Rathbun & Co. intend to acquire more property to the north of the present depot, there to open out a lumber yard.

TO THE ELECTORS

OF

No. 2 WARD.

Ladies and Gentlemen:

At the request of a large number of the Electors, I have decided, notwithstanding my disinclination to do so, to become a candidate for a seat at the Council Board of the Town of Peterborough for 1886.

If elected I will endeavour to the best of my ability to discharge the duties pertaining to the position, economically and well.

As the time is short, I will not have an opportunity of making a personal canvass. I therefore solicit your vote and influence.

Respectfully yours,

B. SHORTLY.

CONCERNING
CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR.

SENSIBLE AND REASONABLE!
This is particularly the season of giving. Every body has, or should have, a present to make to somebody else. The question of the hour is
WHAT SHALL I GIVE?

Come to our FANCY GOODS DEPARTMENT and you will have a hundred answers. The more useful the article the more appreciated it will be by the receiver. Now in looking after Christmas presents, it should be the aim of everyone to select something that will be useful as well as ornamental.

Nothing is so more acceptable or appropriate than a nice WOOL HOUND or JACKET for a little girl; a warm comfortable CLOUT or KNITTED SQUARE for a boy; a pair of handsome fur topped RIB MITTS or GLOVES for either lady or gentleman; or a nice SCARF or SILK HANDKERCHIEF for caps and everything.

We have in addition many nice things cheap, fresh and lasting, and as the busy season is drawing to a close, all can be satisfied that they will receive a most generous money's worth.

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 31, 1885.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Reverie.
Tuesday, January 19th, 1886, for St. Andrew's Church Concert. Particulars later.

Arm yourself with a bottle of Colfer's and you can defy the worst cold or cold that ever grew. For sale by J. R. McCrea, Hunter St.

A Card.
The ladies of George Street Methodist Church will be at home in the Lecture Room to receive their friends on New Year's night. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

"Beauty and the Beast."
A fairy tale. Eight characters, introducing songs, etc. Come and see it. St. Luke's school room, Ashburnham, Tuesday, January 5th, 7.30 p.m. Admission, 10 cents.

Watch Night.
The annual Watch Night service in the Charlotte Street church, will begin at 10.30 to night, and will be conducted by the pastor, the Rev. F. H. Wallace.

Concertation Meeting.
On New Year's morning, from 9.45 to 10.45 o'clock, the Rev. A. H. Munro will conduct a concertation meeting in the Y. M. C. A. rooms, to which all ladies and gentlemen will be welcome.

The Exemption By Law Quashed.
A telegram from Toronto this afternoon announces that judgment was given in the case of Danne and the Town of Peterborough. The By-law (known as the Danne Company Exemption By-law) was quashed with costs.

Christmas cheer.
Don't forget to see Harry Whinch's display of Christmas Bells. He intends keeping it up till after the New Year, as he has enough prime stock to fill up all vacancies as soon as they occur, so that he has to replenish his stall pretty frequently.

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours ending from 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Strong winds and moderate gales, veering to the west and north; generally cloudy, with occasional rain, followed by colder weather to-night and to-morrow, and a light snow flurry.

Smith's Market.
Fresh haddock, fresh cod, fresh flounders, fresh trout, baddies, mackerel, bladders, ciscoes, &c. Malaga grapes, Catawba grapes, and to arrive, lot of western imported Concord Florida oranges, lemons, and canned goods. Lot of very choice new hams from eight to twelve pounds. Oysters, the very best, bulk and New York counts. Poultry, game and everything usually kept in the market.

To-Night.
We are requested to announce that the usual midnight or New Year's Eve service will be held to-night at St. Luke's church, Ashburnham, commencing at 11.30 p.m. The Rev. will give a short address, and the services will be very interesting and impressive. Special music has been provided and all are cordially invited.

New Years Reception.
The Young Men's Christian Association give a cordial invitation to all young men resident of the town, and to strangers, to call at the rooms on New Year's afternoon, any time between one and six. A number of ladies will be present to receive callers. Refreshments will be served and music rendered all the afternoon. The rooms will be decorated and supplied with tables containing illustrated papers, magazines, stereoscopes and views, portfolios of engravings, etc. A very pleasant time and a large number of callers are expected.

Annual Entertainment.
The annual entertainment, together with the distribution of prizes, in connection with St. Andrew's Church Sabbath School, was held in the school room on Tuesday evening. Previous to the entertainment, which commenced at 7 o'clock, the little ones were entertained to a tea. At the commencement of the entertainment the school room was well filled with parents, friends and children. The Rev. Mr. Bell, pastor of the church, occupied the chair. After introductory music, Master George E. Munro gave an address of welcome in an effective manner. Those who contributed songs were Ella White, Hattie White, Terrot Glover and Herbert King. Recitations were given by Kenneth McCallum, Robt Glover, Ethel Umphrey, Louise Kerr, Aggie Patterson and Ella Glover. Towards the close of the entertainment the prizes for attendance were given. By attending the Sabbath school every Sabbath throughout the year Martha Ruff, Albert Martin and May McFarlane were awarded first prize, and for attending fifty-one Sabbaths during the year Ethel Martin and John Kerr received second prizes. The prizes consisted of nicely bound Bibles. Master John MacFarlane secured a valuable story book for having recited the contents of the first half of the shortest catechism. A closing address was given by Master John MacFarlane, and the entertainment closed with the pronouncing of the benediction.

THE ROYAL BLACK KNIGHT

Entertain Bro. W. H. Smith, Grand Lecturer of the Supreme Lodge.

During the past few days Mr. W. H. Smith, the Grand Lecturer of the Supreme Lodge of British North America, has been in town holding instruction and degree meetings among the Orangemen here.

In addition to giving instructions to the brethren of the local lodge he has conferred honors upon several of the Sir Knights of the Presbytery No. 241. A number were advanced to higher degrees, and three were given the highest degree, that of the R-d Cross, in the order of the Royal Black Knights of Ireland. In addition to this several were initiated. During his stay here Bro. Smith has held three night sessions and several afternoon sessions. The last session was held on Wednesday night, at the close of which he expressed his satisfaction at the prosperous condition of Orangemen here, especially that of the Presbytery No. 241.

At the close of the session the Sir Knights, to the number of about twenty-five, adjourned to the Canadian Pacific Hotel, where they entertained the Grand Lecturer to a social supper. Bro. J. Smith, Master of the Presbytery, occupied the chair. After due justice had been done to a well prepared repast, the usual loyal toasts were drunk and short speeches were made. The proceedings closed by the singing of "God Save the Queen" by the assembly.

Chamberlain's Parlour Dining Room Suppers, Luncheons, etc., will be served to order at all hours.

Watch-Night Service.
A Watch-night Service will be held this evening in the lecture room of the George St. Church, commencing at 10.45 p.m. Addresses will be given by Revs. Mr. Davis and Torrell. Public are invited.

New Year's Day.
As to-morrow will be New Year's Day there will be no issue of the DAILY EVENING REVIEW to-morrow evening. The REVIEW carrier boys will make their annual call to-morrow, and will no doubt be received with customary kindness.

Bird.
On Monday morning at eight o'clock, Carrie Stenson, wife of Mr. James Noble, of Franklin, succumbed to the effects of inflammation of the lungs. She deceased was a sister of Mrs. Wm. Bradburn of this town. The funeral took place on Wednesday.

Two.
The Lindley Dramatic Company will give two grand performances on New Year's Day, a matinee in the afternoon and another performance in the evening. To-night the new play, "City Labor and City Poor" will be produced for the first time. By special request "Buffalo Bill" will be produced on Saturday night.

Personal.
Mr. T. W. Jackson, advance agent for Day's International Theatre Co., is in town making arrangements for the appearance of the Company here. Mr. Jackson is staying at the Grand Central Hotel.

Mr. J. M. Ferris, M. P. P. for East Northumberland, is registered at the Grand Central Hotel.

Mr. A. Drysdale, Travelling Passenger Agent for the Colorado & Alton Railway, is in town looking after the interests of his road. He is at the Grand Central Hotel.

Mr. Fred Hughes, formerly of Peterborough, now travelling agent for the Prudent Store Company, of St. Paul, Minnesota, is home making a short stay. He travels through the Western States eight months and makes St. Paul his headquarters for four months in the year. From outward appearance the western climate seems to have agreed with Mr. Hughes.

Obituary.
The funeral of the relict of the late Richard Gillespie took place this afternoon. The deceased passed peacefully away to her long rest at the good ripe age of 78 years. She was born in Scotland and came to this country in 1849. After living for a time in Peterborough she moved to Otonabee where, together with her husband, she passed about twenty years of her life. After her husband's death, which occurred in 1869, she came to town again to live with her son, Mr. T. G. Gillespie. Since then, until her death, she has resided here. The deceased reared a large family, seven of whom have gone before and four of which still survive here.

Special Session.
A special session of the Police Court was held in the goal this forenoon. Magistrate Dumble presided. The business before the Court was to consider the case of Wm. Daily, who was committed some time ago as a lunatic. He had both feet frozen off, and can only crawl along by using his knees. Where he was staying, in Belmont, some children were teasing him when he threw a knife at them. The official physician here, however, refused to certify to his being a lunatic, stating that he was of sound mind. A charge of vagrancy was laid against him by P. C. Adams, and a commitment for six months was made.

The "Factory Girl."

The Lindley Dramatic Company again played to a full house at Bradburn's Opera House on Wednesday evening. The performance was well worthy of the large attendance. Martha Gibbs, the factory girl of sterling qualities, was most fittingly and very successfully impersonated by Miss Addie Flint. Mr. Alfred Hallow took the part of Stephen Plum, the whole-souled young man of the factory, who falls in love with Martha, with such satisfaction that frequently drew applause. Toby Twinkle, Martha's factory friend, and afterwards a footman in old Plum's establishment, found an exact fit in Mr. Harry Lindley. The many little oddities incident to the changes from the lot of a factory hand to that of a footman elicited much laughter. Mr. Jay Burgess, as Jasper Plum, the old gentleman who aspires at connecting his family with those of title, and who has a very high opinion of "the house of Plum," made an amusing and concerted old chap as could possibly be imagined. Miss Ida Burgess made a very successful Lady Valeria, while the character of Mr. Frederick Plum, her husband, was capably taken by Mr. C. W. Ballar. Lady Leatherbridge, the love-mad of advanced years, was represented with credit by Miss Laura Clifton. When the curtain fell after the last act Miss Ida Burgess, beautifully attired, came out and recited "Jamie Douglas" in a manner that brought forth a vigorous encore. Miss Burgess is an eloquent and much-worth. She has a clear, sweet, elastic voice, which she knows well how to manage, a distinct articulation, and, what contributes to a lady elocutionist's success not a little, a graceful figure. Her recitations are better than those of most professional elocutionists. The performance closed with a farce entitled "The Pater Noster." The Lindley Dramatic Company give performances which are well worthy of attending, especially at such a season of low prices.

A FRACAS

The Proprietor of an Ashburnham Hotel Defends Himself With a Poker.

On Tuesday evening at about eight o'clock there was a rather stirring scene in Lipsett's Maple Leaf hotel, Ashburnham.

The proprietor says that a young man named John Douglas came into the hotel and commenced to use insolent language and at the same time to conduct himself in an indecorous manner. Remonstrance proved of no avail and Mr. Lipsett ordered him out. This he refused to do, but instead directed his wrath upon Mr. Lipsett. He threatened to do all sorts of harm to the proprietor, and the latter, when he saw the young man come towards him apparently with the intention of carrying into execution what he had said, seized a poker to defend himself. The two were soon at it rough and tumble, but it is likely that the invader of the wretched peace of the Maple Leaf got the worst of it. The proprietor made vigorous use of the poker, while one of the crowd hastened away for Constable Craig. When that official arrived things were pretty quiet, and John Douglas was taken in charge without any trouble. While going to the lock up a friend of the prisoner came up and offered $5 as a guarantee for his appearance in the morning. Constable Craig, seeing that the young man was suffering from the blows he had received, and to allow him time to see a doctor, accepted the offer. A doctor's office was visited by the two, when it was found that Douglas' arm was considerably torn and bruised, and the bones were almost broken.

Two charges had been laid against Douglas by Lipsett, one for assault and the other for using grossly profane and indecent language. But Douglas has not filed an appearance before His Worship Magistrate Wood, to answer to these charges as yet. A warrant is now issued for his arrest.

Wanted Immediately.

Farwell.
The Council of the Town of Peterborough, in their corporate capacity, had a formal farewell to the old Council Chamber at two o'clock this afternoon. As the lease of the Council Chamber expires this evening, a special meeting was called to declare that the meeting, for the present, be held in some other place. There were present at the meeting this afternoon, His Worship the Mayor and Councillors Kelly, McNaughton, Cahill, Davidson, Rutherford, Kennedy, Mezzies and McClelland. Councillor Kelly moved, seconded by Councillor Davidson, that this Council do now adjourn until Friday, Jan. 8th, 1886, at 7.30 p.m., to meet in the old music hall over the market house, and that it be the Council Chamber of the town of Peterborough until otherwise declared to the contrary by resolution or motion.—Carried. This unprecedented short session then closed. The incorporated body of wisdom rose. As they passed out their falling footsteps awake echoes that found resonant replies away through the vacant Clerk's and Collector's offices, and they one by one left the old chamber, the scene of so many a stirring oration, accusation, remonstrance and compromise, with hearts so full that not one of them was able to start up "Auld Lang Syne."

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, JANUARY 4, 1886.

A FRAUDULENT ACCOUNT.

The chief Reform organ summarizes all of the charges brought against the Dominion Government except one, the exception being the execution of Riel. Perhaps it was too important to be placed in a short summary, or perhaps the Globe, having given sufficient evidence of its sympathy with the Riel and Revenge platform, is now willing to let the Rouge papers have a monopoly of the business of denouncing the members of the Cabinet as "hangmen." Some of the charges are amusing. For instance, one is "the gerrymander," from which we can only suppose the Globe means the Redistribution of Seats Bill, by which Ontario was given four additional representatives in the House of Commons. This weakened the Globe's friends from Quebec, and it is, of course, angry and wishes the bill repealed. Another is "taxes on the necessities of life," which might be a reference to the fact that the Conservative Administration removed the duties from tea and coffee, which had been maintained by the Reform Government. "C.P.R. grants" is an item in the bill indicative of the hostility of the Reform party to the great national highway. "A loss of population four times greater than ever occurred before" is a charge that cannot be sustained, because the goods were not delivered. The exodus did not take place. "Attempted seizure of Ontario's territory" is another erroneous charge. The Globe at one time denounced the Blues as thieves, but it now withdraws that charge. The simple fact is that Sir John Macdonald said that the Boundary Award was illegal, and it was illegal. Sir John Macdonald said that the proper way for Ontario to establish her claim was to go to the Privy Council, and when the Ontario Government followed his advice Ontario got the territory. "Unruly the license power" is another false charge. The jurisdiction of the Legislatures and of the Dominion Parliament is established by an Imperial law and no usurpation can take place. There was a difference of opinion as to the law regarding the licensing power, some Reformers and Conservatives holding that the Provincial Legislatures possessed the power and vice versa, but the highest court decided that the power belonged to the Province. And so on through the list of items. When the charges are investigated they are found to be without foundation.

The Globe also presents a credit side of the account and ironically credits the Government with having one rebel. This is, in fact, urged against the Government by a large portion of the Reform party as its chief sin. If the Government is weakened or defeated it will be because it did not remove Riel from the hands of justice, and because the Reform party joins with those who desire to avenge his execution. The organ leaves out of the account the completion of the Canadian Pacific Railway, the National Policy and many other beneficial acts of the Administration. It is a false record, and when the Reform party appeals to the high court of public opinion upon it they will find that their misleading statements will have no effect.

Mr. Geo. E. Foster, who, having accepted the portfolio of Marine and Fisheries, went back to his constituents of Kings, N. B., for re-election, has been returned by a substantial majority. The Reformers followed the same tactics which they adopted in several elections during the past year and voted for an independent candidate, hoping thus to defeat the Ministerial candidate by catching a portion of the Conservative vote. But the result shows that the Conservative Administration is still firm in the good opinion of the people.

The Globe appears to think it very funny that a United States paper makes mistakes regarding the names of the members of the Dominion Cabinet. Yet it is only a short time since a Reform paper spoke of Sir "Daniel" Macpherson, and the Globe itself referred to Sir "Alphonse" Caron. If foreign papers draw their knowledge of Canada and Canadian politics from Reform journals, it is not strange that their ideas regarding them are erroneous.

PORT HOPE.

FIFTEEN FIRM.—A lady presented Bank of Toronto bills to the amount of $15 at the Bank on Thursday, that had been badly burned. They were, however, redeemed. She still had a one dollar bill that had also passed through the fire and was so deformed that the Bank did not care to pay. One would gather from her constrained explanation that she had hidden the money somewhere about a stove or fireplace and accidentally started the fire.

ATTEMPTED BURGLARY.—About five o'clock on Thursday morning, the busy burglars made futile attempts to enter Messrs. D. Miller's and J. F. Clark's dry goods stores. In both cases they were thwarted after gaining admittance, although the lock on the front door of Mr. Clark's store was broken, and had to be replaced. In the case of Mr. Miller's the midnight mechanics were interrupted, and left a key with which they were trying to open the front door. In the lock. Nightwatchman Hobbs chased them through the American Hotel alleyway, and across the creek, but they lost them. He says there were two men engaged. Mr. Hobbs in this case has shown himself fearless in the discharge of his duty, and the merchant will have no cause to regret his appointment.

The Japanese People Discarding Their Old Faith—Ready to Receive Christianity—The Rev. Chas. S. Eby Relates His Experiences.

On Sunday the annual missionary services were held in both the George and Charlotte Street Methodist Churches. In the morning the Rev. I. Tovey preached the sermon in the George Street Church, and in the evening the Rev. Chas. S. Eby, for nine years engaged in mission work in Japan, delivered an address. In the morning in the Charlotte Street Church the Rev. Mr. Eby addressed the congregation, and in the evening the Rev. F. H. Wallace preached the missionary sermon.

In the evening the Rev. Mr. Eby was introduced by the pastor of the church to the large congregation which had assembled.

In commencing the rev. missionary said that he felt a little disappointed when he found that the good town of Peterborough, with two excellent churches, had only contributed something over $800 to the mission work last year. He knew of many a place with a good deal less wealth and not nearly so fine places of worship having contributed over twice as much annually. He knew what burdens the people here were laboring under, but he hoped that they, by contributing liberally to this great work, would find their home burdens.

EASIER TO BEAR.

He would speak especially to-night on the work done and to do in the great empire of Japan, not wishing, however, to belittle that of Newfoundland, Quebec, in other Provinces and in the Northwest. But outside the Dominion, Japan was the place where the energies of the church should now be most centered. Devoted ones were even now following out the commission of the Master—they were carrying the truth and the light to thousands upon thousands who were

GROUING IN THE DARKNESS.

They were sent on an errand to save the world, and in this part of it God had done His work. He had prepared the way—and now the church was called upon to perform its duties. To conquer the world for God the mind of man must be drawn into direct contact with the mind of the Lord Jesus Christ. In all phases of life the Christian religion should be the one directing power—in science, in philosophy, in commercial and political life. But a brighter day was dawning. The light was growing and increasing, and it would soon open into a glorious day, when humanity would be freed from the gross darkness within. There was a time in the history of the world when the civilized nations were in a similar state to that of Japan to-day. They had civilization, philosophy, science and learning. But the mind of man was the

SOLE DIRECTING POWER.

Naturally those nations were steeped in corruption, falsehood and unutterable stench. The scene is now changed, and we are living in a purer atmosphere through the holy influence of the Saviour of mankind. It had been said that philosophy and science exerted a harmful power towards Christianity. Nothing of the sort. There was a time when Christianity was more progressive than in this philosophical and scientific age. It troubled the rate of progress that even the young American Union had made. The population of the United States had increased manifold during the last century, the number of Christians in the same time had increased twenty-seven fold. Methodism in the last twenty-four years had doubled and increased of 2,500,000 there were now more than 5,000,000. What was now wanted was to bring the Japanese mind into contact with the mind of Christ—to give them the same privileges we enjoy. There were 37,000,000 of people in this island—ten times the population of the whole Dominion of Canada. They were one compact nation, speaking one language and having one civilization. They were neither cannibals nor degraded beings, but

RATIONAL, EDUCATED AND INTELLECTUAL people, possessing learning and refinement that vied with that of ancient Greece or Rome. They possessed wealth, depth of thought, soaring imaginations, and all that the heart could desire—almost. And for this one lacking thing they were in a dark, dreary, hopeless, death-like, foul, rotten and immoral condition. Idols were worshipped by the lower classes through the length and breadth of the land. Amusements of all kinds filled the theatres. Whole rows of houses, whose dwellers he could not describe, lined certain streets. The centres of commerce were a continued variety of what bore the outward semblance of a healthy nation was inwardly rotten. But the Japanese were now going through a transition. In olden times, according to the Shinto religion, they were eight hundred millions of gods. When old men died they were worshipped by their children. There was about this religion, but it was simply an ancestral worship. Fifteen hundred years ago the Buddhist religion was introduced, and in time the whole of the lower classes embraced it. The learned look down upon the superstition of the masses, and are themselves guided by the Confucian moral system—by reason, logic, materialism and having no belief in a God. A chance came. The introduction of railways, schools, the post office and the telegraph from the west brought in with it the new religion. Everything was overturned; there was

A STEP-BY-STEP REVOLUTION. The works of Herbert Spencer, Tom Paine's Voltaire and others, were translated into the language and scattered broadcast. The learned read and took to the doctrines, and Japan was now not only a wealthy, intellectual nation, but it was a hot bed of infidelity. Christianity was denounced by certain scientists of Europe and the United States as an old humbug, similar to the former religions of the people.

THE SCHOOL SYSTEM AND THE NEWSPAPERS were impregnated with agnosticism, materialism and other phases of infidelity. There was now among the upper classes a vast moral weakness. The moral sanctions of the past have been swept away, and a moral force was needed to keep the nation in check. Such was the problem before them. This was the form that Christianity had to face in Japan. Yet there was one great aid; the Japanese were a people ever ready to listen to new doctrines, and are ever

OPEN TO CONVICTION.

The preacher then related some of his experiences in Japan. Nine years ago he went to Japan and spent the first five years in mastering the language. He was in the midst of a Province of 500,000 inhabitants. By degrees he got a little circle to look with favor on Christianity, which rapidly widened to the whole of the Province. These people thought it good for their friends, but each one thought it unwise for each discipline to embrace personally. Those who became Christians aided in the work, and the blessed work of revival went on from that time, and the prospects of the whole Province becoming Christians were now bright. After a time he went back to Tokyo, the capital of the empire, where he resided when first coming to the country. He found the work going on slowly and proposed an aggressive policy. A

GREAT DARK LOOKING LECTURE HALL, which had till that time been used against Christianity, passed into the hands of the Government and was leased to himself and colleagues free. In this place they lectured to thousands upon thousands of attentive people on the scientific and philosophic basis of Christianity for fourteen consecutive weeks. The newspapers published reports of the lectures and the whole nation felt the impulse. The tide of infidelity, which had till then surged over the land, sweeping everything before it, was for the moment checked. During these fourteen weeks the struggle went on at white heat. For hours at a stretch the whole audience would sit hushed, but

QUESTIONS BY THE HUNDREDS were sent in to be answered. After the course was closed Sir Harry Parkes, the British Minister, paid for getting out an edition of the lectures, and before his lips were sealed by the books they were all gone. After this another course was given. A large number of the questions which had been laid over were answered. Students in the colleges, the intellectual young men of the capital flocked together by the hundreds. Again

THE NATION FELT THE IMPULSE and what was done as simply an experiment proved to be a great success. A school had been opened in Tokyo by the Methodist Church. Scarcely had it been opened when it was blocked by students, and the building had speedily to be enlarged. The ladies' school was also filled with fine young women, daughters of the best people in the country, all aspiring to a nobler womanhood under the Christian influence. If means were only to be had to erect adequate schools in different parts of the country, he was firmly of opinion that the whole land might be made a Christian one before the END OF THE PRESENT CENTURY. He related several instances of how conversions had occurred, some of them assuming rather a humorous turn. In many cases the converted ones had turned around, studied for the ministry, and were now engaged in the good work. He alluded to the harmonious feeling which existed between the Church of England, the Presbyterian, and the Methodist missionaries, saying that there was the utmost good feeling amongst them.

ODDFELLOWSHIP.

Severe and Grand Lodge Determined to Ignore an Offshoot.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 1.—A feud of long standing between the sovereign grand lodge of Oddfellows and a branch of that order known as the Patriarchal lodge is expected to culminate in either the wholesale secession of the Patriarchal from the present body or the entire disruption of the latter order. The Patriarchal was organized in Milwaukee as a progressive display rank of Oddfellows, though claiming to be distinct in its operation. Since the second year of its establishment there has been a conflict between the two bodies, and the Patriarchal faction of Oddfellows. Though frowned upon by the sovereign grand lodge the circle has increased in numerical and financial strength, until now it is a powerful society, principally rooted in Wisconsin, Illinois and Ohio, and almost confined to the nine northwestern states. It has 114 subordinate temples and a membership exceeding five thousand. At the recent meeting of the Sovereign grand lodge action was taken to completely stamp out the Patriarchal circle or to compel its members to abandon all claims to Oddfellows. The committee on credentials refused to recognize the delegates who were members of the circle, and a series of resolutions were adopted requiring all subordinate lodges not to recognize as an Oddfellow or to admit to the lodge any member of the Patriarchal circle, the resolution to go into effect on Jan. 1. In a circular of instructions the grand sire threatens upon the refusal of subordinate jurisdictions to obey the order expelling Patriarchal who declines to give up allegiance to the circle to suspend the charters and blot out all offending lodges. This, it is thought, will create a war all along the line. The Patriarchal, it is said, will dispute the expulsion in the courts if necessary.

CABLE NEWS.

"Cable."
 The oldest and most reliable brand of cigars in the market. Free from all chemicals and artificial flavorings.

"El Padre" Cigars.
 Universally acknowledged to be the finest 10c. clear manufactured. Don't be persuaded to take other brands. No chemicals or artificial flavorings used.

S. Davis & Sons have moved into their new mammoth factory, the finest of its kind in America. They are the only cigar manufacturers in Canada who manufacture their own cigar boxes and packing cases, which industry gives employment to sixty hands.

Beware of cheap artificially flavored for the purpose of hiding the poor quality of tobacco used in favored cigars. Insist upon having the reliable brands—"Cable" and "El Padre."

A trial will convince the most skeptical that S. Davis & Sons' manufacture for their motto is superior in every respect to any in Canada. Prize medals against the world were awarded to S. Davis & Sons at Montreal, for their manufacture of cigars, at Paris, 1887, Centennial, 1876, Montreal, 1883-86.

Will visit the following places again:—
 LINDSAY.—Benson House, January 18, 17 and 18.
 PETERBOROUGH.—The Grand Central
 Hotel, January 19, 20 and 21.

Prof. Hotchkin's treatment is practical, rational and economical. His object is immediate relief and eventual cure. It is based on scientific principles and easily demonstrated to the comprehension of every intelligent person, that a truss without steel springs or hard substances, having healed inguinal and Umbilical as well as Ventral hernia, at the advanced age respectively of from 65 to 75 years, much and will stand the test against all Spring Trusses to children as well as adults. Prof. H. having had 30 years experience has become master of his profession, and OBTAINED the Herald's medal held by his peer. Prof. H. has invented an apparatus to hold the HERNIA in their proper place, which has been as successful as his other inventions. Go and see for yourselves.

INNOVATIONS!

"To Innovate" says Webster, means "To introduce Novelties, to make changes in anything established."

How far the applications. If people quit eating for credit and insisted on paying cash, it would be an innovation that merchants would countenance and well put up with. If the newspapers would, in the sections in their columns of an advertisement guarantee that such and such a result would immediately follow it would be an innovation that would largely result in a rash of advertising. If our Town Council were to appear at the first meeting for 1886 in claret-brown coats, white ties, and patent leather pumps, it would be an innovation, and should be counted the 18th rule to countenance the change, it would be a relaxation. A paper and taking innovation which is now popular and we are assisting in introducing, is the fashionable Blanket Suits. They are comfortable, neat, stylish and cheap. They for ladies adorn the pleasant features, and make beautifully handsome the pretty. For toboggan or skating risk they are extremely nobby. Follow the innovation and order them from

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

School Opening.
The Separate Schools of Peterborough will open on Friday, January 7th.

St. Luke's Church Concert.
We learn that preparations are being made for a concert under the auspices of St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, to be held in the new school room on Tuesday, January 19th. It is expected to be of unusual excellence. Further particulars will be given shortly.

Thirty-Six Times.
If frequent sessions of the Town Council render the municipal business more thoroughly done, that of the town of Peterborough, during the year 1885, has been efficiently performed. According to the Town Clerk's minute book the Council has held no fewer than thirty-six sessions during the year just closed. There is no official record of the number of times the chair was addressed. It would be safe, however, to put it down among the thousands.

Vital Statistics.
The vital statistics for the year 1885, according to the record kept by the Town Clerk, is as follows:—
Births.....162
Marriages.....115
Deaths.....102
From the same record is taken the statistics for the year 1884 as follows:—
Births.....178
Marriages.....99
Deaths.....110
For the month of December the record shows the following:—
Births.....29
Marriages.....20
Deaths.....12

A Bell for St. Andrew's.
There has been considerable talk as to the prospect of a bell being placed in the new St. Andrew's Church. The tower is certainly well situated for a site for a bell, and the church being situated on an elevation, the musical sound would float over the whole town, if the bell were placed there. It has been ascertained that there is to be a bell for St. Andrew's, but some may think it odd that the usual course of placing it in the tower is to be adopted. Yes, there is going to be a bell for St. Andrew's—one that will sound the pulpit, ring out sacred doctrine, and give forth sterling principles to the congregation, the better to guide its members along life's thorny path.

Weights and Measures Presentations.
Mr. Johnson, of Belleville, the District Inspector of Weights and Measures, is in town today laying complaints before the Police Magistrate against persons in this vicinity for "refusing to produce for inspection when required to do so the weighing machines used by them for purposes of trade." It appears that some time ago Mr. Johnson received several complaints that persons buying produce on the public market, when they weighed it at home, found it did not agree with the weight which the seller alleged it was, and in all cases—very strangely—the mistake was to the advantage of the seller. Mr. Johnson accordingly visited the market, and drove then as assistant inspector of weights and measures has been on the market each Saturday, notifying all persons who brought produce already weighed that they must produce the weighing machines used by them for inspection. Some forty persons have been thus notified, of whom the greater number, after some little pressure was brought to bear upon them, produced their weighing machines and they were inspected. The result of the inspection shows the necessity for the action taken, for scarcely any of the weighing machines were correct, and a number were seized and broken, as they were very incorrect. A few of the persons notified to produce their weighing machines have refused to do so, and it is to compel them to do so, or rather prosecute them for not doing it, that the inspector has entered the presentations. Mr. Johnson says that the market scales are used less on our market than anywhere else in the division, and he thinks the public should insist on all produce brought to the market being weighed by the officials appointed by the corporation for that purpose.

Church Opening.
The new St. Andrew's Church will be opened on the first Sunday in May. The Rev. John Hall, of New York, will preach the sermon.

Band Concert.
The interest in the musical and entertainment increases as the time for the performance draws near. Approaching indications there will be a full house.

Junior Conservative Club.
A regular monthly meeting of the Junior Liberal Conservative Club will be held to-morrow evening in the new rooms of the club, over Mr. Statham's store. A full attendance is requested.

Journalistic.
A new paper has made its appearance in Bracebridge, bearing the name of a paper formerly published there, namely the Muskoka Herald. It is a very neat and bright looking paper of eight pages, and is well filled with local and general news.

A Successful Engagement.
On Saturday night the Lindley Dramatic Company closed a very successful week's engagement by presenting to their patrons a double bill, "Our Boys" and "Buffalo Bill." The performance was a capital one and all were well pleased with it. Harry Lindley, as a low comedian, has few equals.

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours commencing from 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Easterly to southerly winds, cloudy to rainy mild weather, followed to-night by colder west and north-west winds and light sleet or snow.

The Great Musical Event.
The concert by the Rock Band Concert Co. will undoubtedly be the musical event of the season. They have been brought here at great expense, as in this, their first appearance in America, they are only visiting the larger cities as a rule. No lover of music should fail to hear them. See the advertisement in another column.

Smith's Market.
Fresh haddock, fresh cod, fresh flounders, fresh trout, haddies, mackerels, bladders, ciscoes, &c. Malaga grapes, Catawba grapes, and to arrive, lot of western imported Concorda. Florida oranges, lemons, nuts and canned goods. Lot of very choice new hams from eight to twelve pounds. Oysters, the very best, bulk and New York counts. Poultry, game and everything usually kept in the market.

Complete.
Mr. Johnston Carey has been absent from his place of business for some time making additional purchases of machinery for his new boot and shoe factory. He has completed all purchases, and everything is now in readiness to receive the machinery, set it up, and commence operations. While away Mr. Carey visited several large factories, and saw the class of work turned out. He is now more than ever encouraged, and is satisfied that a factory here will be a successful venture. His factory will be as complete as most Canadian factories, indeed, it will contain machinery which no Canadian one possesses. It is probable that the Carey Boot and Shoe Factory will be in operation in about three or four weeks.

In Business.
This morning Mr. Geo. Schofield placed himself in the rank and file among the Peterborough business men, assuming the proprietorship of Mr. G. W. Morgan's drug store. Mr. Schofield has had an ample experience as a chemist and druggist. For several years he has been identified with Mr. J. McKee's drug business, during which time, as his Collegiate Institute standing shows, he spent in steady and earnest study of his chosen business. Recently he went up to the Ontario College of Pharmacy for his final examination, and acquitted himself in a very creditable manner. He stood third among the 35 successful candidates out of the 65 that went up. We congratulate Mr. Schofield on his entry into business and wish him success.

Telephonic.
The Bell Telephone Company have recently leased a well arranged and complete subscriber's directory, to which is attached a map illustrative of the number and location of the agencies in the Province of Ontario. The map shows one hundred and thirty-five stations located in all the principal cities, towns and villages in Ontario, from Ottawa to Sarnia. The progress of the company these last few years has been unparalleled; from a few local stations it has extended its lines until now it is in a position to supply the needs of rapid communication throughout the country. Perhaps there is no place in Canada more progressive in the telephone line—or any other line—than the great town of Peterborough. Peterborough now stands at the head of Canadian towns agencies as far as the number of instruments in use is concerned. There are 100 telephones in use here.

Personal.
Mr. John Jenkins, an old Peterborough boy, who at present is holding a good position in a leading Toronto house, is here on a visit to his relatives.

Mr. Albert Lech has returned to Peterborough and himself and wife have taken up their residence here permanently. Mr. Lech will take a position in the office of the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company's Works.

Mr. G. W. Morgan, now that he has sold out his business, has made up his mind to return to St. Thomas, there to live a retired life. There must be money in drugs.

Mr. H. H. Smith, Dominion Land Commissioner, Winnipeg, is in town. He will stay for about a week.

Mr. W. N. Forbes and Mr. Geo. Kilworth, of Messrs. Forbes & Co., Stock brokers, have been in New York on business for the past week. Messrs. Forbes & Co. intend opening up several new agencies in Ontario.

A WILD AND DREADFUL STORY.

The Outrages of Chinese Treachery on Board an English Vessel.

A mutiny and some terrible scenes occurred some weeks ago on a ship belonging to the British mercantile marine, which has been doing duty as a Chinese transport in the Chinese seas.

The story is contained in a long letter to a Dublin gentleman from the chief steward on the vessel on which the mutiny occurred; but, as every effort has been made by the authorities in China to prevent the affair from becoming known, he desires his name and that of the ship not to be given. He, however, is a highly respectable man, and the truth of the remarkable story he tells cannot be doubted. The steamer was chartered by the Chinese for $10,000 to take to Hankow from Amoy (600 miles), 2,000 Black Flag troops who had been disembarked from the T'angin war ship, and their march to Amoy they had committed fearful murders and atrocities, and the government was anxious to get them from Amoy, where they were a terror. At the embarkation about 1,000 were disembarked, but they crowded on board too fast and the work of disembarking had to be abandoned. Many of them were drunk and carried liquor with them, and were fit for mischief.

The ship was crowded to excess, the bridge, poop, fore-castle, between decks, and lower holds being packed. After getting under way, with great difficulty, the Black Flags commenced gambling, having plenty of money about them, and were all night quarrelling, fighting, and murdering each other. Numbers were thrown overboard alive or dead. Some were stabbed, others were strangled, and five of the ship's crew dared interfere. The writer himself saw three murdered men pitched overboard during the night. When a morning came some of the dead bodies were thrown overboard, some of them having been unburied, exposed to death, or having died from want of water. A party of Black Flags seized the water on board and guarded it, refusing any to the crew. A fearful crash followed on the other Black Flag trying to get at the water. The test was fearful and many died from thirst. The Black Flags destroyed all the food, threw the rice overboard, with all the cooking apparatus and threatened to kill the cook. They then began to drink sea water.

The sailors, who were fearfully perched, crawled down to the engine room and got condensed water and drank it, though it was quite hot. There became still more serious, and the Black Flags threatened to kill the crew, drawing knives across the r own throats to convey to the sailors their meaning. They succeeded in getting hold of the captain by the beard and held a knife to his throat. A signal by the vessel was put back to Amoy, where a British war ship was anchored. The commander of the latter prepared to sweep the vessel with his guns and sent a gunboat to the aid of the merchant ship. The mutineers were then standing on deck, with black flags hoisted on all masts. Two Chinese gunboats subsequently arrived and to the Black Flags, who refused to leave being thrown overboard and left to get to land as best they could. Six of the mutineers were at once beheaded and one hundred bound and five dead mutineers were afterwards found in the sea. Several having been crushed to death.—St. James Gazette.

A STARTLING MYSTERY.

Seven People in a Detroit Family Murdered.

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 3.—Another horror has been added to the terrible extinction of Frank Knack's whole family in the western part of Detroit three weeks ago, when he and his wife and two children, one 3 years and the other 9 months of age, were shot dead and the bodies burned in their house, which had been set on fire by the assassin. The quadruple murder has been added to the murder of his mother. A post mortem examination revealed the fact that Mrs. Christina Knack, mother of the murdered Frank, who died Friday morning, was herself a victim of assassination. The day before her death she went to the sheriff of this county that she wanted to see him. The sheriff was absent at the time, but in the evening he and the investigating attorney went to the Knack household. They were too late, however, as Mrs. Knack was in a comatose condition, from which she did not recover. Her death at 3 o'clock on Friday morning. Death was pronounced at the time as the result of pneumonia and nervous prostration resulting from the ordeal through which she recently passed. The prosecuting attorney, however, was not satisfied, and ordered a post mortem, which was held on Saturday evening, when it was found that she had been murdered. All the physicians who took part in the post mortem were unanimous. Officers have been working on the case constantly since the murder of Frank's family, but could get no clue to the perpetrators. A remarkable series of coincidences have brought seven members of the Knack family to violent death. Seven years ago the father, Christian Knack, was found lying senseless in a barn with wounds on the top of his head. His wife, Eliza, both the latest victims, were the only persons who heard him speak afterwards. She reported that he had been killed by one of the horses. He died before night. Two years ago the eldest son Charles disappeared. The family took little notice of his death, and when he was found it the river with unmistakable evidence of foul play the investigation ended with an inquest, at which it was shown that the pump chain about his body had come from a housestead. On the morning of December 16 last the house of Frank Knack was burned, and the charred bodies of himself, his wife Susan and two children were found in the ruins. In a few days evidence was found which proved beyond doubt that they had been first murdered. Suspicion pointed to the family, and Gustave, Herman and their mother were closely questioned at the inquest, a hint has not yet been joined. This last tragedy has intensified suspicion, more so because of the report that Mrs. Knack had said just before her death that she wanted to make a confession.

Final Mass Executions.
MONTREAL, Jan. 2.—Two fire reels going at full speed to two fires in opposite directions came into collision in a narrow street. A youth of 10 years, who was standing on the sidewalk at the spot, was crushed against a stone wall and instantly killed; William M. Callaghan and George Cairns, firemen, were so seriously injured that they are not expected to live until morning, and two other firemen received severe, but not necessarily fatal wounds.

FROM ALL OVER

On Dec. 24th there was neither ice nor snow at Lethbridge, Alberta.

NATIONAL PILLS is the favorite purgative and anti-bilious medicine. They are mild and thorough.

Mr. Morley began a series of evangelistic meetings at Montreal on Saturday. The services were largely attended.

Worms often destroy children, but Freeman's Worm Powders destroy worms and expel them from the system.

A CURIOUS EVIL.—Children are often fearful and ill when worms is the cause. Dr. Low's Worm Syrup safely expels all worms.

When Parliament meets a charter will be applied for to build a railway from Portage la Prairie to Lake of the Woods.

TO REMOVE DANDRUFF.—Cleanse the scalp with Fruit Low's Magic Sulphur Soap. A delightful medicated soap for the toilet.

BRONCHITIS.—Bronchitis comes from colds and irritations of the throat; hoarseness, cough and sore throat are its characteristics. These troubles may be remedied by a timely use of Hargy's Pectoral Balsam.

Steps are being taken to hold a winter carnival at Halifax in February next, to be modelled after those held in Montreal.

You invite disease when you neglect a regular action of the bowels, and incurable disease may result. Regulate the bowels and the entire system with Burdock Blood Bitters, which acts upon the bowels, stomach, liver and blood.

Food bites or chilblains require similar treatment to a burn. There is no better remedy for either than Hargy's Yellow Oil, the well known household remedy for pain, rheumatism and all inflammatory complaints.

Oliver Dodd Byron, the actor, has been convicted at Cincinnati of violating the law by giving a performance on Sunday.

The stomach is the grand centre of the living system, the first organic development in animal life, and the first to suffer from excesses. Regulate its diseased action by Burdock Blood Bitters, which restores health to the stomach, bowels, liver, kidneys and blood.

Every second person has it; doctors think it incurable; but Dr. Carson's Catarrh Cure is guaranteed to cure or the money is refunded. All druggists, or the Dr. Carson Medical Co., Toronto, $1.00 per bottle.

The county insane asylum at Newark, N.J., was destroyed by fire on Saturday night. The 181 inmates were safely removed. Loss, $75,000.

J. D. Tully, druggist, will gladly inform any one inquiring of him of the wonderful results of West's Catarrh Syrup. It is an unfailing cure for all throat and lung diseases, coughs, colds, hoarseness, influenza, consumption in its early stages, and whooping cough. Price 25c, 50c, and $1 per bottle.

Patrick Cain, a lad 16 years old, living on Mulberry street, Cleveland, O., drank whisky in such quantities on New Year's night that he died.

MURRAY & LAMBERT FLORIDA WATER.—We earnestly urge every purchaser to ask for that which is prepared by Messrs. Lamman & Kemp, New York, who are the sole proprietors of the true perfume. All other so-called Florida Waters are only ordinary Colognes.

At the sinking of a well in Lethbridge, Alberta, Jas. Brady, who hailed from Western Ontario, was suffocated at the depth of thirty feet.

KIDNEY COMPLAINT.—Much is blamed upon the kidneys when people are ill and suffer from weak and painful back, etc. If you regulate the liver and blood with Burdock Blood Bitters the kidneys will resume a right action. Burdock Blood Bitters cleanses the whole system of impurities.

A timely relief for pain, fever and accidental injuries is an almost universal requirement, such a remedy readily is best found in Hargy's Yellow Oil, that cures rheumatism, sore throat, colds, and all pain, lameness and soreness, whether internal or external.

Thirty deaths from smallpox occurred in Montreal and suburbs last week. There were 37 during the previous week.

WHAT A wonderful discovery is Perry Davis' Pain Killer! It not only cures the life of the human family, but is also the sure remedy for horses with colic. It has never been known to fail in a cure of the worst cases and for sprains, cuts, etc., it never fails—try it once. Directions accompany each bottle. Sold by druggists generally.—Kenton County (Ky.) Democrat.

"BURNS AND SCALDS."—If you are so unfortunate as to injure yourself in this way we can suggest a remedy that will (we speak from experience) soon relieve you of all pain and quickly heal the wound; it costs but twenty-five cents and is sold by all druggists—ask for Perry Davis' Pain Killer.

WHY WILL YOU cough when Shiloh's Cure will give you immediate relief? Price 10c, 25c, and $1. For sale by Ormond & Walsh druggists, Peterborough.

SHILOH'S VITALIZER is what you need or Constipation, Loss of appetite, Distress and all symptoms of Dyspepsia. Price 10c and 75c per bottle. For sale by Ormond & Walsh druggists, Peterborough.

WORMS WORSE WORSE or family illness has proved to be one of the greatest plagues of the age. It is a never failing remedy for rheumatism, cuts, sprains and bruises. Call on J. D. Tully or a trial bottle is sent you free of charge.

Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites.
Is Essential to Lung Troubles.
Dr. Koch (Germany), Lethbridge, Geo., says: "I have used Scott's Emulsion with wonderful success in all lung troubles, also find it has no equal in curing diarrhoea of children."

Borofunda Acid Phosphate.
In Liver and Kidney Troubles.
Dr. J. C. Carey, Boston, says: "I have used it with the most remarkable success in dyspepsia and derangement of the liver and kidneys."

I had been a miserable sufferer from dyspepsia and tried all the known remedies and the best of medical skill of my acquaintance, but still grew worse, unable to eat anything without great suffering, or do any kind of work. I began to think there was no hope for me, and that I must surely die; when my wife, a drowning swimmer, told me of a certain medicine she had seen in a paper. I determined to give it a trial. I at once began to improve and in a few days the medicine was sold as I had ever been in my life.—Wm. Evans, Lethbridge. Sold by J. McKee, druggist. Free trial bottles.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned and endorsed "Tender for the Welland Canal, 1886," where printed forms of tender can be obtained, and where particulars of the work can be obtained, will be received until MONDAY, the 25th day of JANUARY next, (1886), for making the locks, weirs, &c., and increasing the height of the banks of that part of the Welland Canal between Port Dalhousie and Thorold, and for deepening the Summit Level, between Thorold and Ramsey's Bend, near Hunterston.

The Works, throughout, will be let in Sections. Maps of the several localities, together with plans and descriptive specifications can be seen at this office on and after MONDAY, the 11th day of JANUARY next, 1886, where printed forms of tender can be obtained. A like class of information relative to the works north of Allanburg will be furnished at the Resident Engineer's Office, Thorold; and for works south of Allanburg, plans, specifications, &c., may be seen at the Resident Engineer's Office, Welland.

Contractors are requested to bear in mind that tenders will not be considered unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and in case of firms, except where authorized by the signature, the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each member of the same; and further an accepted bank cheque for the sum of Two Thousand Dollars, or more—according to the extent of the work on the section—must accompany the respective tenders, which sum shall be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the work at the rates stated in the offer submitted.

The amount required in each case will be stated on form of tender.

The cheque or money thus sent in will be returned to the respective parties whose tenders are not accepted.

This department does not, however, bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 6, 1886.

ENCOURAGING INDUSTRIES

The quashing of the Dickson Company Extension By-law cannot be a surprise, for it was evidently and confessedly illegal. The grounds for the decision of the court were those already pointed out by the REVIEW in the discussion of the question when the By-law was under consideration. It was obvious that it did not provide for the exemption from taxation of a manufacturing industry, and that it did provide that the assessors should commit perjury. The question of expediency naturally did not come under the consideration of the court, but it was obviously unfair and injudicious to house-consumption industries to the disadvantage of older business rivals paying taxes, or to bonus one landowner to the disadvantage of other holders of real estate.

The satisfaction with which this section of the court has been received, must not, however, be construed into an unwillingness on the part of the people of Peterborough to encourage the establishment of factories. From our knowledge of the feeling of our fellow townsmen and from the experience of the past, we are confident that any new industry will be welcomed to our town and will receive due encouragement. Our unsurpassed water power, our excellent facilities for transport, and our commanding position, combined with such encouragement, should induce speedy additions to our already prosperous industries.

ELECTIONS.
HARRISON—Reeve, H. M. Foulds, Councilors—Dr. Conklin, A. M. Paton, Thos. Hill, Thos. H. Leacock.
STEWART TOWNSHIP—Reeve, G. Bedford, Deputy, Pease, Councilors—J. Macpherson, J. Rutherford, J. Diamond.

ASSEMBLY.
The result of the election in Ashburton was a perfect revolution, Councilor Calcutt alone weathering the storm. The election passed off quietly. The vote is as follows:—
Wm. Mills.....80
H. Oalcott.....78
J. T. Craig.....73
Wm. Faint.....72
Wm. Ward.....51
John Smith.....57
Rich. Mowry.....28
NORTH MORGAN.
In this township Mr. Joseph Forster was re-elected Reeve by acclamation. The result of the polling for the election of Councilors was as follows, the first four being elected:—
No. 1. No. 2. Total.
Neilson.....57 52 115
Danlop.....50 52 111
Browncombe.....48 44 110
Johnston.....46 43 107
Breslay.....29 18 55

The polling resulted in the election of Frank Birdsell for Reeve by a majority of 2, James Moore for Deputy Reeve by a majority of 1, and the following for Councilors—Geo. Elliott, Joseph Harrison and Fitzpatrick.
RELMONT.
The old Reeve and Councilors were re-elected. John Brown was elected Reeve by a majority of 37 over Wm. Burgess. The following were the votes polled for Councilors, the first four being elected:—D. T. Young 153, James Wild 152, John Vassilakis 148, Robert Burgess 130, H. Holbrook 75, B. Anderson, 60, R. M. C. Laughlin 34.

Two old women in the neighbourhood, discussing the state of the season lately, one of them asked her neighbour if she remembered the harvest of a certain year. "Ag, ay, I mind well that year, for the rain fell in torrents at the end of harvest."

This was a message left one morning last summer:—"Will you tell the minister that father came to work to day? He's so very well." "What's the matter, Maggie?" "Well, he has a sarraim a' over, but the war's a stiffness in his joints."

The South Western Extension.
WEDNESDAY, Jan. 4.—The Canadian Pacific Railway South-Western extension will open for business to Cherry Creek on Thursday next.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

A STARTLING DISCOVERY.
The Belleville Ontario has made the startling discovery that the new minister of marine belongs to a club in which liquor is drunk, although he is a teetotaler. We may add that in which the dealers in the cave are to slig. The cave is there, but the sounds which issue from it are anything but harmonious.—Hamilton Spectator.

A CAVE.
The Grize, Ranges, Blues and Castors who established a cave of harmony in which they were to sing in union that Kiel was a hero and a martyr are not wholly agreed, as to the time in which the dealers in the cave are to slig. The cave is there, but the sounds which issue from it are anything but harmonious.—Hamilton Spectator.

SIR R. CARTWRIGHT'S CHEEK.
Now, we like cheek. And readers will be able to judge of the vast, boundless, unfathomable cheek possessed by Sir Richard Cartwright when we say that the law creating the colonization companies was not passed by Sir John Macdonald at all, but by the Government of which Sir Richard Cartwright was a member.

The act of 1873 contained no such provision, section 14, of the act of 1874, created the authority under which all the colonization companies have since been formed. And this shameless man has the brass-efferntory to charge Sir John Macdonald with wrong-doing for permitting companies to be formed under this act passed by the Government in which the accuser was Minister of Finance.—Hamilton Spectator.

ITS ORIGIN.
The agitation in the Province of Quebec, owes its origin to the partisan zeal of ambitious and unscrupulous men, who have availed themselves of an unhappy crisis in the history of the country, to advance their own interests, by exciting the worst passions of the ignorant masses in the Province of Quebec. They find in Ontario, allies among journalists, who, to secure a political victory, are prepared to sacrifice the interests of the people, and jeopardize the future of the Confederation.—Ottawa Journal (Indep.).

COVETTING ANOTHER'S PLACE.
"Don't spare Sir John, and put him out if possible," writes an old friend in renewing his subscription for the Advertiser. That is just exactly what the Advertiser has been laboring for, and it is a little too late in the day to ask for it to switch off on to a side track.—London Advertiser (Reform).

REFORM ORGANS IMPROVED.
Lord Lorne has a word of reproof for those Canadian who lack faith in their country, who magnify her troubles and minimize her blessings, and who display a disposition to publish the former in preference to the latter. We have some of these right here in Toronto, but their influence is on the wane. At home they are regarded as partisans, whom it is not safe to believe upon any public question. It is abroad that they find an audience.—Toronto World (Indep.).

FOR ANNEXATIONISTS.
It is a fact too often forgotten—if it was ever learned by annexationists, that the duty collected on imports from Great Britain in 1884 exceeded by $600,000 the duty collected upon goods from the United States. They forget that the value of imports from Great Britain was $43,418,000 as against $50,492,000; from the United States; while the value of the former in preference to the latter. We have some of these right here in Toronto, but their influence is on the wane. At home they are regarded as partisans, whom it is not safe to believe upon any public question. It is abroad that they find an audience.—Toronto World (Indep.).

TWICE DEAD, YET ALIVE.
A good joke on H. H. Cook is going the rounds. While holding forth here in his own eloquent and impressive style, was before the fact, the honourable gentleman declared that Sir John Macdonald was "dead, hopelessly dead," nothing being left of him but his title, his old clothes, and his red breeches, which he might leave to his ancestors! This reminds us, by the way, that the present is not the first time Sir John's opponents have tried to persuade themselves of the Conservative chief's demise. What the Grits were in power at Ottawa ten years ago, with an overwhelming majority, but losing ground in every by-election, the honourable leader of the government was holding forth in his most solemn style, and declaring that Sir John and the Conservative party were dead, "dead and buried, sir." "True, quite true," broke in Sir John from the opposite side of the house; "and they died in the full assurance of a glorious resurrection." The report was so absurd that it fairly convulsed the house, and the effect of Mr. Macdonald's speech was completely spoiled.—Ottawa Packet.

TWO PROBABLE MURDERS.
A Man Stabbed at Niagara Falls—Attempt to Kill a Niece at Beauport.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Jan. 5.—Jacob Kalberer, who is sometimes called Roopp, being a stepson of John Roopp, last night plunged a knife into the left side of John McMahon, a young man about 20 years old. The cut is a dangerous one and McMahon will probably die. The cause of the stabbing was an old feud. McMahon was taken entirely by surprise while standing on the street. Kalberer was intoxicated.

BEAUPORT, Jan. 5.—About 2.30 this afternoon, John Stone, of this village, walked into the dwelling of his sister, Mrs. Hodges, and going up to his niece, Miss Maudie Hodges, after a word or two, drew a revolver, and standing close to her fired two shots at her, both taking effect in her body, and then fired at himself. He is not supposed to be fatally injured. Miss Hodges, it is feared, will die.

St. John's New to Come to Quebec.
Quebec, Jan. 5.—Mr. F. X. Lemieux, M.P. P., of this city, has set on foot a scheme having for its object the education of the poor young sons of St. John's, in the city of Quebec. Other prominent members of the national party support the idea. The organs of the Government merely express the hope that, if the project is brought to the end of the journey, it will not be led in the path pursued by his unfortunate father.

LATEST BY TELEGRAPH.

DE FREYCINET'S PROGRAMME.
PARIS, Jan. 5.—The programme adopted by M. De Freycinet is the result of his conference with M. Clemenceau, in which he secured the support of the Radicals for his proposed measures. It is expected that M. Freycinet, in his message to the Chambers, will announce various reforms in the Government.

DINNER TO LORD WOLSELEY.
BERLIN, Jan. 5.—A dinner in honor of General Lord Wolseley will be given to-day by Sir Edward Malet, the British Ambassador. All the generals of the German army have been invited.

THE INDIAN INCOME TAX.
CALCUTTA, Jan. 5.—Earl Dufferin, in the Legislative Council to-day, assumed the responsibility for the imposing an income tax.

AN ANTI-RENT LEAGUE.
DUBLIN, Jan. 5.—A meeting of house-holders was held in Meath yesterday to form a league whose object will be to compel landlords to make a reduction in rent.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT MEASURE.
LONDON, Jan. 5.—The Local Government measure to be laid before Parliament by the Government, as drafted, gives to Ireland a household franchise for electing a council. The proposition that the Crown should have the right to nominate a part of the council was abandoned. The measure also provides that the country boards should have control of traffic in liquor and that the central council should have a voice in appointing the magistracy.

A STEAMER SUNK.
LONDON, Jan. 5.—The British steamer Chillingham has been sunk off Sicily by collision. The previous report of the sinking of Anchor line steamer Sidiouia was mistaken for the Chillingham was mistaken for the Sidiouia, and it was the sinking of the former vessel that gave rise to the report that the Sidiouia had sunk.

DAVITT AS A COUNCILLOR.
DUBLIN, Jan. 5.—Michael Davitt took his seat for the first time as a member of the City Council. A large crowd greeted him with cheers as he entered the building, as inside he received an ovation. His first act was to ask the Corporation to give certain vacant areas within the city limits as sites for laborer's cottages to be leased at nominal rates.

LIBERALS AGAINST HOME RULE.
LONDON, Jan. 5.—Lord Richard Grosvenor, at the instance of Glasgow, has endeavored to ascertain the opinions of the Liberal party on the Irish question, and the replies he has received are very discouraging. The majority of the party state clearly that they are opposed to the establishment of an independent legislature in Dublin.

A NEW REPEATING RIFLE.
PARIS, Jan. 5.—The Hungarian ministry has resolved to supply the infantry of Hungary with new repeating rifles, the invention of an engineer on the Northern Railway of Austria. The rifle is said to exceed in effectiveness all rifles previously invented. The cost of the change will be $50,000,000.

A TORPEDO FLOATING ABOUT.
LONDON, Jan. 5.—A torpedo has broken loose from its moorings on the coast of Tripoli, and is now floating about some where in the Mediterranean Sea. The Government of Tripoli has been guarding the coast with torpedoes in view of the possibility of an Indian invasion.

THE CONFERENCE ABANDONED.
LONDON, Jan. 5.—The Balkan conference at Constantinople has been abandoned, Russia refusing to guarantee the independence of the union of Bulgarian and Eastern Roumelia.

The Pope's Health.
NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—A despatch from Rome says that rumors regarding the Pope's precarious state of health are untrue. His condition is a dangerous one, but he is still alive. His appetite is very bad, and he often leaves his dinner undisturbed. Lately too, after inviting guests to his table, he has several times been compelled to send them away before the dinner was served. Moving about gives the Holy Father great pain, and though he complains constantly of cold, he cannot leave his bed, which gives him uneasiness. He is growing weaker daily.

Fatal Accident.
BELLVILLE, Jan. 5.—On Saturday, while Mr. Bristol, of Madoc, was superintending the operation of a sawing machine, the bolt flew out and struck his head, fracturing his skull. His condition is very critical.

THE VILLAGE CHOR.
(Some distance after Temptation.)
Half a bar, half a bar,
Half a bar on ward!
Into an awful ditch
Choir and freemason hit,
Into a mass of pitch
They led the Old Hundred.
Treason to the right of them,
Treason to the left of them,
Bases in front of them,
Believed and thundered,
Oh! that Frequentor's look,
When the soprano took Their own time and took
From the Old Hundred.

Scorched all the troubles here,
Raising the person's hair,
While he failed wondering;
Their not to reason why—
This poem was pitched too high;
Their but to gasp and cry
Out the Old Hundred.
Treason to right of them,
Bases in front of them,
Believed and thundered,
Stormed they with about and yell,
Not wise they sang, nor well,
Drowning the action's bell
While all the church wondered.

Dire the Frequentor's glare,
Flash'd his eyeballs in air,
Bounding forth keys to bear
Out the Old Hundred.
Swiftly he turned his back,
Reached he his hat from rack,
Then from the screaming pack
Himself he scattered.

Treason to right of him,
Treason to left of him,
Discords behind him,
Believed and thundered,
Oh, the wild howls they wrought;
Right to the end the song!
Some tune they sang, but not
Not the Old Hundred.

INNOVATIONS!

"To Innovate" says Webster, means "To introduce Novelties, to make changes in anything established."

Now for the applications. If people will ask for credit and insist on paying cash, it would be an innovation that merchants would countenance and well put up with. If the newspapers would, in the insertions in their columns of an advertisement guarantee that such and such a result would immediately follow, it would be an innovation that would largely result in a rush of advertising. If our Town Council were to appear at the first meeting for 1886 in claret, white tie, and patent leather pumps, it would be an innovation, and should they suspend the 18th rule to countenance the change, it would be a relaxation. A proper and taking innovation which is now popular and we are anxious in introducing, is the fashionable Blanket Suits. They are comfortable, neat, stylish and cheap. They are for ladies the pleasant feature, and make beautifully handsome the pretty. For toboggan or skating risk they are extremely nobby. Follow the innovation and order them from

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE

Hearing the wonderful Rock Harmonicon tonight in the Opera House. See advertisement.

St. Luke's Church will hold a concert on Tuesday night, Jan. 6, at 8 o'clock, in the new school room. The proceeds will be for the benefit of the church.

The Rock Band Concert will be given at the same time and place as above. The band will be composed of the following: Mr. R. W. Errett, 119; Mr. J. W. Flavelle, 100.

A Cold Night. The self-registering thermometer of the Rev. V. Clementi on Tuesday night recorded 1° below zero.

Bible Class. Mr. Munro's Bible class will meet in the Y. M. C. A. rooms to-morrow afternoon at 3:30 p.m. Subject, Intermediate State.

Ladies' Class. The ladies' class for the reading of English literature, conducted by Mr. R. Earl, will re-assemble in the Y. M. C. A. rooms on Friday afternoon.

School Trustees Election. At the time of going to press the polling in No. Two Ward for School Trustees stood as follows: Mr. R. W. Errett, 119; Mr. J. W. Flavelle, 100.

Late Flowers. Mr. H. C. Winch has left with us some beautiful pansies gathered in his garden on Tuesday afternoon. If they had been left a few hours later they would have been exposed to a temperature below zero.

St. Luke's Church Concert. The date of the concert under the auspices of St. Luke's Church has been changed to Monday, Jan. 12, in consequence of the date previously chosen.

St. Luke's Church Concert. We learn that preparations are being made for a concert under the auspices of St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, to be held in the new school room on Tuesday, January 12. It is expected to be of unusual excellence. Further particulars will be given shortly.

The Frolics. The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours commencing from 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows: Fresh to strong northerly winds; fair, decidedly colder weather, with a few snow flurries.

A Spill. If Peterborough is not a land flowing with honey, at least a part of it was shown to have been flowing with milk this morning. Mr. Hooper was making his delivery calls as usual. He went into Long's upper confectionery store, George street, but while inside the stinging cold wind inspired the horses, and they started off down street at a sharp walk. They turned too short at the first corner and over went a big can containing about twelve gallons of milk.

Interesting. A very interesting entertainment was given in St. Luke's Church school building on Tuesday evening. The place was filled to overflowing. The first part of the programme consisted of music and literary selections. Messrs. Hall, Carter, C. H. Gault each contributed two vocal solos. Mr. Pacheco sang "The Farmer and the Bicycle," drawing forth considerable laughter. Miss Brandt and Miss Eva Tivy sang two duets. Mr. Bradshaw gave a reading and Mr. Tivy a recitation. Then came a choral, "The Beauty and the Beast." Miss Lodge and Mr. Harry Dunne took the leading characters, those respectively of the "Beauty" and the "Beast," afterwards transformed into a prince. Miss Eva Tivy and Miss Maggie Calkin took the part of stepsisters of the "Beauty," and Mr. Harry Neil fetched all of the fair ones. Master Geo. Phillips was the goblin page, while Miss Louise Brooker and Kathleen Mendenhall represented little fairies. The entertainment was quite a novel one and was much appreciated.

IN A HEALTHY STATE.

DR. TASSIE, PRINCIPAL OF THE COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE, AND THE TRUSTEES

Congratulated by Inspector Hodgson on the Monthly Term of the School—A Favorable Report.

Mr. John E. Hodgson, Inspector of High Schools and Collegiate Institutes, visited Peterborough on October 29th and 30th, and during that time inspected the Collegiate Institute here. His report has been received by the Secretary of the Board, and by permission of the chairman we publish it.

The first part of the report deals with the accommodations the Institute affords. These, with a few trifling exceptions, meet with the commendation of the Inspector.

The attendance and division of the classes in the seven departments is next treated. There are twenty-three subjects taught. The attendance is as follows:—Pupils on roll, 130; total admitted pupils present, 117; pupils not admitted, 5; pupils from the town, 98; pupils from the county, 17; pupils from other counties, 20.

The qualifications, duties, experience, date of appointment, and salaries of the members of the staff are as follows:—Wm. Tassie, M.A. (Tor.), LL.D., Principal, Classical Master and Master of Writing, forty-two years' experience, appointed in September, 1884, salary $1,200. J. H. Long, M.A. (Tor.), Master of Modern Languages, Geography, and Junior Mathematics, eight years' experience, appointed in September, 1884, salary $1,000. L. E. Hornung, B.A. (Vic.), Master of Mathematics and Natural Science, one year's experience, appointed in September, 1884, salary $1,000. B. Earle, II class certificate, Master of English history and bookkeeping, twenty-one years' experience, appointed, September, 1873, salary $900. Miss E. E. Hunt, I class certificate (Que.), teacher of drawing and junior work, appointed in September 1883, salary $700.

The character of the work done in the different departments is spoken of as follows:—English—Excellent in the higher classes, under Mr. Earl; poor in the lower classes, under Miss Hunt. Mathematics—Very fairly taught. Science—Not yet taken up (see general remarks). Classics—The work is not yet of an advanced character, but is done with great thoroughness. Modern languages—Excellent. Commercial subjects—The writing is fair and is closely looked after. Other subjects—The drawing is indifferently taught.

The Inspector looks on the organization and discipline as good. The subdivision of forms and classes is fair; the proportion of time to each department, just; division of duties among the staff, satisfactory; and the order and discipline excellent in all the departments except one.

Concluding, Mr. Hodgson makes these remarks:—This Institute does not in all respects comply with the requirements of the statute (48 Vic., chap. 50, sec. 13). 1. The grounds are limited in extent, and there is no gymnasium or other appliances for physical training. 2. The library of reference is meagre and requires supplementing. 3. The supply of chemical and physical apparatus is defective (see sec. 60, page 113 of the regulations). Unless the deficiencies are supplied within a reasonable time the Institute will be in danger of being reduced to the status of a high school. (See regulations, sec. 51, p. 114.)

With one exception the members of the staff are well qualified to teach the subjects in which they were engaged. When I visited the school, thoroughness characterized the work in all the departments.

I was surprised, however, to find that the study of science had been postponed until next term. The Mr. Hornung explained the circumstances in which he had adopted this plan, I am inclined to think it rather dangerous to the interests of those going up for examination. I think that, on the whole, Dr. Tassie and the Board of Trustees are to be congratulated on the healthy state of the Institute.

Fire Brigade. At the annual meeting of the Fire Brigade held on Tuesday evening the following officers were elected:—
ASSISTANT CHIEF—J. D. Craig.
1st LIEUT.—H. Evans.
2nd LIEUT.—J. Haggart.
SECRETARY—R. Craig.
TREASURER—C. Rutherford.

The Great Musical Event. The concert by the Rock Band Concert Co. will undoubtedly be the musical event of the season. They have been brought here at great expense, as in this, their first appearance in America, they are only visiting the larger cities as a rule. No lover of music should fail to hear them. See the advertisement in another column.

A Shammy Accident. On Tuesday evening Mr. James Lillie, of North Monaghan, arrived home from Miles' shammy, near Stony Lake, under very disagreeable circumstances. While skidding logs Mr. Lillie had the misfortune to have one of his legs crushed and broken. He was taken to the shammy and a rivet was at once put on bearing him home. On arriving in town he was taken to Dr. King's surgery and had the injured limb attended to. He was then taken to his home in Monaghan.

The Fire Brigade Band. The annual meeting of the Fire Brigade Band was held on Tuesday evening, at which the following officers were elected:— PRESIDENT—F. McCabe.
SECRETARY—J. A. Logan.
TREASURER—H. Mead.
It was decided that several new reed instruments be added during the current year. Copious supplies of new music have been ordered, and it is confidently expected that the Fire Brigade Band will be on even better footing next year than ever it was.

'DIDN'T KNOW 'TWA LOADED.'

Warney Darcy Narrowly Escapes Death by a Bullet

This afternoon at about three o'clock Willie Chamberlain, a twelve-year-old son of Mr. W. H. Chamberlain, and Warney Darcy, a lad of about the same age, a son of Mr. Theo. Darcy, were playing together in the parlor of the Hub Hotel and Restaurant.

The boys had a toy pistol out of which they had previously been firing off cartridges having bullets about an eighth of an inch in diameter. Willie Chamberlain took up the pistol, cocked it and snapped the trigger twice in a careless way. He cocked it the third time, but to his astonishment, a sharp report rang out and his playmate staggered backward. The cry of alarm was given and the little fellow was soon surrounded by the inmates of the house. His clothing was taken off, but it was found that he had marvelously escaped. The bullet had struck the brass buckle of the suspender which came over his left shoulder, and by penetrating it had spent its force. A ragged hole was, however, made in the buckle, and the bullet had touched the flesh, making a red spot about the size of a quarter of a dollar on the left side of his breast.

A doctor had been sent for but it was found that his services were not required, as beyond a fright, Warney was uninjured.

Oysters, the very best, bulk and New York counts. Poultry, game and everything usually kept in the market.

The Late Dr. Ramsey. The many friends of Dr. Robert Ramsey in this town, and, indeed, throughout the Dominion, will regret to learn that he has died suddenly of disease of the heart, his end being probably hastened by his recent accident, which resulted in a broken leg. Dr. Ramsey will be greatly missed by the Masonic fraternity, especially by those connected with high grade masonry, in which he held the highest offices, and for which he was a most active and enthusiastic worker. He was an authority to all connected with the craft.

A GOOD WAY OF DRESSING COLD FISH.—This recipe is suitable for dressing cod, haddock, plaice, turbot or brill. Remove the skin and bones from the fish, and break it into flakes. Have ready two or three hard-boiled eggs, some white sauce made rather thick with milk, butter, and flour, a little salt and cayenne, and some well mashed potatoes. Take a hot flat fish, and place a bank of mashed potatoes two inches high round the edge of it, lay the cold fish evenly over the middle of the dish, cut the eggs in quarters, and place them on the top of the fish, then pour in the sauce, which must be quite hot, fill to nearly the top of the potato bank, and put into a brisk oven to brown.

An Age of Discovery. We certainly ought to appreciate the fact that we are living in an age of progress and discovery, this is especially appreciated by all persons that have been afflicted with rheumatism, as West's Wonderful Family Liniment is a positive cure for rheumatism. It is invaluable for cuts, sprains, bruises, burns, scalds and all diseases requiring external application. Sold by J. D. Tully at 25 and 50 cents per bottle.

A CHURCH BURNED

Total Destruction of the Bridge Street Methodist Church, Belleville.

BELEVVILLE, Jan. 6.—Shortly after four o'clock this afternoon a fire, originating in the heating apparatus, was discovered in the Bridge street Methodist church. The engine was promptly on the spot, but despite the utmost efforts of the firemen the building was within an hour one mass of flames. The interior was completely gutted, leaving only the bare wall standing. But few of the contents were saved. The total loss will be about $40,000, on which there is insurance of $20,000. Various companies. The church, which was one of the largest in the denomination, was that in which the Union Conference was held. It was built of stone and was erected about 22 years ago. The Sunday a school-room were probably the finest in Canada, and its organ was one of the largest in Ontario. A strong northerly wind was blowing, and the Opera house and the Dalhousie were in great danger, but were saved without damage.

The Knack Tragedy.

DETROIT, Jan. 6.—The body of Mr. Knack was taken out of the vault at the cemetery yesterday, and the head removed and brought to the city for further examination. The physicians finally decided that death resulted from natural causes, pneumonia and inflammation of the brain. The fracture of the skull discovered at the post mortem examination was produced during the first autopsy by the child of the physician. Upon this finding Augustus and Herman Knack were set free. The girls Carrie and Theresa, still remain at the old home alone. They are nearly frantic with grief, and Carrie is so ill from the effects of grief and trouble that she is confined to bed.

Bodega.

Spanish Wines, Portes and Sherries drawn from the wood, at the Parlor Restaurant of W. H. Chamberlain.

The Lawson Pear, as we shall call it until its proper name is determined by a higher authority is certainly, as we have said, the handsomest of its season. The brilliancy of its bright red face upon a bright yellow ground is unequalled by any other Summer pear. The quality, however, our readers should bear in mind is somewhat mealy and dry.

EXCITEMENT IN CALGARY.

Councillors Disqualified by Judge Travis all Re-elected.

WINNIPEG, Man., Jan. 6.—The disqualified councillors of Calgary were re-elected yesterday by a large majority. As the time for Mr. Cayley to pay his fine expired on Monday morning, and his arrest was momentarily expected, over two hundred of the citizens, placing him in a wagon, drawn by hand, and led by the town band, escorted him around the streets, with cheers for him and the old council.

In its course the procession passed Judge Travis' house, where three arrests for Judge Travis were enthusiastically given by the crowd.

In the evening the municipal victory over Judge Travis was celebrated through the town by bonfires and a torchlight procession. For some reason Judge Travis did not arrest Mr. Cayley on Monday, but yesterday about noon he was arrested and taken to the barracks, to there put in his sentence for contempt of court. A petition will be sent to O. J. Law to-day demanding a commission to investigate Judge Travis' action.

STUCK TO HIS POST.

Brave and Cool an Engineer Naves a Train From Destruction.

PETERBOROUGH, Va., Jan. 5.—Passenger train No. 45, from the south for Richmond, Washington and New York, due here at 10 a.m., narrowly escaped disaster yesterday. On nearing the trestle bridge, two miles below Rocky Mount, a station on the Wilmington & Wilson railroad, the engineer discovered that it was on fire, and that a portion of it had been burned. Seeing the danger, and knowing that it would be impossible for him to stop the train before reaching the trestle, he bravely remained in the cab, although conscious that if the train went through the trestle he would either be killed or seriously hurt, as well as all the passengers. As quick as a flash the thought occurred to him that the best way to avert the impending accident was for the entire train to pass over that portion of the bridge which had been burned as rapidly as possible. He pulled wide open the throttle valve of the locomotive and passed over the bridge at the rate of sixty miles an hour, but so great was the concussion that followed, that one of the cars broke from the coupling and all the lights in the coaches were extinguished. The passengers were badly shaken up and frightened. The train was delayed one hour on its arrival here.

LICENSE LAWS.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—I am not a stickler for Provincial rights. In fact so long as Ontario is accorded the same rights as other Provinces, I care not how much they are restricted. I am first a Briton, then a Canadian, next an Ontarianian. The relaxation of the control of the liquor licensing to the Provincial Legislature I regard as a blow to the Prohibition cause in Canada as a whole. The McCarty Act was the best license law we ever had, or are likely to obtain. But I think you are mistaken in saying that the only point now left unsettled is the validity of the Dominion Scott Act. That Act has already been upheld by the Privy Council, who are not likely to allow the question to be raised a second time. The Dominion Parliament, as I understand it, have the right to prohibit, but not to permit, the liquor traffic.

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, JANUARY 7, 1886.

MUNICIPAL MATTERS

THE composition of the Town Council for 1886 is such that the people have reason to expect much from that body. It is often the case that the governing body of a municipality exhibits as much wisdom by their ability to deliberate and do it well, as by their ability to do much. Where little work is required to be done at the expense of the corporation, a small outlay and careful and judicious expenditure are required. But the most important matter to be considered by the Council just elected is not the usual expenditure on the streets, police appointments or even Scott Act enforcement, although these and other matters will require attention or will be forced upon them for consideration. Manufacturing industries (a term with which we are now very familiar) should be established in Peterborough, and the Council should be able to do a great deal towards increasing the number of factories now doing business here.

We have had occasion to refer frequently to the importance of this subject. Our town has grown rapidly and is growing, but in order to sustain this rate of increase, or, as some good judges believe, to maintain its present position, additional employment for labor must be provided by the establishment of factories. It is a fact that the urban population of Ontario has been increasing more rapidly than the rural population, and with the opening of the Canadian Pacific Railway to the Pacific Ocean next year, and other facilities for the extension of trade, it is only reasonable to expect that the increase will be maintained, or perhaps augmented. In order to reap the advantage from these circumstances that it should, this town should endeavor to secure the location here of factories that will assist in supplying the increased demand.

The experience of last year will scarcely be lost upon this year's Council. Undue eagerness, resulting in hasty and ill-considered action, will only hinder the accomplishment of the result sought for. The by-law passed last year was not only loosely drawn and very indefinite, but it was illegal for several reasons. The Council can not plead ignorance of the fact, for they were pointed out in time to make amendments. The quashing of this by-law by the courts leaves the matter where it was at the beginning.

That the water power possessed by the Dickson Company affords good sites for manufacturing purposes is unquestionably true, and it is no less true that the establishment of factories upon the property would benefit the town and its inhabitants generally. The people, we believe, have given ample evidence of their willingness to encourage new industries, and the Dickson Company have expressed their desire to receive assistance, by means of exemptions, to induce manufacturers to locate here. The people and the Company seem, therefore, to agree on the main point and it was only in regard to details that a disagreement arose. It is to be hoped, however, that in the light of last year's experience, all difficulties may be removed and an arrangement made that will be legal and satisfactory.

The question of the construction of sewers and other public works have been for some time pressed upon the attention of the Council. But the arguments used to prove the necessity for building large sewers have rested principally upon the assumption that the town will continue to grow as rapidly as it has in the past. This may prove to be an incorrect assumption unless the number of our factories is increased, and the question of new industries is, therefore, of the utmost importance. The gentleman who occupies the Mayor's chair this year has given unmistakable proof of his desire for the location of new factories in the town (he having, in one instance, given a manufacturer a building free of rent for several years), and with a wide-awake policy on the part of the Council, backed by the natural advantages and railway facilities the town possesses, the difficulties in the way should be easily overcome. Good work was done in 1885. Let 1886 have a better record.

MR. BLAKE TO SPEAK

It has been announced that Mr. Blake will be entertained at a banquet at London on January 14th. This indicates that the leader of the Reform party has decided on what course he will pursue in regard to the alliance made during his absence, on behalf of the party, with those rebel sympathizers who wish to punish the Administration for not interfering with justice to save from punishment the chief rebel. Considerable curiosity has been evoked as to what course Mr. Blake will adopt. The acceptance of this invitation, however, not only shows that he has made up his mind, but would also appear to indicate that he will not rebuke his lieutenants who arranged the alliance, or refuse to profit by it. It is not at all likely that Mr. Blake has accepted an invitation to be ridiculed and vilified by Reformers for the purpose of getting an opportunity to snub those managers of that party who have been acting for him in his absence. The course of the Globe since Mr. Blake's return to Canada also goes to show that he has humiliated himself and endorsed the acceptance of the terms of the alliance, which had previously been announced by the Globe.

The chief ground which those who thought that Mr. Blake could not consent to lead the alliance, had for their belief, was his speech, in which he denounced Riel as a "cold-blooded murderer," and his record as the mover of the resolution offering a large reward for Riel's arrest. But last week Mr. Blake did not act so much like a man of tender scruples and honor when he badgered the Ministers in the House by asking questions, the answers to which would have supplied information to the rebels, nor when he spoke at great length in an endeavor to "talk" the crimes of the rebels. He then showed that he was prepared to go to any length in order to embarrass the government, and his record in supplanting his party leader in the Ontario Legislature, in the manner in which he succeeded in defeating the Sandfield Macdonald Government, and in plotting against Mr. Mackenzie and securing his place, is a record that shows a lust for place and office that would be likely to lead Mr. Blake to accept the Riel and Revenge platform if he thought he could profit by so doing. His course last session prepared the way for him to pose as the champion of the rebels and their leader, but when he does that he will have to swallow vigorous speeches previously uttered, and he will have some odd explanations to make to his followers when he consents to lead men whom he had taught them to hate, and consents, also, to an alliance with them on the basis of revenge for Riel's execution. Mr. Blake, while speaking in Western Ontario, will scarcely come out plainly on the Riel question, but an avoidance of the straight issue, or a condemnation of the government in regard to the rebellion, will be construed by the "new allies" as an endorsement of the alliance, and, in fact, such it will be. The loyal and patriotic people of Ontario and the Dominion, irrespective of previous party connections (to borrow a phrase from the agitators) will then know how to act.

MORTALITY RETURNS

A decrease in the interments in the Little Lake Cemetery during the year. Mr. John Kelly, Superintendent of the Little Lake Cemetery, has furnished us with the following report, which gives the number of interments which have been made in the Cemetery for the year 1885, together with the ages and nativity of the departed ones, and the names of the diseases which carried them away. During the year 1885 there were 147 interments, showing a decrease of 11, as compared with those of the year 1884.

WESTWOOD

PRESENTATION.—On the evening of Dec. 29th, 1885, a number of our citizens wended their way towards the residence of Alex. Kidd, Esq., ostensibly to pay that worthy gentleman a visit, but subsequent events proved that other thoughts than those of making a holiday call were passing through their cranialminds, for upon arriving at the above mentioned gentleman's domicile, they, with an apparent great lack of courtesy, made anxious enquiry for Miss E. Beckett, who for the last two years has wielded the teacher's sceptre in this section. That lady, without betraying any perceptible alarm at the formidable array of visitors or the abruptness of the visit, at once ushered her guests into the parlor, where, after a few my-frying words and whisperings among the guests, one of their number stepped forward and read the following address, at the close of which Miss Annie Cameron presented the gifts mentioned therein.

DEAR FRIEND, Our respective positions in life are about to change. You are going to leave us, and although the place you are going to is not very remote, still we will be sad that close relationship which has been our privilege to enjoy for the last number of years. As a teacher you have always most graciously applied yourself to the duties involved, bringing a cheeryness in so doing, which showed that your heart was in your work. But apart from this there is one trait in your character that especially commends you to our love and respect. You have always endeavored to impart moral and spiritual lessons in the minds of your pupils, ever ready to engender in their hearts a love for their Saviour. Thus you are sowing seed, the good full benefits of which your pupils will reveal. As a warm ally of the temperance cause you have always given aid in that direction, and in this line we will feel your loss very much. We all feel that we could not let you depart without giving you some tangible proof of our respect and friendship. We want you to know that your work among us has been fully appreciated, and as a proof of our words we present you with this ring and brooch, and as this ring is complete without end, so may your future be free from care. Our warmest wishes for success accompany you to your new field of labor, and we feel certain your many anti-aging qualities will soon win for you many friends here.

YOUR FRIENDS IN UNION N.S. No. 2, ASPHODEL.
Dec. 29, 1885.

The following address from the pupils was also read:—
DEAR TEACHER,—Your pupils of this section fully appreciate the valuable services you have rendered as a teacher, as well as your society as a friend, and upon the eve of your departure from among us, to tender you some mark of the esteem and respect we have for you. To say that we regret parting with you is a bold expression of our feelings to-night. As it has ever been your endeavor to sow good seed in the hearts of the young, let us hope that ere long it may bear fruit abundantly, and as you are about assuming the charge of another school, it is our hope that you may have the same success in winning the confidence of your pupils and their parents there as you have had here. May your desire to do good unto others still increase, and may our Heavenly Father, Who has ever been your guide through life, still lead and guide you, and that the light of His love may shine upon your pathway, directing your footsteps to the golden gates of an eternal home, is the earnest wish of your friends and pupils here. We now join with our friends in the section in presenting you with these gifts, hoping that one may be of use to you, and requesting that the other be worn by you as a lasting remembrance of a happy day spent among us. Hoping that you may live long to enjoy the gifts, we extend to you an affectionate farewell.
YOUR PUPILS OF UNION N.S. No. 2, ASPHODEL AND OGDONARE.

Miss Beckett replied, thanking her pupils and friends for their kindness, remarking that this reminder of respect and friendship from them, conveying to her their due appreciation of her work among them, would give her courage and strength to go on and work ever with the object in view of doing her best to take advantage of every opportunity in life to better and increase the happiness of others.

The next proceeding was to partake of a sumptuous repast, prepared by Mrs. Alex. Kidd, which, both in quality and quantity, was amply sufficient to satisfy the most fastidious epicures present. After that they adjourned to the parlor, where, after appointing Mr. Thomas Eason to preside over the meeting, several of the members contributed in the way of readings, songs, stump speeches, etc., to the pleasure of the evening. The chairman then made a very eloquent address, after which all joined in singing the "Sweet By-and-by," and this happy commingling of kindred spirits came to an end.

Prof. Hotchin's treatment is practical, rational and economical. Its object is to give immediate relief and permanent cure. It is based on scientific principles and is demonstrated to the comprehension of every intelligent person, that a truss without steel springs or hard substance, having heated inguinal and umbilical as well as Venocele, at the advanced age of seventy years, from 40 to 50 years, must and will cure against all Spring Trusses to children as well as adults. Prof. H. having had 30 years experience, he is the master of his profession, and he is the only one who can hold his place. Prof. H. has invented an apparatus to hold the VENOCELS in their proper place, which has been a successful method in other locations. Go and see for yourselves.

INNOVATIONS!

"To Innovate" says Webster, means "To introduce Novelties, to make changes in anything established."

Now for the applications. If people quit asking for credit and insisted on paying cash, it would be an innovation that merchants would countenance and well put up with. If the newspapers would, in the interests of their columns of advertisement guarantee that such and such a result would immediately follow, it would be an innovation that would largely result in a rub of advertising. If our Town Councilors were to appear at the first meeting for 1886 in chamber coats, white ties, and patent leather pumps, it would be an innovation, and should they suspend the 18th rule to countenance the change, it would be a relaxation. A proper and taking innovation which is now popular and we are assisting in introducing, is the fashionable Blanket Suits. They are comfortable, neat, stylish and cheap. They are for ladies and gentlemen, and make beautifully handsome the pretty. For toboggan or skating risk they are extremely Nobby. Follow the innovation and order them from

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Trustee Election.

Mr. R. W. Errol was elected on Wednesday as a representative of No. 3 Ward at the Board of Education by a majority of 25. The vote was as follows:—Errol, 130; Flavell, 105. The contest was keen and the vote polled was the largest ever held at a similar election in No. 3 Ward.

Lithograph Stone.

Mr. H. Grundy is sending specimen of lithograph stone, from the quarry near Bobcaygeon on Pigeon Lake, to the colonial exhibition. It is a cube of six inches, polished on all sides except the top, which is pitched off to show the rough fracture. The stone has been dressed by Mr. Evans, of Peterborough.

Personal.

The Rochester Union and Advertiser of Jan. 4th says that Mr. Geo. A. Perry, president of the local typographical union, at a meeting held Saturday evening, was elected delegate to the state convention of workingmen, which assembles in the city of Albany on the 19th inst. Mr. Perry is a native of Peterborough and graduated from the REVIEW Office.

A Great Attraction.

In account of a concert in Hastings the Star says:—

"The club swinging of Mr. T. McNaughton, of Peterborough, who also freely gave his services, was certainly a great attraction. To all who had not previously seen anything similar—the many evolutions, circles and combinations which were exhibited by illuminated clubs swinging in perfect time to the ravishing strains of the Organ, made a pretty sight, and stamped the performer as one second to none in the country, who as a well trained professional, would be an acquisition to any athletic society anxious to excel in the matter of club-swinging."

The Protestant Bazaar.

The committee of the Peterborough Protestant Bazaar have thankfully acknowledged the following donations for Christmas:—Mrs. Vernon, goose and Christmas cards; Mrs. J. G. Hall, roast pork; Mrs. Waller, apples and goose; Mrs. A. Smith, tea, potted head and currant loaf; Mrs. G. A. Cox, fruit; Mrs. B. Sawyers, pair of fowls; Rev. V. Clement, sheep, turkey and roast beef; Mrs. J. B. McWilliams, quarter of venison; cakes from St. Paul's society; St. Andrew's Church, basket cakes; Mrs. G. Hazlett, turkey and cakes; Mrs. Wallis, vegetables; Mrs. Aldridge, child's clock; Mrs. Halliday, mince pies and basket apples; Mrs. Rob. Nicholls, quarter beef; Mr. Laplante, roast beef; ladies of Baptist Church, basket cakes; Mrs. C. Sawyer, corn beef; Miss Nicholls, mince pies; Mrs. Lunn, currant loaf; Mrs. Gilmore, plum pudding; Mrs. Walsh, cakes and pies; Mrs. McGill, canned fruit; Mr. Winch, roast beef; J. J. Mervin, goose and beef; Mr. Henry Moore, s., 930; Mrs. C. Barnham, 95; Mrs. Macdonald, dolls, cakes and candies; Mrs. B. Ferguson, candies, fruit and delicacies for sick; T. W. Robinson, turkey; Miss Blair, muffins, kid mitts and cuffs.

Day's International Company.

This Company (formerly known in Peterborough as "Tavernier") are billed for a two weeks season, commencing January 11th, in our town. See advertisement in another column. One of the Kingston papers speaks as follows of their month's engagement in that city:—

"Wilson Day's excellent theatre company closed a month's engagement in the opera house on Saturday evening. The house, as usual, was crowded and the performances all that could be desired by the most fastidious. Before the conclusion of the play Wilson Day returned the thanks of himself and company to the Kingston people for their liberal patronage during the month, and hoped that the good feeling that existed between the citizens of Kingston and his company would last for many years. His remarks were loudly applauded. Twenty-nine performances have been given by the company in the city and on each occasion the opera house was well filled, the average proceeds being $125. The matinee in the opera house was largely attended by children. The production of "A Ticket-of-leave-man" gave general satisfaction. Mr. T. W. Jackson's act, as "Bizarro Jack" a navvies, surprised his many friends. His comical gestures brought down the house. Miss Maggie Brown held the corresponding number to that which was drawn from a hat and was presented with a magnificent doll by Annie Bird, a little lady who has already made her mark in Kingston as a singer and actress."

CAPTURED AT MIDNIGHT

MR. T. BRADBURN INTERCEPTED WHILE ON HIS WAY HOME.

And During the Silent Hours of Night is Forced to Obey the Dictates of His Captor—A Thrilling Experience.

The alleged abduction of Mr. Thomas Bradburn by Mr. John Lasher, on Tuesday night, or rather early on Wednesday morning, has caused quite a wavelet of excitement in town. The matter came before the Police Court for ventilation this morning.

Two informations were laid by Thos. Bradburn against J. Lasher; the first charging him with having committed an assault on him on the morning of the 5th of January, and the other charging him with having committed another assault on the morning of the 6th of January.

When Magistrate Dumble took his seat on the bench this morning there was a full Court room. Each party was on hand with his lawyer, Mr. Geo. Edmond appearing for Mr. Bradburn and Mr. Geo. M. Royer for the defendant.

The Magistrate read over the charge, in which were embodied threats such as, "I will lay you out," etc. He remarked that by using such language toward another, anyone would be making themselves liable to be bound over, and a magistrate would be justified in doing so. However, he would of the case, and each might now put in what evidence they had. The two cases might as well be proceeded with together.

Mr. ROYER—Wait for a moment, we want to lay an information, and then the whole can be proceeded with at once.

This information was laid—one charging Mr. Bradburn with having threatened to put a bullet through Mr. Lasher.

The Magistrate said that before receiving this information he wished to know the circumstances of the case.

The complainant said that going home that night he and Mr. Bradburn were—

QUARRELLING ALL THE WAY when they got about half way home Mr. Bradburn said "If you don't quit bothering me I will put a bullet through you."

Mr. BRADBURN—I never made such a statement. I made no such statement whatever. The Magistrate—I will not take that information. I have heard the circumstances of the case from Mr. Bradburn, and I hold that he would be justified in doing so, even if he did make the statement.

Mr. ROYER—Why not take Mr. Lasher's word as well as Mr. Bradburn's? The Magistrate—I exercise my own discretion about that; I will hear the whole circumstances of the case, and if I find that either Mr. Lasher or Mr. Bradburn ought to be bound over I will bind them over.

Mr. BRADBURN—They were called and said—I was on my way home on Tuesday morning, about a quarter after twelve o'clock. Mr. Forbes and myself went up George street together as far as Taylor & Macdonald's drug store. The night was very dark. Just when we came to the corner of the street

WE HEARD A STEP.

We crossed over to Mercer's corner and stood talking for five or ten minutes. I then bid him good night and he bade me good night and we parted. I went up George street alone, on the west side of the street. When I came to opposite the post office I stepped again, this time crossing the street. The person sought to meet me just as I had reached the corner. I said "good night." He answered "Good—don't you say good night to me." I took it that he was only joking, and said, "U, come now, you wouldn't hurt me." Says he, "Good—don't you, I'll show you whether I'll hurt you or not." We went along together till we got passed Wainwright's butcher shop, just to where those shingles are piled up, while I tried to keep him quiet. When at that place I told him that I did not know who he was, when he said, "I'll show you who I am," and GRABBING ME BY THE COLLAR of the coat and giving me a jerk, said, "My name is Jack Lasher, and I'm going to knock the stuffing out of you." I reasoned with him, telling him that he was a young man, and that it would be a disgrace for him to strike an old man like me. He repeated the threat, "I will lay you out," several times. At the first corner I tried to get away, but he would not let me go. At McDonnell street again I wanted to turn, but he said "No; you are going my way." At London street we both turned and went down. He followed me down as far as Aylmer street, while all the time I was pleading to him not to strike me. At length he stopped and said that if he did not lay me out to-night he would some other time. I asked him what he had against me—what all this was for? He said that I had reported that his father had sold lumber from my lumber room. I replied that I had said no such thing.

Some minutes previous a stove pipe had fallen down, and the Court room was soon filled with smoke. The windows were opened, and somewhere so cold as to be chilling to any thermometer came rushing in. Under these circumstances the Magistrate deemed it advisable to adjourn the case until three o'clock this afternoon.

The next night, it appears, Mr. Bradburn had a similar experience. According to his own account he was going home early in the morning, not dreaming that he would again be intercepted. He was walking quietly along George street and had arrived at that ill-fated pile of shingles when he saw a man

RUSHING ACROSS THE STREET towards him. He stopped, and the man, who afterwards turned out to be the same assailant, pounced upon him, taking him by the collar and jerking him around for some time, saying, "Good—don't you, I've got you now!" Lasher maintained his hold and continued to march him along up the street, while Mr. Bradburn kept entreating that no harm might be done to him. Mr. Bradburn tried to get away several times, but the grip on his collar was in no way relaxed. At length Mr. Bradburn told him that if he let go he (Mr. Bradburn) would go along wherever he wished. The "prisoner" was then led along to Mr. Wm. Lasher's house, a house on Union street, and led into the parlor. Both Mr. and Mrs. Lasher got up and tried to pacify Jack, but it was not till six o'clock in the morning that he was allowed to make his escape.

None of the evidence for the defence has yet been submitted, and this is, so far, only one side of the story.

Chamberlain's Parlor Dining Rooms Suppers, Luncheons, etc., will be served a la carte at all hours.

Weather Notes.

The following weather notes are supplied by Mr. Geo. Schofield, druggist:—

Thermometer.	Barometer.
29.20	29.23
10 below	29.23
6 above	29.26

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Fresh north and north-east winds, partly cloudy, continued cold weather, with light local falls of snow.

P. L. S.

We are glad to learn that Mr. James Fitzgerald, of this town, has just passed a very creditable examination at Toronto before the Board of Examiners of the Provincial Land Surveyors. Mr. Fitzgerald being the son of our well-known townsman, Mr. J. W. Fitzgerald, P.L.S. & D.L.S., would naturally have an hereditary aptitude for success as a surveyor, and will no doubt practice his profession with benefit alike to his clients and to himself.

Smith's Market.

Fresh haddock, fresh cod, fresh flounders, fresh trout, baddies, mackerel, blonkers, ciscoes, &c. Malaga grapes, Catawba grapes, and to arrive, lot of western imported Concorda Florida oranges, lemons, nuts and canned goods. Lot of very choice new hams from eight to twelve pounds. Oysters, the very best, bulk and New York counts. Poultry, game and everything usually kept in the market.

A Boom in Lumber.

We learn that Mr. R. Bryans, the well-known proprietor of the Lindsay Lumber Yard, has purchased the entire stock of lumber, timber, &c., at the R. C. Smith Mills, Peaseon Falls. Mr. Bryans is now offering for sale at exceptionally favorable prices the entire stock, upwards of 6,000,000 feet. To-bailers, contractors, &c., this is a very favorable opportunity to buy material, as the stock has not been called over. Each lumber of all kinds, timber and bill stuff. Enquiries can be addressed to R. BRYANS, Lindsay Lumber Yard, Lindsay.

Mistaking the Medicine.

This morning at about half past eight o'clock little Maud Carey, a six year old daughter of Mr. Johnston Carey, was subjected to all the disagreeableness of that dire emetic, mustard and water, through having taken a wrong kind of medicine. Her mother intended to give her Prussian powder, a purgative, but through some mistake its "nationality" was not recognized, and Persian insect powder was substituted. The mistake was soon discovered and an emetic in the form of mustard and water was administered, which soon rid the little girl of the noxious potion. The dose that had been given her, though deadly to all kinds of insects, is not hurtful to men or women or even children. The services of a physician were not required.

The Rock Band Concert.

A concert was given in Bradburn's Opera House on Wednesday evening by the Till family, assisted of Miss Ida M. Brown, elocutionist, of Boston. The interest of the audience centred in the rock harmonicon, an instrument made of sixty stone bars laid loosely on long jacks topped with straw. Mr. Till gave a short history of the novel instrument. Himself and brother had undertaken the work in the year 1870, gathering these stones from the tops of the hills near their home in England. At the end of the first year they had completed an instrument on which might be played simple tunes. This success inspired them to greater efforts, and after years of labor they brought forth the present complete instrument of five octaves. The tuning had to be done by chipping off pieces from the bar until the proper pitch was arrived at. The music drawn from the harmonicon, produced by striking the bars with little wooden mallets, was exceedingly sweet, and each time the rock players (three) appeared, they were warmly applauded. A number of odd instruments were introduced—the stretch string, the ucrinas, the musical bootjack, the xylophone, and the fairy bells. The dust on the xylophone, a wooden dulcimer, and the zither, was a very acceptable musical novelty. The prominent features of the singing of the Till family were the exquisite blending of the voices and the perfect balance of the parts, with, of course, a due predominance of soprano, and the model good taste in which the singing was done. As soloists, none of them is a success. Miss Ida Brown appeared to have made an impression on the audience. After her recitation of the "Little Girl's Hotel Experience," she was twice recalled. The concert throughout was one of merit.

Ladies' Aid Society.

The annual meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society in connection with St. Paul's Church was held in the Church parlor on Wednesday afternoon. The following officers were elected for the current year:—

Fluid Lightning is simply a marvelous rheumatic remedy. It was for two months a cripple, unable to get out of the house from a cold. One bottle gave me instant relief, and placed me on my feet again. I have driven fourteen miles today (something I could not possibly have done were it not for Fluid Lightning) for the express purpose of securing another bottle. Says Wm. Dixon, Gananoque. Only 50 cents per bottle at J. McKee's.

THE ASSESSMENT LAW.

ONE CHANGE MADE AND SEVERAL MORE ADVOCATED

Will There be Another Call on George Street?—The Town Council has just decided to make a change in the Light Question. More Applications for the Position of Chief of Police.

A regular meeting of the Town Council was held on Friday evening. There were present: His Worship the Mayor, and Councillors Cahill, Davidson, McCallister, Douglas, McLaughlin, Rathford, Macleod, Kelly, Hartley and Green.

The minutes of the last two meetings were read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

Communications were read by the Clerk as follows:—

From Mrs. Plunket, asking for remission of taxes.—Charity Committee.

From Patrick Hanlon, asking for remission of taxes.—Charity Committee.

From Mary Muloy, asking for pecuniary assistance.—Charity Committee.

From Rev. C. H. Davis, applying for exemption from taxation, on account of his being a clergyman.—Court of Revision.

From R. H. Adams, T. H. Dale, J. T. Ward, John W. May and Geo. Cochrane, all applying for the position of Chief of Police.—Committee on Appointments.

ACCOUNTS.

Accounts were sent in as follows:—

M. C. Rogers	88 24
Robt. Howe	8 00
Robt. White	4 00
Metropolitan Grocery	7 00
Electric Light Co.	3 00
Grand Trunk Railway	2 95
John Newhall	3 00
Fitzgerald & Stanger	13 50
A. Comstock	9 25

On motion all the accounts were referred to the Finance Committee.

AN URGENT CASE.

The Mayor stated that the Protestant Home had an account against the town of nine dollars for keeping a Mrs. Hare while in a state of unconsciousness. This woman was married, and her husband had left her. She came here applying to be admitted to the Nicola Hotel, but being contrary to the rules, that was not done. Her case was very urgent, and something had to be done speedily. She was therefore taken to the Protestant Home.

A few remarks passed on the part of several Councillors, when the account was on motion referred to the Finance Committee.

CHARITY.

Councillor GREEN, as Chairman of the Charity Committee, submitted a report of the charity orders given by him since the last day of May, 1885.

The report was a detailed one, showing fully who had received the benefit of the town charity, and to what amount. In total it amounted to $100.

A BY-LAW.

Councillor DAVIDSON moved the first reading of a by-law to authorize paddy, lawns, or pleasure grounds, within the corporation, to be used as a place for the sale of goods.

The Council went into Committee of the Whole on the second reading of Councillor Davidson's motion.

Councillor DAVIDSON said that the Legislature gave Town Councils power to take such action.

It was a motioned objection that twenty acres of land, held by Mr. Burnham in the west part of the town, should be assessed at $3,000, when it was worth fully $25,000. He asked the case of Mr. K. Chamberlain as another instance of the injustice done.

Councillor DOUGLAS was of opinion that so long as there were a certain number of acres of land in the town used for farming purposes it could not be assessed at its value.

The Mayor—I think all property within the town should be assessed at its par value, and I will see that the assessment is made properly.

Councillor DOUGLAS held to his opinion, giving as an instance a case that had come under his notice. It was that of Mr. Geo. Rogers, who applied against his assessment. The judge had held that if the land was used for farming purposes it could not be assessed at other property.

Councillor CARILL said that it was not the farming land that they wanted to get at; it was the land that was lying idle in the whole blocks where that assessment was made, assessed at its value. Thus, Mr. Burnham owned ten acres of land in the west part of the town which was subdivided into lots. Immediately north of this was twenty acres which was not subdivided into lots. He did not pay nearly so much tax on the north twenty acres as was paid on the south ten acres. If all lands were assessed at their market value the difficulty would be met.

The Mayor said that he thought a change should be made with regard to the assessment of stocks. For instance, a man may have $30,000 worth of stock in his store, and by saying that he owns $10,000 he gets off with being assessed $1,000. By the same token there were thousands of dollars worth of stock in town that were not assessed at all. He thought the Government should be memorialized to change this mode of assessment, so that the stock on the shelves in stores, no matter where it is, whether belonging to wholesale men or not, be assessed at its par value. We were paying to protect these goods from fire and burglary and all that sort of tax, and there was no reason why assessment in full should not be made. If all property were assessed at its par value there would be at least an increase of a million dollars worth on the roll.

Councillor KELLY—But these parties are all assessed for these goods before; why would be assessing them twice?

The Mayor—There's the question; why should we pay to protect these goods and let them go to the tax?

Councillor DAVIDSON—In Quebec the stocks are assessed to their full value.

Councillor CARILL said that he was very glad to hear the Mayor express his view on this subject. No man could question the justice of what he had just said. A merchant has $20,000 worth of stock, but because he owns $10,000 on it he is only assessed $1,000. A poor fellow bought a lot, paid $100 on it and borrowed the other $900 to pay it out, was assessed the full value on an assessment for what he had not and perhaps never would have, for afterwards the loan company often got the $100 and the $900. These stocks received the same benefit that did this outstanding real estate and there was no reason why they should not bear their just burden of taxation.

Councillor RUTHERFORD proposed another innovation in regard to assessment. It was a well known fact that an immense amount of trouble arose every year from tenants moving from one house to another and thereby dividing up the payment of taxes between one and another. If the landlords were assessed and had to pay the taxes it would do away with the whole trouble. There could be no difference to the landlord; he would simply have to add the amount paid in taxes to the rent. He thought it would be a proper thing to memorialize the Government to have the assessment law so changed to meet the demand.

Councillor GREEN—I think the by-law should be passed. It is absurd to have a ten or twenty acre farm in the town.

Councillor RUTHERFORD—I suppose, Mr. Mayor, that by-law will not affect the Horticultural Gardens.

The Mayor—No; it does not deal with public parks.

The by-law passed its second and third readings and was signed and sealed.

AN ACCOUNT.

An account of $3.85 from Mr. Wm. English, here presented, was referred to the Finance Committee.

SMITH STREET BRIDGE.

Councillor CARILL moved, seconded by Councillor RUTHERFORD, That Mr. Thornton be allowed $30 additional to his contract price for repairing the Smith street bridge, and that the Treasurer be authorized to pay the same.

Carried.

CLEARING THE STREET.

Mr. James Stevenson was heard in reference to the street.

He said that the ice had flowed down in large flakes and that there was a jam at the bridge on Simcoe street. Unless looked after the bridge would be carried away in the spring. He advised the chopping out of the ice without delay.

The matter was referred to the Chairman of the Street and Bridge Committee, with power to act.

LIGHT.

Councillor RUTHERFORD explained how it was that certain gas lamps on Simcoe street were not lighted at the proper time.

Mr. Stevenson said that the only light he knew of that had not been lighted was on Monday night. The lamp-lighter had hurt his hand, and had not lit them until 9 o'clock. If there was any negligence of this kind he would be glad if the people would report to him. The lamp-lighter was well paid for his service, and he should do it faithfully.

At the suggestion of Councillor McCallister the Clerk was requested to instruct the Electric Light Company to proceed with the distribution of the electric lights on Hunter street, in accordance with the report adopted at a recent session of the Council.

CABLE NEWS.

"Cable."

The oldest and most reliable brand of cigars in the market. Free from all chemicals and artificial flavorings.

"El Padre" Cigars.

Universally acknowledged to be the finest 10c. cigar manufactured. Don't be persuaded to take other brands. No chemicals or artificial flavorings used.

S. Davis & Sons have moved into their new manufactory, the corner of the kind in America. They are the only cigar manufacturers in Canada who manufacture their own cigar boxes and packing cases, which industry gives employment to sixty hands.

Beware of cigars artificially flavored for the purpose of hiding the poor quality of tobacco used in flavored cigars. Insist upon having the old reliable brands—"Cable" and "El Padre."

A trial will convince the most skeptical that S. Davis & Sons' manufacture of cigars are superior in every respect to any in Canada.

Prize medals against the world were awarded to S. Davis & Sons, of Montreal, for their manufacture of cigars, at Paris, 1867, Centennial, 1876, Montreal, 1883-84.

INNOVATIONS!

"To Innovate" says Webster, means "To introduce Novelties, to make changes in anything established."

Now for the applications. If people quit asking for credit and insisted on paying cash, it would be an innovation that merchants would countenance and well put up with. If the newspapers would, in the instructions in their columns of an advertisement guarantee that such and such a result would immediately follow, it would be an innovation, and should they suspend the 1894 rule to countenance the change, it would be a relaxation. A proper and fitting innovation which is now popular and we are anxious to introduce, is the fashionable Blanket Suits. They are comfortable, neat, stylish and cheap. They for ladies adorn the pleasant features, and make beautifully handsome the pretty. For toboggan or skating risk they are extremely Nobby. Follow the innovation and order them from

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Literary Notice.

The First and Second Publishing Company announces the third enlarged edition of W. P. Stephens' "Cane and Boat Building," with added plans of a sloop and new types of canoes. The large sales of this work indicate the growing popularity of cruising the American waters.

If you have a superfluous growth of hair more it by the use of "Keratin" Hair Destroyer, which can be had from PROF. DORNWEND at Phelps's Hotel on Monday and Tuesday, Jan. 18 and 19.

Persons.

The Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, Rector of St. Luke's, Ashburnham, left by the noon train today for Oshawa, where he will preach missionary sermons to-morrow. During the week he will be present at missionary meetings at Pickering, Whitby, Port Perry and several other places.

First Grand Carnival.

The first Grand Carnival of the season will be held in the Peterborough Curling and Shining Rink, Charlotte street, on Friday evening, the 22nd instant, under the auspices of the celebrated Fire Brigade Band. Make your preparations at once. The success of this Carnival is assured. Don't miss it.

Board Meeting.

At a formal meeting of the Separate School Board, held on Thursday, to confirm the election of trustees and to appoint a representative to the Collegiate Institute Board, the election of the four trustees elected by acclamation was confirmed, and Mr. James Henry was appointed as representative.

It Was Not Credited.

The Windsor Free Press favors its readers with an account of a lecture given and of views presented in "Bradburn's Opera House" by missionaries to the Mohammedans. Some of its readers may have been puzzled to know where the opera house mentioned was located, as the Free Press does not mention Peterborough, and even its readers from this section have been in doubt whether it was the Oshawa, Lindsay or Peterborough Opera House. If the Free Press had given the REVIEW, from which paper the article was taken, credit for it, there would have been no cause for a doubt or explanation.

Changes Proposed.

Any reader of the Boboeyes Independent who could have heard the advanced thought propositions put forward at Friday evening's meeting of our Council, would have at once come to the conclusion that Smith himself was behind the scenes manipulating the wires. In the first place the Council put its foot down emphatically and said that the owners of large blocks of pasture land or pleasure grounds within the corporation had to pay taxes proportionate to the small holders. Then the subject assumed another phase, and assuming the stocks of stockholders at their par value was talked of. Lastly, it was thought that to assess the land lord for the property, and hold him responsible for the taxes, would be a good idea and would do away with much trouble.

Missionary Money.

The amount to be contributed by the Methodist body in Peterborough for mission work will in all probability exceed that given last year. The amount contributed last year was something over $2000. Up to the present time there has been $2250 collected, made up as follows: Charlotte street church, $200.00; George street church, $200.00; the Rev. Mr. Green's lecture on British Columbian missions, $25. The amount realized at the Rev. Mr. Eby's illustrated lecture on Japan was $65, but that goes toward purchasing a new library for the lecture, whose old one was recently destroyed by fire. The collectors, who are now making their calls, have yet to be heard from, and it is expected that from that source the fund will be augmented by at least $200.

If your hair is falling out or turning gray, or if you are troubled with dandruff, get a bottle of Hair Magic from PROF. DORNWEND at Phelps's Hotel on Jan. 18th or 19th, or from J. D. Tully, Druggist.

Very Cold.

The self-registering thermometer of the Rev. V. Clementi recorded 2° below zero on Friday night.

Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, JANUARY 12, 1886.

In some remarks about Mr. Wilkison, a Reform poet bursts into song as follows:—
 Dearest Big Push, thou hast left us,
 And wert thou not here a great Yell would the crowd of bribees
 On the California shore.

It is very natural that the mention of Mr. Wilkison should recall to mind his exposure of the "Big Push" letter of the late Hon. Gen. Brown in which he solicited contributions to a Reform corruption fund. But it is not very generous of the political friends of the late Mr. Brown to be continually raking up this episode in his career. Why he should miss the broad of bribees on the California shore we cannot understand. We should have thought he would have missed bribees at Ottawa and other Canadian localities more severely.

What is the meaning of timber limits? In connection with a speech of Mr. M. C. Cameron, it means that when speaking of timber he limits the truth used to an exceedingly small amount. He takes great license with the subject, and to score a point does not hesitate to leave out the mark. He does this in the hope of securing a berth for himself, but it is not impossible that, if he continues to deal so largely in misrepresentation, he will have to abdicate.

The London Advertiser wants a search warrant issued to search for the "war of roses." As the Reform papers have had a monopoly of the discussion on that subject, they might be left to do the searching. But how would it do to have a search warrant issued to find the half-breed settler who was deprived of his home in the Northwest? Columns have been written about him, and countless tears shed over him, but he has never been found. His name is not known, and many persons believe that he never existed, which shows the necessity for a search warrant.

The falsehoods uttered by Mr. M. C. Cameron in regard to timber licenses charged by him to have been corruptly granted by the Macdonald Administration in Northwest Ontario have been very fully exposed by the Minister of the Interior, as extracted from whose speech we give in this issue. Without going into details it is sufficient to say that the greater part of the land under license in held by Reformers and was licensed by the Macdonald Administration. Such false charges by one of Mr. M. C. Cameron's bad record against honest men are deserving of the severest condemnation.

WHAT A HUSBAND DID

After the Doctor and Prescribed Her Death to Bring his Wife to Life

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—Five weeks ago the wife of Charles P. Pruett, a dentist of this city, gave birth to a child which was followed by an attack of peripneumonia. They were living at the suburb of Oak Park. As his wife grew worse rapidly Mr. Pruett consulted a city physician, who, after seeing the patient, recommended the use of anæsthetics to quiet her nerves. The doctor here alluded to did not send the one, but an Oak Park physician was called in and he also adopted the same course of treatment, administering strong doses of morphine. The lady was found to be rapidly sinking, till on Sunday night she fell back on the pillow. Her breathing had ceased and her pulse was gone. The attending physician, who was by her side, made the usual examination and distinctly pronounced her dead. The husband was frantic, and rushing to the bedside of his wife, put his ear to her heart. He declared he could detect a faint throbbing. The physician again assured him that life was extinct, but in order to satisfy Mr. Pruett he called in another doctor of the village. He, too, made an examination and confirmed the report of his brother physician that the patient was dead. Still the husband would not be convinced. He placed his hand upon his wife's chest, and by some method tried to produce an artificial respiration, having made a special study of the use of anæsthetics in connection with his profession. He proceeded to work the same back and forth, pressing his hand on the chest, thus producing an artificial movement. The two doctors who stood by not only endeavored to dissuade him from continuing the operation, but remonstrated with him for committing what they deemed a profanation of the dead. He continued his efforts, and after the lapse of some minutes the patient began slowly to revive. She has steadily improved, and is now able to move around. The doctors confess that she would certainly have died but for these extraordinary efforts at restoration.

Terrible Catastrophe in Alabama

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Jan. 9.—A fearful accident occurred on the South and North Alabama division of the Louisville and Nashville Railway at the bridge over Flint river, near Willetts station, to-day, when two sections of a four-hundred-light train telescoped. Part of the first section broke loose and remained on the bridge, and was run into by the second section. The shock caused the collapse of the bridge, 100 feet of which was undergoing repairs. Five cars of the first section and the whole of the second, consisting of an engine and seventeen cars, went down with the bridge. The wreck caught fire and eighteen cars were burned. John Johnson, fireman of the second section, fell under his engine and was drowned. Heavy boiler breakers, was caught under a car and hurled to death. Engineer W. D. Johnson, brother of the dead fireman, was fatally burned. Conductor George Young and a negro brakeman were seriously burned. The freight consisted mostly of iron, which will be saved. Conductor L. O. Harris of the first section swung across the almost broken river to the south bound passenger train which was to come along in a few minutes.

THE FACTS OF THE CASE

Some of Mr. M. C. Cameron's Stories Reviewed

At St. Thomas on January 8th, in a public speech, the Hon. T. W. White, Minister of the Interior, thus exposed some of the slander uttered by Mr. M. C. Cameron:

"And now, gentlemen, let me refer to another subject which is doing service to the press as a ground of attack upon the Government. Mr. M. C. Cameron, M.P., has recently been doing what every member of Parliament would make it his duty to do from time to time, namely, addressing his constituents. His speech was an arraignment of the Government for its policy and corruption, and those who know Mr. Cameron best will readily understand that such a subject has nothing in violence of language, in address, or in the nature of the charges, to attract the attention of the public. With his statements true, the arraignment would be a serious one; but they were not true. Not only were they not true, but there was a single charge made by him against the Government which was not only inaccurate or so exaggerated as to amount to a lie, but I do not propose to rise to all the statements made by Mr. Cameron. I cannot myself take up his references to the Government, and with a criticism of the evidence upon which he based the charges. It is charged against Sir John that he has paid out of the timber lands in the disputed territory 'among his constituents' the money of the Government, his political debtors and the Chancellor, and so almost every mile in the disputed territory has been licensed by the said Sir John to the best interests of Ontario. Then follows a list of thirty names to whom licenses to cut timber in the disputed territory have been given, and who are now, as it is implied, in possession of the license of this tract. And then a charge is made that in addition to these, thirty names, a permit had been granted to persons to cut timber in the territory. Now, as to the last charge, I may say that some permits were issued to settlers to cut timber, and to persons to get out the timber for the railway, but the last permit issued on the 1st May, 1884, nearly two years ago, three months before the judgment of the Privy Council, and no permit has since been granted. Then coming to the list, Mr. Cameron says that among those to whom a license was granted, was the Hon. J. H. Cockburn, Minister of the Interior. He does not think it inconsistent to charge for himself a square mile, and as he proudly makes the point, 'This statement is untrue.' Mr. Cockburn received no license, and, therefore, never was in a position to cut a stick of timber. In the case of sixteen others, the licenses expired more than a year ago, and were not renewed, and they are not in a position to cut a stick of timber. As to the other thirty names, the licenses were issued in the disputed territory, but the names of the licensees were not given. And now a word as to the other names. One of them, Mr. W. J. Macdonald, is a member of the House of Commons. This man used to be a Liberal, but went over to the Tories, and got a license to cut timber in the disputed territory in April, 1884, and in May, 1884, he was elected a member of the House of Commons. He was not in the House of Commons in April, 1884, and he was not in the House of Commons in May, 1884, and he was not in the House of Commons in June, 1884, and he was not in the House of Commons in INNOVATIONS!

"To Innovate" says Webster means "To introduce Novelties, to make changes in anything established."

Now for the application. If you are looking for credit and interest on your money, it would be an innovation that merchants would encourage and well put up with. If the new paper is sold in the streets in their columns of advertisement, it would be an innovation that would largely result to a rush of advertising. If our town merchants were to appear at the first meeting for 1886 in clean, neat, white, and patent leather pumps, it would be an innovation, and should they appear in the 19th rule to encourage the change, it would be an innovation. A proper taking of the fashion of the Blanket Suite, which is now popular and we are assisting in introducing the pleasant, neat, stylish and cheap. They for ladies adorn the pleasant featured, and make beautifully handsome the pretty. For toboggan skating risk they are extremely noisy. Follow the innovation and order them from

The Legend of the Season

The coming winter is creating a great stir among the theatrical artists and others in the city. Everything is being done to make it a grand success, and the members of the band are determined that the citizens who attend will have an enjoyable time. Remember Friday evening, January 24th. Make ready.

If your hair is falling out or turning gray, or if you are troubled with dandruff, get a bottle of Hair Magic from Prof. Dorenwend at Phelan's Hotel on Jan. 18th or 19th, or from J. D. Tully, Druggist.

Government Offices

The plans of the new post office and inland revenue and customs offices are open for inspection at the office of Mr. J. E. Belcher, town and county engineer. Several local contractors and three outside contractors have been figuring on the estimated cost of erecting the respective buildings, with a view of submitting tenders.

Sunday School Association

A regular meeting of the Sunday School Association was held at the basement of the Baptist Church, Murray street, on Monday evening. There was a fair attendance of the Sunday School teachers present. Mr. D. B. Gardner, the President of the Association, occupied the chair. Owing to the absence of Mr. A. Emerson, the prayer which he had prepared on "Bible Preparation of the Lesson," was read by Mr. J. W. Flavelle. Mr. Emerson advocated having a distinct plan and a division of the lesson under different headings, with a thorough preparation of each. In this way the preparation would be greatly facilitated, and it could be presented in a form that would be more readily received by the scholars. Mr. J. W. Flavelle led the discussion on the paper. The President, Mr. W. W. Johnston, and several other teachers, both ladies and gentlemen, made remarks. The next session will be held at the same place on the second Monday in February, to which all Sunday school teachers will be welcome.

Prof. Dorenwend at Phelan's Hotel for two days only on Monday and Tuesday, Jan. 18 and 19. Don't miss this opportunity of seeing his fine selection of Hair Goods.

Queen's Evidence

The International Theatre Company opened a two weeks' engagement at Bradburn's Opera House on Monday evening by presenting the popular comedy, "The Queen's Evidence." The characters were all sustained in a manner decidedly above the average. Kate Meland, who appeared as Kate Meland, the faithful wife of Gilbert Meland. Her acting was good throughout, but that in the third act, where she pleads for her child, is particularly worthy of admiration. So pitiful is her pleading that it would melt the coldest heart into sympathy. Wilson Day, who sustained the part of Matthew Thomson, was as successful as his fellow actors. He played the part of a man who is a little bit of a pharisee, and was the only one who did not believe in the divinity of Jesus. In the last act, Gen. Woodward was a thorough Solomon, with "a boy's like a hegel." He became quite a favorite with the ladies when they found out that he was not to be such a swindler as he was at first. Eugene Herzman, with much success, impersonated Gilbert Meland, the husband, who by the machinations of Isaac and Thomson, spent so many years of unhappiness. Marie Newman, as the daughter of the baronet, Laura Skelton, who narrowly escapes marriage with Thomson, Carl Smith, as Sir Frederick Sydney, Bart. Willard, as William Wyndham, the magnate, all took their characters worthily. Little Annie Bird, as Arthur, the adopted son, made a fine little fellow, and the character of Ada was also excellently done. Between the acts, Annie Bird appeared as a singer. At the first performance, she sang a few songs, but her singing is just as charming as ever. The play was produced with special scenery, and the performance throughout was one of real merit. No doubt the company, while here, will meet with that liberal patronage bestowed upon them in the past.

The Probabilities

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours ending from 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Moderate winds, continued fair cold weather, with a little light snow in some localities.

Weather Notes

The following weather notes are supplied by Mr. Geo. Schfield, druggist:

Thermometer	Barometer
1 o'clock	29.43
4 o'clock	29.44
7 o'clock	29.46

The Coldest

Monday night was the coldest of the season. The Rev. V. Clement's self-registering thermometer registered 23° below zero. The College Institute thermometer stood at 28° below zero at 7 o'clock this morning. Mr. E. J. Hartley's self-registering thermometer registered 34° below zero.

Lakefield General Agency

The news will be welcome that Mr. C. J. Blumfield, so well known in Lakefield, has opened a general agency office in that village. As Mr. Blumfield represents the leading Life and Fire Assurance and Loan Companies, his services will be eagerly sought in Lakefield and its vicinity. It will also be found very convenient to have a local office for dealing in farm property, stocks, bonds, etc., for preparing deeds, auditing accounts, and so forth. Mr. Blumfield should, and no doubt will, be supported in supplying such conveniences.

Prof. Dorenwend at Phelan's Hotel on Monday and Tuesday, Jan. 18 and 19.

Personal

The following appears in the Globe's report of the annual examinations at the Royal Military College, Ottawa:—

5th Battalion of Infantry, "Peterborough Rifles"—No. 1 Company, Peterborough:—1st Lieut. J. H. Cameron, 2nd Lieut. Herbert Burnett Rogers, gentlemen, vice Lieutenant, "resigned."

Mr. R. J. McCaul, an old Peterborough boy, and who for the last 18 years has lived in the United States, is here on a visit to his relatives. Mr. McCaul is engaged in the hotel business in the city of Chicago, and meets with many old friends from this town from time to time. Peterborough, Mr. McCaul says, has changed wonderfully since he left it. In his opinion, and is fast approaching the status of a city.

Accident on a Race Course

The Colborne Enterprise gives the following particulars of the accident to Mr. Richard Croft, of Cobourg, at the Colborne race course. Just after the crowd had gathered and the horses had begun to exercise, an accident occurred which gave rise to many remarks not complimentary to a driver from Peterborough. His horse, a very slightly at the jugstand, and thereupon was felled with the whip some distance down the track, and very stupidly steered against Mr. Richard Croft, of Cobourg, who was coming with his horse bare in the opposite direction. Croft was knocked from his seat to the ice, and remained stunned for some minutes, while his mare dashed away, smashing the rig and finally bringing up behind a horse on shore, herself uninjured. Croft was cut in the head and bruised about the body, but was not seriously hurt and soon recovered.

A TEST

It is easy for a political speaker, who is troubled with scruples, to make untruthful charges, and it is also easy for the press of his party, if it is also devoid of a love for the truth, to republish and repeatedly republish the charges, even after they have been disproved. This has been frequently demonstrated when Reform politicians took to the stump, the latest instance being the harangue of Mr. M. C. Cameron. A political delight in trying to show that others are dishonest, and Mr. Cameron, having been found guilty of corrupt practices, also wishes to make the people believe that others are equally as well as himself. But the charges made against respectable people by a person convicted of dishonesty are not readily believed, and when Mr. Cameron, who was convicted of practicing wholesale bribery and corruption, brings similar charges against others his assertions should be received with great caution. That such caution is necessary has been proved by Mr. Thomas White's exposure of Mr. Cameron's enormous statements regarding grants of timber lands in which was known as the disputed territory.

There is, however, a good test to apply, when one desires to know which political party to support, without meddling with the dirty stories of such men as Mr. Cameron. The Reform party was in office for several years. They had then an excellent opportunity to show their ability to govern well, if they possessed that ability. The Conservative Administration have now held the reins of Government for some years. The test is to compare the records of the two Administrations. Look at the feebleness exhibited by the Reform Government, the inaction, the inability to deal with large questions and the depressed condition of the country. On the other hand, see the energy displayed by the present Government, the carrying out of the National Policy, the measures adopted to settle the Northwest Territory and the success attending them, the construction of public works, the completion of the Canadian Pacific Railway, etc. The confidence of the Conservative Government in the resources and future of the country, shown by their efforts to develop the first and provide for the second, frightened their feeble opponents, and they opposed everything that was done to benefit the country. The central ideas upon which the policy of the Conservatives is based are that this country possesses all the requisites of greatness, which should be utilized, and that it should be a united country. The Reformers have opposed the measures adopted to develop the resources of Canada, and they have, by false cries done much to divide the Dominion and to prevent the consolidation of the Province into one united Dominion.

After examining the records of the parties, their views and principles, no patriotic Canadian who has confidence in the future of his country, should have any difficulty in deciding that the Conservative party should receive his support.

Major C. A. Boulton contributes to the important discussion of the Imperial Federation a very interesting and thoughtful letter in the Toronto Mail which is republished in another column.

If thermometers could talk, what angry disputes regarding the temperature there would be. As it is, the discussion is confined to the owners of the instruments.

This should not be called a cold wave. It is a solid deluge.

The Season of Complaints

This is the season for complaints, to wit: the number of questions that are coming forward, and we never recollect a year in which claims have been so rife as in the one now drawing to a close. It would be interesting to have a formal report of all the arbitration cases of which the trade as a body knows nothing, that have been settled this year. The surveyors, who now form an important branch of the wood trade, have we expect had rather a busy time of it.—Timber Trades Journal.

ADRIAT IN THE ICE

The Movement of the Schooner Marie Flore From St. Paul's Bay.

QUEBEC, Jan. 12. The movements of the schooner Marie Flore, of St. Paul's Bay, which has been drifting in the river for some time past, will be watched with interest. Telegrams to the Inspector of the Signal Service, received yesterday from Father Point, show that the vessel has been boarded by a crew of five or six hardy sailors, commanded by the veteran Lucien Brulion, of Rimouski. Although particulars are given, the fact that they had possession of their provisions indicates the severe struggle they must have had to reach the schooner. As the vessel is firmly surrounded by the ice pack she will drift with the current, should the sails prove useless to guide her movements she may go down as far as the Chateaux, and will be next heard from in the vicinity of Point des Monts, on the north shore. She cannot go ashore, as the shoal portions of the river are well covered with ice. Parties interested in the question of the winter navigation of the St. Lawrence might derive some benefit from the experience of those on board the Marie Flore should they be compelled to winter aboard of her. The men would not have very short of provisions or fuel, as there are on board one half barrel of pork, one barrel of flour, etc. and a lot of wood. The fall set of sails and rigging were also in very good shape when they broke from Bay St. Paul.

IMPERIAL FEDERATION.

The following letter appeared in the Mail—

Sir, The news that has been received by cable from England in regard to the probable change in the fiscal policy of Great Britain is unexpected, and if true will most likely lead to changes in which Canada has a direct interest. This question of a protective tariff, or rather a discriminatory tariff against the commercial enemies of England, and the Irish question of Imperial Federation is one that has been discussed by eminent statesmen, both in Canada and England, but nothing practical has yet been brought forward to command itself to public opinion. The great obstacle, so far as Canada is concerned, is that so long as England maintained a free trade policy there was no basis upon which a community of interests could be founded; but now that the present Government have recognized the principle that free trade means reciprocity there is a community of interest between Canada and Great Britain, and I think that fact makes Imperial Federation a question that now comes within the arena of practical politics. For in a Canadian standpoint it may be laid down, I do not think open to controversy, that anything that will add to the maintenance of the supremacy of Great Britain, commercially or morally, would be an advantage to Canada, for it is clear that the lateral trade desirable from the maintenance of the market in England must certainly benefit to Canadians. I cannot agree with those writers who seek to prove that the natural affinity in trade for this country is the markets of the south of the continent. The great object of every country is to develop as much trade as possible within its own boundaries and under its own control. That in Canada can only be done by developing the trade between the Atlantic and the Pacific. The value of this trade may be specified by an example.

Take wheat grown in the Province of Manitoba, sold at the boundary line for 50 cents and shipped to New York. The only benefit Canada derives from the production of that grain is the 50 cents obtained at the boundary line; but if that grain is shipped to Montreal and to England, Canada gets the benefit of the price of the grain in Liverpool, in consequence of the trade which has been created by the carriage of the grain through Canadian and British channels, in all of which Canadians participate. That is what I would call lateral trade, and a thousand bushels of grain, costing $500 at the boundary line in Manitoba, realizes to the Dominion, say $500 at the Canadian seaboard, and therefore it is clear that the more trade that can be developed between the east and the west on Canadian soil is of infinitely more value to the country than the trade which goes over the boundary line. The United States have grown wealthy and powerful and prosperous under a protective tariff. And the enormous internal carrying trade which has been developed within their own boundaries is caused from the fact that the United States produce in the various climatic regions which prevail within their boundaries, everything necessary to their support, which makes them largely independent of the outside world. That I think may be assumed to be the secret of the prosperity of the United States under their high protective tariff. The same advantages prevail within the limits of the British Empire, comprised in the British Isles, their Asiatic possessions, and their colonies. All the resources of the United States, and more so, are produced within these various countries, and if the United States are able to grow wealthy and powerful under that system, much more should the British Empire grow more powerful and wealthy by adopting the same social policy and establishing the same community of interests stretched around the world. It by a protective policy within the limits of the British Empire Canada was made the connecting link between the trade of the Atlantic and the trade of the Pacific, the greatest advantages would accrue to her, and for that reason Canada has everything to gain by discussing the question of Imperial Federation, now that there is the prospect of a trade basis being established. Imperial Federation can only be brought about through a community of interest created by the component parts of the Empire, and when these interests can be put upon any intelligent basis there is some opportunity of arriving at a conclusion. All Canadians will agree that anything that will add to the unity and strength of the British Empire is worthy of consideration and to be supported.

The establishment of an Imperial community would read the people of the United States to know down their trade barriers, so much the better for all parts of the British Empire, because a more extended relationship would be established in the great Anglo-saxon family to the benefit of all; but there is a question for the people of the United States alone to deal with: our interests lie in the discussion of the question from our own standpoint.

The peculiar point that the Irish question has assumed is also an additional argument why the question of Imperial Federation can now be partially discussed. One of the great boasts of the British subjects is that he lives under the freest constitution the world has ever known, and I cannot agree with those writers who advocate a retrograde movement in the freedom of that constitution. The Irish people have constitutionally expressed their desire for greater legislative privileges, and they are constitutional men and they can obtain these without impeding the unity of the Empire they are certainly entitled to receive them, and to that extent Canadians are interested in watching the constitutional battle that is now creating so much interest in British politics. Canadians, as British subjects, receive as much benefit from the expensive machinery which Great Britain maintains all over the world to protect and extend her commerce, and they are entitled to hear their fair share of the cost of these advantages; and so long as every British subject is on a par commercially, there is no reason why Canadians or any British subjects within the bounds of the Empire should not be able to cord to their means to maintain their share of that burden. Canadians are as much interested in preserving the unity of the British Empire as Englishmen, Irishmen, or Scotchmen, but they are also interested in preserving the freedom of the constitutional liberty they enjoy, which would be jeopardized if the efforts of the Irish people to obtain local autonomy were to be discouraged by repressive measures, as advocated by some writers; and if the Irish people by their action bring up, indirectly, the greater question, by which means their constitutional liberty may be enlarged without impairing the unity of the Empire, out of which some people conceive to be evil, would come good. It would be impossible for anyone to envision a portion of the Empire to furnish a scheme which would meet the views and requirements of the various countries interested, but an earnest discussion of the ways and means to formulate some scheme might very well be had without committing any portion of the British Empire. The question could only be brought forward upon the invitation of the Imperial Government; but if an invitation was extended to Canada, Australia, the Cape and India (the chief centres of the outlying portions of the British Empire) and, say, ten representatives were appointed from each to meet in present times from England, Scotland and Ireland to form a council, a far discussion of the question might be obtained through the medium of this council. It would be advisable, in order that the public might have an opportunity of joining in the discussion, that this council should meet in each of the chief colonies before finally meeting in Great Britain to sum up the result of their labours, for by that means this council would then be able to express a practical opinion. There is no doubt that a discussion held by a council appointed in that manner would be productive of good results, and something practical would come of it. A national feeling has grown with Canadian life and that feeling would find vent if Imperial Federation made Canadians an equal and co-component part of the British Empire.

Anything that will lead to a desirable result as a close-union of British subjects the world over is of importance, and it is with that idea that I have attempted to give expressions to these views, as this is an opportune moment for the discussion of them.

Yours, etc.,
 C. A. BOULTON.

what gives it value. Oak is among the most common of the trees that grow in the back of a species of oak which grows in the vicinity of the Mediterranean. In oak forests there bark is cultivated, a series of cristles are cut about the trunk when the tree reaches its third year. The cristles are connected by long individual tubes, and the first crop is then provided in the autumn. The next crop is of little value, and at a second cut of bark occurs, which is of a great quantity. Trees may have the bark removed half a score of times and live to the age of 30 years without injury to their vitality.

Although we walked to the vineyard for the grapes, which had been shown in three parts by the prophets, and others, The People working in the vineyard, if in fact, they did not working in the vineyard, this vineyard was about to be destroyed. This vineyard was about to be destroyed for the fact that the trees, said from their roots, and from their branches, and from their leaves, were not good for man and the lower animals. They were not good for man and the lower animals, but they were good for the birds and the beasts. In a certain part of Palestine, it was said, may still be seen an old oak tree which is said to be the oak of Abraham. I can't say that the tree was actually existed in Abraham's time, and I don't know, but it is in fact for a consent to be a witness that any tree now in existence does not have a tree that any tree now in existence does not have. The oak family includes the chestnut, the oak, and hazel tree, and such oaks and such oaks are a sub-order of the oak family. The most beautiful, graceful and dignified tree in all the vegetable kingdom was said to be the oak, and the oak-tree expressed pleasure in the fact there were many of them in the

INNOVATIONS!

"To Innovate" says Webster means "To introduce Novelties, to make changes in anything established."

Now for the applications. If people quit asking for credit and insisted on paying cash, it would be an innovation that merchants would countenance and well put up with. If the newspapers would, in the interests of their column of an advertisement guarantee that such a result would immediately follow, it would be an innovation that would largely result in a rush of advertising. If our Town Council were to appear at the first meeting for 1886 in clean hammer coats, white ties, and patent leather pumps, it would be an innovation, and should they suspend the 19th rule to countenance the change, it would be a relaxation. A proper and taking innovation which is now popular and we are assisting in introducing, is the fashionable Blanket Suits. They are comfortable, neat, stylish and cheap. They furnish a turn the pleasant feature, and make beautifully handsome the pretty. For toboggan or skating risk they are extremely Nobby. Follow the innovation and order them from

JAMES ALEXANDER.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Still Cold

The self-registering thermometer of the Rev. V. Clement recorded 7° below zero on Tuesday night.

PAOR. DORNWEND at Phelan's Hotel for two days only on Monday and Tuesday, Jan. 18 and 19. Don't miss this opportunity of seeing his fine selection of Hair Goods.

Incoming Carriers

The Lakefield and Oshawa curling clubs are to meet at Peterborough on Friday next. They will play two matches, draws for both the Ontario Tankard and the Canadian Medal.

Outgoing Carriers

It is expected that the representative of the Peterborough Curling Club will go to Campbell's some day this week, to compete in the draw for the Ontario Tankard. Arrangements for the match are now in progress.

The Probabilities

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows: Moderate to fresh southwest to southwest winds, cloudy to fair milder weather, with a little light snow in some localities.

The Event of the Season

The coming carnival is creating a great furor among the editorial artists and others in town. Everything is being done to make it a grand success, and the members of the band are determined that the citizens who attend will have an enjoyable time. Remember Friday evening, January 22nd. Make ready.

If your hair is falling out or turning gray, or if you are troubled with dandruff, get a bottle of Hair Magic from PAOR. DORNWEND at Phelan's Hotel on Jan. 18th or 19th, or from J. D. Tully, Druggist.

The District Lodge

The West Peterborough L. O. L. met in the Orange Hall on Tuesday evening. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Wm. King	Master
J. Agnew	D. M.
Alas. Hamilton	Chap.
J. Whar	R. H.
D. H. Moore	F. S.
J. Quinn	Treas.
J. G. Wier	D. of C.
J. A. Davidson	Lecturer
F. W. Wier

Curling Vote

The curling match between the President's and Vice-President's sides was inaugurated at the Charlotte street rink on Tuesday evening, amid great animation. The ice was the keenest, and so was the contest. Each inch was battled for by either side of the respective rinks with good natured determination, but at the close of the night's play it was found that the squire was 19 ahead. The score is as follows:

PRESIDENT.	VICE-PRESIDENT
J. Henry	C. A. Waller
J. McNeill	H. B. Merrick
Geo. Walker	W. H. Murray
A. McNeill, skip	12 W. B. Hudson, skip

PROF. DORNWEND's new styles of Bangs, Waves, Wigs, etc., at Phelan's Hotel, on Jan. 18 and 19.

Weather Notes

The following weather notes are supplied by Mr. Geo. Schofield, druggist:

Thermometer	Barometer
28.45	29.45
28.45	29.45
28.45	29.45

Smith's Market

Fresh haddock, fresh cod, fresh salmon, fresh trout, haddies, mackerel, blonkers, etc., etc. Malaga grapes, Catape grapes, and to arrive, lot of western imported Concorda Florida oranges, lemons, nuts and canned goods. Lot of very choice new hams from eight to twelve pounds. Oysters, the very best, bulk and New York county. Poultry, game and everything usually kept in the market.

The Danites

The International Theatre Company presented the sensational western drama "The Danites" last night at the Danites' Opera House. The play is in one act, and the interest is never allowed to flag, and the setting is worthy of the play. The characters were all well sustained, especially those of Steady McVie, the miner, Nancy Williams, the half-breed girl who is pursued by the Danites, and Hulda Brown, the school "marm." Little Annie Bird, between the acts, favored the audience with three of her charming songs.

Sweeping Reductions in Underclothing

Underclothing suitable for a Mechanic, Merchant, Clerk, Prince, Lawyer, Minister, Laborer, Scientist, Professor.

Underclothing in all grades and sizes now being offered away down below cost at Andrew McNeill's Haberdashery Hall, George street. Call and see them: the price sells them every time. No better value in Peterborough.

CALL and see the immense stock of new and fashionable Bangs, Waves, Wigs, etc., of PROF. DORNWEND, at Phelan's Hotel on Jan. 18 and 19.

The Toboggan slide

The new toboggan slide in the Riverside Park, Ashburnham, was used by tobogganers for the first time on Tuesday. The slide is situated in the southeast part of the park. It is fifty feet high, and is one hundred and fifty feet long. It is divided into two sections, so that two toboggans can go down together without danger of clashing. The slides are coated with ice, over which the toboggans slide with even more exhilarating speed than over the snow. On Tuesday night and to-day the open skating rink and slides were open to all free of charge. As may be imagined, both have been well patronized. It is not decided, as yet, whether the park will be illuminated by electric light or gas.

POLICE COURT.

WEDNESDAY, Jan. 13.—Geo. Andrews an intelligent looking young man, was charged by P. C. Pidgeon with being a vagrant. He stated that he had come from Lowell, Mass., a year ago, and had been working at odd jobs since that time.

The Magistrate said that he disliked very much to send up a young man like the one before him for vagrancy; but on the prisoner stating that it was the best thing that could be done, that he had tried hard and could not get any work, he was sent to goal for one month.

If you have a superfluous growth of hair remove it by the use of "Eureka" Hair Destroyer, which can be had from PAOR. DORNWEND at Phelan's Hotel on Monday and Tuesday, Jan. 18 and 19.

Oysters

Fresh Oysters at the Depot Restaurant.

Chamberlain's Parlor Dining Rooms.

Supper, Lunches, etc., will be served at all hours.

The only opportunity this season in Peterborough for securing one of Prof. Dornwend's elegant styles of Head-dresses at Phelan's Hotel on Jan. 18 and 19.

LATEST CABLE NEWS.

THE ANNEXATION OF BURMAH. MANDALAY, Jan. 12.—The decree declaring the annexation of Burma to Great Britain did not reach here until the 11th inst. The announcement was well received. The natives desire to be entirely subject to the British Government, hoping this will dishearten the pretensions, and prevent uprisings of the people.

A NOVELIST DECEASED. LONDON, Jan. 12.—The novelist, Pilot, recently received a check for £500 for a new romance. His Secretary, who had been in his service five years, had the check cashed and absconded with the money.

HYDROPHOBIA. LONDON, Jan. 12.—James Gregory, aged 13, died on Thursday last of hydrophobia. He was bitten by a cat in September last. It is supposed the cat had been bitten by a mad dog.

FIFTEEN LIVES LOST. PARIS, Jan. 12.—A spinning mill at A. la Chapelle was burned on Friday last, and fifteen persons perished in the flames.

THE SAMOAN SEIZURE. BERLIN, Jan. 12.—No news of the report of the seizure of the Samoan Islands by the warship "Albatross" has been received by the Government. Germany adheres to the neutrality agreement with England regarding Samoa.

OPENING OF PARLIAMENT. LONDON, Jan. 11.—Parliament opened to-day. Large crowds had congregated in the vicinity of the Parliament House long before the hour for the beginning of the session, and when Mr. Bradlaugh and Mr. Gladstone arrived they were loudly cheered. The vaults of the House of Parliament were thoroughly searched this morning, but no indications of a Guy Fawkes plot were discovered. Speaker Peel was re-elected.

LIBERALS IN CONFERENCE

Leaders Met Mr. Gladstone No Amendment to the Queen's Speech. LONDON, Jan. 12.—A large number of Liberals, with such leaders as Lord Granville, Sir William Harcourt, Sir Charles Dilke and Earl Grosvenor, met Mr. Gladstone in consultation yesterday. The Chronicle announces that "Mr. Gladstone wisely determined to indicate no policy until the Conservative policy was revealed through the Queen's speech."

The Times, alluding to the conference, calls attention to the fact that Lord Hartington was absent, and to the significant circumstance that his father, the Duke of Devonshire, accepted last week the office of President of the Irish Loyal Patriotic Union. The absence of Mr. Chamberlain is also called attention to. The News authoritatively announces that Mr. Gladstone will not move any amendment to the Queen's address. Also that the Queen's speech will contain a very guarded reference to Local Government in Ireland.

Right Hon. Mr. Chamberlain, in a speech at a meeting of the Land Allotment Association yesterday, said: "The new Parliament in my opinion will not last long. The Liberals must fulfil the pledge given to the Laborers to facilitate the acquisition of land by all those desiring to procure it. Previous Legislation respecting the matter has failed to meet the wants of the laboring classes, because the measures adopted were not made compulsory. The community must enable laborers to acquire land at a fair price and prevent land owners from blackmailing the public by enforcing the payment of rack rents."

The Times refers to the eighty-six Parcellites as "Guerrillas." The Standard calls them "Blackmailers," and hints that Mr. Parrell is losing the confidence of his supporters.

A Mystery Explained. Newark, N. J., Jan. 12.—Edward Heller, a wealthy member of the firm of Heller Bros., manufacturers, who has been missing since January 2nd, was found hanging to a tree in the woods yesterday. His body was frozen stiff. It is thought disease drove him to suicide. He leaves a wife and four children.

Peril Felt. Harry for the toboggan slide.

Harvey (alumni) a pioneer tobogganer as well as a pioneer lacrosse player.

The regular meeting of the Harmony Club will be held at the residence of Mr. Heathfield this evening.

Mr. W. Sabine seems to be doing a rushing business in the cry-n portrait line.

Two more specimens of his handwork are on exhibition at Mr. Geo. Schofield's drug store.

More fun at the rink to-night.

The doctor and the squire are to cross horses in person.

When Greek meets Greek, then—

Isn't this about the season for John Don and, of curling society, to loom up?

Shopper, to a stockkeeper—"What'll you take for that old desk of yours?" "Oh, I don't know, I don't care much to sell it." "Well, I'll buy it." "That's what I've been doing for the last 20 years." "What?" "Figuring on it." "Tablant."

A MUCH USED BUT LITTLE KNOWN WOOD

"Did you ever wonder what knife handles are made of?" asked a dealer in fancy woods, a New York Tribune reporter as he handled a shapely block from his store of spoils from many tropical forests. "Outside of bone and tortoise-shell and pearl, which every one recognizes, the majority of knife handles are made out of a close, fine grained wood, about the nature and texture of which, 10,000,000 of people are ignorant. It is known in the trade as coccoloba wood, and comes in large quantities, millions of pounds a year, from Panama. It is of special value for knife handles because of its close texture, freedom from knots and flaws, and consequent disinclination to split. Many well-known kinds of wood require varnishing and polishing and filling up of crevices before they attain the beauty for which they are famous. Of course that sort of thing cannot be done in the case of knife handles, and something must be used which doesn't require any of these things. Coccoloba is rarely used for cabinet making, because, being a gummy wood, it doesn't glue well. The same qualities that make it of use in the manufacture of knife handles render it valuable for the making of wood instruments like the flute. It comes to us in chunks, not in strips and planks like other woods. Sometimes these pieces will weigh 500 and 600 pounds, but generally much less than that. It costs 25 cents a pound now, but before freight went down and the steamship was opened up so thoroughly it used to cost double that price."

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

WELLAND CANAL ENLARGEMENT. TENDERS addressed to the undersigned "and endorsed 'Tender for the Welland Canal' will be received at this office until the arrival of the Eastern and Western mails on MONDAY, the 25th day of JANUARY next, for raising the locks, widening, and increasing the height of the banks of that part of the Welland Canal between Port Huron and Thorold, and for deepening the Summit Level, between Thorold and Rance's Bend, near Elmhurst.

The Works, throughout, will be let in sections. Maps of the several lots, together with plans and descriptive specifications can be seen at this office on and after MONDAY, the 11th day of JANUARY next, 1886, where printed forms of tender can be obtained. A list of information relative to the works north of Albion, plans, specifications, etc., may be seen at the Resident Engineer's Office, Welland. Contractors are requested to bear in mind that tenders will not be considered unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and, in case of error, except those are attached to the sections, signatures, the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each member of the firm, and further an acre paid back (except for the sum of Ten Dollars) and, more, according to the extent of the work on the sections, must accompany the respective tenders, which will be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the work, at the rates stated in the offer submitted.

The amount required in each case will be stated on the form of tender.

The cheque or money loaned in will be returned to the respective parties whose tenders are not accepted.

This department does not, however, bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order, A. P. BRADLEY, Secretary.

Card of Thanks.

PETERBOROUGH, Jan. 12, 1886.

Dear Sir:—Please accept my best thanks and convey the same to the members of the Assurance Society, for the most satisfactory payment of the $2,000 which my late husband's life was insured. It is the most grateful because well-deserved persons, filled with sympathy and love, did all in their power to prevent the payment of the claim. But the action of the equitable insurance society is the justice of the claim and the world that the society is not only equitable in name but in practice. I have therefore great pleasure in recommending both yourself and your Company to all those who desire reliable insurance.

FACTIOUS OBSTRUCTION.

It has been formally announced by their chief organs that the Opposition members intend to persist next session of the Dominion Parliament in their tactics of obstruction for the purpose of impeding legislation and obtaining an increased indemnity for the obstructionists. The rules of our House of Commons, as formerly those of the British Islands, enable a minority in exceptional cases to secure due time for consideration and discussion. All other legislatures, including the Imperial House of Commons recently, have adopted rules to protect themselves from obstruction, and from organized attempts, contrary to the very spirit of constitutional government, to give the minority the decision as to what legislation shall pass or not. That decision is reposed in the majority of the representatives of the people, and not in the strength of law of the minority.

Their journalistic advocates, finding that the announced intention of the obstructionists is strongly condemned, hastens to their defence. It has the effect to maintain that they conducted themselves last session with discretion and measures fully. If reading everything they could find in the library that could possibly be construed as referring to the subject, could fairly be called "discussion," they certainly discussed at great length. But it is an insult to the people of Canada, for a small minority of their representatives to claim such possibilities as "discussion." The obstructionists who make such a false pretence are cowardly as well as dishonest. If they felt that the circumstances were such as to justify what may be exceptionally justifiable, a resort to obstruction, they would not be driven to pretend that deliberate talking against time was fair discussion.

WAR ON WOMEN.

We have already pointed out that the grave charges against Sir John Macdonald and his colleagues are for steps that were really taken by the Mackenzie-Blake Administration. We have a fresh instance of this in the charge brought by that corrupt Reformer, Mr. M. C. Cameron, that Sir John pensioned his brother-in-law, Col. Bernard. The truth is that the pension was granted to Col. Bernard before the work of Mr. Blake and Mr. Mackenzie, not of Sir John Macdonald, who cannot be supposed to have had much voice in such matters in 1876.

The Reformers should discourage such politicians in their ranks as Mr. M. C. Cameron, who objects even to his own leaders giving a pension to a public officer like Col. Bernard, because he is the brother of a lady who is related to a political opponent of Mr. Cameron. With the same unmanly cowardice, other Reformers are saying that a gentleman should not hold shares in a company with a Reform president and directors, because he has committed the offence of marrying the daughter of a Conservative Minister.

It is to be understood that it is now a plank in the meagre Reform platform that if any lady connected with a Conservative leader marries, her husband is to be disqualified from holding any public position, incapacitated from owning land in Canada or dealing with the people of this country? And if a lady marries a Conservative leader are her relations, then in the public service, to be dismissed without any compensation?

THE REASON WHY.

In answer to the false charges made by Radicals and Reformers against the Macdonald Administration, Conservatives challenge them to name any one of a half-dozen bold-faced liars off his head. These slanderous retorts that if the half-brothers were not turned off, they thought they would be. It is very evident that they were not told such falsehoods by Conservatives, for there was no foundation for such assertions, and Conservatives obviously would not invest their lives in their political friends. The falsehoods that excited the rebel half-brothers must, therefore, have been invented by Reformers or Radicals, now one party by coalition. According to their own showing, therefore, the terrible cost in blood and money to loyal Canadians was caused by unfounded statements made by Reformers and their new allies.

The "Globe's" Pretence.

The Peterborough Review has issued the following challenge:

"Some ignorant or dishonest Reform journals are asserting that Mr. Mowat is in better constitutional law than Sir John Macdonald. We challenge them to point out where Sir John has been found mistaken in constitutional law, and we undertake for each instance to name at least ten liars made by Mr. Mowat in such matters."

This is clear and explicit enough, but it has not yet been taken up. The Globe referred to it but instead of replying to the challenge as the REVIEW wrote it, changed it to suit itself. Here is a good chance for the worshippers of Mr. Mowat.—Oshawa Freeman.

ANOTHER ACCIDENT.—The many friends of Rev. Mr. Jones will be sorry to learn that he met with an accident, which will have the effect of laying him up for some time to come. On Tuesday last as he was entering the Post Office, he slipped and fell, injuring himself severely. He was removed to his home, where he had to be carried to his room. At present he is improving, and we hope to see him around again before long.—Sentinel-Star.

LOVELINESS IN NATURE.

THE ADMIRERS OF IT REVIEW WHAT THEY HAVE DONE LAST YEAR.

An Eventful Year in the History of the Horticultural Society—The Annual Report.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Horticultural Society was held in Mr. J. H. Roper's private office, Bank of Toronto, on Thursday evening.

There were present—Mr. J. H. Roper, President, in the chair, the Rev. V. Clementi, and Messrs. J. D. Collins, E. J. Toker, Jas. Stevenson, F. J. Lewis, J. M. Stratton and Dr. Burnham.

The minutes of the last annual meeting were read and confirmed.

ANNUAL REPORT.

The President's annual report was read by the Secretary as follows:—

To the Members of the Peterborough Horticultural Society:

GENTLEMEN.—The year just closed has been one of particular interest to this Society. For some years past the improvement and beautifying of the Court House Park has been from time to time discussed, but no definite result was attained until September last, when the Committee appointed by the Directors waited upon the County Council and made application for a grant of money to assist the Society in their project, which was cheerfully granted, in the shape of the sum of $75 per annum for five years, and a lease of the grounds for a term of twenty-one years which was duly completed. The same committee waited on the Town Council, and after advocating the matter, and showing the advantages of having a public resort for the citizens, succeeded in securing a grant of $200 for this year (1885).

The Directors having received such an encouragement, and, notwithstanding that the season was well advanced, at once proceeded to work in planning and laying out the lower part of the grounds with walks and flower beds, reserving the upper part for future operations.

The Directors having thought well to remove the fence and some of the unsightly trees from the ground, did so, in lieu of which they have had several ornamental trees planted.

A welcome addition to the grounds in the shape of a hand-made fountain at the cost of some $250, a Lambeth gas lamp and a donation of $250 in cash towards the funds of the society was made by Mr. James Stevenson, who has always manifested a practical interest in the welfare of the Society. In addition to the above Mr. Stevenson devoted a great deal of his time in superintending the work on the grounds, which the Directors feel satisfied has been generally highly appreciated.

Several of our citizens have contributed ornamental trees, shrubs and bulbs for the beds, and others have sundries for next spring's planting.

Mention must also be made of the liberality of the Water Company in supplying water free of charge for the fountain and grounds. Further, of the liberal public spirit of Mr. A. C. Dunlop, who voluntarily contributed $100 towards improvements; also the stone steps on the east side of the fountain. It is to be hoped that the foregoing example may stimulate others to assist the Society in a tangible way.

The Directors considered it advisable to appoint an overseer and caretaker of the grounds and appointed Mr. H. Nesbit, junior, to the position, who, after his appointment, utilized at times prison labor on portions of the work.

The annual show of the Society was held on the 8th of September, in the Water Street Ball Room, which was found to be adapted for the purpose in every respect. Unfortunately the weather on the day of the show was very wet and unfavorable, which prevented a large attendance, consequently the amount realized at the door was very small. Upon the whole there was a very good display made. The number of entries was 368, being an increase of 64 above the previous year. The amount paid out in prize money was $125.30. The number of members of the Society is 68, and the balance of cash in the hands of the Treasurer as shown by his accompanying statement, is $33.45.

In conclusion, the Directors trust that there will be this year a greatly increased attendance on the operations of the Society, their only aim being to make the Court House Park, which has long lay in an uncared for, neglected and useless state, a place of attraction and comfort to the citizens generally, and while they will continue to have this object steadily in view, they must, in a great measure, depend upon the hearty co-operation and assistance of the citizens in helping them to preserve and protect the grounds and their contents from injury of any kind, as, in the event of damage to any part thereof, even to a small extent, would be discouraging to the Directors and those who have shown any interest in what has and is being done. Unfortunately last autumn considerable annoyance was experienced by cattle and horse-strewn into the grounds and doing more or less damage. It is to be sincerely hoped that the incoming council will see that the cow by-law is rigidly enforced.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

J. D. COLLINS, President.

Secretary.

The Treasurer's report was read, as follows:

To J. H. Roper, Esq., President of the Peterborough Horticultural Society:—

SIR.—I beg to hand you the usual annual report of the finances of your Society, together with vouchers for amounts paid.

Yours faithfully,

F. J. LEWIS, Treasurer.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows:—

PRESIDENT—J. H. Roper.

VICE PRESIDENT—Jas. Stevenson.

TREASURER—F. J. Lewis.

SECRETARY—J. D. Collins.

DIRECTORS—Dr. Burnham, J. R. Stratton, D. W. Daniels, E. J. Toker, John Burnham.

HON. DIRECTORS—The Rev. V. Clementi and A. C. Dunlop.

GENERAL.

The Rev. V. CLEMENTI said that he wished to say a few words with regard to the exhibition arrangements. He was the first President of the Association, and perhaps its oldest member.

In the early history of the Association they adopted a rule of not allowing any market gardener to compete with amateurs in the exhibitions. These market gardeners had all the facilities, such as green houses, etc., and some of them employed several men. It was, therefore, unfair to force the amateur to compete with those who make a business of raising fruits and flowers. As a result of this practice in recent years the market gardeners carried off all of the prizes, and received all the credit. In his opinion this state of things should be discontinued. He would, however, favor giving special prizes for which market gardeners might compete. He offered these remarks merely as a suggestion.

Dr. BURNHAM quite agreed with the Rev. Mr. Clementi. At the last exhibition there was much dissatisfaction expressed on the part of the amateurs. They thought it unfair that they had been compelled to compete with professionals—in fact some had said that they would not compete again if a distinction were not made.

The Rev. V. CLEMENTI moved, seconded by Dr. BURNHAM,—That no market gardeners compete for prizes at exhibitions except for such as are especially offered for market gardeners.

Mr. E. J. TOKER said that there was an old motion to that effect on the books. He asked if it had been rescinded.

The PRESIDENT replied that it had merely fallen into abeyance.

Mr. STRATTON asked if Mr. Geo. Roger had not appeared before the Society requesting that the rule be annulled.

Mr. STEVENSON was of opinion that under any circumstances it was high time to take some stand in the matter, as the use of the society, under the present state of things, was being destroyed.

The motion was put and carried.

A COMMUNICATION.

A communication was read from Mr. Henry Wade, secretary of the Agricultural and Arts Association, in which he named the special prizes that were to be offered at their next exhibition for certain new departures calculated to promote various interests. The communication was received.

VOTE OF THANKS.

Votes of thanks were proposed and carried for the retiring officers. Also for Messrs. Jas. Stevenson, A. C. Dunlop, the Gas Company, the Water Company and the Town and County Councils, for their liberal aid in helping the Society along in beautifying the Court House Park.

A deputation was appointed to wait on the Town and County Councils to ask for increased grants.

The meeting then adjourned.

Cholera Preventative.

In order to withstand Cholera and such like epidemic a perfect purity of blood, and the proper action of the stomach, are required. To insure that end, in the cheapest, most available and complete manner, use McEwen's Hygienic Cure for Dyspepsia and Impure Blood. There is no purer, safer or more reliable remedy in existence for indigestion, dyspepsia, Catarrhs, etc. Ask your neighbor or any person who has used it. Sold by John McKee Trial bottle given free.

Horsford's Acid Phosphate.

As a Refrigerant Drink in Fevers.

Dr. C. H. N. Davis, Meriden, Conn., says:—"I have used it as a pleasant and cooling drink in fevers, and have seen very much good result with it."

Dr. CARBON'S NUTRIMENT BITTERS will cure the worst forms of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, and all bilious complaints. Large bottle, 50 cents. Go to your druggist and get a bottle.

LOST RIVERS

The Tributaries of a stream that Does Not Exist

There is one remarkable case in New Mexico where the lost tributaries are plentiful, but the main stream does not exist. This is a valley which lies between the Rio Grande and Pecos rivers. The valley begins near the Sandia mountains, and shut out from the streams on each side by broken mountain chains. It is a well defined valley, not very broad, but having a length of perhaps 300 miles. Flowing into it, especially on the western side near the upper end, and on the eastern side towards the lower, are numerous lost tributaries; but the primary stream has so completely disappeared that it is now only to be found at intervals.

In this valley lie the ruins of the Gran Quivira, the existence of which is not only attested by the ruins themselves, but also by the accounts of the earliest Spanish settlers. The records of the Spanish up to the latter part of the seventeenth century, when they were expelled by the Indians, are incomplete, as the Indians destroyed all that was left behind. That the Gran Quivira was well known to them, however, is shown by the fact that the most prominent ruin there is that of a church. There is now a water for many miles from the ruins. These ruins must have been once as well irrigated, for no large city would have been built by human beings at a distance of 15 or 20 miles from a steady water supply. The valley may be named from this city, and would then be the Gran Quivira valley. About half down the valley it is broken by a long, narrow, old river bed, which is reached at the depth of about 250 feet; below it the river bed, when found, is at a slight depth. South-west of the Apache reservation the old river bed runs into a large salt marsh. A stream of no mean size seems to have once run down this valley. Not only has it now disappeared, but its bed is covered by lava to great depths. As to the cause of the disappearance, it may have some connection with a tradition of the Indians, which tells of a year of fire, when this valley was so filled with flame and poisonous gases as to be made uninhabitable. When this occurred the chronology of the Indians is not perfect enough to tell us. That it was long ago is attested by the fact that the old bed is covered by detritus, probably washed down from the mountains, and by trees of considerable size which are found in some places in it. It is not so extremely long ago that it had become entirely uninhabitable is made probable by the comparatively late destruction of the Gran Quivira. It is entirely possible that the Indian year of fire may have preceded the drying up of the part of the valley in which Gran Quivira was situated. Science Monthly.

A Floral Clock that Goes

The Judge's house was over in the French quarter of New Orleans, an attractive outside, but as soon as you got into the broad hall a cool breeze struck you, laden, without exaggeration, with the balm of a thousand flowers. The hall led right through the house, and opened into a regular fairland of flowers, a garden the like of which I had never dreamed of. It was surrounded by a high wall, and had plants in it from every country under the sun. The white haired old gentleman and a group of grand children hanging about him took us about, and the first thing we stepped at was a large oval plot set out with small plants around the edge. "This," said the judge, "is my clock. What time is it, Clara?" he asked one of the children. The girl ran around the plot and said it was four o'clock, and so it was. The four o'clock was in bloom. "In fact," said the story-teller, "the clock was made up of flowers." In the centre was a pair of hands of wood, covered with some beautiful rose, but they had nothing to do with the time-telling.

The plan was this: The judge had noticed that at almost every hour of the day some plant bloomed, and working on the principle that all selected plants of different hours and placed them in a circle, twenty four in number, one for every hour.

For example, at the top of the circular clock, at 12 o'clock, was planted the periwinkle, and he told me it would bloom within ten minutes of 12 o'clock, and rarely fails. At the hours of 1 and 2, and 3 he had different varieties of the same plant, all of bloomed at the hour opposite to which it was planted. At four o'clock he had our common plant of that name, and you all know how you can depend on that.

At 5 the garden plot came out, at six the geraniums, and at 7 the evening primrose. Opposite 8 o'clock he had the honeysuckle, and at 9 the silent noctiflora—all three blooming at or near the time given. At 10 o'clock, if I remember rightly, he had a cactus, at 11 another kind, and at 12 the night blooming cereus. Half of the year some of the plants don't bloom at all. The plants opposite 1 and 2 in the morning were cast that bloomed at that time, and at 3 was planted the common elsy, and at 4 the chrysanthemum, at 5 the winter, and at 6 the dandelion. GIANT T STORE. GEORGE STREET. I desire to return my hearty thanks for the patronage received since commencing business, and would respectfully direct attention to our intended method of conducting the same for the future. Cash, or Short Credit, is a system rapidly gaining favour in our country. Merchants of our cities and towns have almost universally adopted it, and in a progressive town like this there can be no reason why we should not follow the same rule. After the First Day of January next my terms will be Cash, unless otherwise specially agreed. ADAM HALL. Peterborough, 28th December, 1885. d1w10

FLAHERTY & CLARK THE TAILORS. Desire to thank the gentlemen of Peterborough and all the country around for the very liberal patronage bestowed upon them during the short time they have been in business, and to assure them that they are in a better position than ever to please them as they keep up with the times and watch the markets closely. We can offer you at all times the very latest goods to be found in any First-class Tailoring Establishment in this country. That the price, fit, style and workmanship of the large amount of work turned out by us in the last four months has given satisfaction, the very large number of orders we have been favoured with clearly proves. Now the rush is over and if you want a good winter suit or overcoat you can not do better than give us a call. Our stock is kept well assorted and all the novelties can be found on hand. Give us your order now, as in a short time we commence to fill a very large order that will keep the large staff of hands in our employ busy night and day for some weeks. Call at once and oblige. FLAHERTY & CLARK, Hunter Street, Opposite Oriental Hotel. d1w10

CARD OF THANKS. PETERBOROUGH, Jan. 14, 1886. DEAR SIR.—Please accept my best thanks and say my thanks to the officers of the Equitable Life Assurance Society for the satisfactory payment of the $2,000 for which my late husband's life was insured. I feel the more grateful because my deceased husband, died with every mark of mind, did all in their power to prevent the payment of the claim. But the action of the Equitable illustrates the justice of the claim and proves to the world that the society is not only equitable in name but in practice. I have therefore great pleasure in recommending both yourself and your Company to all those who desire reliable insurance. Mrs. JOHN BELLARD, Asphodel. T. SPROULE'S STUDIO

IS THE BEST. His work has no EQUAL in Peterborough. His skill, gotten by close study and an experience of Twenty Years, is best proved by the numerous business done in his establishment. His instruments are the BEST. He uses only the best of all materials, yet his prices are the same as the other establishments.

No Antiquated Styles. Each subject treated separately.

January Days

January comes with bitter blast. Time swift, on our feet, The winter days now follow fast. Upon each other's heels. One day and then another goes, And those who are alive May well recall the joys and woes Of 1885. But he who holds to lofty goals, Misfortune and her tricks May forward look, with hope, a new born.

BEGIN THE YEAR WELL.

During the year just closed, we have made many friends and gained, by straightforward dealing, very many new customers. During the year of 1886, it will be our constant aim to please and give the utmost satisfaction to every one who favors us with a call.

OUR DECIDED SALE

Has proved a success beyond expectation. The goods have been going out fast, and all have been made happy—how could it be otherwise? We are giving Decided Bargains in everything. Remember that this sale will be continued during the whole of this month. Lots of goods left to choose from. Shoppers are being continually replenished. Call and see for yourselves.

Evening Entertainment.

An evening entertainment was held in St. Luke's Church school building on Monday evening. Like its predecessors it was an exceedingly enjoyable one. The entertainment was opened by a recitation from the orchestra, which was composed of piano, cornet, violin and viola. Mr. S. D. Carver followed with a vocal solo, "The Last Watch," after which Mr. J. A. Dwyer gave a violin solo. "P. et Passant," in an admirable manner. A quartette, "Good Night, Good Night, Beloved," came next. Miss Emma Strickland and Daisy Morgan, and Messrs. Gault and A. Carter took part. A sacred solo, "Nearer, Nearer," was then sung by Mr. H. B. Carter, closing the first part of the programme. After the opening selection in the second part by the orchestra, Miss Anna L. laney sang "Speak." Her rendition of the song brought forth a hearty encore, and she responded by singing in excellent style, "The Cuckoo Song," by Bennett. A lighthearted farce entitled "Messrs. Scroggins and Snuggs," came next, putting the audience in the best of humors. A duet, "Santa Lucia," was sung by Misses McLean and Strickland very pleasantly. A vocal solo by Mr. H. B. Carter, "O, Where's My Girl," a quiet humorous song, brought the entertainment to a close. The National Anthem was sung and all went away well pleased with the entertainment.

Mattings Wedding.

Capt. Willie, of the Gospel Army, furnished the Transport with the following particulars of the wedding of Capt. David Hartley, once a well-known politician here, which took place at Watertown, N.Y., on New Year's night:—

"The announcement of a great, noble and hallowed wedding on New Year's night, an event of great importance to the people of this city, was made by the following particulars of the wedding of Capt. David Hartley, once a well-known politician here, which took place at Watertown, N.Y., on New Year's night:—

TAKING STOCK!

No duty devolving upon the business man is so important as that of "Taking Stock." Books have been called the merchants' repeating clock, to tell him how he goes. By taking stock and a comparison with his books, the trader is enabled to arrive at a reasonable computation of the business done during the year, and to tell whether the balance on the page of his ledger shall be for or against him. It is not only the repeated duty of the active business man to "take stock" of his goods, his trade, his custom, but of his competitors. The universal application of the rule is shown in the particularity with which young ladies "take stock" of prospective matrimonial chances. In short, tradition, business, usage, custom, convenience and other good and sufficient reasons, all corroborate the advisability of taking stock. We are just now taking stock and will clear out any winter goods left over at cost.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 19, 1886.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Piano Tuning.

Geo. Campbell will be in town for one day. Orders left at Mr. T. Menzies' store or Messrs. Taylor & McDonald's store will be attended to.

Personal.

Prof. Hotchkiss, of the University of Toronto, will remain in town for a few days.

Conservative Club.

A meeting of the Junior Conservative Club will be held in the Club Room at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening, when the debate on the Franchise Act will be resumed.

Mr. Walker's Bible Class.

The Young Men's Class in the Y. M. C. A. Room will continue to night the study of Oriental or Biblical manners and customs. The association will be glad to have any young men attend the class.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours commencing on 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Cloudy weather, with snow, or in the southern districts, sleet, followed by west to north winds and partially clearing, colder weather.

The Carnival.

Double the sight to be seen at the skating rink on Friday evening, January 23rd, will be a pretty one. We understand that there will be many costumes of rich get-up and elegant appearance, while the number, it is expected, will be in advance of any similar affair held for some time. Don't miss this, the event of the season.

The Carnival.

A full house witnessed the presentation of "The Carnival," by the International Theatre Company, at Bradburn's Opera House on Monday evening. The acting of Miss Eugenia Lindemann, Mr. Wilson Day, Little Annie Bird and the other members of the company was up to their usual standard. The scene of the gypsy camp by moonlight and the military tableau were very effective. This evening "Camille's Husband" will be put on the boards.

The Carnival.

The first carnival of the season is to be held in the Charlotte Street Rink on Friday evening. The members of the Fire Brigade Band, under whose auspices it is being held, are exerting every nerve to make it a successful affair. They are hard at work with their decorations, which are to be of a very handsome character. The very liberal prices are sure to bring out both rich, old and pretty customers, and no doubt all who attend the Carnival will not regret it.

The Late Col. Williams.

Mr. D. Chisholm, from Port Hope, has been in town as one of the Committee for the Williams Memorial. He was successful in obtaining additions to the list from those whom he had time to see in the few hours at his disposal. These upon whom he was unable to call, have an opportunity of contributing, as Col. H. C. Rogers has a subscription list at the post office. It is quite unnecessary in Peterborough to advocate a movement for doing justice to the memory to the gallant commander of the Militia.

The Ashburnham Council.

On Monday evening the Council of the Village of Ashburnham held its organization meeting. The following members filed their declarations of office, and were, according to custom, duly installed: Mr. John Burnham, R.-ev., and Messrs. Henry Clouston, William F. List and John T. Craig, Councilmen. Mr. Mills, who has been acting since the election, was, on account of his sickness, unable to be present. In view of this it was thought that to proceed with business when he was detained by such a case would be showing a want of courtesy. The Council merely appointed the auditors, Messrs. Frank Adams and John Wright, and then adjourned.

ROSOL

AROUND ANOTHER BOARD.

The Mayor Entertains the Councilors to a Luncheon at the Oriental Hotel.

At half-past nine o'clock on Monday night the Mayor from his Magisterial chair looked down on a fierce warring amongst the Town Councilors, and so equally balanced were they in the contest that His Worship had to touch the balance to decide the question that brought on such heated discussion. But half an hour later how changed was the scene! The Mayor looked, as he sat in the host's chair in the Oriental Hotel dining room, and saw what appeared much like a brood of billing and cooing doves. It so happened that Mr. Rutherford was a little late. He excused himself and fitted himself into the vacancy by the side of Mr. Cahill. And it would have surprised some to have seen these two, so hostile to each other in Council, bending over each other with as much grace as a young gallant over his adored one. It was the same all along the line. All animosities were forgotten and the best of good will prevailed. Though the members of the company were not "beautiful to behold," yet their good-humored faces made them "fair to look upon." Mr. Yelland's good, honest face beamed from the bottom of the table, while the worthy host took his place at the head, with Mr. McNamara to the right and Mr. Menzies to the left. Messrs. Davidson and McNeil nudged each other and quietly smiled at the lovely conduct of brother Cahill and Rutherford, who sat on the other side of the table, and wondered if they could really mean it, while Messrs. Hartley and Kennedy chatted away about something, probably about the new school that is to be built in the north Ward. There was a glimmer in Mr. Moore's eye and a shadow of satisfaction in his smile that led one to surmise that behind it lay thoughts of the late discussion (how these lawyers do relish a tongue lashing), but there was not a trace of anything ungenerous to be seen. By this time the conversation at the head of the table had assumed a definite form, and Mr. McClelland was relating something about how the fire bill had been heard away out in the country at an almost incredible distance, adding that it was a pity that there wasn't a new clock tower erected. Councillor Kelly was asked by the Mayor's liberal spread, Mr. Rutherford proposed the health of the Mayor.

Mr. Stevenson replied, hoping that all would go on prosperously this year. He took as much interest in one ward as he did in another, but there were two things he liked very much. Those were the fire, widening and ribbing of C-cent street and the further beautifying the Court House Park. Then, of course, all had to try to put their shoulders to the wheel and try to induce the location of manufacturing here. They had everything they now wanted. As far as he was personally concerned he wanted nothing. He hoped to see the citizens manifest an interest in locating manufacturing here. They were always ready to put their hands in their pockets whenever a church was needed to be restored or built, but now that they had all the churches they wanted it might be well to put some of their money in factories. Of course the churches were important, but so were the factories, for what use were the churches if there was no one to go to them?

The Councilors each made short speeches, bespeaking encomiums on the Mayor, and promising their steady support for the consummation of all proper schemes for the advancement of the town.

The company dispersed at an early hour.

Kene Carnival.

Those who attend the Kene Carnival on Friday night will have a good show of things to skate upon. Eighty feet has been added to it, and the ice is now 100 by 40 feet. Liberal prizes are offered for costumes, and the attendance of competitors will no doubt be large. Spectators will see a sight worth going a distance to see.

Smith's Market.

Fresh haddock, fresh cod, fresh flounders, fresh trout, haddies, mackerel, bloaters, cucumbers, Malaga grapes, Catawba grapes, and to arrive, lot of western imported Concorda Florida oranges, lemons, nuts and canned goods. Lot of very choice new hams from eight to twelve pounds. Oysters, the very best, bulk and New York counts. Poultry, game and everything usually kept in the market.

ROSOL

Belleville.

Belleville papers contain an account of a bigamy case which came before the Police Magistrate of that city on Monday. Alice Eva Shaver, aged 23, married and sought the hand of Miss Mand Vandewater, of Belleville, last fall, but the young lady's grandparents refused to consent to the marriage. Shaver then went to Lindsay, and wedded and won a Miss Walsh, a lady of considerable wealth, to whom he was married in Peterborough, in December last. With his wife's money he started a fancy goods store in Omeo. On Thursday he got a horse from a livery stable, telling his wife that he was going to visit a sister who was sick. The livery stable keeper and Mrs. Shaver became suspicious, and on coming to Peterborough, on Friday, they learned that Shaver had shipped the horse to Belleville. On Saturday they followed him to Belleville, sending a telegram message ahead to Chief McKinnon. When Belleville was reached they discovered that Shaver had been married there, and McKinnon started in pursuit of the couple, and arrested Shaver at a Mr. Wein's, near Trenton, that afternoon. On Monday morning Shaver, who pleaded guilty, was sentenced to three years in the Penitentiary.

THE ANNUAL MEETING

OF THE LITTLE LAKE CEMETERY COMPANY.

The President's, Treasurer's and Superintendent's Reports Presented—A National Meeting of Affairs.

The annual meeting of the Little Lake Cemetery Company was held in the Council Chamber on Monday afternoon. There were present: The President, Mr. J. J. Landy, in the chair; Mr. J. A. Edwards, Secretary-Treasurer; Judge Denison, the Hon. Robt. Hamilton, the Rev. V. Clement, and Messrs. Geo. A. Cox, E. B. Edwards, Charles S. Appleton, James Stevenson, R. Kinan, James Kennedy, Geo. R. Gage, H. T. Evans, Bruce Ludgate, and J. J. Hall. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

THE DIRECTOR'S REPORT.

The PRESIDENT read the directors' report as follows:—

To the Stockholders of the Little Lake Cemetery Company:

Your Directors beg to present the following report for the year 1885:— The Directors are happy to announce as the chief event of the past year in the history of the company, the purchase from John Burnham, Esq., of an additional piece of land for the cemetery containing one acre and a half. This property for the increase has long been desired, and although the price paid is large, the Directors at first thought proper to give, yet as this was the only piece of land available for purchase they deemed it better to secure it while it was still in the market. The necessary surveys have been made, the stumps removed and considerable work done in grading and leveling the ground. The expenditure on account of the property has been $2,390.75.

The receipts for the year 1885, as shown by the cash account, were $1,325.50, nearly $400 less than the amount received from the same source during the previous year. The amount received for improvements in the cemetery was $242 and for vault fees $21.00. For the items of digging and setting graves, removals, digging and building foundations and painting and watering flowers, the sum received was $31.57. T. is added to the sum of $242 received for improvements on lots makes a total sum of $1,196.57 received for work done by the Superintendent and his men, in addition to the work done by them in clearing up a new section for single graves in respect to the vault, cutting grass and other work in the old cemetery, as well as a large amount of work in grading the recently acquired land. The sum thus received in cash is within $100 of the amount paid both for wages and for Superintendent's salary. The amount received for interest on $100,000 account, and on debentures, amounts to $157 making with the sum above mentioned a sum of $1,353.57 which may be placed under the head of ordinary income. The sum of $100,000 in debentures, the two debentures for 1000 was sold to Mr. Clement at par. The receipts for the year may thus be summarized:—

Sales of lots, do.	$1,325.50
Ordinary income, do.	156.57
Sale of debentures	156.57
Total receipts	$1,638.64
Balance on hand from last year	149.82
Grand total	$1,788.46

On the other side of the account the expenditure may be classified as follows:— For addition to cemetery, $2,390.75; For interest on $100,000 debentures, $157; For ordinary expenses, $141.24; Insurance, postage, stationery and printing, $48.32; Salaries, $61.00; Wages, $92.00; Miscellaneous items, $136.87.

Total expenditure, $2,779.93. Leaving a balance on hand of $158.53 in addition to the two debentures for $200,000 held by the company.

The system of the company assuming the care of all the graves and the entire and working of all the graves without charge has been continued to work well and has helped largely towards making the cemetery, as it is, one of the most beautiful and well kept in the Dominion.

The Directors for the incoming year will have to attend to the work of erecting and improving the addition to the cemetery. See a have already been taken towards securing the closing of a portion of Water and High streets as to the effect of the one boundary a clause to that effect having been inserted in the Town Bill, we believe in the Legislature.

The Treasurer's account has been duly audited and will be presented to the meeting. All of which is respectfully submitted.

JOHN J. LANDY, President.

EXPENDITURE.
 Night Engt. salary as per Jan. 1885..... $65.00
 Edwards..... 789.62
 Paid men's wages and traveling..... 108.55
 Balance..... 1254.82
 Total number of interments during 1885..... 147

In presenting my report to you, I would like to call your attention to some of the improvements that have been made during the year. The plot of ground near the river back on section 2 which was partly done in 1884 has been finished in the spring, graded, leveled, and rolled, and now makes a picture-que spot. The single grave plots were about full, which necessitated the clearing up of more ground. This was done with considerable labor. About half an acre was cleared of trees and stumps, leveled and graded, and is now given for about 350 more graves, which will be sufficient for several years. The new plot of ground, which was taken in last year, I have laid out a good deal of work upon. The old fence was taken down and the posts were out of the ground. This to be a considerable time. I thought it advisable to remove all the large stumps out of the new plot and set it ploughed, which was done early in the fall. While the men were out the stumps on the new ground I had them raised about 13 large stumps in the old ground. It took some time to do this, but it was well worth the effort. The new plot is now ready for use. The old fence was taken down and the posts were out of the ground. This to be a considerable time. I thought it advisable to remove all the large stumps out of the new plot and set it ploughed, which was done early in the fall. While the men were out the stumps on the new ground I had them raised about 13 large stumps in the old ground. It took some time to do this, but it was well worth the effort. The new plot is now ready for use.

On Motion all three of the reports were received and adopted.

THE CEMETERY BOARD.

Mr. STEVENSON enquired whether anything had been done toward asking the Town Council to take steps toward eradicating Crescent street.

The PRESIDENT replied that no formal request had been made on the part of the Company, but he understood that the Council wanted the Company to help to do the work. This they were not willing to do.

Judge DENISON said that by law the Company could not sell its money in such a way. The PRESIDENT felt inclined to go so far as planting ornamental trees and otherwise beautifying the street if it were put in order.

THE DIRECTORS.

The Directors for the ensuing year were then re-elected as follows:—James Stevenson, Judge Denison, the Rev. V. Clement, the Hon. R. Hamilton, Geo. A. Cox, Charles Stapleton and G. M. Roper.

Afterwards the officers for 1886 were re-elected as follows:—

PRESIDENT—J. J. Landy.

SECRETARY-TREASURER—Jas. Edwards.

SUPERINTENDENT—John Kelly.

The meeting then adjourned.

January Days

January comes with bitter blast (line with) and cold steel. The winter days now follow fast Upon each other's heels. One day and then another goes, And those who are alive May well recall the joys and woes Of the past year.

But he who holds in lofty scorn, Misfortune and her tricks, May fore and look, with hopes new born, To 1886.

BEGIN THE YEAR WELL.

During the year just closed, we have made many friends and gained, by straightforward dealing, very many new customers. During the year of 1886, it will be our constant aim to please and give the utmost satisfaction to every one who favors us with a call.

OUR DECIDED SALE

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

CANADIAN TWEEDS.

It is gratifying to see it stated that the quality of Canadian tweeds has undergone a marked improvement during the last few years. This is a legitimate result of our protective policy, and one which has been achieved without cost to the consumer. Canada is now under no more necessity of importing tweeds than she is of importing flour. Good Canadian tweed is good enough for the ordinary wear of the best men on earth.—Toronto World.

NOTE THIS.

It is said that the constant reading of the daily papers has a tendency to keep a man young. At least, the man of seventy-five, who takes an active interest in the news, if he appears to be about twenty-five years younger than he really is.—Atlantic (Globe) Constitution.

A SECRET CONFERENCE.

A Reform paper says: "Hon. Edward Blake, according to the Tory papers, went to Ottawa last week and had a conference with the Hon. Wilfrid Laurier, leader of the Quebec Liberals. Well, what of it? It is not right that the leaders of the party should consult together? Certainly, but the steady manner in which the two 'leaders' in question met indicates that for some reason last known to themselves they wished the fact of their consultation to be kept secret. What were they afraid of? Of the Ottawa Tory paper, which claims that it knew all about the meeting days before it took place, had its mouth closed.—Toronto Mail.

A WANT NOT SUPPLIED.

If Mr. Blake hopes to succeed he must discard his negative, or at least give them a less prominent place on the platform, and give the people a declaration of positive principles. He must say something now. His followers want a cry. They have not had a genuine rallying cry since Free Trade was put forward in 1878, and we know what happened. That was the wrong sort of a cry, and resulted in ten years' exclusion from office. His supporters are asking for something better.—Montreal Herald (Independence).

CONSULTING WITH A REBEL.

Hon. Edward Blake, according to the Tory papers, went to Ottawa last week and had a conference with Hon. Wilfrid Laurier, leader of the Quebec Liberals. Well, what of it? It is not right that the leaders of the party should consult together? Mr. Blake did not travel in an official car and make the taxpayers pay his expenses. He did not travel by special train to escape observation, and did not select that nobody was in the car but his wife, as Sir John did when he was sneaking through Quebec on his way to England. Could confound the Tories can get out of the fact—it is a fact—that Mr. Blake was in a "car," and resulted in ten years' exclusion from office. His supporters are asking for something better.—Montreal Herald (Independence).

"I KNOW A MEMBER."

"I know a member, and so do you," said Mr. Blake in his London speech, "who warned an anarchist that he would resist the government candidate, he would run the risk of losing his life, and he did not do so." Well, what of it? It is not right that the leaders of the party should consult together? Mr. Blake did not travel in an official car and make the taxpayers pay his expenses. He did not travel by special train to escape observation, and did not select that nobody was in the car but his wife, as Sir John did when he was sneaking through Quebec on his way to England. Could confound the Tories can get out of the fact—it is a fact—that Mr. Blake was in a "car," and resulted in ten years' exclusion from office. His supporters are asking for something better.—Montreal Herald (Independence).

NOT A KIND WORD.

The Winnipeg Free Press (Reform) is out with an attack upon General Middleton. It says he is a dodo and that he should have been in the West. A man who knows something about such matters and not Sir Frederick Borden of Ret Portage celebrity probably will not receive the apoplexy. It is not significant that while the Reform papers are loud in their praises of Sir John, they have not a kind word for any man who was in, but on the loyal side.—Mail.

THE "GLOBES" ANGER.

The Toronto Globe is particularly vicious in its attacks upon Mr. Howard but its intolerance is easily explained. He killed an Indian during the campaign last year, and thereby incurred the enmity of the Toronto organ of the redmen, which holds that it is an outrage to permit an Indian to be killed in such a manner. The Globe is a paper of the same sort, and it is not surprising that it should be so.

MONDAY, JANUARY 25, 1886.

A RELUCTANT LEADER.

THE Reform party is not in a more cheerful mood since Mr. Blake delivered (or read) his speech in London. Among a large section of the party, who are honestly, though, as we believe, wrongly, opposed to the present Administration, there has been a longing for a definite positive policy for their party, upon which they could unite and strive to enlist the sympathies of the Canadian people. Such a policy they had hoped would be outlined by Mr. Blake at London, but they were disappointed. He treated them to a condensed rehearsal of the speeches of Sir Richard Cartwright, Mr. M. C. Cameron and of Globe editorials, finding fault with the Government, but the only approach to a positive policy were not very definite references to the rights of the Dominion to make treaties and Senate reform. These subjects are not new, and Mr. Blake cast no light upon them, or upon the policy of the Reform party regarding them. Even on the exciting question of the execution of Riel, although he made use of numerous words, he took no decided stand, and fenced so skillfully that opinions differ as to what stand he will take upon the question. L'Espresso, the most violent Riel organ of Quebec, thinks that "if Mr. Blake had been retained as the counsel of the French-Canadian before a prejudiced public, he could not have succeeded better." Others, including the World and News of Toronto, think he intended to condemn the alliance made with the Blues by his lieutenant. But the plain fact is that he reserved his opinion regarding the question whether the Government should be punished for allowing Riel to be executed and left himself free to act in any way that would best serve his interests when the House meets. This was not a manly course, and does not in the least lift the gloom hanging over the party.

Mr. Blake even did more than that to increase the uncheerfulness of the party. He told them plainly that they had a reluctant leader who would be much better pleased if he did not occupy that position. "It suits me in no one of its relations to my life," he said, "and I grow each year more anxious to be allowed to return to the ranks." Further on he said, "To be serious, gentlemen, I trust that at no distant day you will relieve me." No one interrupted Mr. Blake at that point, and his statements regarding the leadership were hardly of a nature to impart cheerfulness. Face to face with the fact that they have a reluctant leader, and with out a positive policy, the prospects of the party cannot be considered bright, except by the Mark Taper within the ranks.

It will be noticed that Mr. Blake grows each year more anxious to retire. As he has been the leader for about six years, and still holds the position, his desire to retire could not have developed very rapidly in the earlier years of his leadership, unless he was very anxious for the position at first. The hopelessness of the prospects of the party gaining the confidence of the people have evidently had a disheartening effect upon Mr. Blake.

A SCOTT ACT DEPUTATION.

The Ontario Government interviewed on Enforcing the Law.

A deputation composed of delegates from the Grand division, Sons of Temperance, and others waited on the Ontario government on Friday afternoon to ask for stringent alterations in the Criminal act and also to make provision for the better enforcement of the Scott act. The delegates were George Maclean Ross, Jas. Thompson, Wm. H. Orr, H. O'Hara and T. Caswell of Toronto, G. K. Stewart and G. M. Haanum of Ottawa, Mr. Holland of Bradford, G. M. Casey, Grand Secretary I.O.G.T., G. W. Manning of Almonte, Past Grand Worthy Pathearch I.O.G.T.

The delegates asked that a police magistrate be appointed for each county and also officers favorable to the temperance movement be appointed to enforce the prevailing liquor law. Mr. Fraser pointed out that the act of 1881 gave power to all municipalities, cities, counties, towns and townships to appoint their own officers and to appropriate money to pay them. Here a discussion arose. Some of the delegates considered that this was all they needed. Others wanted the government to appoint officials who were favorably inclined toward prohibition.

Continuing, the delegates asked that the defendant in any prosecution for breach of the existing liquor law be denied the right of testifying. On the first conviction, the offender should be fined $50. On the second and each subsequent conviction, he should be imprisoned for two months up, without the option of a fine. They also asked that persons be prohibited in front of bar room doors; that communications between hotels and their barrooms be prohibited; that billiard tables be not allowed in any establishment where liquor is sold and that the sale of liquor to habitual drunkards be forbidden. —Toronto World.

CONFLAGRATION.

Nearly Twenty Thousand Dollars' Worth of Property Consumed.

QALX, Ont., Jan. 23.—About six o'clock this evening a fire broke out in the dry goods and grocery establishment of Middlemiss & Robertson, on the north side of Main street. The building was owned by Wm. Wilkins. The fire origin from the bursting of a coal oil lamp in the back part of the premises and spread so rapidly with a high wind blowing that it was feared at one time a great part of the northern side of Main street would be destroyed. The flames however were confined to Middlemiss & Robertson's store, which was completely gutted. The loss in the adjoining store occupied by Christie & Wilkins dry goods and millinery, Martin & McLean, boots and shoes, gent's furnishings, etc., are badly damaged by water. Middlemiss & Robertson estimate their loss at $7000 over the insurance which is $5000 divided among three companies. Christie & Wilkins' loss is $4000, which covers the loss. The companies interested are the Waterloo Mutual, Gore District and Dorwin, of Brooklyn. Martin & McLean's insurance is $5,000 in the Glenview of London, Phoenix, of Brooklyn, Phoenix, of London, and Gore District which will cover the damage. Wm. Wilkins' loss on building was $2,000 outside of the insurance, which is $1,000 in the Gore District.

THE FUTURE OF A PEOPLE

THE REV. J. ROBERTSON ASKS WHAT IT IS TO BE

The People in the East are Responsible in Seeing That the Foundations of the Northwest are Laid in Righteousness.

At St. Paul's Church on Sunday, the Rev. J. Robertson, Superintendent of the Northwest Presbyterian Missions, preached the sermon. In the morning at eleven o'clock he took for his text, Romans 14, 15 and 16:—"I am debtor both to the Greeks and to the Barbarians, both to the wise and the unwise. So as much as in me is, I am ready to preach the Gospel to you that are at Rome also. For I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ, for it is the power of God unto salvation to everyone that believeth: to the Jew first and also to the Greek." Speaking in the ordinary sense of the term, said he, Paul was not in debt to anybody there. He had not contracted debt; and yet he was in debt to the people there. He was in debt to them in the sense that a trustee was in debt for the discharge of honest and honorable obligations. He had received the Gospel in trust and he felt himself bound to make the good he had experienced from it known to his fellow men.

The brethren before him, individually, were now in precisely the same position in which Paul was placed. They had received the Gospel and felt its good and they were under obligations to make it known to their fellow men now in darkness, whether they were pioneers and settlers in the Northwest or heathens in China and Japan. The Apostle felt himself constrained to make known the Gospel, not so much from the fact that he was one of Christ's disciples as from the fact that he was a Christian.

Four years ago he had the privilege of addressing this congregation, and the good that was to be done by the furtherance of the Home Mission Fund scheme, and he was here today to tell them the benefits that had resulted from it; to tell them of the progress that had been made, to give them information and to enlist their sympathies in the work. The missionaries in the west were carrying on their work and they required all the aid and sympathy to make it a success. The Northwest Synod was the largest in the world so far as he knew. It extended thirteen hundred miles in length from Lake Superior to the Rocky Mountains, and from the boundary between Canada and the United States to the Arctic Ocean.

The people coming into this great country, in large part, Presbyterians, about two out of every five hundred being members and adherents of the Presbyterian Church. The Church, as a body, then, was responsible for giving these people the Gospel. He was thankful that so much was being done now. The Church of England was doing a good work; the Methodists were working with much success in both the East and West, and by being aggressive, were accomplishing great deeds; the Baptist Church was doing a small work, but now sending out more missionaries. But the Presbyterian Church was DOING THE GREAT WORK.

He might say that it was doing as much as any other two Churches. But this was what it should do, seeing that it was laboring among its own children. The policy of the Canadian Pacific Railway in laying out the country—causing only every alternate block to be settled—was much against the maintenance of schools and churches. He mentioned this simply as one of the difficulties they had to contend with. But this was not the only difficulty. The large proportion of the farmers who were unmarried operated against compact settlements being formed. Those who came, alas, did not appear to be particularly religious. Social life too, was in a very unsatisfactory state. Then the scarcity of timber makes the erection of churches very expensive. But there were many encouragements to stimulate the missionaries in their work. The first—there were anxious to have the Gospel preached to them. He related several instances where people had applied to him to send them a missionary. The people were very liberal and willing by their contributions to support their ministers. In Eastern Canada he FOUNDED BY STATISTICS, the average rate of contribution per communicant was $4, but in the Northwest it was nearly four times that amount; it was $16. Some idea of the progress of the Presbyterian mission work in the Northwest might be had from the following:—Ninety years ago the church had nine mission stations; it had now 347. Fourteen years ago there were 197 members; there were now between 6,000 and 7,000 members. Fifteen years ago the contributions amounted to $2,000 a year; now they amounted to $100,000 a year. The rebellion last summer had interfered very little with the church work. The seat of war was far removed from where their missionaries worked. He instanced how hard it was to bring these rough westerners to contribute to the building of churches, but by his own instrumentality several of the roughest had been brought into the folds and were now the most useful and active church members.

There were many dangers in the situation in the Northwest. The people were even now going into many kinds of errors, on account of not being reached by the Gospel. In many of the villages along the line of the railway stores were kept open and business was done on Sunday the same as any other day. The people, living in the country, and not having the privilege of attending any church, declined morally, and crimes that he had never thought to have existed on Canadian soil were openly committed. When man was left to himself he degenerated into a brute and soon went to the CRIMES AGAINST GOD AND AGAINST NATURE, sins of which only man with man or woman with woman might converse—were taking root among the people. Gambling on Sunday, bigamy, profanity and intemperance were not among the worst. The traces of crimes, damnable crimes, supping the very strength of society, could be seen. He gave instances of having saved some from the terrible results that were fast approaching. Infidelity and unbelief had to be combated. It had already obtained a considerable space among the people on account of a lack of places for religious worship.

The country had a great future before it. This great level plain in the North West was rich, in certain districts, with coal mines, and was surrounded by a great belt of unbroken forest. He felt that this country was destined to be all thickly settled. It was true that the climate was cold, but it was not so hard on people as some might expect. He himself had travelled 1,300 miles on a sled in seven weeks in cold weather and did not feel very uncomfortable and when, at the end of that time he was surprised that he had gained 15 pounds. He felt that this great fertile plain, which was six or seven times as large as the rest of Canada put together, would in the near future be filled with people. It remained for the brethren in the east to decide what kind of people these should be, Godly or ungodly; a Christian country, or a land of vice, idolatry and unbelief. The foundations of this great country were being laid. Would they be laid in righteousness and in the fear of the Lord? Or would it be left to be bound down with the shackles of mischief. The augmentation of the Home Mission Fund had done much towards the erection of churches. In four years 53 new churches had been built, 7 more finished, and 15 mansees had been erected. He set forth, in several painful examples, the urgent need of building more mansees and providing better houses for the missionaries. The building of churches was a great aid to bringing together a congregation, for it had been found that the people were prejudiced against going to hotels and other places to hold services. The brethren, when the time came to contribute to the Home Mission Fund, should bear in mind the foregoing, and should remember that they gave their support and influence to keep their fellowmen from sinking as well as to uplift people. By giving liberally it would give them growth in grace; the muscles swelled and strengthened by exercise; the intellect became tough, sharp and keen by training.

CAUTION IN THE ACT.

Three Incendiary Fires in Kingston and Arrest of the Incendiary.

KINGSTON, Ont., Jan. 23.—Three incendiary fires occurred last night, followed by the arrest of the incendiary. At one o'clock flames destroyed much of the $40,000 stock of H. Skinner & Co., wholesale druggists. The firemen confined the flames, after a severe struggle. The match was set among tinctures and herbs, and spread rapidly. The firm are insured for $25,500. The second attempt was at Dr. Spark's residence, where clothing and paper was ignited in a back shed. The smoke aroused the occupants of the house, and before the fire had gained much headway, it was put out. While the fire was in progress at Skinner's John Horsey saw a flash of light in the store of S. McK. Robertson, glass warehouse. He rushed to the police, who dashed to the rear. One man was seen running down the street, but officer Tuttle saw another crawling out of the window in the store. He was grabbed, when he said: "I'm caught in the act. I'm guilty." He was pulled up on the snow, where the nightlight fell on his face, and John Horsey exclaimed, "My God, it's my brother." He was correct. Harry Horsey, aged about 21 years, was the prisoner. He was half intoxicated. He had set fire to some straw in the store. The young man is the son of a respectable merchant, and cousin of the chief of police. He has been suspected of many incendiary fires which have occurred in the city. In one instance it was well nigh traced to him. At the Police Court this morning, he was remanded.

Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, JANUARY 26, 1886.

IMPORTANT INTERESTS.

"WHAT SHALL WE DO WITH OUR LUMBER MILLS?"

The question of the town—A matter that requires the closest attention and consideration—The matter discussed in Council.

A regular meeting of the Town Council was held on Monday evening.

There were present: His Worship the Mayor and Councillors Davidson, McNaughton, Kelly, McNair, McClelland, Yelland, Moore, Rutherford, Macdonald, Keady, Cahill and Hartley.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

Communications were read as follows:—

From Councillor McNaughton, submitting a report of the amount disbursed in charities in No. 1 Ward from the 22nd of April to the 24th of December, 1885, in all $31.—Resolved.

From Chas. Billings, acknowledging the receipt of $30.00, and stating that he had withdrawn the action he had taken against the town.—Resolved.

From J. Corkery, Secretary of the Separate School Board, requesting the town to collect the Separate School rate this year.

From J. H. Best, T. Partridge, Angus Williams, J. T. McFarlane, Geo. McBurney, Wm. Brockbridge, applying for the position of Street and Bridge Inspector.

From Alex. Wilson, asking re-appointment as Street and Bridge Inspector.

From Thos. Partridge, applying for the position of assistant constable, license inspector, and all of the offices held by Mr. Beavis.—Resolved.

From R. W. Manaster, applying for the position of caretaker of the town clock.—Resolved.

From Wm. Logan, asking for partial remission of taxes.—Court of Revision.

From Mary Fraser, Murray street, stating that she had suffered loss through the back water in the creek and asking remuneration.—Finance Committee.

From A. Comstock, stating that as no approach had been set out in front of his new store on George street, he would, if the Council could, please, build one himself that would answer the purpose till a permanent one be built.—Granted.

From Thos. Brown, Smith street, informing the Council that two months ago he had stepped into a hole in the sidewalk and had sprained his ankle. He mentioned himself entitled to compensation, as he had not been able to do a day's work since and the injury had been the fault of the town officials. His loss of salary, alone, was $65.—Finance Committee.

From A. Dumais, petitioning for remission of taxes.—Court of Revision.

From R. Kincaid, M.D., enclosing orders for professional attendance on 30 patients. At ordinary rates his services would be worth $400.—Finance Committee.

ACCOUNTS.

Accounts were presented as follows:—

Jan. Alexander, 7 yards cotton..... $ 10

do. Adams, 10 yards do..... $ 10

J. R. Murray, printing..... $ 30

Wm. Gowden, back hire..... $ 50

Thos. Brown, 10 yards do..... $ 10

T. Partridge, cleaning cellar..... $ 50

The accounts were ordered to be paid on their correctness being certified.

AMENDMENTS.

Councillor Keady read the report of the Committee on Appointments as follows:—

To Mr. Mayor and Council:

GENTLEMEN.—Your Committee on Appointments, as before, to report and recommend the following:—That Councillors McNair and William Aldridge be appointed assessors for the year 1886.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

JAS. KEADY, Chairman.

Jan. 25, 1886.

As by-law to appoint assessors was read for a first time, and, on the second reading, Councillor McNair moved that the names mentioned in the report be inserted.

The Mayor did not see the necessity of appointing a third man, where there were three assessors there was much trouble and handling than over there had been. He thought there was less complaint at the work of the present assessors than there was for some years.

Councillor Davidson moved, seconded by Councillor McNair, that Messrs Wm. Lawford and Cornelius McGrath be appointed assessors.

The amendment was put and lost and the original motion was carried.

The names of Councillors McGrath and Wm. Aldridge were added to the list.

Councillor Cahill moved, seconded by Councillor Kelly, that the salary of the assessors be increased $25, giving them $225 each.

As the clause referring to the salary had been allowed to pass Councillor Cahill changed his motion that it moved for a reconsideration of the question. The vote was taken and the motion was lost.

The Committee rose and the by-law was read a third time.

AN IMPORTANT MATTER.

Councillor McClelland wished to lay before the Council a matter of great importance to the town. For the past years sawdust had been deposited in the river and the Little Lake was gradually filling up. It had filled up now to such an extent that it caused interference with navigation. But he had been alarmed to learn that steps had been taken by the millowners to have the River Ottawa exempted from the provision of the Fisheries Act. If such were granted the millowners could do just as they liked, and the whole lake might be filled with refuse in a short time. In view of this, he presented a memorial, that the Council might send it to the Government, praying that their attention be not granted and that the Government take steps to dredge the lake. The lake had been filled, even now, to such an extent, that the steamboats had been over time completely stuck while rounding the cemetery point. The lake was rapidly filling in with decaying vegetable matter. He had been on the lake in his boat when the water had been stirred up by the passing steamboat, and the green that rose in bubbles to the surface were so noxious, that he shuddered, and had actually puked.

Councillor McClelland moved, seconded by Councillor McNair, that his Worship the Mayor and the Council memorialize the Government on this subject, and that a copy of it be forwarded to his Excellency the Governor General.

Councillor Rutherford moved in amendment, seconded by Councillor Rutherford, that a Committee composed of Councillors Rutherford, McNair, Cahill, Moore and the mover wait on the millowners re the matter of memorializing the Government on the sawdust question, to report to the Council at its next meeting.

measures to locate here, but this sawdust nuisance was a great detriment to the many industries of the town. He had cut the Auburn Company between $1,200 and $1,600 these last two months to keep their flumes and the water they used in manufacturing, free from sawdust and refuse. He could not say that if this nuisance were allowed to exist it would seriously interfere with the manufacture of textile articles in the future. The Auburn Company had a great deal of bother and annoyance from the slabs, bark and sawdust that floated down from Mr. Irwin's mill.

Councillor Moore agreed that this was a serious matter, and it was to be regretted that this move was not made years ago. Then the mill owners put slabs and all sorts of refuse into the river and it was then, so they said, that the injury was done. Now, so the mill owners informed him, all was changed. Instead of putting the slabs into the river they were now on the slabs, bark and sawdust that floated down from Mr. Irwin's mill.

Years ago, when the mill owners threw all sorts of refuse into the river, it floated down and settled in the Little Lake, forming a solid mass of refuse. But had sawdust alone been put it would have floated down and gone to Rice Lake. But if the mill owners were not to be allowed to deposit any refuse in the river it would involve the expenditure of thousands of dollars, and a reconstruction of the mill. In fact two millowners had informed him that if this were done they might as well close their mills. A few years ago two large mills were closed down here and it was a matter of regret to all that they did so. The question before them, then, should not be lightly treated. The lumber interest was an important one. About 20,000,000 feet of lumber was made annually. This involved the employment of much labor and the disbursement of a large amount of money.

Councillor Keady said that Mr. Moore was not correct. During the present season the river was free from slabs as there was a matter of regret to all that they did so. This involved the employment of much labor and the disbursement of a large amount of money.

Councillor Keady said that Mr. Moore was not correct. During the present season the river was free from slabs as there was a matter of regret to all that they did so. The question before them, then, should not be lightly treated. The lumber interest was an important one. About 20,000,000 feet of lumber was made annually. This involved the employment of much labor and the disbursement of a large amount of money.

At Councillor Rutherford's request, Councillor Keady's name was withdrawn for his own. Councillor Hartley did not feel like suffering out three important interests at one whiff. He was confident that some arrangement could be made.

Councillor McClelland changed his motion to one moving for the first reading of the memorial.

The memorial was read for a first time and Councillor McNair moved his motion to stand as an amendment to a motion for the second reading. Councillor McNair's amendment was carried.

Councillor Moore moved, seconded by Councillor Keady, that the Clerk of the Council write to the Clerk of the Privy Council at Ottawa that a memorial is at present under the consideration of the Council in regard to throwing sawdust in the Ottawa at and near the town of Peterborough and that the Government be requested not to take further action on any application of the mill owners regarding the matter until the town has an opportunity of discussing the matter in full, and that the Clerk point out that the mills are not now working, and therefore there is no need of immediate action for the benefit of the mill owners.—Carried.

TOWN SOLICITOR.

Councillor Moore brought up the question of the advisability of paying a salary to the Town Solicitor, instead of paying him by the piece, as had been done in the past. The Town Solicitor would prefer it, and he felt satisfied it would be preferable to the expenditure of thousands of dollars, and a reconstruction of the mill.

The matter of whether or not it should be paid, the amount of salary, if done, and the terms of engagement, were referred to the Committee on Appointments.

LUMBER.

Councillor Cahill moved, seconded by Councillor Davidson, that the Treasurer be directed to advertise for the necessary lumber for streets and bridges for the current year, including a quantity of round cedar, and that the Street and Bridge Committee be authorized to award the contract for the same.—Carried.

REMEMBERED.

Councillor Cahill moved, seconded by Councillor Keady, that the Treasurer be directed to issue the corporation cheque in favor of R. S. Davidson for the sum of $600 in full.—Carried.

BANKERS: Bank of Toronto and Canadian Bank of Commerce
SOLICITORS: Dumble & Henry.

TO DEPOSITORS—Deposits are received by this Company both on current account and for periods of one year or longer. The rate of interest, paid on amounts deposited on current account and which may be withdrawn by check in such sums as the depositor may from time to time require, is FOUR per cent, either paid or compounded half yearly, and the rate on yearly deposits is FIVE per cent.

TO INVESTORS—The five and ten year FIVE PER CENT DEBENTURES of this Company, which are issued in denominations of $100, $200, $500 and $1,000 each, transferable by endorsement, with half yearly interest coupons attached, payable at the Head Office of the Company in Peterborough, or at any Branch of the Bank of Toronto in Canada, afford a safe and convenient mode of investment.

The funds of the Company being invested in first mortgages on Real Estate, no better security can be offered to depositors or investors, having a first claim on mortgages on the whole Assets of the Company, the shareholders having the second. The annual statement shows that the amount invested was over $800,000, and on the security of real estate at least double that value.

By the laws of Ontario, Trustees, Executors and Administrators may deposit Trust Funds of the estate which they control in the Company, and save free from all further liability, a privilege of which many have largely availed themselves.

TO BORROWERS—Money is obtainable from this Company on approved Real Estate security at the Lowest Current Rates of Interest.

The Mortgage may be repaid by yearly instalments, or otherwise, as may be agreed upon, the interest being paid on all amounts paid on account of the sum borrowed.

Applications may be made either to the Head Office, or to any of the Agents.
Head Office, George Street, Peterborough, adjoining Bank of Commerce.

January Days

January comes with bitter blast

Time swift, and days are few

Upon each other's heels

One day and then another goes

And those who are alive

May well recall the joys and woes

Of 1885

But he who holds in lofty scorn

Misfortune and her tricks

Is forward look, with hopes new born

To 1886

THE SAWDUST QUESTION.

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR—I observe from your report of the last meeting of the Council, that Mr. Rutherford states that the quarrel about the Sawdust manuscript was between the Peterborough Boat

Club and the mill-owners, and I ask for specifics in your columns to fully deny the assertion and to state that there is no foundation whatever for his remarks. The questions of these

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

THE THIRD SESSION OF THE FOURTH PARLIAMENT OPENED.

The Lieutenant-Governor's Speech from the Throne—References to Past Events—A Few Bills Promised.

By Telegraph to the Review.

TORONTO, Jan. 28.—The third session of the fourth Parliament of the Ontario Legislature was opened at three o'clock this afternoon by Lieutenant-Governor Robinson with the usual ceremonies.

The following is the Speech from the Throne: Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly:

It has once more become my agreeable duty to convene you for the discharge of the high public functions devolving upon this House, for your annual review of Provincial administration, for such measures in legislation as may keep pace with the rapid strides of this great Province, and for providing the supplies necessary to administer the Government and give effect to your enactments.

THE REBELLION. Immediately after the rising of the House last year the attention of our people was anxiously drawn to the Northwest Territory by most unhappy occurrences. That vast territory, like the intervening Province of Manitoba, is allied to Ontario by the closest ties of affection and kindred. Many of the pioneers in these distant settlements are the sons of your constituents, or they were themselves your constituents, and their hardships and dangers touch very directly the hearts and homes of Ontario. When the volunteers were called out to restore order it was gratifying to observe the spirit in which our Ontario youth answered the summons, and undertake what in every civil strife must needs be a most painful duty. While sincerely deploring the necessity for their services, we all felt a natural and just pride in our citizen soldiers, as we witnessed their patient endurance on the march and their unflinching courage in action. When tranquility was restored it was again gratifying to observe the alacrity with which they returned to their civil duties, and resumed the avocations of peaceful industry.

AGRICULTURAL INDUSTRY. I am rejoiced to see by the official statistics that Ontario continues to maintain the lead of all provinces and states on the continent in agricultural industry. The field crops of the past year have, with two or three exceptions, been very beautiful, though a low price and a wide spread disease in the potato have not permitted our farmers to realize the usual profits of some former years. I notice with pleasure that the increased attention which is given to mixed farming and to live stock, and dairy products, has widened the base of our Agricultural prosperity, and greatly limited the injury arising from the failure of a single crop on a single branch of this most important of the occupations of our people, FARMERS' INSTITUTES. The recent organization of farmers' institutes by the Commissioner of Agriculture has furnished most important agencies for the exchange of valuable experience and for the diffusion of scientific principles and methods among our whole farming community. These institutes have been largely attended and highly appreciated. The professors of the Agricultural College have personally interested themselves in the proceedings and have established between the College and institutes cordial relations of the greatest mutual advantage.

ADVISORY BOARD OF FARMERS. In order to secure the permanent affiliation of practical husbandry with scientific research, a measure will be submitted for the formation of an advisory board of farmers, whom the Commissioner may consult in the management of the College and its experimental farm.

LIQUOR LICENSE ACT. I congratulate you upon the result of the appeal taken to the Imperial Privy Council by the Government of Canada respecting the Dominion Liquor License Acts. The Judicial Committee of the Privy Council have declared these Acts to be wholly null and void. Thus their Lordships have not only sustained the provincial jurisdiction to the extent a judgment by the Supreme Court of Canada, but have sustained the full contention of Ontario and have declared the entire subject of tavern, shop, and wholesale licenses to belong exclusively to provincial jurisdiction.

THE RAINY RIVER DISTRICT. Notwithstanding the decision of Her Majesty in Council in 1884, determining in favour of the province the long pending dispute respecting our westerly boundary, the settlement of the territory now called the Rainy River district, and the developments of its resources, have been further delayed by a claim recently set up that all the crown lands in this territory belong to the Dominion as Indian lands, though in the case of the other provinces all lands similarly situated are admitted to belong to the province within which they lie. The Dominion Government having covered large tracts of the awarded territory with licenses to cut the timber, my Government, to preserve the Provincial domain from further waste, applied for and obtained an injunction against some of the licensees, the effect of which has been to deter so far as known all licensing and other transactions from further operations in the territory. The court granting the injunction decided that in Ontario, as in all the other Provinces, the title to such lands lies not in the Dominion, but in the Provinces. An appeal from this decision is still pending. A measure will be submitted to you for the opening and settling of the lands of the Rainy River District, to take effect as soon as the claim of the Dominion Government has been abandoned or set at rest by the tribunal of last resort.

LAND IMPROVEMENT FUND. I regret that notwithstanding the earnest efforts of my Government, no measure has been made towards a settlement of accounts between Ontario, the Dominion and the Province of Quebec. In view of this further delay and of the apparent uncertainty as to the time when a settlement may be arrived at, my Government deem it inadvisable to any longer postpone paying to the municipalities entitled the interest on the land improvement fund derived from the sale of school lands prior to confederation, the principal, though not yet received, having been advanced by the provinces to the municipalities in 1882. Provision for this purpose will be made in the estimates.

COLONIZATION. The early settlement of lands recently made accessible by railways and highways continues to receive the earnest encouragement of my Government.

MINING. The past year witnessed a partial revival of the mining industry and our valuable deposits of minerals and metals are again attracting attention.

TIMBER SALE. I congratulate you upon the liberal bonuses received at the timber sale, deemed necessary last fall, of a limited area of scattered and exposed limits upon the north shore of Georgian Bay.

SMALLPOX. An unusually severe visitation of smallpox in the commercial metropolis of the adjoining province excited much sympathy without affecting neighbors. The virulent character of the epidemic occasioned my Government the most anxious and watchful solicitude, on account of our close business relations and constant intercourse with that city. Prompt and energetic measures were taken through our Provincial Board of Health to maintain a vigilant quarantine on the frontier and to insist on the vaccination and vaccination of passengers and the disinfecting of railway carriages and merchandise. Local boards rendered effective service, as well in forcing general vaccination among our population as by other precautionary measures. In devising and carrying into effect the protective measures necessary, the enlarged powers conferred last session by the Public Health Act were of eminent service. The result of the vaccination campaign has been that nowhere within our limits did the epidemic obtain any dangerous foothold, and that our towns and villages generally have enjoyed complete immunity from the dread disease.

CONSOLIDATION OF THE STATUTES. During the recent session a commission for the consolidation of the Provincial Statutes was appointed and has since that time been actively engaged in its duties. Substantial progress has been made in this important work, and it is hoped that a report by the Commissioners may be ready for submission to the House during the present session.

BILLS PROMISED. Bills will be laid before you embodying improvements in the law recommended by the Commissioner or suggested to their discussion. Other measures are to be submitted for your consideration, including a bill for the auditing of the public accounts of the province, a bill for revising the usefulness and efficiency of the law relating to the estates of deceased persons, and a bill respecting the liability of employers for injuries suffered by their workmen.

IMMIGRATION. I regret that in many branches of industry the present supply of labor seems so far to exceed the demand as to depress wages and render employment uncertain. Under these circumstances my Government were obliged to regard it as a duty for this Province to stimulate the immigration of the working classes from abroad, less the hardships of the present situation should be aggravated.

NEW PARLIAMENT BUILDINGS. I had hoped that the past year would have witnessed active operations on the projected Parliamentary and Departmental buildings, but unexpected difficulties in the plans have intervened. I desire, however, much pleasure from the contemplation of the fact that early in the present session these much needed buildings will be in actual course of construction.

ARTIST ACCOMMODATION. The urgent need of finer and accommodation for the large and idle of our population was recognized last session, and appropriate measures were provided for additional buildings at Hamilton and Orillia. It was found, however, that before the structure at Hamilton could be commenced, some intermediate accommodation for inmates must be provided, in order to come to the immediate relief of our crowded and over-crowded asylums. The department was so fortunate as to secure under a five year lease the Kensington College as a branch asylum, which has been placed under the management of the officers of the Kew-Row Asylum. After some repairs and slight alterations, very suitable accommodation can thus be provided for one hundred and fifty inmates. This will, it is hoped, be found sufficient for the public wants until necessary permanent provision is made.

REPORTS. The reports of the various departments of the public service for the past year will be laid before you. There will also be submitted the first report of the Master of Titles on the operation of the Land Title Act of the last session, and the report of the Commissioner appointed to enquire into complaints made against the Wardens of the Central Prison.

THE ESTIMATES. The estimates for the current year have been prepared with a view to economy and efficiency, and will be brought before you for the consideration of this great and progressive province.

I feel assured that your legislative labours will, as heretofore, be marked by a wisdom of purpose, and by a sincere and disinterested consideration of the public welfare.

ROSOLINE has no equal as a remedy for Chapped Hands, roughness of the skin, etc. From J. R. McCrea, druggist.

A Bad Case. A lady writes: "I had almost given up all hope of having my natural growth of hair back, as I tried many remedies advertised for the hair. I can now thank Dr. Rossolone's Hair Regenerators for restoring the growth, but also the color. I have used two bottles and my hair is in a state of perfect perfection to my satisfaction." For sale by all reliable Drug Stores. J. R. Tully, Agent for Peterborough.

ASHBURNHAM FLASHES.

I would like to call the attention of the gas men to the condition of the gas in the village. The churches were left almost in total darkness last Sunday evening, while the gas on the streets went out entirely.

Rumour has it that electric light is to be extended to the village. If the gas won't burn we must have it.

Would it not be well for Constable Craig to look after those street loafers (who call themselves young men) who assemble almost nightly at the corner of one of our principal streets for the purpose of insulting ladies as they pass by, using profane language and throwing burnt cigars at them.

An iron bridge is now in course of construction nearly opposite Rogers' mill, by the Central Bridge Works, of Peterborough.

An effort is being made to have some change made in Stewart street, and a petition to that effect is being now circulated throughout the village.

Councillor Mills, who has been seriously ill for some weeks, is now getting better. We hope soon to see him around.

At the Council meeting on Monday night business seemed to be very dull. The officers will be appointed at the next meeting. The advisability of having two assessors, men who will act impartially, has been suggested.

Mrs. Stuart Wright died on Tuesday after a lingering illness. The deceased lady was one of the oldest inhabitants of Ashburnham.

STRAGGLER.

Baseball. Messrs. Selby & Co., of Toronto, who have been lately appointed the Canadian Agents of Spaulding, the great baseball supply men, propose to adopt a scheme to boom the three big game next season. They propose to give two trophies, to be competed for in eastern and western Ontario. They are desirous of having ten clubs enter the competition in each district, each club to play two matches with the remaining nine making in all eighteen matches that each club entering will be called on to play. Already seven or eight clubs in this district have enlisted in the competition. The Peterborough club has not discussed the matter as yet.

Baroness Howe's Concert. The following extract shows that the coming concert advertised in our columns is likely to prove a pleasing novelty:—

"There was an amazing novelty and originality in the way of a musical performance, not more recently at the concert which was given to St. James' Hall, London, Eng., and by the arrangement of Lady Howe, for the benefit of the Children's Hospital in Great Ormond street. It was Rosenberg's 'Trio Hymphony,' executed by some of our most accomplished musicians with the simplest instruments, different kinds of pipes and whistles being used to imitate the voices of birds, rather as a musical joke than as an exhibition of fine art." Mr. Julius Harned, Mr. Kirk, Mr. Carl Rosa and Harned were among the distinguished performers on these novel instruments, "very much to the amusement of a crowded and fashionable audience, among whom were the Prince and Princess of Wales."

Hazel Bras Home Concert. A concert will be given in the interests of the Hazel Bras Home in the school room of St. Paul's Church, on Thursday evening, Feb. 4th. Most of the pieces will be rendered by the children in residence at the Home. All interested in the teaching of singing should attend.

PROGRAMME. Instrumental. Quadrilles, introducing a number of nursery rhymes. Farmer's Duet (descriptive) and choros. (P. H. H.) The Boy and the Bird. (F. G. H.) Solo. Miss Harned. Poor Tom Tom, temperance song, with whistling chorus. Foxwell. Crying Song. Taylor. Toy Symphony, arranged for Flute, first and second violin, and six toy instruments. (Haydn.) The Three Little Pigs. A Beautifully Crime. WARREN, Ind., Jan. 27.—Yesterday morning Jacob Lutzschier and his wife went to spend the day with a neighbor, leaving a pile of sausage on the kitchen table. Early in the evening they returned, and Mrs. Lutzschier noticed a portion of the meat for supper. After eating the husband

MR. BLAKE'S PRACTICE.

In his unscrupulous attacks upon the constitution of Canada, now that he is no longer entrusted by the people with the powers given to the Administration, Mr. Blake in his London speech pretended that the veto power should only be exercised when Provincial legislation is ultra vires, and that Acts of the Provincial should not be disallowed because the Ottawa authorities objected to them.

He acted on no such principle when in power, as may be learned from the official records.

In a report by him on a Quebec Act signed by him as Minister of Justice in October 1876, 1876, he objects to the taxation of life insurance companies on premiums for renewals, and says: "This seems objectionable in principle, and calculated to produce a feeling of insecurity abroad with reference to Provincial legislation."

In a report on a Nova Scotia Act, signed by Mr. Blake as Minister of Justice, on November 13th, 1876, he objects to a provision for punishing members for refusing to obey a rule, etc. of either House of the Local Legislature, and says: "It seems obvious that its application to the subject in general would be to put the subject at the mercy of either House, no matter what might be the nature of the rule, order or resolution which it passed."

He also objects to the clause of the same act giving the force of law to the rules of either House till amended, and says:—

"These provisions give, in the opinion of the undersigned, objectionable powers to each House, and he recommends that the attention of the Lieutenant Governor should be called to them, with a view to their being repealed before the time within which the question of disallowance may be determined."

In a report signed by Mr. Blake as Minister of Justice, on Jan. 19th, 1876, on Manitoba legislation he objects to the "Act respecting Land Surveys," and says:—

"The undersigned has caused communication to be had with the Minister of the Interior, who expresses his opinion that the Bill is at present premature and unnecessary. Under the circumstances appearing in the despatch and other papers heretofore referred to, the undersigned recommends that the Governor General's assent be not given to the bill in question."

In a report signed by Mr. Blake as Minister of Justice on Oct. 7, 1876, on a Manitoba Act as to Half-breed land grants, he quotes the Minister of the Interior as follows:—

"Under the circumstances the undersigned recommends that the Act be disallowed, especially as in his opinion the original Act, 37 Vic. chap. 44 alluded to, afforded all necessary protection to the purchasers of Half-breed land rights."

Mr. Blake continues for himself:—

"Under the circumstances stated in this report, the undersigned concurs in the recommendation of the Minister of the Interior, that the Act should be disallowed."

In a report on Quebec Statutes signed by Mr. Blake, as Minister of Justice, on Oct. 7, 1876, he objects to a provision giving a village municipal band power to punish members for retaining instruments, and says:—

"It seems extremely inconvenient to confer upon such a corporation as this the power of passing a by-law under which the subject may be imprisoned for a period of thirty days, and a power if delegated at all, should, it would seem, be delegated only to municipal bodies. The undersigned submits that the attention of the Lieutenant Governor should be called to this act with a view to its amendment before the time arrives within which it can be disallowed."

It will thus be seen that when the power was in his own hands he by no means limited his interference with Provincial Legislature to cases of their legislation being ultra vires. He did not hesitate, as Minister of Justice, to practice such interference because he thought measures were "objectionable in principle," were "calculated to produce a feeling of insecurity abroad," or to "put the subject at the mercy" of Provincial Legislatures, would give "objectionable powers" to Local Legislatures, were "premature and unnecessary," were "extremely inconvenient," or amended an act "which afforded all necessary protection."

Not was this view of the question confined to Mr. Blake. The other Reform Ministers of Justice adopted a similar course. For instance, in a report signed on Dec. 23, 1874, on the Prince Edward Island "Land Purchase Act," by Mr. Fournier, as Minister of Justice, he says:—

"The allegations in these petitions are very forcibly urged and represent features which cannot be regarded as contrary to the principles of legislation in respect to private rights and property. The undersigned is of opinion that the Act is objectionable in that it does not provide for an impartial arbitration, in which the proprietors would have a representation, for arriving at a decision on the nature of the rights and the value of the property involved, and also for securing a speedy determination and settlement of the matters in dispute. Under all the circumstances of the case, the undersigned has the honor to recommend that the Bill as reserved, entitled 'The Land Purchase Act, 1874' do not receive the assent of your Excellency in Council."

In a report signed on July 17th, 1876, by Mr. Scott, as Acting Minister of Justice, as to a subsequent Prince Edward Island Land Act, he says:—

"He is of opinion that the reserved bill is RETROACTIVE in its effect; that it DEALS WITH RIGHTS OF PARTIES NOW IN LITIGATION under the Act which is proposed to amend, of which may yet fairly form the subject of litigation, and that there is an abuse of any provision which the rights and proceedings of persons whose property have been dealt with under the Act of 1875. He therefore recommends that the Bill entitled 'An Act to amend the Land Purchase Act, 1875' do not receive the assent of the Governor-General in Council."

Here the interference was based on other causes than the measure being ultra vires, yet Mr. Blake has never blamed these colleagues of his, though he dishonestly pretends to believe that similar action by his political opponents is an unpardonable outrage.

THE DAILY EVENING REVIEW is delivered to subscribers at ten cents a week.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

OF GREAT VALUE.

If Sir John Macdonald's visit to England has furthered in any degree the establishment of a line of steamships from the far end of the Canadian Pacific railway to Hong Kong, the visit has been of very great value to Canada. The establishment of such a line will make Canada the through route from Great Britain to Australia for military and naval purposes, and probably for business purposes as well, and it will make this a more better known and better appreciated in England.—Montreal Star (Indep.).

HIS OWN LAW.

And of all things in the world, he (Mr. Blake) blameth the government because the felon was tried under the law which he himself as Minister of Justice prepared, and which the government of which he was a member placed upon the statute book.—Hamilton Sp. Clar.

THE N. P.

The Detroit Free Press reports the establishment in Windsor, by a company of Detroit capitalists, with a capital of $100,000, of a factory for the manufacture of paper, ink, etc. Were it not for the N. P. these things could be manufactured in Detroit for the Canadian market just as profitably as in Windsor. No wonder, then, that the people of Detroit regard the N. P. with disgust.—Toronto World (Indep.).

THE DUTY OF CANADIANS.

It remains now to be seen how far Mr. Blake is supported in these concessions by the party of which he is said to be the leader. If he speaks for the Opposition members of the House of Commons the issue before the people is a simple and plain one. There is but one course before every friend of law, equality, and fair government. The loyal English-speaking and loyal French-speaking people of both political parties, who were ready to put down armed rebellion by the sword will not hesitate to go to the polls to support the Government in their action in regard to the execution of Riel.—St. John Sun.

FUNNY.

It is rather funny that while our American friends are abusing Canada as the place of refuge for criminals for American escape, they will not admit in the face of the clearest evidence, that they have any Canadian scamps amongst themselves. Mr. F. H. Giff is receiving wide-spread sympathy across the line on account of the persecution from which he is supposed to be suffering unjustly at the hands of alleged political enemies here. Canucks may shelter Yankee scamps, but they don't put them on the back too.—Montreal Star.

TIT FOR TAT.

Hon. Edward Blake is promised to us for early next month. How would it do for our Conservative friends here to invite a visit of the Cabinet ministers to attend any meeting he may hold and talk against him? It is true that Mr. Blake is not coming into his own constituency to address his own electors upon matters of importance between him and them, but although all this, if it were the case, would doubly justify packing his meeting with Tories, still it may be worth while packing the meeting away. It would be gentlemanly if Mr. Chapman went to St. Jerome.—Montreal Star (Indep.).

MR. BLAKE'S "GREAT SPEECH."

A kind friend has favoured the Spectator with a copy of an ornate and fine portrait of Mr. Blake, and purporting to contain "extracts from Hon. Edward Blake's great speech." A brief examination shows that the extracts are now from the "great speech" delivered in London, but from the speech delivered in the House of Commons on the 15th of April, 1880. The fly sheet is compiled, printed and circulated by officials of the Atlantic, Toronto and St. Lawrence Railway Company, and the extracts are copied to prove to the audience of Mr. Blake that Kansas is a much more desirable field for immigrants than Canada. No doubt Mr. Blake and his friends are proud of the fact that his speeches are printed in many languages and circulated in every country of Europe to prove that Canada is a much less desirable, less prosperous and less progressive country than Kansas.—Hamilton Spectator.

OTONABEE.

TOWNSHIP COUNCIL.—The Council met on Monday, 18th Jan. All the members present. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. The following township officers were appointed for the current year, viz:—Messrs. J. M. D. Hammond and D. P. McFarlane auditors, John Duff assessor, William D. Hammond collector, George Reed clerk and treasurer. The treasurer was directed to pay the following sums, viz:—To John Bell, for 20 rods wire fence on road opposite his place, $8 00; To John Bell, for 20 rods wire fence on road opposite his place, 4 00; To Joseph Redmond, for 20 rods wire fence on road opposite his place, 24 00; To John Bell, for 20 rods wire fence on road opposite his place, 7 00; To John Bell, for 20 rods wire fence on road opposite his place, 4 00; To D. P. McFarlane, for 20 rods wire fence on road opposite his place, 2 20; To George Taylor, for 20 rods wire fence on road opposite his place, 3 12.

The application of Mr. Kacey for payment of his account for survey of drain on land of Mr. Mills and others was declined at present. Messrs. Price and Hunter presented a petition signed by sixteen ratepayers of school section No. 12, praying that a new school section be formed, to consist of the old school section No. 17. The clerk was directed to notify the trustees of their meeting to pass a by-law to divide said section as petitioned for. The Council adjourned until 15th February next.

SPRINGVILLE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

ON A VISIT.—Mr. James Haple has been absent on a visit to Ottawa. It is to be hoped that Jim will not turn Tory.

STILL SUFFERING.—Mr. R. H. McCall, who has been suffering from that dreaded disease, cancer, still continues in the same condition. The sympathy of the entire community is enlisted in his behalf.

A LOSS.—On Monday morning Mr. Jas. Clarke, of Cavan, met with a loss. He had sold a lot of fine black cattle to Messrs. Howden, and was delivering them, when, on a fine animal, took suddenly sick and dropped in the snow, never to rise.

CONCERT.—A concert in aid of the Town Hall Sunday School is to be held in the Town Hall, N. 10th Moogan, on Thursday, Feb. 11th. A large amount of gifted talent has been secured, and a good concert is expected.

CAVAN.

ORIT.—The sad death of Miss C. Fair, daughter of Mr. James Fair, of Cavan, has caused a feeling of sorrow throughout the Township. The deceased acted as bridesmaid at the marriage of her sister to Mr. John McNeil on the 16th inst. A few days after she was stricken down with congestion of the bowels, which after a brief illness terminated fatally. The deceased was very highly respected by a large circle of relatives and friends, who will greatly miss her.—Peter Hope Times.

CABLE NEWS.

"Cable."

The oldest and most reliable brand of cigars in the market. Free from all chemicals and artificial flavorings.

"El Padre" Cigars.

Universally acknowledged to be the finest 10c. cigar manufactured. Don't be persuaded to take other brands. No chemicals or artificial flavorings used.

S. Davis & Sons have moved into their new mammoth factory, the finest of its kind in America. They are the only cigar manufacturers in Canada who manufacture their own cigar boxes and packing cases, which industry gives employment to sixty hands.

Smokers!

Beware of cigars artificially flavored for the purpose of hiding the poor quality of tobacco used in flavored cigars. Insist upon having the old reliable brands—"Cable" and "El Padre."

A trial will convince the most skeptical that S. Davis & Sons' manufacture of cigars are superior in every respect to any in Canada.

Prize medals against the world were awarded to S. Davis & Sons, of Montreal, for their manufacture of cigars, at Paris, 1887, Centennial, 1876, Montreal, 1883-84.

Colorado Snow Slides.

GEMMILL, C. H., Jan. 26.—A snow slide yesterday carried away the cabin of the Excelsior mine, located in Poverty Gulch, three miners being killed. A second slide carried away a cabin at Crystal Basin, occupied by Robt. Corry and Henry Collins. Both were killed. Great anxiety is felt for other mining camps.

Engine Works.

KINGSTON, Jan. 26.—The Canadian engine and locomotive works, which has orders for engines for the Canadian Pacific Railway, will begin work in a few days, thus giving employment to many workmen.

TAKING STOCK!

No duty devolving upon the business man is so important as that of "Taking Stock." Books have been called the merchant's repeating clock, to tell him how he goes. By taking stock and a comparison with his books, the trader is enabled to arrive at a reasonable computation of the business done during the year, and to tell whether the balance on the page of his ledger shall be for or against him. It is not only the recognized duty of the active business man to "take stock" of his goods, his trade, his custom, but of his competitors. The universal application of the rule is shown in the particularity with which young ladies "take stock" of prospective matrimonial chances. In short, tradition, business, usage, custom, convenience and other good and sufficient reasons, all corroborate the advisability of taking stock. We are just now taking stock and will clear out any winter goods left over at cost.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 28, 1886.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

A Fine Entertainment.
Don't forget that Prof. D. W. Lawson, of Glasgow, will give one of his grand Shakespearean and humorous entertainments in the Y.M.C.A. Hall on Friday evening, Jan. 29th. Admission 25 cents.

The Public Buildings.
An Ottawa despatch to the Montreal Star says, we know not on what authority that it is understood that John Aikwith, of New Edinburgh, will be awarded the contract for the erection of a new custom house and new post office in Peterborough.

Amateur Entertainment.
Will be held tomorrow evening at the Church, Auburn. Programme—Ventriloquism by Mr. W. Higgins, five scenes dialogue Corderella, landlady's performance by the children, singing, etc., to be sure and come. 15 cents.

The Salvation Army.
There has been a change in the officers of the Salvation Army at this station. Captain Smith from Toronto, is now in charge, with a Cadet from the same city as assistant. One of the officers formerly here has gone to Trenton and the other to Lindsay.

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours commencing from 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Moderate to fresh winds, mostly north-east and north, cloudy to fair weather, stationary or higher temperatures.

Wanted Out.
The cow that was unfortunate enough to venture on Tuesday afternoon farther than was safe along the ice on the Otonabee river, just below the old Midland Railway bridge, was hauled out yesterday. A boat was propelled through the anchor ice up to where the drowned animal lay. A rope was attached to the carcass and by means of horse power on the shore the dead animal was pulled in. As was surmised, it was found to be the remains of Mr. Richard Hall's valuable Durham grade animal.

At Home.
An "at home" was given on Wednesday evening by the R.V. W. O. Bradshaw to the members of St. Luke's Church congregation. There were a large number present in the school building of the church and there the evening was spent most pleasantly. Music both vocal and instrumental, was presented by several members of the congregation. At the close of the meeting Mr. Bradshaw addressed a few words to those present, hoping that this would not be the last evening they would spend together.

The Army Disturbed.
A man who attended the Salvation Army meeting in the barracks on Wednesday evening made himself obnoxious to the officers by talking and disturbing the assembly. He was invited to go outside by an officer, but he declined the invitation and not to be outside in politeness, invited the officer to "take a round" out of him. Similar compliments and interchanges of politeness took place, with the result that the man remained in the barracks until he was ready to go out of his own accord, and the officer via of the Police Court this morning to invoke the majesty of the law.

Throat and Lung Diseases.
Dr. Washington, eminent throat and lung surgeon, will visit this town from Jan. 29th to Feb. 3rd inclusive. The doctor, from his extensive experience of a great many years as a throat and lung specialist, has accomplished (as the testimonials which he produces show), a wonderful revolution in the scientific treatment of all diseases of the "air passages." A cordial invitation is extended to all who have previously taken treatment from him while on the staff of the International Throat and Lung Institute, as a special inducement will be held out to all such. The doctor extended practices in Halifax, N.S., Boston, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island, &c., show the unparalleled merits of his treatment. With new instruments, and an eye for eye in the medicine used, he is prepared to grapple with almost any case of catarrh, catarrhal deafness, chronic bronchitis, loss of voice, enlarged tonsils, polypus of the nose, asthma, consumption, &c., &c. Come early. Consultation free to all. See advertisement.

THE COUNTY COUNCIL.

SOUTH MONAGHAN DESIRES TO BECOME A PART OF THE COUNTY.

A Deputation from South Monaghan Waits on the Council—The Scott Act Enforcement—Barkers and Peddlars.
WEDNESDAY.

The Council went into session at 2 o'clock p.m. The first business taken up was the reception of a deputation from the township of South Monaghan composed of Messrs. T. M. Willan, W. Emberson, W. Smithson, Wm. McAllister, Robt. Nurse, Asa Barnard, Martin Parker and Wm. Robertson.

Several members of the deputation addressed the Council on the matter of the admission of their township into the county of Peterborough. They were not particular about having their school system altered in any way, but were, so far as they were concerned, willing to come into the county for all other purposes, on condition that the county would promise to build a bridge at Roset. Members of the deputation expressed their satisfaction at being admitted on the same standing as North Monaghan now is, in regard to equalization of assessment, viz., $32 per acre. They asked the Council to state upon what terms they would receive the township, so that they could go back to the township, call a meeting and fully discuss the matter.

Mr. LANG moved, seconded by Mr. SANDERSON, that the municipality of South Monaghan be taken into the County of Peterborough on the same basis of equalization as North Monaghan now is placed, and that the Council pledge themselves to build a second bridge across the River Otonabee to accommodate the ratepayers of South Monaghan in reasonable time, on condition that the Town of Peterborough pay one-third of the cost of the construction of the said bridge.—Carried.

The deputation thanked the Council a vote of thanks for the courteous manner in which they were received and then withdrew.

THE ENFORCEMENT OF THE SCOTT ACT.

Mr. STEPHENSON moved, seconded by Mr. BARNES, that whereas the Scott Act has been adopted by the ratepayers of the county by a large majority, and whereas it will cause inconvenience on the first day of May next and whereas it is advisable that the said act should be strictly and stringently enforced in order to carry out the wishes of the ratepayers; therefore, it is resolved that this Council do request the Ontario Government to appoint a Police Magistrate for the county and that this Council do appropriate a sufficient sum of money to pay the expenses of such officer or officers, person or persons for enforcing or assisting to enforce the Scott Act and for the payment of any costs or expenses incurred in or about enforcing or attempting to enforce the same.

POLICE COURT.

PAST DRIVING.

THURSDAY, Jan. 28.—C. A. McMurtry was charged by P. C. McGinity with having driven a horse on Jan. 26th at an immoderate rate on the public streets. He pleaded guilty. Officer McGinity related the circumstances.

The Magistrate said it was pleasant to speed a horse, but that a public street was not the place for it. There were always people on the streets, and it was dangerous. The practice must be stopped. He imposed a fine of $5.

Geo. Lipsett was also charged with the same offence. He did not appear. A fine of $5 was entered.

INJURING AN ORNAMENTAL TREE.

E. C. Hill was charged by P. C. Fidgeon with having injured a shade tree in the Central Park by driving a spike into it. The spike was put in to hold up a bill board.

Mr. Hill pleaded not guilty. He said there were several spikes in the tree before he put up the board, and he did not think he did the tree any harm. If he had known that the board being put up there would have given offence to people living near the Park he would not have placed it there, and he had now removed it.

The evidence of Officer Fidgeon was taken. The Magistrate said that he would make the fine just enough to cover the cost, namely two dollars.

REVIEWS.

HARPER'S MONTHLY.—The February number of Harper has for its frontispiece a beautiful engraving from a spirited drawing by J. G. Davidson of "The Battle of Trafalgar." This is immediately followed by an interesting paper by Sir Edward Reed on "The British Navy." J. L. Allen takes us in the spirit to Kentucky in his graphic account of "The Blue Grass Region"; and H. Dange to Florida in his pleasant description of "Mr. Wegg's Party on the Kissimmee." "Living Ball" by Olive T. Miller, is one of those charming papers on natural history that have become one of the features of Harper. Mr. C. H. Ham contributes a valuable paper on "Manual Training," while C. D. Warner discusses ably on "Education as a factor in prison reform." Mr. Benjamin, formerly minister to Persia, describes "The Tashir, or Pashir-Ply," of that country. We have a further instalment of G. Hamilton's "She Sings to Conquer," an admirably illustrated by Abbey. Appended is a graceful song written by Goldsmith for the first "Miss Harcourt," but not given in other editions of the play. Mr. Howell's novel, "Indian Summer," is brought to a satisfactory conclusion, and Miss Woolson's "East Angels," grows in interest as it advances. The short stories and poetry are of the high standard we have learned to expect in this magazine. The editorial miscellanies complete an excellent number. As to the engravings, they are as profuse as ever, and in the highest style of the art.

Asthma Cured.

Yarmouth, N. S., June 13th, 1884.

Dear Sir,—I am perfectly satisfied that there is no treatment equal to the spirometer and the medicine used by your Institute for Asthma. It has not only given me immediate relief, but I am now entirely free from the disease.

Yours truly,
MRS. R. TITUS.

Consumption Cured.
Cornwall, Ont., April 2d.

Dr. Washington: I am happy to say your treatment has entirely cured me. My case was considered hopeless, and I did not expect to recover. I had had several attacks of haemoptoe at the lungs, night sweats, cough, raising large quantities of matter, gave up all hope of ever getting well, but I am thankful to you for the restoration of health for your timely treatment, which saved my life. All who are thus afflicted should apply before it is too late.

Yours truly,
MR. GEO. ARMSTRONG.

Chronic Bronchitis Cured.
AN EMBLEM CHURCH CHRISTIAN SPIRITS, Rectory, Cornwall Ont.

Dr. Washington: I am glad to be able to inform you that my daughter is quite well again. As this is the second time she has been cured of grave bronchial troubles under your treatment, when the usual remedies failed, I write to express my gratitude. Please accept my sincere thanks.

Yours truly,
C. P. PETIT.

Growth Removed From the Nose.
South Barre, Rutland, Vt., Oct. 20th, 1885.

Dr. Washington: I have been afflicted with catarrh for 25 years, and after trying every available remedy, without effect, took the spirometer, which, while the medicine used, entirely cured me.

WESLEY BULLEN.

ANOTHER REMARKABLE TESTIMONIAL.
Consumption Cured in the Last Stage.

Captain William Walker, No. 37 Oranville St., Halifax, N. S.

N. Washington, M.D. Throat and Lung Specialist, Toronto.

Dear Sir,—When you visited me in the latter part of January of this year, I had been given up to die of consumption by a consultation of Physicians, who considered that my recovery was simply impossible. I had no hope myself, nor had my family. When you expressed a hope of my recovery it was received with doubt. Considered to my bad, very low, weight, and night sweats, very bad, trouble some cough, failing large quantities of matter, in fact every appearance of a speedy death. After using your R. S. spirometer and your medicine I began to recover very fast, so much so that during the hard winter months I have gained from 20 to 25 lbs., and was able to walk out on Easter Sunday. My strength is daily increasing, and I shall be able soon to be at work. To you I owe a deep sense of gratitude, and am anxious for others who are suffering as I was to consult you. You can make what use of this letter you see fit, and thanking you for what I consider a most wonderful treatment.

I remain, yours truly,
CAPT. WM. WALKER.

Bronchial Consumption Cured.
Brockville, O. S., 1886.

Dr. Washington: I took treatment in March last for my chronic and severe throat. I had under the doctor's care for six or seven weeks and was getting much worse all the time. In two weeks after I began your treatment I was quite well.

Yours respectfully,
ALBERT LA HAPPELLE.

TAKING STOCK!

No duty devolving upon the business man is so important as that of "Taking Stock." Books have been called the merchant's repeating clock, to tell him how he goes. By taking stock and a comparison with his books, the trader is enabled to arrive at a reasonable computation of the business done during the year, and to tell whether the balance on the page, or his ledger shall be for or against him. It is not only the recognized duty of the active business man to "take stock" of his goods, his trade, his custom, but of his competitors. The universal application of the rule is shown in the particularity with which young ladies "take stock" of prospective matrimonial chances. In short, tradition, business, usage, custom, convenience and other good and sufficient reasons, all corroborate the advisability of taking stock. We are just now taking stock and will clear out any winter goods left over at cost.

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, JANUARY 29, 1886.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE

The Scotch Bazaar To-night at the Y.M.C.A. Hall; 8 o'clock.

The Band will be at the rink to-night.

Tickets for the skating rink will now be issued at half rates.

The Property Committee inspected the new Town Council Chamber, Police Court, Look up, etc., and arranged to have the departments finished.

There will be a concert at the Baptist Church, Murray street, on Friday at 8 o'clock, given by the Young People's Association. A good programme has been arranged. All are invited.

Will be held at the Church, Auburn. Program: Magic lanterns, with views of the cities of the world, Rome etc., ventriloquism by Mr. W. D. Duff, some dialogue and songs, performance by a child, etc., singing, etc., to be sure and come. 15 cents.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours commencing from 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Cloudy weather with local showers of sleet and snow, followed by north-west to west winds and partially clearing weather, slightly lower temperature.

Among the private bills to be introduced during the present session of Ontario Legislature are a bill to incorporate the Trustees of the Nicholas Hospital in Peterborough, a bill to enable the town of Peterborough to enter into contracts for a supply of water, gas, or electric light, and a bill to confirm an agreement relating to the agreement of the Canadian Land and Emigration Company's property in Dysart.

The large sales of household furniture, stock and implements, belonging to the estate of the late James Campbell, were held on Tuesday and Wednesday at "Waterfield." The sales were both very successful, good prices having been realized. The stock, which was of the prime kind, nearly all thoroughlybred, brought high prices. Mr. Charles Stapleton conducted the sales in his usual interesting and successful way.

What might have been a very serious accident occurred on Thursday afternoon on Rutherford street. A man that had just unloaded a load of wood was driving out of a yard, and a number of children thought it a good opportunity to have a ride. One of them, Herbert McEla, son of Mr. J. J. McEla, grain merchant, was run over by the sleigh. Dr. Halliday and Dr. King were telephoned for, and they found that the child was suffering from some severe bruising.

A highly enjoyable time was spent by the Sabbath School pupils in St. Paul's Church, 8 South School room on Thursday evening. At between 6 and 7 o'clock tea was served to the throng of little ones, together with a fair representation of the parents. At ten and after it, the children indulged in their merry chatter and playfully noisy prattle till the magic lanterns were introduced, and then for a spell all were as still as mice. Several little girls played on the organ and sang, and the evening enjoyment closed.

ROBOLINE has no equal as a remedy for Chapped Hands, roughness of the skin, etc. From J. R. McCreagh, druggist.

To Protect the Army
The Mayor believes that the Salvation Army is entitled to protection, and should not be disturbed. Accordingly he has instructed the police to visit the barracks every evening. Those who have been in the habit of disturbing the army meetings will hereafter find it a dangerous pastime. At the same time, it is right to say that the army has not had a great deal of trouble in Peterborough and that no very serious disturbances have taken place at the barracks, any trouble that has arisen has usually been caused by young men who wished to talk, and loudly, too, sometimes, without speaking from the platform.

Anti-Sawdust Association
The meeting of the Anti-Sawdust Association held on Wednesday was largely attended, and it was determined to put forth every possible effort to protect the river from sawdust. The chief subject of discussion was the action of the mill owners in applying to the Government for the passage of an Order-in-Council to prevent the prosecution for putting sawdust in the river under either the Fisheries Act or the Act for the Better Protection of Navigable Rivers and Streams. Committees were appointed to obtain signatures to petitions to the Governor. General not to grant the application of the mill owners, and a delegation consisting of Messrs. John Burnham, M.P., R. C. Rogers and E. E. Edwards was appointed to proceed to Ottawa and interview the Minister of Marine and Fisheries on the subject.

Hazel Brice Home Concert
A concert will be given in the interests of the Hazel Brice Home in the school room of St. Paul's Church, on Thursday evening, Feb. 4th. Most of the pieces will be rendered by the children in residence at the Home. All interested in the teaching of singing should attend.

PROGRAMME.
Instrumental.
Singing Quadrilles, introducing a number of nursery rhymes.
Beautiful Rain (descriptive) duet and chorus.
The Boy and the Bird.
Solo.
Mus. Movens.
Poor Tom Tump, temperance song, with whistling chorus.
Crying Song.
Toy Symphony, arranged for Piano, first and second violin, and six, toy instruments.
The Three Little Pigs.
Vocal duet.
The Wandering Jew.
The Cat and Her Kittens.
Who Killed Cook Robin? ballad dialogue.
Some Again Returning.
Evening Prayer.
National Anthem.

Free and Come.
The sawdust question received full ventilation at the hands of a deputation from the Anti-sawdust Association and a deputation from the mill owners, both of whom addressed the Committee on Petitions at the County Council Chamber this forenoon. Messrs. E. B. Edwards, J. E. Rogers and E. A. Peck were the deputation for the Anti-sawdust Association and Messrs. T. G. Haslett, Geo. Hilliard, Jas. Irwin and Geo. A. Cox composed the deputation from the mill owners. The question from a medical point of view was discussed by Dr. Bell and Dr. Kincaid. Dr. Bell laid down the following syllogism for the consideration of the Committee:—The emanations from decaying vegetable matter are injurious to the health, producing malarial fever; the sawdust in the Little Lake is decaying vegetable matter and gives off foul and injurious emanations; therefore the presence of the sawdust in the Little Lake is injurious to the public health. Dr. Kincaid had not been able to trace any case of typhoid fever to the effects of the sawdust in the Little Lake. He considered that the filthy habits of the people brought on more disease than was attributed to the effects of the sawdust.

Congregational Meeting
The annual meeting of the St. Paul's Church congregation was held on Wednesday evening. From six until seven o'clock tea was served in the Sabbath school room by the ladies. At shortly after seven o'clock the business of the evening was commenced. On the meeting being called to order the Rev. Mr. Torrance made a short prayer. The chairman, Mr. Jas. A. Hall, on behalf of the session, said that it was not his intention to submit a formal report this year. In its behalf he would simply make a few remarks. The session was gratified to find that the membership of the church was steadily increasing, and very largely so. It was also pleased to find by the financial statement that the ordinary revenue of the church was considerably in advance of the ordinary expenditure. It was encouraging also to note that the attendance at the ordinary Sabbath services was much larger than it had been for years. He hoped that the membership would still increase and especially would be desirous to see more young men identify themselves with the church. He urged the congregation to contribute more liberally towards the mission funds. The reports of the Deacons' Court, the Treasurer's report, the report of the Treasurer of the Missionary Funds, the Women's Foreign Mission Society's report, the Ladies' Aid Society's report, the Sunday School report, and the Building Committee's report were all read and adopted without amendment. The ordinary revenue of the church last year was $6,087.19. The amount raised for missionary purposes was $1,344.68, made up as follows:—Missionary church collections, $625.75; Sunday school contributions for missionary purposes, $346.54; St. Paul's Auxiliary of the Women's Foreign Mission Society, $372.39; Mission Band $109.10. The session thanked the Ladies' Aid Society for not only the munificent gift of the lamp-organ in the church, but for a handsome cabinet organ for the Sabbath school room. The Ladies' Aid Society thanked the session for having fitted up their parlour so comfortably; a vote of thanks was passed to the Town Council for having allowed the use of the Council Chamber last spring for a Bible class room on Sabbath, and all were well pleased with the result of the meeting.

Halfbred Land Claims.
WINNIPEG, Man., Jan. 28.—Mr. Smith, land commissioner, who has returned from Ottawa, announces the terms on which the Government will advance and what by the Prince Albert settlers. He also says Mr. Goulet will continue the work of settling the halfbred land claims until all are disposed of.

Rev. J. G. Fells, D.D., certifies: "For some years my wife has been troubled with dyspepsia, and has tried one thing after another recommended with but little or no effect till advised to give McGregor's Healthy Cure a trial. Since taking the first bottle I have noticed a decided improvement, and can with confidence recommend it to be one of, if not the best medicine extant for Dyspepsia. This invaluable medicine for Liver complaint, indigestion, kidney complaint, is purely vegetable, sold at John McKee's Drug Store. Trial bottles given free."

JAMES ALEXANDER.
Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, JANUARY 30, 1886.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Y.M.C.A. Meetings.
The meetings in the Y.M.C.A. Rooms will take place as usual to-night and to-morrow. Young men are invited.

Prof. B. G. Lawson.
The Young Men's Christian Association regret that Mr. Lawson was not in a fit state to fulfil his engagement last evening. They will willingly refund the price paid for tickets to any who hold them.

An Error.
In Mr. Hilliard's address before the County Council he is made, in the Review's report, to say that the Bowling Club was a "charity" club. What Mr. Hilliard said "a bowling club—a 'sporting' club."

An Unusual Sight.
On Friday Mr. T. C. Crowley saw a robin about seven miles from town, in Ontario. A robin at this time of the year is an unusual sight, and perhaps some weather prophet may be able to work out a theory from it.

Transit Valley Canal.
The Council of the County of Hastings has appointed Messrs. Bleeker, Duncan, Cameron and the Warden (Mr. Kavanagh) to be a delegation to the convention to be held in Peterborough on Feb. 10th, regarding the Transit Valley Canal.

The Smallpox at Pontypool.
We learn on good authority from a visitor to Pontypool, that the ten persons who were afflicted with smallpox had so far recovered that it was proposed to release them from quarantine to-day. There has been only one death, before reported, and no cases have appeared lately.

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Moderate to fresh northwest to west winds; cloudy to partly cloudy weather, with light snow in some localities; not much change in temperature.

No Grant.
At the closing session of the County Council held this forenoon, that part of the Finance Committee report recommending that no grant be given to either the Peterborough Collegiate Institute or the Norwood High School was not amended. These two educational institutions will, therefore, receive no special assistance from the County.

The Brown Memorial.
A meeting of the Brown Memorial Committee will be held at the office of the secretary, Mr. Sowers, to finally decide on the form of the memorial, on Monday at 3 p.m. We learn that it is likely to take the form of a drinking fountain for one of the parks and that the Town Council will be asked to place the same. This, we think, will certainly be both useful and ornamental, and will well serve the purpose of doing honor to the memory of the late Capt. Brown.

It May be Remembered.
—That it looks as if J. J. McCrea, the druggist, is trying to delude the people into believing that summer has come round again.
—That the window of his drug store is transformed into a flower garden.

—That the illustrious Smith, of the Bobsy-goon Independent, has been following the example of Messrs. Pice and Jellota.
—That he has actually passed through the ordeal of shooting down a toboggan slide.

—That the great Lawson didn't put in an appearance at the Y.M.C.A. Rooms last night.

Revival Services.
The Methodist Church, Ashburham, is now in the midst of a great revival. The pastor, Rev. F. Macdonald, R. A., has organized a "Gospel Band" to help in the service. Never was the church so aroused. Already a great number have presented themselves as members of salvation. Every night the meetings are full of interest and bids fair to be far-reaching in its influence. "Gospel Band" prayer meeting to-morrow (Sabbath) at 10 a.m. Services as usual. Meetings every night next week at 7.30. All Christian workers invited.

ROSOLINE has no equal as a remedy for Chapped Hands, roughness of the skin, etc. From J. R. McCrea, druggist.

Poultry.
The Lindsay Post says:—"Messrs. Trew and J. Cooper are awaiting the decision of the Peterborough Poultry Association as to the date of their proposed exhibition, and say that they will both make large exhibits."

Conditional.
The grant by the County Council of $600 to the West Peterborough Agricultural Society this year is given conditionally. Before the grant is given the County Council requires the East Riding Association and the West Riding Society to unite.

Harold Home Home Concert.
A concert will be given in the interests of the Harold Home in the school room of St. Paul's Church, on Thursday evening, Feb. 4th. Most of the pieces will be rendered by the children in residence at the Home. All interested in the teaching of singing should attend.

Instrumental.
Singing Quartettes, introducing a number of novelty rhymes. Farmer Beautiful Rain (descriptive) duet and chorus. (P. P. Biles)
The Boy and the Bird. F. Geyer

Miss Stevens.

Personal.
In a recent number of the Ceylon Times we find extracts from the Singapore Straits Times giving information that will be of interest to many of our readers. They describe a banquet given to the Hon. Cecil Clementi-Smith, and a presentation to Mrs. Clementi-Smith, on the occasion of his leaving Singapore on his promotion to the more important colony of Ceylon.

The position of those who thus honored him and their expressions of esteem and regret, show how well and acceptably Mr. Clementi-Smith had performed his official duties during his residence at Singapore, culminating in his being the post of Acting-Governor. Mr. Cecil Clementi-Smith is a nephew of the Rev. V. Clementi, a brother of the former curate of St. John's, and has many other relations in this town and district.

Mr. John W. Moore, ex., of Lakeside, and Mrs. Moore have just returned home from a pleasant tour of ten weeks' duration among their many friends in Toronto and its vicinity. Mr. Wm. Telford returned home on Friday from Toronto, and his many friends will be glad to learn that the operation which he has undergone has restored his sight.

Entertainment at Auburn.
The entertainment given in the hall at Auburn on Friday evening was a decided success. The place was packed to the door, and quite a number were turned away unable to get admission. Mr. Francis Mason acted as chairman. A quartette was sung and a masonic lantern exhibition was given. Mr. D. B. Gardner operating the lantern and giving the usual explanation. The Kindergarten exercises by a company of children, which followed, was well received. Little Jessie Moyer's singing was loudly applauded, she having performed her part in a capital style. Miss Edith Glass' rendition of "Uncle Tom" assisted by Mr. John Spew, was creditable. The ventriloquist performances by Mr. W. Dixon brought forth much laughter. Miss Combs and Miss Swinton gave readings and Mrs. Keary gave a recitation "The Day Before Yesterday." A representation of "Cinderella and the Golden Slipper," was given in five scenes, costumes of an appropriate character being worn by the participants in the various stages of the representation. The singing of the National Anthem then brought the entertainment to a close.

The Churches.
The following is a list of services in the several churches for to-morrow:—
St. Peter's Cathedral.—At St. Peter's Cathedral, Roman Catholic, there will be three masses celebrated, the first at 7 a.m., the second at 8 a.m., and the third at 10.30 a.m. Vespers at 7 p.m.
St. Luke's.—The regular services at St. Luke's Church will be conducted, as follows: Morning Prayer and Holy Communion at 8 a.m.; Litany, and sermon at 11 a.m.; Evensong and common at 7 p.m.

St. John's.—The regular services at St. John's Church of England, Holy Communion at 8.30 a.m.; Morning Prayer, Litany and sermon at 11 a.m. Evening Prayer with sermon at 7 p.m.

St. Paul's.—In the morning at 11 o'clock the Rev. Mr. Terrance will preach the sermon on "Christ, the Light of the World." In the evening at 7 o'clock he will preach on "Patience and the Kingdom."

BAPTIST CHURCH.—The Rev. Mr. Munro will preach in Fenton Falls to-morrow. In his place the Rev. Mr. McGregor of Fenton Falls, will preach the sermon.

METHODIST CHURCH, Charlotte street.—In the morning at 11 o'clock the Rev. F. H. Wallace will occupy the pulpit. In the evening at 7 o'clock the Rev. L. Torrell will conduct the service.

METHODIST CHURCH, George Street.—In the morning at 11 o'clock the Rev. L. Torrell will conduct the service. In the evening at 7 o'clock the Rev. F. H. Wallace will preach the sermon.

METHODIST CHURCH, Mark street, Ashburham.—The usual services, at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m., will be held.

St. Andrew's Church.—The usual services, at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m., will be held.

POLICE COURT.

DUNK AND DISORDERLY.

SATURDAY, Jan. 30.—J. McGowan was charged by P. O. Adams with having been drunk and disorderly. He acknowledged that he was guilty, but, this being his first appearance in the Court, he was allowed to go.

THE ARMY TROUBLE.

Thos. Billings was charged by "Sergeant" James Telford, of the Salvation Army, with having wilfully disturbed a congregation for public worship. Billings denied the charge.

Sergeant Telford testified that Billings was chewing tobacco and that he told him to stop; that Billings would not and became saucy; that he asked Billings to go out, and that he wanted the witness to go out too and fight. Being cross-examined, he said that the audience was not laughing at a man dancing on the platform. Wm. Sloan saw Telford speak to Billings; could see them talking; Billings talked loud enough to draw the attention of the people around him.

ALEX. WOODS, called for the defence, said that at the time Telford spoke to Billings the audience were all laughing, for the Captain had just said that some people were so straight laced that they would not dance, but that if the Lord tickled her toes she would dance. Telford was talking with the witness, and he caused laughter by shaking his fingers at boys who laughed or talked.

Other witnesses also gave evidence, which showed that there was no serious disturbance, at any rate.

The Magistrate said that he was convinced that these were men at the meeting who were not on their good behaviour, but the meeting was so crowded and of such a peculiar character that he would not expect such order as he would in other assemblies. He was not aware that Billings had been guilty of such conduct as would be called a serious disturbance or was covered by the statute. He would suggest to him that the man who treated the Army barracks the same as other places of worship should meet the respect for himself. He would punish severely any one whom the evidence showed had wilfully disturbed a meeting of the Army. He then discharged Billings.

Lost and Found.

To-day Mr. Quirk, of Quirk & Co., cigar makers, went to the Inland Revenue Office and purchased eighteen shillings worth of stamp-revenue stamps—but before he got back to the factory he found he was not in possession of his governmental merchandise. A short time after, however, the little package was handed to him by a person who picked it up on the street.

The Peterborough Lock Factory.
Mr. Thos. Brooks, managing director of the Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Co., has just returned from Montreal, where he has made satisfactory sales to a large amount and has made arrangement with firms of the highest standing to handle the products of the factory. With goods of such excellent design and workmanship as they turn out, there could be no difficulty in putting them upon the market, and Mr. Brooks is thoroughly well qualified to push them.

T. P. A.

The regular monthly entertainment under the auspices of the Young People's Association in connection with the Baptist Church was held at the church on Friday evening. The programme which was presented merited a much larger attendance than was present. Readings were given by Miss Clarke and Miss Grady and Mr. Duff. The vocalists were Messrs. Chambers and Baguley, and those who furnished instrumental music, Mr. Schneider, Mrs. Jackson, Mrs. Duff and her little daughter. The Barnardo Home boys sang several choruses and much amused and delighted the audience by their whistling choruses.

Mark it Down.

A circumstance happened at the Charlotte street rink on Friday evening of a rather singular kind. At number one and number three rinks Messrs. Atwill and B. Ucker and Messrs. Ferguson and Hall, were, with their crack players, striving for a place in the second draw for the club medals. On number two rink Messrs. Budden and Brown, with their rank and file, were quietly playing a scratch match. When the last end was reached the score on all three rinks stood a tie. Messrs. Atwill's and Ferguson's rinks made good their chances for the medals by winning by a solitary shot, while Mr. Brown, more lucky, did up a majority of three.

Cayce on a Toboggan.

In an account of the visit of Bobysygon curriers to Peterborough, the Independent says:—"It was a very cold snap for Cayceon, but under the good natured attention of the Peterborough players the chill thawed, and after an excellent dinner at Rudy's the Cayceon thermometer rose to its normal height. In the evening the carnival at the rink was attended, many of the party assisting in the gay and festive scenes. Saturday being too stormy to return, a visit was made to Mr. Calcutt, who took the boys to his toboggan slide, and acquainted them with the sensation of diving down a water-ski from a five story building. 'Shoo! Shoo!' ite the greatest fun out. You climb to the top of a scaffold, and look down, and then feel that your heart has ceased to beat. Somebody shouts 'Pile on' and take hold of you, then you say you would rather not, and, sent time, tell you I won't, oh, please now I do, for heaven's sake let me—'Pile on, the scaffold diving suits into the bowels of the earth, and as you glide along the icy surface of the lake, you catch a long breath, and sing out, 'My, oh, it's like!' And then you are running up and down, shouting and laughing and giving your lungs a strain that they haven't had for months. Alas, however, the Bobysygon teams express themselves in the warmest terms of the gentlemanly and sportsmanlike reception given them by the Peterborough curriers. They also have a warm corner in their hearts for their old friend, St. Andrew's, of the Fenton H. H., who looked after their personal comforts so thoughtfully and gently."

THE COUNTY SCHOOLS.

The Report of the Public School Inspectors as to their Standing.

The County School Inspector's report was not presented to the open Council at this session as is usually the case. Instead it was discussed in committee. The report is as follows:—
To the Warden and Members of the Council of the County of Peterborough.

GENTLEMEN,—I hereby lay before you a detailed report of the schools of the county, chiefly for the last half of 1885. The report is not as satisfactory as could be desired. The attendance at the schools was less than usual, in consequence, I think, of the late harvest and the general depression.

During the Model School term there were nine teachers in training. At the end of eight of these obtained certificates, and most of them are now teaching. The smallness of the attendance was due to the fact that comparatively few succeeded in passing the non-professional examination at midsummer last. Now, however, there are large classes at both Norwood and Peterborough preparing for the non-professional examination of the current year. I think it probable that three or four times as many will pass this year as did last. There will, I anticipate, be a corresponding increase in the number of teachers in training during the Model School term. In this way I hope at no distant time every teacher engaged in the public schools of the county will have received special training as teacher, and then such things as permits will be unknown.

You will doubtless be called on to assist the College Institute of Peterborough and the High School of Norwood. I believe that never in the past have these institutions been more deserving of your encouragement and support. The attendance at each is exceptionally large, the organization excellent, and the teaching staff eminently satisfactory.

I have the honor to be, gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
J. COYLE BROWN,
P. S. Inspector.

THE LONGFORD LUMBER COMPANY.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—Having received an invitation from the secretary of the Longford Lumber Company to visit the operations of that company I availed myself of the opportunity. Accordingly I took the Midland railway on Monday morning and arrived at the Longford mills and partook of dinner, and in about half an hour set off with the company's splendid span of brown horses in company with the secretary—who, by the way, is one of our own town boys—who did everything to make my trip comfortable and pleasant. After we set out from the mills we crossed a beautiful little lake called St. John, and then proceeded on our way up the Muck road, to what is known as the company's "DIGBY FARM."

24 miles distant. Arriving before dark I proceeded to make an inspection of that fine property. The farm is situated in the township of Digby, county of Victoria; it is composed of some 300 acres, beautifully situated, cornering on the two townships. The buildings on it are a commodious farm house, a fine store and storehouse, capable of storing sufficient grain, meat and other supplies to supply their eight camps; large barns, and immense cattle byres, where they have 90 head of cattle, all good grades, and stables for eight span of horses, an immense piggy large enough to hold 25 to 30 hogs, and also a large henry filled with fowl.
The woods manager, Mr. Jas. Porter, lives here and John McKee is in charge of the store and is paymaster for the camps.

AN IMMENSE VOLUME of business is done, upwards of 14,000 bushels of oats, 200 tons of hay and 35 to 40 tons of pork and beef are annually purchased and paid for in cash, and all kinds of farm produce is readily disposed of by the farmers of the surrounding country, who seem to be exceedingly well satisfied with all their dealing with the company.

In addition to the above supplies about 15 car loads of other supplies are brought over the G.
T. R. to Victoria Road and thence teamed in to this point some 11 miles.

On Tuesday morning we started north for the TOWNSHIP OF LONGFORD.

At 10 o'clock we arrived at the first camp and a right royal welcome we received. Mr. N.

Whalen has charge here, and after many years of practical experience he seems to have his part in first-class shape, and his drawing well in hand, expecting to be through about the middle of February. The next camp was then visited, Mr. P. Dewar is in charge, he is well along with his work. Having partaken of an excellent dinner we proceeded to the next camp, having to cross a nice large lake before arriving at Mr. Murphy's camp, where we spent the night. Arriving early here we pushed off to see part of the work of loading the big one beam sleighs with immense saw logs off the mendous skidways. We were informed here that this camp will produce some of the largest and finest logs cut this year in the township.

We enjoyed camp life in good earnest during the night and next morning set out on our journey to camp 4 managed by Mark Hartley. Here we found one of the most

COMPLETE AND PICTURE

places to be seen in that country; the camp buildings are situated on the shore of a lovely little lake and everything looked so tidy and comfortable it would make anyone enjoy a meal with a relish in such a lovely spot. After an inspection of his made and drawing to the dumping ground on Brown's Lake, and having partaken of dinner, we started down the lake to Thor. Archer's camp at the mouth of a creek where the logs from this section enter, when being driven in the spring to the main river.

On this creek the company have erected twelve dams capable of holding back sufficient water to run the creek with ease. We stopped over night with Mr. Archer and in the morning started for Mr. A. Ross' camp, which we reached about ten o'clock. We passed over several of his roads and saw a number of fine roads got out at this camp. We passed over a very rough piece of rocky country to the next camp managed by E. Pearson, where we partook of an excellent dinner, having seen a very large number of his logs on our way down the creek, which we followed some twelve miles, arriving at a junction south where it enters the west branch of the Black river, which we crossed and took our way north on the old Victoria road to N. Tallman's camp, where we remained for the night. On our arrival at this camp we got aboard of a pair of immense one beam saw logs and followed them to the dump on Black river. Friday morning we started on our homeward trip via Digby farm to Longford

Mills, after being absent from home one week.
After this description of this immense concern, which to my mind is the most compact and complete in every department of its management, your readers will no doubt be glad to know something of the OUTPUT OF THIS COMPANY.

The number of logs cut in the eight camps and by four jobbers is about 150,000 pieces, which are being measured and counted by two competent culmers, Mr. Geo. J. Overend and Mr. Edward Adair. One very important feature is the accurate manner of marking the logs. It is done in this way: Each camp is numbered, viz., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8, and each foreman marks his logs with hammers of his own number, so that the management may detect any logs not properly taken out and the foreman is accordingly held responsible.

This company is managed

ALL BY YOUNG MEN who are native born boys of Peterborough.

The president is Mr. Wm. Thomson, and one of the directors Mr. Geo. Thomson, with Mr.
Maxwell Hall as secretary.
In addition to this concern the same directorate manage two large firms and another large company known as the Rams Timber Transport Company, of Rams, Ont. To the pluck and energy of the directorate, together with good sound judgment and an army of the most faithful men it has ever been my lot to meet with, being the success of these gigantic enterprises. Hoping, Mr. Editor, I have not wearied you with my long letter, I am,

TERRIBLE DOUBLE MURDER.

A Sailor Be- to His Wife and a Friend to Death With a Hammer

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 31.—Alfred Smith, a sailor on the lake, murdered his wife and her companion, Lou Jane Wilson, some time last night, and then attempted suicide by cutting his throat. The razor failed in its work, however, and he will recover. Mrs. Smith was a clever, and for two years occupied room in the Crocker block on Superior street. She and her husband came from Oyster, N.Y., where they were born and reared. She was 35 years old and quite a good looking woman.
The pair had two children, a girl 16 years old and a boy 10. Smith has been a worthless sailor and has compelled his wife to support him, lately he has been very brutal and his wife on Friday applied for a divorce. Last night or early this morning he entered the room by means of a window and killed the women by beating them over the head with a cane or hammer.

A Domestic Tragedy.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Last night Francis McDonald, aged 23, returned to his home in Crosby street and found that his wife had gone out and left their sick baby alone. McDonald went to search for her, and when he again returned he found her in bed sleeping, under the influence of liquor. He unbraided her for her neglect of the child, and when she awoke him he seized her by the throat. Mrs. McDonald ran down stairs to her mother's apartments, and told her brother, John Keman, that McDonald had struck her. Kieran rushed up stairs and pounded McDonald severely. The latter drew a pocket knife and slashed at Kieran on each wrist and then ran. This morning when Mrs. McDonald went to her room she found her brother lying dead upon the floor.
McDonald had severed the brachial artery in his arm, and he bled to death. McDonald surrendered himself to-day.

A Duel to the Death.

Houston, Tex., Jan. 31.—A fatal shooting affray occurred here last evening between Jack Crowley, a sporting man of this city, and Jack Hanson, a Galveston gambler. Crowley was almost instantly killed and Hanson was seriously wounded. The shooting occurred in the parlor of the residence of John Delaney. Both men had been paying attention to Miss Delaney on Friday, bearing

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

THEY DISAGREE.

Something does not tell the truth and Mr. President Roosevelt has said that Mr. J. D. Edgar had better find out which of them it is. Mr. Roosevelt at London said that no reformer who is a militia. Most were allowed to take part in the North-West campaign. Mr. Edgar stated in Parliament of one regiment, "I tell the hon. gentleman that of the nine-hundred officers at the front, twelve are Reformers." Now who is the delinquent, the poet or the politician?—Toronto Mail.

THAT ALLIANCE.

The alliance that Mr. Blake is apparently not unwilling to patch up with the disaffected French Conservatives cannot strike the country at large favorably. Mr. Blake may talk of an investigation when Parliament meets; but he knows that no investigation will do away with the fact that the French have been rebelling against the laws of Canada, and the prime author of many horrible deeds of blood. Mr. Blake has been a victim of a Frenchman's treachery, and he is equally a victim of a Frenchman's treachery. That is not a dignified position for a man of his high social position and moral profession. He must be aware that many of those with whom he is willing to connect his name are drawn to him by no motive whatever beyond a desire to be revenged upon the Government for having allowed justice to take its course in the case of Riel.—Montreal Star (Friday).

OATWEIGHT AND MOWAT.

Mr. Mowat is a man of great statistics show that "Ontario" continues to maintain the lead of all the Provinces and States of the continent in agricultural industry. It is the very different from Mr. Mowat's story! And how is it that two such authorities, looking through the same political spectacles, see matters so very differently?—Montreal Herald (Friday).

THEIR OLD IDEAS.

Many of us in Canada are tired—world that the country were tired—of party fanaticism and party warfare. The present set of the Reform party, however, does not seem any discontented with the old party methods, or any recognition of the bad practice, in that they are the one thing to look to, the one and all means to which are legitimate.—Montreal Star (Friday).

GREAT EVENT FOR ONTARIO.

We wonder if it ever strikes Mr. Mowat and his colleagues that the Canadian Pacific Company is actually doing a great deal for "Ontario" and "Canada." They must have seen the thing in their mind's eye, we should say, for a government exhibition pamphlet not long ago stated was drawn to the fact that the main line of the C.P.R. was cutting up a vast range in the northern part of the province, which was before inaccessible to settlers. Ontario people have been too much inclined to look upon the C.P.R. as an undertaking supported by a parliamentary majority and patronized by Sir John and hostile to the interests of the province. But the solid truth of the matter is that the railway is going to be a lifeline to Ontario's north, through the development of vast northern regions, which otherwise might long have remained a solitude.—Toronto World (Friday).

DREAMING.

The Character of Our Dreams Determined by the Position of Our Bodies.

Dr. Delaunay, an eminent French student, writes to the Paris Biological society on the subject of dreams. He claims that the character of our dreams is very much determined by the position we occupy in sleep. The most general method of lying, perhaps, is on the right side, and this appears also to be the most natural method, for most persons prefer to lie on the right side of the bed, which is the side towards the head. Dr. Delaunay's statements hardly harmonize with this opinion. When one sleeps on the right side, that is to say upon the right side of the head, one's dreams are marked and on a less characteristic. These characteristics, however, are essential to the dream, and are the popular definition of dreams. One's dreams are then apt to be illogical, absurd, childish, uncertain, incoherent, full of vivacity and exaggeration. Dreams which come from sleeping on the right side are, in short, simply derangements. They bring to the mind very odd or faint, remembrances, and they are very often accompanied by nightmare. Dr. Delaunay points out that sleepers in a quiet room, or in a room where the light is dim, they are lying on their right side. This view, though at first sight seems reasonable, is absolutely without sense. The moral faculties are absent. On the other hand, when a person sleeps on his left side his dreams are not only less absurd, but they may also be intelligent. They are, as a rule, concerned with recent things, not with reminiscences.

Sir Chas. Tupper has been created a Grand Cross of the order of St. Michael and St. George.

NATIONAL PILLS is the favorite purgative and antibilious medicine, they are mild and thorough.

The report of the Niagara Park Commissioners was presented in the New York Senate on Monday.

Women often destroy children, but Freeman's Worm Powders destroy worms, and expel them from the system.

A Crying Evil.—Children are often fretful and ill when worms is the cause. Dr. Low's Worm Syrup safely expels all worms.

One hundred and two dollars collected in Paris, Ont., for the Irish Parliamentary fund, was forwarded to Mr. Farnell on Monday.

A BAD BREAKDOWN.—It is a common thing now-a-days to hear one complain of being all broken down with a cold, weary, restless, languid, with strength and appetite nearly gone, and no well defined cause. This is general debility, which Bunker's Blood Bitters promptly relieves, and most invariably cures.

To Remove Blemishes.—Cleanse the scalp with Frez's Magic Hairbrush Soap. A delightful medicated soap for the toilet.

The exhibition of the Royal Canadian Academy was opened on Monday night in Ottawa by his Excellency the Governor-General.

EVERY second person that doctors think is incurable, but Dr. Carson's Catarrh Cure is guaranteed to cure or the money is refunded. All druggists, or the Dr. Carson Medical Co., Toronto, $1.00 per bottle.

The churchwardens of a fashionable church in Montreal were scandalized on Sunday by finding a poker cheek in one of the collection plates.

SEARCHING FOR PROOF.—There is no trouble in ascertaining from any druggist the true value of Hagar's Yellow Oil, for all persons and families suffer from rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, tooth aches, sprains, contusions, colds, stiff joints, aches, pains and soreness.

Six horses from Chicago were shot at Kearney, Nebraska, on Saturday, by the state veterinarian, who claimed that the animals were afflicted with hydrophobia.

MURRAY & LANSBURY FLORIDA WATER.—We earnestly urge every purchaser to ask for that which is prepared by Messrs. Lansbury & Murray, New York, who are the sole proprietors of the true Florida Water. All other so-called Florida Waters are only ordinary Colognes.

One thousand delegates are expected to attend the annual convention of the Ontario and Quebec Young Men's Christian Associations, to be opened in Hamilton on the 18th inst.

NO BLUNDERING.—There is no blundering in the data—in the action of Bunker's Blood Bitters upon the system. It is no scattering shot upon the four cardinal points of health: the stomach, the liver, the bowels, and the blood, and works its cures in a natural manner through nature's channels.

MONSIEUR, TAKE NOTICE.—Went's Cough Syrup contains no Opium, or any other mineral, and can be given to the youngest and most delicate child with perfect safety. It is an infallible cure for Whooping Cough, a bottle should always be kept convenient, as it is also a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Consumption in its early stages, Bronchitis, Asthma, and all Throat and Lung Troubles. Price 25 cts., 50 cts. and $1 per bottle. Sold by J. L. Tully, druggist.

The Dublin Freeman's Journal has reason to believe that Mr. Gladstone and Mr. Parnell have come to an understanding, and that a bill will be introduced to establish a native Parliament in Dublin.

WHAT A wonderful discovery is Perry Davis' Pain Killer! It not only cures the life of the human family, but is also the sure remedy for horses with colic. It has never been known to fail in a cure of the worst cases of colic, sprains, galls, &c., it never fails—try it once. Directly accompany each bottle. Hold by druggists generally.—London County (K.) Democrat.

A REASONABLE ITEM.—During the breaking up of winter, when the air is chilly and the weather damp, such complaints as rheumatism, lumbago, sore throat, croup, and other painful affections of sudden onset, are prevalent. It is then that Hagar's Yellow Oil is found truly valuable as a household remedy.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company have taken another step towards the inauguration of their telegraph service by leasing extensive premises in the business centre of the city of Montreal for the principal office.

"HUMAN AND WILDE."—If you are an unfortunate to injure yourself in this way we can suggest a remedy that will give you relief from experience. It relieves you of all pains and quickly heals the wound; it costs but twenty-five cents and is sold by all druggists—ask for Perry Davis' Pain Killer.

It is stated that there is no possibility of the suggestion in the President's message for the appointment of a commission to consider the question of the Canadian fisheries or a reciprocity treaty being ratified by the United States Senate.

A WISE CHOICE.—In selecting a remedy for coughs and colds the wise choice is to take one that keeps the tough mucus clinging to the air passages. Such a remedy is Hagar's Yellow Oil, which promptly breaks up hard mucus and their troublesome effects.

A DANGEROUS CONDITION.—Any man, woman or child is in a dangerous condition when neglecting a catarrh of the stat of the bowels. There can be no perfect health without a regular action of the bowels. Bunker's Blood Bitters cures constipation by imparting a healthy tone to all the secretions.

Dr. Carson's Catarrh Bitters will cure the most severe cases of Catarrh, Indigestion, and all bilious complaints. Large bottle, 50 cents. 50 to your druggist and get a bottle.

CATARHUS CURED. Health and sweet breath cured by Dr. Carson's Catarrh Bitters. Price 50 cents. Small bottle, 25 cents. For sale by J. L. Tully, druggist, Peterborough.

If you are not afraid of the results of that Cough and Cold, you must use "Perry Davis' Pain Killer" and you will be cured; it costs but twenty-five cents.

A Bad Case.

A lady writes: "I had almost given up all hopes of having my natural growth of hair back, as I had lost it all. Dr. Carson's Catarrh Bitters has not only restored the growth, but my hair is now as thick and healthy as ever. I am in a state of perfect satisfaction to myself." For sale by all reliable Drug stores. J. L. Tully, Agent for Peterborough.

MR. BLAKE'S CRITICISMS.

In reply to Mr. Blake's criticism of the government policy in the Northwest, Mr. White was very happy. Mr. Blake had considered the government policy giving 25,000,000 acres of land to the Canadian Pacific railway. Mr. White showed that the government of which Mr. Blake was a member offered to give 54,000,000 acres to a company, and failed only because nobody had any confidence in the man who made the offer. It would have been right, according to Mr. Blake, for the Reform government to give 54,000,000 acres: it was wrong for a Conservative government to give less than half the area. Criticism of that kind is a waste of time. Mr. Blake's admirers call it a masterpiece. —Hamilton Spectator.

STILL WATCHFUL.

Although driven from active public life by the ill health, Mr. July is still watchful of the public interest. In a letter to the Witness he warns the government of our province that in making so many sales of timber lands they are drawing recklessly on the future without adequately providing for the present generation. Mr. July believes that there ought to be an export duty upon logs, if not upon their manufactured product. This is a matter which comes under the jurisdiction of the federal parliament. —Toronto World (Indep.).

TO SIR C. TUPPER'S CREDIT.

The Privy Council has agreed to modify the regulations recently imposed, which necessitated the slaughter at the port of landing of Canadian cattle conveyed by any vessel which had touched within thirty days previously a port of any scheduled country. We are glad to be able to state that it has been decided to continue for the future, as heretofore, to admit Canadian cattle under such circumstances, without subjecting them to the slaughter or quarantine classes of the Contagious Diseases (Animals) Act. This very gratifying modification of the position lately taken up must be attributed to the personal attention given to the matter by the High Commissioner, and the assistance and recommendation on the subject laid by him before the Privy Council. It is, moreover, an open secret that the High Commissioner's intervention was sought only when representations from other quarters had failed to produce the desired result. —Canadian Gazette.

RECIPROCITY.

What the people of Canada desire, irrespective of party, is a fair settlement of any difficulties that may have arisen in this connection. They are prepared to discuss the question upon its merits without the details of the scheme proposed shall have been submitted. What they object to is the assumption frequently made in the United States that they are willing to accept such terms as their neighbors may see fit to offer them. This false impression the Globe has done much to foster and strengthen, and the decision that it is thereby weakening Sir John A. Macdonald, which it is not. It is merely weakening the case of its country and discrediting its own party by its reckless and unparliamentary course. Our United States contemporaries are warned that the voice of the Globe is not, in this instance at least, the voice of Canada. —Toronto World (Indep.).

AN IMPORTANT STATEMENT.

Leslie Niel Tried to Cause a Rebellion Five Years Ago.

Mr. G. H. Ham has been interviewing the Indian chiefs and others in the Northwest for the Mail. In his last letter he gives an account of an interview with Crowfoot, the great Blackfoot chief. Mr. Ham asked him if Niel had ever tried to induce him to rise, and Crowfoot said:—

"Yes, Owe in Montana in the winter of 1879 or the spring of 1880. He wanted me to join with all the Sioux and Ojibwa and half-breeds. The idea was to have a general uprising and capture the North-West, and hold it for the Indians and the Metis. We were to meet at Tiger Hills in Montana. We were to have a Government of our own. I refused, but the others were willing, and then they reported that already some of the English forces had been captured. This was a lie. Niel told Little Pine's treaty paper and trampled it under his foot, and said we should get a better treaty from him. He offered me to trade with us, and I told my people to trade with him but not to listen to his words. Niel said he had a mighty power behind him in the east."

My interpreter, says Mr. Ham, who had been present at this meeting here, said that prominent politicians were connected with his movement. The only half-breed he could remember as being present besides Niel was Trotter, who was implicated in the late troubles. Lytton was to have been there but did not come.

"Niel told me also wanted you to join him, didn't he?" "Yes, he said that."

"Two years before our treaty (that would be in 1878) Niel came over and wanted to have me go with him and make trouble. He was accompanied by ten chiefs and half-breeds, some of whom had fought Custer. I would not join him."

The Old Ship. CHICAGO, Feb. 2.—The mercury dropped 10 to 12 below zero here again last night. The weather is very cold throughout Minnesota, Dakota and Manitoba, being 35 below at St. Paul, 40 below at Minneapolis. The temperature throughout Iowa is 15 to 17 below zero.

the was a Loan Woman. "Have you any reason to offer why sentence should not be passed upon you?" asked the judge of the female pawnbroker, who had been arrested for extortion.

"Please, your honor, I throw myself on the mercy of the court. I am a poor loan woman."

Put His Talent Under a Pile of Blank. "Some folks say I'm conceited," remarked young Poppley to the other day, "but I'm not. I don't believe in blither what talent I've got under a bushel, that's all."

"That's where you're right, young man," exclaimed a bystander, approvingly. "I would not waste a bushel on it if I were you. A small-sized pile measure would be amply sufficient."

Bedford Street to be Bridged. WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Representative Maybarn has introduced a bill to provide for a bridge across the Detroit river. The city of Detroit is granted authority to erect a bridge across the Detroit river between any point on the northwestern bank of the river within the limits of the corporation to the island in the Detroit river, now known as Belle Isle point.

See George Bligh in Street. MONTREAL, Feb. 2.—To-night Sir George Bligh, bart., and Hon. D. A. Smith were entertained at dinner by the members of the St. James club, Montreal. The chair was occupied by H. A. Henry, Esq., and among the guests were Hon. Thomas White, M. P., secretary of the Interior, Hon. J. A. Chapin, secretary of state, Hon. John Hamilton, Minister of Finance, Senator Leclerc, Hon. Peter Mitchell and Mayor Boissac.

FROM ALL OVER.

The next session of the Supreme Court begins on Feb. 16.

NATIONAL PILLS is the favorite purgative and antibilious medicine, they are mild and thorough.

Diphtheria and scarlatina are spreading in Montreal.

Worms often destroy children, but Freeman's Worm Powders destroy worms, and expel them from the system.

Another fine seam of coal has been discovered at Medicine Hat.

A CRYING EVIL.—Children are often fretful and ill when worms is the cause. Dr. Low's Worm Hygiene safely expels all worms.

A seam of solid coal four feet thick has been discovered on Capt. Vaughan's property near Calgary.

A BAD BREAKDOWN.—It is a common thing now-a-days to hear one complain of being all broken down with a faint, weary, restless languor, with strength and appetite nearly gone, and no well defined cause. This is general debility, which Dr. Low's Blood Purifier promptly relieves, and most invariably cures.

John H. Haxton, a veteran of 1812, died at his residence very suddenly at Port Rowan aged 92.

TO REMOVE DANDRUFF.—Cleanse the scalp with Prof. Low's Magic Nulphur Soap. A delightful medicated soap for the scalp.

The Ontario system of inspection to prevent the spread of smallpox from Montreal has been discontinued.

EVERY second person has it; doctors think it incurable; but Dr. Carson's Catarrh Cure is guaranteed to cure or the money is refunded! All druggists, or the Dr. Carson Medical Co., Toronto, $1.00 per bottle.

SEARCHING FOR PROOF.—There is no trouble in ascertaining from any druggist the true value of Hargard's Yellow Oil, for all painful and inflammatory troubles, rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, tooth aches, sprains, bruises, contusions, stiff joints, aches, pains and soreness.

The Bishop of Huron has appointed Rev. Canon Hinde, of Galt, to be rector of All Saints' Church, Windsor.

MURRAY & LAMMERS FINE WATER.—We earnestly urge every purchaser to ask for that which is prepared by Messrs. Lammam & Kemp, New York, who are the sole proprietors of the true perfume. All other so-called Florida Waters are only ordinary Colognes.

A man presented himself at the health office, Montreal, on Monday, who said he had come from New York the previous day. He was suffering from amnesia, which he declared he had had for four days. He was sent to the hospital.

NO BLUNDERING.—There is no blundering in the dark—in the action of Hargard's Blood Purifier upon the system. It is no scattering shot gun prescription, no cure-all; but it acts directly upon the four cardinal points of health: the stomach, the liver, the bowels, and the blood, and works its cures in a natural manner through nature's channels.

MOTHERS TAKE NOTICE.—Weat's Cough Syrup contains no Opium, Opium or any minerals, and can be given to the youngest and most delicate child with perfect safety. It is an infallible cure for Whooping Cough. A bottle should always be kept convenient, as it is also a certain cure for Croup, Croup, Consumption in its early stage, Bronchitis, Asthma, and all Throat and Lung Troubles. Price 50c, 50c, and $1 per bottle. Sold by J. D. Tully, druggist.

The Calgary Herald says:—"We are sorry to learn that Major-General Munroe broke his leg again almost immediately after it had been taken out of the plaster, by attempting to cross the river. Luckily Mr. Henderson was still at the ranch, and re-set the broken limb at once."

WHAT A wonderful discovery is Perry Davis Pain Killer! It not only cures the ill of the human family, but is also the sure remedy for horses with colic. It has never been known to fail in the case of the worst cases of colic and for ailing cattle, etc., it never fails—try it once. Directions accompany each bottle. Sold by druggists generally.—Kanawha County (Ky.) Democrat.

A SEASONABLE ITEM.—During the breaking up of winter, when the air is chilly and the weather damp, such complaints as rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, sore throat, croup, and other painful affections of sudden cold, are prevalent. It is then that Hargard's Yellow Oil is found truly valuable as a household remedy.

EMPHY & MULLIN'S book on Main Street, Grandy, Que., occupied by Mr. John Mullin as a dwelling, near the St. Lawrence, and on the dry goods store, and George H. Kirk, general store, was destroyed by fire on Monday afternoon. Part of Messrs. Smith & Mullin's stock was saved. The loss by the fire will be about $20,000, partly covered by insurance.

"BURNS AND SCALDS."—If you are so unfortunate as to injure yourself in this way we can suggest a remedy that will (we speak from experience) soon relieve you of all pain and quickly heal the wound; it is but twenty-five cents and is sold by all druggists—ask for Perry Davis Pain Killer.

A WAS CHICKEN.—In selecting a remedy for coughs and colds the wise choice is to take one that induces the tough mucus clinging to the air passages. Such a remedy is Hargard's Pectoral Balm, which promptly breaks up hard coughs and their troublesome effects.

IN A DANGEROUS CONDITION.—Any man, woman or child is in a dangerous condition when neglecting a constipated state of the bowels. There can be no perfect health with out a regular action of this function. Hargard's Blood Purifier cures constipation by imparting a healthy tone to all the secretions.

DR. CARSON'S STOMACH BITTERS will cure the worst forms of Dyspepsia, indigestion, and all ailments connected with the stomach, liver and bowels. Large bottles, 50c each. Do to your druggist and get a bottle.

CATARHUS CURED, health and sweet breath restored by Dr. Carson's Catarrh Cure. Price 50c each. Sold by all druggists. Large bottles, 50c each. Do to your druggist and get a bottle.

If you are not afraid of the results of that Ointment and Ointment, you ought to be. "Pectoral Balm" is a reliable lung ointment. Sold everywhere; 25c each.

A Good Ointment. A Lady writes: "I had almost given up all hope of having my natural growth hair back, as I tried most everything advertised for the hair. Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1886.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

The Victoria Hospital.

There are at present no less than ten patients in the Victoria Hospital. This would indicate that there was room for such an institution here.

Still Cold.

The rigor of the present cold snap continues unabated. On Wednesday night the Rev. V. Clement's thermometer registered 17° below zero.

Arrived.

The Irish Artillery company arrived in town by the noon train and registered at the Grand Central Hotel. The members of the company number twelve.

Lost Home.

A lad 15 years of age, named Frederick Wm. Paget, has been missing from his home in Mainville since last April. He was last seen in the Central Ontario Railway crossing, one mile south of Mainville station. He is a slender, anxious to hear from him. Information may be sent to W. F. Paget, Mainville.

A Grand Event.

The public are again reminded of the grand skating competition taking place on the ice at the Grand Central Hotel. The members of the company number twelve.

Acknowledgments.

The Lady Superintendent of the Victoria Hospital has kindly acknowledged the following donations to the hospital in January: Mrs. MacKinnon, Mrs. Wm. Wash, books and old linen; Mrs. G. H. Hutton, books and pictures; Mrs. R. Davidson, old linen; Mrs. T. Hubert, oranges, lemons and cake; Mrs. Dennison, oranges and cake.

All winter gloves are marked down to cost to make room for spring goods at Andrew McNail's, George street.

The First Draw.

The first draw for the medals given by the President and Vice-President of the Curling Club, is today finished and the prizes are already drawn against each other for the second time. Those successful in vanquishing their opponents in the first draw are as follows: Messrs. J. C. Carr, T. Rutherford, J. E. Hume, M. B. Edwards, F. J. Johnston, J. E. Lewis, G. E. Emmon, C. A. Waller, J. McClelland, R. S. Davidson, K. Hall, C. McNeil, S. Clegg, W. Saliba, G. Fitzgerald, E. Clegg, J. B. Ford, W. H. Borden, H. T. Stuckland, A. Hall, G. Davidson, W. G. Ferguson, T. P. Atter, J. Stanger and D. W. Dumble. The corresponding number of defeated ones are out of the competition.

It May Be Remembered.

- That none say it is cold.
- That this is an old kind of reason to go shivering through winter.
- That the old wood dealers are the only class in the community that enjoy such a privilege.
- That the weather keeps the vengeful up.
- That there hasn't been one before the Police Court for weeks.
- That the revival services in the Methodist Church, Ashbourne, are creating a great stir.
- That this is the evening of the Hotel Des Home concert at St. Paul's Church.
- That the choirs of the Hotel boys is well worth hearing.
- That it seems Peterborough is not the only place where any kind of emergency is needed.
- That it is understood that the Mills will move in the matter of a new building for a proper system for Ashbourne at the next Council meeting.
- That business with the local artists is booming.
- That one portrait painter has no fewer than ten orders on hand.
- That the month being will likely attend "The Artisan" tonight at Bradburn's Opera House.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours commencing 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Northeast to northwest winds; continued fair, very cold weather.

Personal.

Mr. A. P. Ponette is at Toronto to-day, attending the funeral of his late father-in-law, F. W. Barton, ex-Principal of Upper Canada College.

Mr. John Garlick, of Warsaw, left here by Grand Trunk Railway for North Carolina, where he intends to enter upon farming operations.

GEORGE'S ALL WOOL SHIRTS AND DRAWERS marked down to cost to make room for spring goods at Andrew McNail's, George street.

Riverside Park.

Toboggan Races will be held on Friday afternoon, 5th of February, at the Riverside Park, when a prize will be given to the Fastest Lady Tobogganist and prize for the best Gentleman Tobogganist. Races to begin at 1 o'clock. Entrance free. Tickets 10c. J. G. GIBSON, Manager. Location for Toboggan Carnival.

Calculus Minus.

At Bradburn's Opera House Friday and Saturday, Feb. 5 and 6, and Saturday Matinee at 2:30 p.m., popular prices. This company's popularity as a genuine negro minstrel will be shown in their new and improved show. R. serve seats for a lot at McNail's store. They advertise to profanity allowed, which is a striking feature of itself.

Hurdles.

The well known humorist of the American Hurdles, will deliver his celebrated lecture, "Advice to Young Men," in Peterborough, at Ours House, Monday, Feb. 15th. The Philadelphia Bulletin says of the lecturer: "With quiet manner, devoid of gesture, Mr. Hurdles captivated his audience with the first sentences he uttered. He is one of the best comedians we have yet had in the field of lecturing, refined humor."

GEORGE'S LINED KID GLOVES marked down to cost to make room for spring goods at Andrew McNail's, George street.

A Toy Concert.

Concerted music on toy instruments, such as tin horns, etc., will be given at the residence of Mr. J. C. Carr, at St. Paul's church this evening. It is a very rare, but it is not unprecedented. We saw a letter last summer from the wife of an officer on the staff of the Governor-General of India describing such a concert given at Simla. The writer described the music as pleasing, and the appearance of the orchestra as very amusing. With tall columns in full staff uniform playing penny whistles, toy drums, &c.

Lock Works.

Business at the Peterborough Lock Works (Paterson Company's works) continues good, the orders coming in as fast and faster than they can be filled. The company have fitted up the new building with the required machinery and work is there, as well as in the original building, being prosecuted with all vigor. The Secretary, Mr. Geo. Stevenson, is now engaged in sending off the company's catalogues, recently printed, to every part of the Dominion; from Nova Scotia to British Columbia.

From the arrangements already made by the members of the Fire Brigade Band, in connection with the grand Shakespearean carnival, to hold under their auspices in the skating rink on the afternoon and evening of Friday, February 19th, the prospects for the most successful, and at the same time profitable evening's entertainment are indeed bright. Valuable prizes will be awarded in every class—especially for the characters of Shakespeare. The music will be entirely new, and will comprise selections from the best authors. Don't miss it.

Curling Notes.

The Keene and Luskfield clubs both won the Peterborough's match.

It is likely that both will be played within the next few days.

The Peterboroughs go to Toronto one day next week to play with the Toronto and the Guelphs of that city.

The Curling Club is without doubt the strongest sporting organization in Peterborough. It embraces in its membership list representatives of almost every other club and association in town.

The Mayor, the Town Clerk and Janitor Beattie seem to be the only town officials that are able to resist the fascination of the stage and beam.

Hotel Des Home Concert.

A concert will be given in the interests of the Hotel Des Home in the school room of St. Paul's Church, on Thursday evening, Feb. 4th. Most of the pieces will be rendered by the children in residence at the Home. All interested in the teaching of singing should attend.

Instrumental singing quadrilles, introducing a number of nursery rhymes. Programmes.

THE CHIEF OF POLICE.

A VERY important duty is shortly to be fulfilled by the Committee on Appointments of our Town Council, and by the Council itself. It is that of choosing a Chief of Police for the Town of Peterborough. We trust that they recognize the importance of this matter, and are prepared to act with due deliberation and care. No other consideration should be allowed to have any weight than that of choosing the best man for the position from among the candidates. It must be remembered that we are no longer in the backwood. Our excellent railway facilities are open to all, and the trained criminals from the larger cities may avail themselves of them. Not only is there easy access to Peterborough, but there are also facilities for a hurried departure. It is therefore requisite that we should have a Chief of Police who will not only be vigilant in protecting our property, but also qualified to follow up offenders and bring them to justice. It is not every good man who is fitted for such a post. Special qualifications and special training are absolutely required. These considerations should be duly weighed and we have no doubt they will be. The people of Peterborough are awaiting the decision of the Council in this matter with the greatest interest.

New Post Office.

A new post office has been opened in Dummer township. It is called Cottesloe, and Mr. Chas. Griffin is the postmaster.

Government Buildings.

Several Peterborough contractors put in tenders for the erection of the Post Office and Land Revenue and Customs buildings which are to be built in Peterborough. It is understood that the contract will be let to an outside contractor. Several of the town contractors received their fortnight cheques by the noon mail to-day.

To Be Remodelled.

The block of buildings reaching from the corner of Water and Hunter street to Mr. Butler's store, the property of Geo. A. Cox, is to be considerably changed in appearance next spring and summer. The principal change which is to be made is the conversion of the Stewart House into stores. The hotel building proper will be considerably changed in style of architecture; the first floor will be made into two stores, while the upper floor will be divided into offices. A great improvement in the appearance of this part of Hunter Street will be effected by the uniformity of style in which the block will be remodelled. The fronts of the stores which now resemble a sloping flight of stairs will be all level and plate glass fronts will be put in. Another store will be built on, the whole to be covered by a handsomely designed mansard roof. Mr. B. Iker, Town and County Engineer, is now preparing the plans.

Awaiting Developments.

KINGSTON, Feb. 2.—Two telegrams from Detroit about the Perry-Davey case are not correct. It is true that Perry in 1880 married Gertrude Davey, whose mother lived here. But she died a few days after the wedding. She died of a fever, and will not oppose the action for divorce, as she wants a release from him, but she has got married again, and as to Robert Walker, he is a bartender in the St. Nicholas saloon here, while Mrs. Perry is now in Toronto awaiting the development of the local proceedings.

Worse Than Ireland.

CONESTOGA, Pa., Feb. 3.—Seven families were evicted from the Company's houses last night and their household goods are now lying alongside of the public roads. The tenants were taken by surprise, and no trouble followed the eviction. The work will now be prosecuted vigorously and continued until all the houses are vacant.

Bled to Death.

ST. THOMAS, Ont., Feb. 1.—Elijah Baxter, a carpenter at the Michigan Central Railway, a day, returned home from work Saturday night and was making a bed when the blood slipped out of an artery in his leg. He lay for twenty minutes before medical aid could be obtained.

Fatal Explosion.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—An explosion occurred this morning at about 22 of the new aqueduct, near Fordham Heights. One man was killed and another badly injured.

Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites.

Dr. J. W. being of Newark, Ohio, says: "I have used Scott's Emulsion in comparison with the plain oil and acid emulsions and find it to agree much better with the stomach, and give better results in the diseases in which Cod Liver Oil is useful."

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain and cutting teeth? If so, send at once for a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Nursing Syrup for children teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no substitute for it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind, colic, relieves the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Nursing Syrup for children teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle.

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 5, 1886.

THE REBELS AND THEIR ALLIES

It is sad to see the Province of Ontario disgraced by open sympathy with murderers and rebels, because these criminals and their friends are the "new allies," to use the Globe's term, of a section of the Reform party.

Mr. S. White proposed in the Legislative Assembly of Ontario, of which he is a member, a resolution in favor of clemency to the North-west prisoners of his own blood, Indian and French. He moved as follows:

"We trust now that peace has been restored the supremacy of the law vindicated and maintained, and just punishment inflicted on the principal participants in the rebellion, it may be found consistent with the public interest to extend the merciful consideration of the crown to the cases of those who are now undergoing imprisonment for offences committed during, or arising out of, it."

This resolution Mr. Mowat and his colleagues add supporters voted down, though some of them refused thus to disgrace themselves, by showing sympathy with murder and rebellion. The enemies that they had not sufficient knowledge of the facts and that it was not right to interfere in Dominion affairs merely proved them to be cowardly hypocrites, for the Reform speakers, from Mr. Mowat in succession, thought their knowledge of the facts and their right to interfere in Dominion matters sufficient to warrant them in condemning the constitutional authorities of Canada, though not in condemning murder and rebellion. One we conceive such an excuse being made by man who over their very existence politically to Mr. Blake's clamor against Riel when yet untried? In fact, they stifled themselves immediately afterward by interfering in Dominion matters to the extent of voting for clemency for their imprisoned friends. They had no difficulty in interfering in that way, and they had no objection to that portion of Mr. White's resolution. It was the statement that "the supremacy of the law has been vindicated and maintained and just punishment inflicted upon the principal participants of the rebellion" that they could not accept. They dared not own the justice of the law deserved punishment, because to do so would be to condemn their allies, the executed rebel Riel, and the yet unpunished rebel Privy Council members, with other traitorous friends. They dared, however, to insult the Canadian judiciary and the Imperial Privy Council by pretending to believe that a criminal whose case had been fairly and patiently adjudicated by them, who had been condemned and executed, was unjustly punished. The great majority of the people of Ontario will utterly repudiate such paltering with treason and murder.

Mr. Yerns distinguished himself in the Legislative Assembly the other night by making use of a document fraudulently altered by the Globe to change its purpose. Legally Mr. Yerns may be safe from punishment, but morally he is about as honest as the man who utters a cheque from which a larger has obliterated the name, so as to make it payable to someone for whom it was not intended.

The Hon. C. F. Fraser made a long speech against the Provincial Legislature expressing an opinion on Dominion matters, and then to show his consistency concluded by moving a resolution in favor of clemency to the rebel prisoners. So, according to Mr. Fraser, it is wrong to express an opinion against rebels, but quite right to express an opinion in their favor.

MR. GLADSTONE'S CABINET
Official Announcement of the Members Thereof.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—The new cabinet is officially announced as follows:

Mr. Gladstone Prime Minister and First Lord of the Treasury.

Mr. Forster, Lord High Chancellor.

Earl Spencer, Lord President of the Council.

Mr. H. C. R. Childers, Home Secretary.

Mr. B. C. R. Childers, Secretary for Foreign Affairs.

Mr. G. J. Goschen, Secretary for the Colonies.

Mr. Kimberley, Secretary for India.

Mr. H. Campbell-Bannerman, Secretary for War.

Mr. Wm. Vernon Harcourt, Chancellor of the Exchequer.

Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, President of the Local Government Board.

Mr. G. O. Trevelyan, Secretary for Scotland.

Mr. A. J. Mundella, President of the Board of Trade.

Mr. John Morley, Chief Secretary for Ireland.

The following appointments have been made under the new administration: Earl Sydney, Lord Stewart of the Queen's household; Mr. Arnold Morley, Palace Secretary; Mr. Charles Russell, Attorney-General.

The composition of the new Cabinet has caused a great surprise. It is thought to show marks of a compromise.

No definite appointments to minor offices have been announced.

The Daily News considers the new ministry a strong one and especially approves of the appointment of the Earl of Rosebery and John Morley. It says that the selection of the Earl of Rosebery is likely to meet with general approval.

The absence of Lord Hartington from the cabinet the News says is a matter of regret which may however at no distant date be removed.

The Standard says Mr. Gladstone in forming his cabinet has made the best of a bad situation. The members are men of undoubted ability. The selection of Earl Rosebery for the position of Secretary for Foreign Affairs was the best that could be made, and combined well for the good will of Germany. The appointments most likely to elicit criticism are those: Sir Wm. Vernon Harcourt, Chancellor of the Exchequer, and John Morley, Chief Secretary for Ireland.

In the event of the defeat of John Morley in re-election at Newcastle, Mr. Russell offers to re-constitute for him in Ireland.

THE DAILY EVENING REVIEW is delivered to subscribers at two cents a week.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

THE THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT

A Twenty Minute Sitting. Petitions and Reports Presented and Bills Introduced.

WEDNESDAY, Feb. 3.—The Speaker took the chair at three o'clock. The following petitions were presented:—By Mr. Ferrie—of John Burns and others, for an act to incorporate the Toronto Fire Insurance Co. By Mr. Coomes—of R. E. Mitchell and others, for an act granting a charter to construct a railway from Port Arthur to Rainy river. By Mr. Gibson, (Hamilton)—of Alfred Wilmore and 560 others, for an amendment to the law relating to the income tax, raising the exemption from $400 to $1,000. By Mr. Gibson, (Hamilton)—of P. Moore and 600 others, praying for an amendment to chapter 133, R.R.O., relating to masters and servants.

COMMISSIONERS TO WORKMEN.
Mr. Fraser introduced a bill to secure compensation to workmen in certain cases.

THE BILL WAS READ THE FIRST TIME.

FIRST READING.
The following bills were introduced and read the first time:—

To amend the revised statutes respecting masters and servants.
To amend chapter 128 of the Revised Statutes (Act respecting compensation to the families of persons killed by accident, and in duels). Mr. Fraser.

To amend the Assessment Act. Mr. Fraser.

REPORTS PRESENTED.
Mr. HARDY laid on the table the report of the Insurance for 1885, and other documents.

CENTRAL PRISON INVESTIGATION.
Mr. McLENNAN asked when the report of the Central Prison Commission would be laid on the table.

Mr. HARDY replied that the report was in print and would probably be laid on the table in a day or two.

EXEMPTIONS.
Mr. WATSON asked if it was the intention of the Government to introduce a measure to amend the Assessment Act dealing with the question of exemptions.

Mr. HARDY: The hon. gentlemen must give notice of the question.

The House adjourned at 3:25 p.m.

ANOTHER NIGHT SITTING.

THURSDAY, Feb. 4.—The report of the committee appointed to strike the Standing Committee was presented.

Mr. Mowat introduced a bill to amend the County Courts Act. Mr. Hardy presented some reports.

Mr. HARDY, in reply to Mr. White, said that the bill to amend the County Courts Act, which was introduced by Mr. Mowat, was a measure of great importance.

WINTER SPORTS.

A Humorous Description of Outdoor Winter Amusements.

Robert J. Burdette, the American humorist, writing to the Brooklyn Eagle from Canada, says:—

The toboggan is a sled with a single runner, which spreads clear across the bottom of the sled. The top of the toboggan is just like the bottom of a box. It is somewhat thicker than a sheet of writing paper and about as long as an after-dinner speech. Its seating capacity is limited only by the number of people who can get on to it. The urban and gentlemanly conductor sits aft and uses one of his little and willowy legs for a steering apparatus by which he guides the toboggan some way or other. It is easy to slide down hill on a toboggan. In fact, "after you slide down, you can't do a general class sport, you could fall off. That is easily done. The flying machine is not high, so you haven't very far to fall. Still, if you have to fall from a toboggan half way down the slide, or else fall into the water with a toboggan, you take the slide and stairs every time. It isn't so exciting and isn't so soon.

The toboggan is to any other way of getting down hill what flying is to going to sleep. If I was in a hurry and had to go down hill all the way, I would rather have a toboggan than a pair of wings any day.

We went to the Granite rink and watched the curlers. Curling is a game that will probably never become a general class sport, as it stands to-day, at the head of periodic for boys and girls' amusement, and the publishers take subscriptions, which should begin with the November number, the first of the volume.

ST. NICHOLAS is a time book to satisfy and to develop the tastes of its constituents, and the record for the past twelve years, during which it has always stood as it stands to-day, at the head of periodic for boys and girls' amusement, and the publishers take subscriptions, which should begin with the November number, the first of the volume.

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1886.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

A Gift.

The Toy instruments and music used at the Barnard Home Concert on Thursday evening were the gifts of J. Schenker, Esq., of New York.

The "Gospel Light."

The Gospel Light is a new semi-monthly publication hailing from Orillia. Its columns are filled with reading of a religious character, and it professes to supply "a real want long felt by church members generally."

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Light to moderate winds, slightly higher temperatures; higher temperatures on Saturday.

Charlotte St. Church.

Members of the above congregation will remember that their annual tea meeting takes place to-night. Tenanted in the school room from half past six o'clock. A programme of music and brief addresses at 8 o'clock in the church. No fee or collection. All members and adherents of the church expected.

The Ancient Mariner.

Arrangements are being made to give an exhibition of stereoscopic views at Bradburn's Opera House, shortly, illustrating Coleridge's poem, The Ancient Mariner. This entertainment will doubtless be interesting to all, especially to the people at the college institute, who are at present, or have recently been, engaged in the study of the work.

GENTS' LINED KID GLOVES marked down to cost to make room for spring goods at ANDREW McNEIL'S, George street.

Parliamentary Committee.

Mr. Carnegie, M. P. P. for West Peterborough, has been appointed on the following Standing Committee for the present session:—Printing, Public Accounts, Municipal Committee, and the Committee on Railways. Mr. Elzard, M. P. P. for East Peterborough, has been appointed on the following Committees:—Privileges and Elections, Railways, and Private Bills.

February, the 13th.

Burdette, one of the best known humorists of the United States, is engaged to lecture in the Peterborough Opera House on the above date. The Toledo Blade says of him:—"His lecture was delivered without a hitch, but it was so interrupted as to be unappreciated. Mr. Burdette talks to his audience and keeps them in unbroken interest. Reserved seats can be secured at A. L. Harris & Co.'s."

Great Bargains.

Mr. J. Erskine's stock taking sale is now going on and those who have taken advantage of it report that the bargains are simply surprising. Mr. Erskine decided a few days ago to clear out the remainder of his winter stock at wholesale prices, in order to make room for spring goods, and those wishing to buy silk dress goods, shawls, hosiery, kid gloves, mits, handkerchiefs, any kind of fancy goods, bric-a-brac, would consult their best interests by going to Mr. Erskine's store and price the goods.

A New Enterprise.

That enterprising firm, Messrs. Ostrom & Ostrom, wholesale dealers in fruit, fish, canned goods, etc., have branched out into manufacturing. Some time ago the firm resolved to try an experiment and see if canned meats could not be put up here so that successful competition could be made with the great American canned goods factories. Acting on this decision a man of long experience, from Chicago, was engaged, and from the present outlook the enterprise promises to be a complete success. As yet the canning is done on a small scale, but the goods are pronounced to be excellent, fully beyond that imported from Chicago and other places. This, together with the fact that it can be obtained at from two to three cents per pound cheaper than the imported goods, should secure Messrs. Ostrom & Ostrom a good Canadian market for their goods. Steps are now to be taken to enter upon the work of a large scale.

HARLE BRAS HOME.

The Concert at St. Paul's—Expressions of Opinions Regarding the Home.

On Thursday night at eight o'clock the spacious school room in St. Paul's Church was filled to overflowing to hear the concert to be given in the interests of the Harle Bras Home. Evidently, judging from the large attendance, the people had come expecting to hear something worth listening to. Nor were those who came in such a frame of mind at all disappointed. The concert was throughout a most interesting and novel one. The chief feature of the concert was the choral singing by the inmates of the Home. The little fellows and little girls appeared on the platform, to the number of about thirty or forty, all neatly attired; the former in dark clothes, white collars, and closely cropped hair, and the latter in plain dresses, broad white aprons, and each wearing a little bow on her head. Ten times did they sing in chorus, some of which were really difficult. The time was perfect, and the effect was quite novel and pleasing. The whistling chorus was especially warmly received. The fact that during the whole performance not a single mistake was made in the choruses, reflects great credit on Mr. Duff, the trainer and conductor.

Miss Stephens sang one solo in a very sweet manner, and Miss Huston, Miss Wells and Miss Stephens lent their valuable aid in several choruses. A toy symphony in which the instrument used were the piano, first and second violin, drum, triangle, trumpet, nightingale, and whistle, found such favor with the audience that the performers were recalled. Those who took part were:—Mrs. Duff, pianist, Messrs. P. E. S. Cooper and W. Leach, violinists. Mr. Duff, whistle and trumpet, Miss Hall, nightingale, Miss Smith, triangle and Master Duff, drummer.

When the concert was half over, Mr. D. W. Dumble, who occupied the chair, in a very felicitous manner, announced that there would be an intermission of ten minutes, and during that time, he wished to say a few words. There was a sentiment existing against bringing these children to this country. Such a sentiment was a mean one; and very many of the people who uttered it were people whose passage out from the old country were paid by other people. These little children needed the kindly sympathy and that assistance which a Christian people should be always willing to give. But they were fully entitled to it, because they came here to give our country their labor, so to produce wealth and make it richer. These children were as well qualified to ornament any home as any children; their manners and deportment was pleasing, and the education they received at the Home was well adapted to fit them for a place in any family. The culture they received was equal to that received by almost any children. One thing he was satisfied of; their musical education had not been neglected, and such, he felt, would leave its refining impress in after years. These children should be welcomed to Canada, for in after years they would make able bodied and worthy citizens. He knew that among the laborious, industrious, striving Canadians, there were few large fortunes to be embarked into an enterprise of this kind, yet it would be well for the people to keep their hearts open. He thought that politics might have something to do with this sentiment antagonistic to bringing out these children. There were those who deprecated the Government's emigration policy. There had ever been such people. But why should it be so, when the whole strife of every city, town and hamlet was to have their population increased. He, for one, would give the hand of welcome to these children. He felt sure they would, when grown up to manhood and womanhood, make good, useful and honorable men and women.

After the close of the programme Rev. Mr. Munro and Rev. Mr. Duff said a few words, highly commendatory to the concert and those who took part in it. A vote of thanks was tendered to Mr. and Mrs. Duff for their pains in providing such an excellent entertainment. Mr. Duff briefly responded. The National Anthem was then sung.

GENTS' ALL-WOOL SHIRTS AND DRAWERS marked down to cost to make room for spring goods at ANDREW McNEIL'S, George street.

One of the Difficulties.

The Port Hope Times says:—"One of the difficulties a school inspector has to overcome is the influence brought to bear to secure certificates for incompetent teachers. Mr. James Coyle Brown, the inspector of Peterborough County, is passing through a little of this trouble just now. A teacher who has been offering his services very cheap, and undervaluing other applicants, failed to pass his examination, and appealed to the County Council to have Mr. Brown removed. His application was backed up by a petition signed by some fifty ratepayers. We have known Mr. Brown for about twenty years and know him to be an able and capable man, and we hope the County Council will allow the 'pucked' teacher to take care of himself. Cheap men as teachers—as in everything else—are dear in the end."

The Shakespearean Carnival.

After Hamlet—considerably. To skate, or not to skate, that is the question. Whether it is better in the mind to suffer the stings and jeerings of courageous skaters (who sport upon the skating rink and laugh at him who shows a trial), or to brace up, and, by indulging, evince your grit. To skate—to skate, and by a skate to say we end. Dyspepsia, lameness and stiffened joints, and other ills that flesh is heir to, is Hamlet's dilemma. To skate—to skate, (perhaps to win the prizes at the carnival), to skate, and not break out before the start it made. Ay! there's the rub; but when the skate is accomplished and the skater feels his blood well stirred, the sequence is, a good night's fun and merriment.

DRUNK.

FRIDAY, Feb. 6.—John Martin, a man of about fifty years, was charged by P. C. Adams with having been drunk. He pleaded guilty.

P. C. ADAMS said that he had found the prisoner at about ten o'clock last night, drunk, lying on the sidewalk. He had sprained his ankle and was unable to walk.

The MAGISTRATE put the sentence of imprisonment at one month, so as to give the affected limb a chance to get better.

Irish Aristocracy.

Notwithstanding the severity of the weather last evening, a fairly large audience witnessed Gibson & Ryan's production of Barry & Fay's laughable play, "Irish Aristocracy." The play from beginning to end abounds in exceedingly comical situations, in which Muldoon and Mulochy take the most prominent parts. Miss Alice Lough, as Mrs. Muldoon, was capital, and kept the audience amused from her first appearance in her own parlor until the arrival of the party at the picnic grounds, where a three handed reel concludes the performance. The support, with two exceptions, was a miserable failure.

The Stakes.

A two risk curling match, between Peterborough and Lakeside, is in progress at the Charlotte street rink this afternoon. The risks are so confident of superiority over each other that they are playing for a barrel of flour to be given to some charitable institution. The following are the names of those composing the risks:—

A City Battalion.

A meeting of the officers of the 57th Battalion was held in the Post Office block on Thursday afternoon to consider the advisability of forming the 57th into a city Battalion. Those present:—Lieut. Col. Rogers, Major Grover, Major Bell, Capt. Longford, No. 2 Co.; Capt. Rogers, No. 3 Co.; Capt. Burdall, No. 4 Co.; Capt. Burke, No. 5 Co.; Capt. Howard, No. 6 Co.; Lieut. Lee, Quartermaster Miller and Surgeon O'Jorman. The object of the step being taken to organize the city Battalion is that if such were organized the necessity of going out to camp would be obviated. Those who object to join the battalion on account of their having to leave their business to go to camp annually, would, when this obstacle is removed, readily connect themselves with this organization. No definite plan was adopted; final steps being left over till the adjourned meeting which takes place at Hastings, one month from Thursday.

It May Be Marked.

—That the thermometers are behaving shocking bad of late.
—That though not popular, the people seem to take a great interest in them.
—That the chilled pedestrian feels his "blood run cold" as he hurriedly examines the deep divers at the drug store doors.
—That besides low registering thermometers there is another Arctic sign.
—That to see the numerous dog drawn sleighs and toboggans is enough to make one imagine himself in Iceland.
—That the curlers apparently enjoy this weather—it makes the ice firm.
—That they are "in it" at the rink this afternoon.
—That some charitable institution will be plus one barrel of flour.
—That if Irish comedy is not better presented ed then it is last night it will soon come into disrepute.
—That a digger band are around town drumming up the people for the show to-night.

THE LITTLE CHAPLAIN.

Karl Richard, one of Britain's poets,
Is told of many a tale
Of liberty, English soil, and lives
In proud, romantic style.
He says: I am, I am, I am,
And every Sunday in his hair
His chaplain kneels in prayer.

No one is I; I have no lands:
A man of low degree,
No knighted servant, but the hat
And sword the king to me,
And yet, though bearing no estate,
And I, though bearing no estate,
I have my chaplain too, and he Prays for me every night.

He is a little fair-haired boy
That seems five years his age,
With dimpled cheeks and meeting eyes,
And voice and winsome smile,
And when he bows his robe of white,
Ere lying down to sleep,
He looks his chaplain too, and prays
The Lord my soul to keep.

My little chaplain! None not God
Knows how I love the boy,
Each day that I wake, each night that I fall
He looks my heart with joy,
Oh! I have been a better man
Since he came to me,
His simple trust and gentle ways
Have drawn me nearer Heaven.

—W. H. MOORE.

A HUNTER'S SHOCKING FATE.

overcome by Cold and Gradually Frozen to Death.

OTTAWA, Feb. 4.—A most extraordinary report of death by freezing comes from Chapleau, a station on the Canadian Pacific Railway north of Lake Nipissing. A party on entering a deserted blacksmith's shop near Chapleau a few days ago discovered the dead body of a man standing with his back to the wall, his legs spread wide apart and eyes opened. It appears that two men who had been working together on the Canadian Pacific Railway during the summer had saved some money, and after hunting in the neighborhood through the winter, intended to start for British Columbia in the spring. On Saturday about three weeks ago they started out on a hunting expedition, and after crossing a small lake included in going into camp for the night. After building a fire and making other necessary preparations, one of them complained of not feeling well, and said he would go back to the starting place, intending to return when he felt better. His companion concluded to stay and continue hunting. After hunting for two days the latter started back for the settlement, and upon reaching the lake where they had crossed he was horrified at finding the body of his own lying on the snow covered with ice, with the legs wide apart, and the hands rigid in death. A moose and a stocking were off one of the feet, and the remains of a small fire were near by. While crossing the lake, which was slushy, he had evidently got his feet wet, and before he could get to the shore he had been struck by a cold wind, and he had died. The intense frost then gradually overcame him until he sank dead. His companion made his way back and informed them at the stopping place of his horrible discovery, and with another man he returned and recovered the body back to the settlement, placing it in the deserted blacksmith shop, where it now remains. The friends of the deceased residing at Chapleau were notified of what had occurred, and requested that the body be buried and sent home, but owing to the extended condition of the limbs, which rendered it difficult to place the corpse in a coffin, and for want of funds, nothing was done.

ENVELOPED IN FLAMES.

Six Men Shockingly Burned in a Shanty in St. Louis.

St. Louis, Feb. 5.—At 10 o'clock last evening a burst of flames, enveloping a shanty near the railway tracks east of St. Louis, was discovered. No one was near the place, but the glare of light attracted the attention of all the railroad men that happened to be out. They ran toward the place, and as they did so they heard the most piercing shrieks, screams and cries, telling that human beings were held there in a fiery cage, unable to escape. There was a rush to the door. It was forced in, when two men staggered out, their arms and their clothes ablaze. Other men were dragged out unconscious. The victims, as they came out, were seized and rolled about on the ground in the snow. Their bodies were blackened, and long staves of flesh peeled off, presenting a horrible sight. The unfortunate, six in number, were taken to the relay depot, where they were attended to. They had survived the shanty only by one, to warm up, and were sitting around the stove talking when suddenly the stove seemed to burst open and the flames went all around the room, enveloping the men before they could turn toward the door. They could only beat about with their hands and struggle with each other in an endeavor to get to the exit. They grappled with each other, and this impeded their escape, and it seemed an eternity before they heard the cries of those who were to their rescue. They remembered distinctly that they had smelled coal oil as the flames burst out around them. The fire was the result either of a practical joke or a deliberate attack upon the lives of the men to settle an old grudge.

Have a Home.

There are a multitude every year who are commencing home life. With hands and hearts linked together, they enter upon their new stage of existence. To such the voice of experience says, have a home. Do not hang out at hotels and boarding houses; keep home, if there is only one room in it, provided there is wit enough in the firm to do it. It is a wretched policy to live a nomadic, boarding-house life, in its trouble and discomfort, in the midst of loneliness and loneliness, and finally, after years of wretchedness, have a divorce suit, pack two and then go different ways to the ends of the earth.

Let there be a home, where, though but a small one, can be gathered, household pleasures enjoyed, the comforts and conveniences of life preserved, and where God can give prosperity and fruitfulness, peace and gladness.

Let the home be not a godless home; let it be a place of prayer and worship, of praise. Let there be church in the home, and the Lord who loves "the tents of Jacob" will design to bless the abodes of his people, and crown them with his grace, and mercy, and his peace.

From such homes go forth men strong to fight the battles of life, women wise and gentle for all gracious ministries, and children that are like cornucopias, richly laden after the similitude of a palace.—The Christian.

The World's Best.

It is certainly remarkable the wonderful cure effected by West's World's Wonder or Family Liniment. This remedy has not an equal in the world for the speedy cure of Rheumatism, Sprains, Cuts, Bruises and all diseases requiring external application. Price 25 cents and 50 cents per bottle. Sold by J. D. Tully.

FROM ALL OVER

The Porte supports the demand of Bulgaria for a war indemnity from Serbia.

NATIONAL PILL is the favorite purgative and anti-bilious medicine, they are mild and thorough.

The British money markets were not affected by the announcement of the composition of the new Cabinet.

Worms often destroy children, but Freeman's Worm Powders destroy worms, and expel them from the system.

A Caring Evil.—Children are often fretful and ill when worms are the cause. Dr. Low's Worm Syrup safely expels all worms.

TO REMOVE DANDRUFF.—Cleanse the scalp with Prof. Low's Magic Hairbrush Soap. A delightful medicated soap for the scalp.

Mr. Gladstone has issued his election address, in which he promises to institute an enquiry into the entire land policy of Ireland.

A BAD BREAKDOWN.—It is a common thing now-a-days to hear one complain of being all broken down with a faint, weary, restless languor, with strength and appetite nearly gone, and no well defined cause. This is general debility, which Burdock Blood Purifiers promptly relieve, and most invariably cure.

Hon. Mr. Chapleau has instituted a suit for libel against Hon. Mr. Trudel, proprietor of L'Espresso, of Montreal, claiming twenty thousand dollars damages.

Every second person that doctors think it incurable; but Dr. Carson's Catarrh Cure is guaranteed to cure or the money is refunded. All druggists, or the Dr. Carson Medical Co., Toronto. $1.00 per bottle.

The Court of Appeals at Amiens recently rendered a decision that Roman Catholic priests may marry, notwithstanding that the Courts of Cassation decided otherwise in 1885.

REACHING FOR PROOF.—There is no trouble in ascertaining from any druggist the true virtue of Hagyard's Y-Low Oil, for all painful and inflammatory troubles, rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, foot-tires, sprains, bruises, sprains, contracted cords, stiff joints, aches, pains and soreness.

At a meeting of the Toronto board of public school trustees it was decided that the Inspector should notify all teachers employed by the board to have the Bible read in the schools as formerly.

MURRAY & LATHAM'S FLORIDA WATER.—We earnestly urge every purchaser to ask for that which is prepared by Messrs. Latham & Kemp, New York, who are the sole proprietors of the true Florida Water. All other so-called Florida Waters are only ordinary Colognes.

WHAT A wonderful discovery is Perry Davis Pain Killer! It not only cures the ills of the human family, but is also the sure remedy for horses with colic. It has never been known to fail in a cure of the worst cases, and for sprains, galls, etc., it never fails to try it once. Directions accompany each bottle. Sold by druggists generally.—London County (Ky.) Democrat.

A woman named Mrs. Landon has been arrested in Bristol, England, for cruelty to an orphan girl in her employ. In addition to beating her with great severity she frequently branded her with a red hot poker.

A REASONABLE ITEM.—During the breaking up of winter, when the air is chilly and the weather damp, such complaints as rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, sore throat, croup, and other painful effects of sudden cold, are prevalent. It is then that Hagyard's Yellow Oil is found truly valuable as a household remedy.

"BURNS AND CALLES"—If you are so unfortunate as to injure yourself in this way we can suggest a remedy that will (we speak from experience) soon relieve you of all pain and quickly heal the wound; it costs but twenty-five cents and is sold by all druggists—ask for Perry Davis Pain Killer.

The meeting of the Canadian arbitrators for the Niagara Falls park which was to have been held last Wednesday has been adjourned till next Wednesday, owing to the illness of one of the arbitrators.

A WISE CHOICE.—In selecting a remedy for coughs and colds the wise choice is to take one that cures the cough without clogging the air passages. Such a remedy is Hagyard's Perforated Balm, which promptly breaks up hard coughs and their troublesome effects.

At a meeting of the Toronto City Council a by-law was introduced fixing the duty for taverns and shop licenses at $6 and $20 each respectively, and limiting the number to be issued to 120 taverns and 50 shop licenses.

IN A DANGEROUS CONDITION.—Any man, woman or child is in a dangerous condition when suffering a constipated state of the bowels. There can be no perfect health with out a regular action of the function. Burdock Blood Purifiers cure constipation by imparting a healthy tone to all the secretions.

NO BLUNDERING.—There is no blundering in the dark in the action of Burdock Blood Purifiers upon the system. It is so reassuring that you can see the four cardinal points of health: the stomach, the liver, the bowels, and the blood, and works its cures in a natural manner through nature's channels.

NEVER TAKE NOTICE.—West's Cough Syrup contains no Opium, or any other mineral, and can be given to the youngest and most delicate child with perfect safety. It is an infallible cure for Whooping Cough. A bottle should always be kept convenient, as it is also a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Consumption in its early stages, Bronchitis, Asthma, and all Throat and Lung Troubles. Price 35 cents, 50 cents, and $1 per bottle. Sold by J. D. Tully, druggist.

CATARRH CURED.—Health and sweet breath cured by Dr. Carson's Catarrh Remedy. Price 50 cents. Special Injector Free. For sale by Dr. Carson & Co., Toronto.

Accident.—About six o'clock on Monday evening an accident of a rather severe character occurred in Mr. G. Lamb's laundry in Queen's street. It seemed as if it was necessary to do something about the blow of pipe in the boiler, and in sitting the top a turn it broke, allowing the steam and hot water to escape and unfortunately Mr. Sandy Lamb, son of the proprietor, was severely scalded on the face, side, and legs, from which he has suffered a great deal since. Fortunately the accident happened when there was only ten pounds of steam in the boiler, had there been forty or fifty pounds of steam we might have had a far more terrible result to chronicle.

Anti-Chinese Convention.
SAN JOSE, Cal., Feb. 5.—The first anti-Chinese State Convention was convened here yesterday. One hundred delegates, representing anti-Chinese leagues and trade organizations, were present. Permanent organization was effected. The general sentiment among the delegates was strongly opposed to violence or threats. Boycotting was favored as the quickest method of accomplishing the desired ends, and resolutions in accordance with this view were adopted demanding the abrogation of the Burlingame treaty.

Tobogganing in New York.
NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—A bitter north wind blew across the slide of the Essex County Toboggan Club last night. The thermometer just touched zero. A Canadian who was present said that it seemed as cold as he had ever experienced it in the Dominion with the mercury 20 degrees below zero. The slide had been prepared during the day, and was in an excellent condition. Congregated on the platform at the top of the icy hill were the members of the Club, snugly dressed in their heavy winter toboggan suits. The girls wore there too, and the cold showed only on their rosy cheeks. As one autumn beauty remarked, "It is just too splendid for anything," and she didn't think it "a bit cold." Along the slides torches and lanterns showed how white the snow really was, and a single streak of yellow flame to the tobogganers as they descended down the hill.

Three Children Drowned.
FREDERICTON, N. B., Feb. 5.—Information has been received here of a sad accident at Douglastown, on the 1st instant, by which three young children have lost their lives. Harry, a son of Mr. Ernest Hutchinson, aged nine years, and two others, a boy and a girl, children of Mr. John Rennie, engineer of Mr. Hutchinson's mill, were casing in the vicinity of the ship, near the mill. No one saw the accident, and it is supposed that the tide being high, the children coasted down the ship, ran into the water, and, being unable to swim, were drowned. Towards evening they were raised, and a search being instituted and the river dragged, the bodies were soon brought to the surface. Later reports state that it would seem as if the children had first coasted into the river and that her little playmates ran to her assistance, and all three were dragged into the water and perished.

A Remarkable Pigeon.
The Hampshire (Ex.) Independent of January 9th says:—Mr. James Eley, the secretary of the Isle of Wight Poultry and Pigeon Association, has just received a letter from Milbourne, stating that a pigeon was brought into the town by the captain of a ship, who picked it up in an exhausted condition some distance from the coast, it having hovered round the vessel for three days. From the description of the stamp on the wings, the writer knew that it belonged to the Isle of Wight Association, and Mr. Eley was able to identify it as belonging to Mr. Butt, of High's rest, Ryde. The bird had also a tape tied under its wing, showing that it had previously been picked up by another vessel, and liberated 700 miles from the West coast of Africa. It appears that the pigeon, with others, was taken over to Cherbourg, and then liberated, so that it might compete in the Crystal Palace show. Why the poor bird went such a distance out of its course is of course a mystery. Mr. Eley hopes to have the bird home in time for the show, to be held at the end of the month.

Stories About Nikola Gilbert.
"Mr. Gilbert is in Egypt preparing material for his next piece," said Mr. Clay. "What a wit he is!" And his conversation is generally just as bright as the lines of his plays. It is his nature to be satirical, and he is really very good-natured, though he says such sharp things. You know my brother Fred wrote the music for Gilbert's "Princess Toto," and they are fast friends. One day they were rehearsing the opera when a stout chorus woman, with a little claim to personal charms, complained to Mr. Gilbert that one of the men in the company had put his arm around her waist and called her a pretty girl. "Dear me," said the dramatist, "that is really!" He couldn't have meant it, and the stout dame returned to the ranks quite mollified.

"Remember another rehearsal," said Mrs. Clay. "Where a chorus girl came to Mr. Gilbert, and weepingly complained that some one had said she was 'too better than she could be.' 'Shameful,' said Mr. Gilbert; 'you are, aren't you?'"—Chicago News.

Joseph Arch, M.P.
Many people were startled when they saw Mr. J. Arch, the member for the North-western district of Norfolk, enter the House of Commons in a rough gray tweed jacket and billycock hat. I learned that at a meeting of the Workmen's Club at Leamington he had previously stated he "should enter the House of Commons in the very cut of clothes in which they saw him that night; and when he appeared at that great banquet, which he heard would be held at the largest room in the National Liberal Club would scarcely contain all those who had applied for tickets, he should go in the same dress they saw that night." And so he did. Nor is any fault to be found with his procedure. It would have been the merest humbug had this brave-hearted son of the soil appeared in an evening dress—which, by the way, he is scarcely in a position to afford, though he prides himself on being now a "little freerholder." Formerly he worked in the fields as a hired laborer. After the same time he acted among his associates as a Methodist preacher. He is certainly a man of sterling personal worth. His aim of helping to restore an independent yeoman class, I believe to be in the best interests of the country at large, both as regards the physical health of the nation and its military strength. By the recent formation of a society for the voluntary session of allotments to agricultural labourers more than a hundred landed proprietors—Conservatives as well as Liberals—have shown that they hold the scheme to be feasible and practicable.—London Life.

DEVASTATION BY WATER.
A Large Part of Belleville Flooded—The People Excited.
BELLEVILLE, Feb. 6.—The flood assumed a serious aspect this morning. It backed up, overflowing Main street and damaging the business part of the city. From the wharf to the city all the water is five feet deep on the street. The water in the Ontario printing house is four feet deep, and publication has been temporarily suspended. At noon a fire broke out in a widow's house in the flooded district. The widow and five children were rescued by the hook and ladder company. The people are wild with excitement.

It is estimated that the damage done will amount to upwards of $100,000. The water mark is now fifteen inches higher than it was last night, and many additional buildings have been vacated. The ice, of which immense quantities fill the river, has broken up, and is now floating in the water. The water is six inches, and is within two feet of another. It is feared both will go. A number of buildings are damaged beyond repair. There were many instances of intense suffering throughout the long and tedious hours of last night. The thermometer indicated 33° below zero. In the city the wood yards were flooded and could not be entered. This caused great suffering, as poor people consume soft wood altogether and rely upon these wood yards for their supply. Factories have been closed and workmen discharged, who are now dependent upon public charity. Large and valuable hulls on the principal streets have been overturned and the occupants have had to move for fear the buildings would collapse.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 8, 1886.

THE PROPOSED AMNESTY.

It would undoubtedly be satisfactory to release from the remainder of their punishment those rebels now in prison, who were largely led away by being made the dupes of the guerillas, and who had not the right of the North West rebellion, who had met with the righteous reward of their crimes. The plea that they were led away could not be urged to save them from condemnation. Many criminals are led away, and have been so free men as the consequences of their acts. When, however, justice has had its way, such considerations may lead to compassionate clemency.

It must nevertheless be remembered that an organized community, and those entrusted with the administration of the public affairs, cannot be solely influenced by their feelings. The first duty of an established government is to provide for the protection of the community, and this must not be sacrificed in order to do what would be accessible. If the rebellious spirit were completely subdued and the triumph of peace and order of law and justice were uncontested, it might be safe and even beneficial to temper justice with mercy. So long, however, as there are a host of lawless defenders of rebellion and avengers of punished rebels—so long especially as those who are instigating further troubles by exaggerating or inventing grievances and declaring rebellion to be the cure for them—it would be unsafe and therefore a breach of duty to indulge in kindly feelings which might be taken as a sign of weakness and might encourage further lawlessness.

If these rebels were guiltless no considerations of expediency would justify their imprisonment, but it must be remembered that they richly deserve the penalties due to their grave offences. This being the case, they have no claim to mercy, and if free gift may fairly be delayed if it would be dangerous to the community.

Clemency in exceptional cases may be allowable, but a general pardon would at present be imprudent and unjustifiable. It will be time enough to consider a general amnesty when Privy Council cease to talk treason and to encourage rebellion and murder.

AN AGENT FOR MOWAT AND BELL.

Another exposure of the alliance between the Mowat Administration and the advocates of rebellion has been made in the House. It will be remembered that Mr. Gaspard Pacaud was the agent of those Reformers who are in alliance with the rebels, to make arrangements for stirring up the French residents of the county of Essex in favor of Riel and his fellow rebels. And now in answer to a question by Mr. S. White, the Loyal Mowat member for Essex, Mr. Hardy was forced to admit that the same Gaspard Pacaud was an employee as a seasonal clerk. This is the way that rebels and their advocates are rewarded under the Mowat regime, if indeed Pacaud was not in their pay while advocating rebellion. There are many good Reformers in the county of Peterborough who will wince at the idea of the money they contribute to the Provincial Treasury being used to pay rebels and their advocates.

The London Advertiser is greatly exercised over the grant of seed grain by the Dominion Administration to the Prince Albert settlers. Of course it must be very wrong, for the Hon. Mr. Mills is fully aware of the fact that when he was minister of the Interior under Mr. Mackenzie and Mr. Blake. Some people have odd ideas; they maintain that Riel was justified in rebellion because he had an unpaid claim of about $100,000 for his share of the Northwest lands, and they grumble at a little gift of seed to those who are really trying to live peaceably and industriously on their farms.

The Kingston Review has a long editorial on a motion moved by "S. I. Smith" in the Ontario Legislature. There is no member in the Legislature of that name. The mover of the motion referred to, although he has Indian blood in his veins, is White.

THE T. V. CANAL.

Trenton fully alive to its Advantages and Urgent in its Favor.

The Trenton Advertiser has the following editorial remarks:—

"As will be seen from the report of Council proceedings elsewhere, the Council have decided, on very wise grounds, to send a large deputation to the meeting at Peterborough on Wednesday next, 10th inst. The completion of this great work is one of the most important not only to Trenton, but to the whole country, and we are pleased to see that the Council so fully alive to the necessity of awaiting, as far as may lie in their power, any scheme that will have the effect of pushing forward this important national undertaking."

The action of the Council thus referred to is reported as follows:—

"On motion the Council was appointed a deputation to Peterborough, viz: the T. V. Canal, on Wednesday next, each member having two or three appoint a substitute or take an associate."

It appears therefore that Trenton will be adequately represented at the meeting on the 10th, and that its people are determined to press energetically the completion of this important work.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

THE THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT.

FRIDAY, Feb. 5.—The Legislature again concluded its sittings in a few minutes. The only business transacted was the reading of a few important petitions and the passing of a motion from Mr. Creighton for a humble address to the Lieutenant-Governor, praying that his honor will cause to be laid before this House a return of all correspondence subsequent to that already brought down, between the Government of Ontario or any member or officer thereof, and the authorities of the Dominion of Canada, or of the Province of Quebec, respecting the settlement of account between the Province and the Dominion; also, for a statement up to Jan. 1st, 1886, of the amounts which the respective municipalities interested should receive as interest from the land improvement fund in connection with school lands.

MR. ERMATINGER rose to a question of privilege, and stated that when speaking on the address, a few nights before, the Commissioner of Public Works had denied that Baron Drummond had ever written a letter on the Riel case. He then read a letter signed B., which he stated was his handwriting, and which expressed strong opinions on the case. Mr. ERMATINGER said the hon. member was a very barren explanation.

TAKING COUNSEL WITH DUMONT.

Creo Indians Arrive from the Northwest to Consult in Montana.

FORT KNOX, Mont., Feb. 6.—The following despatch has been received from Lewiston, Mont.: On January 30th, at Gabriel Dumont's ranch, five miles from here, six Cree Indians arrived from the Northwest to hold a council with Gabriel Dumont, one of Riel's lieutenants. They report that about thirty lodges of their tribe are near Fort Assiniboine. There is trouble ahead and another rebellion in the early spring is looked for. They claim to have been driven out. Stockmen are on the lookout, fearing the Cree will run off the horses. The trouble for Feb. 6.—A special agent sent by the Riel Lake reservation is fittingly hither and thither in a most unexplained and mysterious manner. Frequent expeditions are being made to the towns and arms and ammunition are procured in quantities. Indian runners are traversing the country in every direction. Frequent powder-mills in most of the districts are held. Parties recently from the White Earth reservation report alarm and uneasiness over the actions of the Indians.

AN AFFRAY IN PRISON.

A Convict Dangerously Wounded Three Officers Before Being Overpowered.

PETERBOROUGH, Feb. 5.—A serious affray occurred in the Riverside penitentiary this morning, in which Deputies McKean, Greaves and Edwards were injured, the first named dangerously. A prisoner named Jas. Clarke, who is serving a sentence of seven years for burglary, had been ordered to the dungeon for an infraction of the rules. McKean and Greaves required to him to come back to the dungeon. He refused to do so, and in an unprovoked moment he turned upon the men with a large knife, which he had hidden in his coat. He first made a desperate lunge at McKean and plunged the knife into his neck and then stabbed him in the right temple. Turning from McKean he thrust the bloody weapon into Greaves' right shoulder. The noise came to the aid of McKean and Greaves, but before he could render them assistance Clarke felled him to the ground, and jumping upon him, beat and kicked him in a frightful manner. By this time the guards had been alarmed. Clarke was overpowered and placed in the dungeon. The injured men were removed to the hospital, where an examination showed McKean was fatally mortally wounded.

ENGLAND'S UNEMPLOYED.

A Deputation to Lord Salisbury and the Reply of the Ex-Premier.

LONDON, Feb. 5.—The Marquis of Salisbury today received a deputation of unemployed workmen who urged upon him the necessity of asking for government help. Lord Salisbury told the men that he considered the question they presented more serious than the Irish question. He, however, denounced the policy of vague among foreign governments of future industries by the granting of bounties from the public treasury, calling it a false political economy. He expressed the hope that the electors of Great Britain would give parliament the power to license foreign governments to abandon such policies. Concerning the land question Lord Salisbury said the position to help the power by furnishing land to the unemployed was impracticable, for the reason that nobody would invest capital in the work of reclaiming land so long as the good land of the country do not pay. In conclusion, the ex-premier declared that the government and parliament must confront the question of how best to solve the problem of relieving the present general distress. It was growing while the population was increasing and caused emigration. Government support of private enterprise could be a good way to afford temporary relief and the promotion of public works might be another. He would do his utmost to contribute to a satisfactory solution of the problem.

RIEL'S PROMISES.

Rev. Mr. Quinlan Explains How the Indians were Induced to Rebel.

The Rev. Mr. Quinlan, Church of England missionary, who was a captive of Big Bear during the Northwest rebellion, writing to the Canadian Missionary, says:—

"As regards the late uprising I have no hesitation in saying that I thoroughly believe the Indians would never have rebelled but for the biased influence, chiefly through Riel. Several times last winter the chief at Union Lake told me that Big Bear's visit to Riel, how he was taken into a large upper room, grandly furnished, and even invited to sit down to table with the latter. When he expressed surprise, Riel said:—'Yes, my brother, this is a nice house, these are nice things, and I have plenty to eat, but if you do as I tell you, you will have a grander house, better things and plenty to eat. I am poor, but you will be rich. They call you chief now, but it is for nothing. By-and-by you will be a chief in reality, and what I say to you I say to all my brother chiefs, and I want you to tell them my words when you go back.' Then he got Big Bear to sign a paper, promising to obey all future orders Riel should give, and to help him in his contemplated fight with the white man. Our chief said he also signed the same paper, which Riel read aloud by Big Bear to all the chiefs. Big Bear said, whilst we were in his camp, that he was acting under Riel's orders, and that he was the white man. He, doubtless, forgot to exclude the priest. After such promises of so grand a future it will be easily seen the influence it must necessarily have had upon the poor uneducated savages."

ALLANBURY'S MYSTERY.

Verdict of the Jury—Strange Dream of a Son of the Victims.

ST. CATHARINES, Feb. 5.—The inquest on the victims of the Allanburg tragedy was continued today, the jury finding the following verdict:—"That the deceased Mary Bates came to her death on the night of January 22nd, 1886, between the hours of 6 p. m. Friday and 7 o'clock Saturday morning, and that death was caused by fracture of the skull, produced by a heavy instrument in the hands of some person or persons unknown to the jury."

A curious incident is related in connection with this affair. A son of Mrs. Bates, who lives at Port Rowan, had a dream on the night of the murder. The dream as he tells it was that after falling asleep on Friday night, he saw his mother in a white dress, and was taking place in his mother's house near Allanburg. Then he heard a noise in a barn next outside the house to which he went. When he came back he found three burned bodies on the dining-room floor. He felt his mother had been killed and in revenge he lifted one of the bodies to a table, and taking a large butcher knife attempted to cut off its head, when it vanished and he awoke horrified and terribly nervous. He told his wife at breakfast and also that he felt certain some awful calamity had happened to his mother at Allanburg, when strange to say a short time later a telegram was brought to him which announced the intelligence of the Allanburg tragedy.

EFFECTS OF STRIKE.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Feb. 5.—Owing to the continuation of the strike in the Conneville coke regions the prospects of a January in the pig iron market are becoming more serious daily. The supplies of coke and pig iron in the market are growing constantly smaller and iron men say that the prolongation of the strike for a few weeks would almost paralyze the iron business in Ohio and Pennsylvania.

THE CENTURY

For 1885-86.

The remarkable interest in the War Papers and in the many timely articles and strong aerial features published recently in THE CENTURY has given that Magazine a regular circulation of

MORE THAN 200,000 COPIES MONTHLY.

Among the features for the coming volume, which begins with the November number, are:

THE WAR PAPERS BY GENERAL GRANT AND OTHERS.

These will be continued (most of them illustrated) until the chief events of the Civil War have been depicted by leading participants on both sides. General Grant's papers include descriptions of the battles of Chattanooga and the Wilderness. General McClellan will write of Antietam, General D. R. Buell of Shiloh, General Pope, Longstreet and others of the Second Bull Run, etc., etc. Naval campaigns, including the fight between the Kearsarge and the Alabama, by officers of both ships, will be described.

The "Recollections of a Private" and special war papers of an anecdotal or humorous character will be features of the year.

SERIAL STORIES BY W. H. HOWELLS, MARY HALLOCK FOOTE, AND GEO. W. CABLE.

Mr. Howells' serial will be in lighter vein than "The Rise of Silas Lapham." Mrs. Foote's is a story of mining life, and Mr. Cable's a novella of the Americans of Louisiana. Mr. Cable will also contribute a series of papers on "Slave songs and dances, including negro serenade songs, etc."

SPECIAL FEATURES.

Include "A Tricentennial Pilgrimage to Rome," illustrated by Pennell; Historical Papers by Edward Eggleston, and others; Papers on Peru, by S. G. W. Benjamin, lately U. S. minister, with numerous illustrations; Astronomical Articles, practical and popular, on "Solar Eclipses," "Papers on Christ in Unity by representatives of various religious denominations; Papers on Manual Education, by various experts, etc., etc."

SHORT STORIES BY FRANK R. STOCKTON, Mrs. Helen Jackson (H. H.), Mrs. Mary Hallack Foote, Joel Chandler Harris, R. H. Blyden, T. A. Janvier, Julian Hawthorne, Richard M. Johnson, and others; and poems by leading poets. The Department, "Open Letters," "The Star-Board," etc., will be fully sustained.

THE ILLUSTRATIONS.

Will be kept up to the standard which has made THE CENTURY engravings famous the world over.

DEATH OF REV. DR. MCGREGOR.

The Agent of the Presbyterian Church of Canada Dies at Halifax.

HALIFAX, N. S., Feb. 5.—The death occurred here this morning of Rev. Peter G. McGregor, D. D., agent since 1886 of the Presbyterian Church of Canada, which position meant business manager. Dr. McGregor was a native of East River, Pictou Co., N. S., and received his theological education at Halifax, under the late Rev. Dr. Thomas McCulloch. He was for some time pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Guysboro, and for a number of years subsequently, minister for the old Poplar Grove Church, Halifax. As moderator of the oldest Synod, it fell to him in 1875 to constitute the first General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada. At that time Dr. McGregor was the financial agent of the Synod of the Presbyterian Church of the Lower Provinces, and he has continued in his official capacity up to the time of his death. He was a great loss to the Church of which he was a distinguished representative. He was an accomplished scholar and a beautiful writer. In business he was punctual, painstaking and diligent beyond most men. Dr. McGregor's private life had all the attractiveness of a general, accomplished gentleman. He leaves two sons, one of whom is a prominent professor in Dalhousie College, and seven daughters living.

A MODERN SEA FIGHT.

What Would Likely be the Result of a Battle Between Ironclads.

People often wonder what would be the result of a great naval battle at the present time. Would the loss of time be great? Let us try to describe, shortly, a few of the probable features of a fight between two fleets of modern ironclads. Although two hostile fleets might approach one another in some tractable formation, this could not be adhered to for any length of time, and the battle would soon become a series of independent duels between individual ships. This is at once apparent when we consider that most, if not all, of the ships would have rams, and it would, therefore, be highly necessary for a captain to have perfect control over the movements of his ship, to prevent her being rammed by any enemy. At the outset of the action the torpedo boats would probably take a very active part, and, until exterminated, which they certainly would be in time, would acquire great attention, and be effective in sinking a few ships. It may be safely concluded that every ship would be steaming fast during the action, this being necessary to avoid being rammed, to get into favorable positions for discharging torpedoes, and to elude the fire of an enemy. Heavy gun fire would, of course, be maintained from the commencement of the action, and those ships whose engines had been disabled from this cause would speedily be rammed; and at this point we consider that great loss of life would take place, for the reason that the boats of the ship, being always exposed to the machine gun fire, would at an early stage of the action be riddled and shattered with shot, and in the incredibly short time in which a ship sinks after being rammed it would be impossible for the crew to improvise any means to save themselves from drowning. No steps seem yet to have been taken by our admiralty with a view of providing for this contingency. It has been suggested that a hospital ship bearing the Geneva cross should accompany a fleet into action to receive the wounded. We would make a further suggestion—namely, that this ship should be provided with vast quantities of bandages, and should have their specific nature, which should be proved to the assistance of a sinking ship. By this means a number of men might be saved who would otherwise be drowned. It is not probable that the loss of life from gun fire would be large, as a great part of the crew of an ironclad would be under water the rest being inside armored portions of the ship. Few ships would be able to get into favorable positions for discharging Whitehead torpedoes from their tubes; even if they did so, the course of one of these machines is so erratic when discharged from a ship in motion that it would in nearly every case miss its mark. The time for the use of Whiteheads would be from the torpedo boats at the commencement of the fight. To sum up, it is the opinion of many naval men of authority that a modern naval battle would only occupy about one half the time of a fight in the old Trafalgar days; that half the ships employed would be sunk, and that most of the remainder would be so battered as to be unfit for further service for months to come. —Chambers' Journal.

A Compliment to Canadians.
Dr. Lyman Abbott, of the Christian Union who has been in Toronto, says a word in favour of Canadian auditors. He says they do not require so many "points" as American ones. Their attention is more easily kept without any aid from jokes, odd sayings, anecdotes, pathetic or highly ornamented passages, etc. They take an interest in the substance of what a man is saying, if he is talking of a subject deserving of attention, and do not ask them to fire off rockets every minute to keep them awake. Now, says Dr. Abbott, we have a great calamity to be paid to them in this, and that they will try to do it, not only in the present, but in the future. It really means either that they have reached a higher intellectual development than their American cousins, or that they didn't enter upon a certain stage of degeneration upon which the latter have entered. The second view of the case appears to us to be the more likely of the two. The Americans have had every chance for development that we have had; but they have been so talked at that rival speakers in order to catch attention have had to bid against one another furiously in the way of bombast, and every other possible device for keeping interest alive. The result now is that American audiences take the bombast, the oratorical fireworks, and leave all the rest. Between glasses, broadly speaking, their minds are more or less blank. Now it will be a great calamity to the Canadian people should they fall into the same unprofitable intellectual state. Let us strive then to keep up healthy appetites, for healthy intellectual life; and when Dr. Lyman Abbott pays us another visit, let him find us as before, only more so. —Montreal Star.

Winnipeg Forger Arrested.
NEW LARDO, Mex., Feb. 6.—Scott, the Winnipeg forger, was arrested here yesterday on a telegraphic order from the Mexican authorities at the city of Mexico. The order was granted "as an act of courtesy on the request of the Dominion Government that the Mexican Government permit Scott to be taken to the United States where he would be subject to extradition. An officer left the city of Mexico last night with the necessary papers. Scott has secured counsel and will contest the matter. It is certainly remarkable the wonderful cures effected by the World's Wonder or Family Liniment. This remedy has not an equal in the world for the speedy cure of Rheumatism, Sprains, Cuts, Bruises and all diseases requiring external application. Price 25 cents and 50 cents per bottle. Sold by J. D. Tully.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 8, 1886.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

English Literature.

The Y. M. C. A. Class is still occupied in studying "Kyk Lear" under Mr. B. Earl. The class is open to all young men.

Shooting.

Mr. George McKel, of Campbellford, has issued a challenge to any man in Ontario, bar J. Black, of Fergus, to have a five mile race at Campbellford for sixty dollars a side.

Social.

A social will be held at Mrs. Geo. E. Shaw's, Stewart Street, on Thursday evening, Feb. 11th, in aid of the building fund of St. John's South Ward Sunday School. An excellent programme has been prepared. Admission 15 cts.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Strong winds between north and west, mostly fair, decidedly milder weather, with a general thaw.

Another.

Messrs. Knox Bros. soda water and ginger ale manufacturers, recently of Belleville, have moved their plant to Peterborough and will, in the course of a week or two, open out their establishment, which will be situated on the west side of the north part of George street. When they commence business Peterboro will be able to boast of three ginger ale factories.

It May Be Marked.

—That a meeting of the Town Council is called for to-morrow.
—That the hour of the Trent Valley Canal meeting, to be held on Wednesday, is 1.30 p.m.
—That the place of the meeting is the Council Chamber.
—That there should be a larger representation of townspeople present.
—That business was dull at the Police Court this morning.

Counterfeit Two Dollar Bills.

The Mail says that there is at present in circulation a number of counterfeit two dollar Dominion bills. The note counterfeited is the "C" series of the Dufferin issue, dated Toronto, June 1st, 1878. All are signed "J. Nash," the "a" being blotted in the counterfeit. This is the only series of Canadian notes, except the old Dominion of Canada ones, very few of which are in circulation, that are counterfeited.

Trent Valley Canal.

Among other subjects to come before the Town Council this evening, is that of appointing representatives to the meeting to be held on Wednesday afternoon, in favor of the Trent Valley Canal. We would suggest, that as has been done by other Councils, the whole body should form the delegation for that purpose. There could not be any subject more important for our future prosperity, and there should be no lethargy.

A Battle.

On Sunday afternoon at about three o'clock, the Salvation Army were out on the usual parade. While moving down Simcoe street, a young man named Wall who was driving along in a cutter attempted to pass. In doing so he skirted along quite close to the edge of the procession. Ted Webb did not like to see the horse in so close quarters and while it was passing him he gave it a crack on the head with his jingling tambourine. The horse jumped to one side, but not before Wall had retaliated by giving Webb a cut with the whip. The Army then turned on Wall and vigorously belabored him with flags, drum sticks, and other implements of war, while Wall stood up and plied the whip with great energy, cutting and slashing right and left among those who came within range. At length the soldiers retired in good order and Wall drove down street as far as the corner. There he turned round, and as if to invite another attack, drove past the army again. This time, however, he was not molested.

ALL WINTER GOODS are marked down to cost to make room for spring goods at ANDREW McNELL'S, George street.

THE PETERBOROUGH MARKET

Why the Farming Community Prefer to Sell their Grain Here

The Belleville correspondent of the Lindsay Warbler writes:—

"A large number of farmers in this vicinity are drawing their grain to Peterborough where market was Lindsay. The merchants of Lindsay would do well to look to their interests in our county town, as when farmers can get from fifteen to eighteen cents per bushel more in Peterborough than in Lindsay they would be very foolish if they did not take it there."

To ascertain the truth of the foregoing the REVIEW reporter called on a prominent local grain buyer and showed him the item.

After adjusting his spectacles the buyer carefully perused it and then said: "Well, that's so, so far as barley is concerned. There is no competition in Lindsay and the buyer can get it at his own price."

REPORTER—"Is the competition keen at this point?"

BUYER—"Yes, very keen; the competition between the buyers is very strong."

REPORTER—"How is it that you buyers can afford to give so much more for other kinds of grain than is given at other neighboring towns?"

BUYER—"Well, you see, a great amount of the grain bought in here stands in Peterborough. The millers buy in and manufacture both for the local and outside market. That condition of things has a certain effect on the market."

REPORTER—"The Lindsay Warbler says that Victoria grain is of a better quality than that grown in Peterborough or nearby."

BUYER—"All I know about that is this: The Government Inspector came here a short time ago and he told me that the Peterborough grain was the only grain in the district that came up to the standard weight."

One thing that influences the farmers of this district to bring their grain to Peterborough, not mentioned by the buyer, is the attractiveness of the town itself. They like to come to a stirring, lively place. But that isn't all. They find that they can purchase all kinds of commodities at considerably cheaper rates than at other adjacent towns. It pays them from two points of view to come here: they get more for their produce and they buy their provisions at lower prices.

GENTS' CARDIGAN JACKETS marked down to cost to make room for spring goods at ANDREW McNELL'S, George street.

Bargains! Bargains!

Cheap sales are now the order of the day. Mr. H. LeBrun has fallen in line and from now to the end of the month will sell off fall and winter goods at cost. Now is the time for gentlemen to lay in a stock of first quality underclothing and all sorts of furnishings at low rates. The goods are all new.

The Carnival.

Arrangements are steadily progressing for the grand Shakespearean Carnival to be held on Friday afternoon and evening, February 19th. The Children's Carnival in the afternoon will be a most enjoyable event for the little folks, while it is confidently expected, that the Shakespearean Carnival in the evening will surpass anything ever held in this section of the county.

Dangerous.

The snow and ice that has accumulated on the projecting eaves of the buildings on George street renders walking along the street unsafe, to say the least. An instance was given at the post office at noon to-day of the danger that pedestrians are in these warm days. A lady left her child in her little sleigh on the sidewalk while she went in to get her mail. When coming out again she just got outside in time to see a huge mass of snow and ice, loosened from the eave of the building by the warmth of the sunshine, come down with a crash just about two feet from where the child's sleigh stood. The child didn't scream, but the mother made due amends for any lack of the display of fright on the child's part.

In Clover.

Wood and coal dealers are a very strange class. Cold weather, instead of depressing their spirits, puts them in ecstasies of delight. All last week, when the thermometers were frantically with each other in diving matches, and when other people were alternately deploring the cold and hugging the stove, these peculiar people appeared to be as merry as merry could be. Now when the mild season sets in, when the balmy air thaws out the chill, and the spirits of the people rapidly rise at the snuff of springtime, those of the coal and wood dealers, in the other side of the scale, drop, sink, and they are despondent. One coal dealer alone sold over one hundred tons of coal during last week.

GENTS' ALL WOOL SHIRTS AND DRAWERS marked down to cost to make room for spring goods at ANDREW McNELL'S, George street.

Recognized.

The importance of Peterborough's pork packing trade is duly recognized in the last issue of the Montreal Trade Bulletin. It says that the price of hogs in the Chatham district during the last week had advanced from $1.35 per cent to $1.60 and that the buying in the points along the Canada Southern and Great Western lines is virtually over, there being very few hogs available. It also remarks that "Tucoto, Hamilton and Peterborough have taken large quantities of the best hogs obtainable for their trade in cut meats, etc." The receipts at Montreal of dressed hogs have largely fallen off as compared with the receipt a last year. When speaking of Peterborough the Trade Bulletin means Geo. Matthews for his packing establishment is the only one here. Mr. Matthews has not only used all the local supply of dressed hogs available but has been compelled to import. His representatives have been purchased at Essex Centre, Chatham, Biddisford, Belle River, and other western points, and up to date he has brought in about two thousand hogs. Mr. Matthews says that it is probable that his operations during the succeeding years will probably be on a much larger scale than during the past.

Charlotte Street Church.

Evangelistic services will be held every night this week, except Saturday, in the school room of the Charlotte Street Church, commencing each evening at half past seven. Everyone will be welcome.

Stone.

Mr. James Byrne and a gang of quarrymen left town to-day for Warsaw, where they will operate for the next two months in the Warsaw quarry. The stone to be quarried is to come to Peterborough to be used in building operations next summer. One bulldozer alone is getting one hundred yards.

For Belroom and George Street, go to A. Clegg.

Dissolved.

The firm of Pousette & Roger, barristers, attorneys and solicitors, which has been in existence for the past twelve years, was dissolved on Saturday. In 1872 Mr. A. P. Pousette came to this town and entered into partnership with Messrs. Boulthée & Fairbairn, the firm afterwards going under the name of Boulthée & Fairbairn & Pousette. In 1874 Messrs. Fairbairn and Pousette purchased Mr. Boulthée's interest in the firm, but the same year Mr. Fairbairn died. Mr. Pousette then went into partnership with Mr. Geo. Roger and during the twelve years the firm existed, it has enjoyed both large patronage and the confidence of the general public. In addition to the practice of law Messrs. Pousette & Roger, in 1878, entered into a separate business, becoming the Managers and Solicitors of the Peterborough Real Estate Investment Company, and, up till Saturday last, continued in such capacity. But it has become apparent for the last year or two, from the steady and rapid increase in the company's business, that it would be necessary to have one manager to give his time exclusively to the management of the company's affairs. By mutual consent it was agreed that Mr. Roger should retire altogether from the practice of law and assume the management of the affairs of the company, and that Mr. Pousette devote his whole time to his profession. A meeting of the directors of the company was held in their offices on Saturday morning, when Mr. Roger was appointed sole manager.

MINDEN.

SUPPER DEATH.—Mrs. Bonny, wife of Mr. Richard Bonny, of Minden township, died suddenly at her late residence on Sunday last. The deceased it appears had her feet frozen last winter, and she has been suffering more or less from this cause ever since. Her death was a surprise to the locality, as it was not known that she was ill until her death was announced. She had no medical attendant so that it is not generally known what was the cause of death.

DIPHTHERIA.—The only remnant of the dreadful scourge in the neighborhood, is in the family of James Fairfield, in the township of Minden, and of a family of eight children four have been carried off by it, the eldest, a bright girl of about 14, a boy of about 11, another about five, and a baby of about eighteen months. The remaining four children are progressing favourably towards recovery. Mrs. Fairfield, mother of the children, also had a slight attack of the disease.—Echo.

The Bark Secret of a Crime.

HARTFORD, Conn., Feb. 6.—During the late war a recruiting officer on duty in Connecticut was murdered. Three men were suspected of the crime—John Gilbert, his son Charles and one Henry Parsons. The latter was tried and acquitted, but young Gilbert was convicted and received a life sentence. Many years later, when his father died, he at last broke his silence and said that the murder was committed by Parsons and his father, whose liberty he had secured by his silence. Parsons was at once sought for and was eventually traced to a solitary hut on the bank of the Connecticut river, where for years he had been living alone and subsisting on what he could earn by hunting and fishing. He was avoided by those who knew his history, every reference to which threw him into a rage. He died a few days ago from the effects of a drunken debauch, and on his death bed was vainly urged to reveal that secret which could restore Gilbert, now a gray headed broken down man, to liberty.

Dr. Barnardo's Work.

Dr. Barnardo recently gave a supper to two thousand street Arabs at the People's Mission Church, adjoining the Edinburgh Castle Coffee Palace, in the Rotherwell road, Burdett road, E. London Eng. He afterwards selected 200 from among them for immediate admission to one of the 21 institutions in the various parts of the United Kingdom and in the colonies, comprehended under the title of "Dr. Barnardo's Homes for Destitute Children." These who were accepted, new kept two or three days in temporary refuge until all the facts of their history were elucidated, and their own statements corroborated. If the qualification of destitution was established, they are drafted to the houses, in which at present about 1500 children are maintained. After passing some time there, some of them may be sent over to Canada, and placed out respectably in life. Some 400 of Dr. Barnardo's children were despatched in parties to Canada last year, and it is intended to emigrate 600 before midsummer next.

They Were Even.

Husband—"Here's a new wrinkle; ladies' silk stockings have snakes on 'em."
Wife—"Yes, I know. I have just bought a pair of that kind of hose."
Husband—"What, with snakes on 'em?"
Wife—"Yes."
Husband—"They're all right. I can drink as much as I please now."
Wife—"What do you mean?"
Husband—"Well, you see, if you have snakes on your stockings you can't but find fault with me if I should happen to have 'em in my boots."

The Part of a True Wife.

We are asked if it is wrong to advertise for a husband. A manly not. If a husband does not know enough to advertise for himself, it is the imperative duty of a wife who has an interest in his welfare to do it for him. This rule is without exception.—Birmingham Republic.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Commissioners and Brokers say that the present strong market is due to a number of causes, among which are the trunk line and coal business, the subsidence of the silver scare and the general feeling of confidence in the immediate future. They say that its leaders who last week controlled markets, will probably continue to advance specialties and all indications are that the markets will go higher. They believe the government appropriations for internal improvements will stimulate the iron trade. Other industries which will in time lead to increased buying of railway securities.

TO DEPOSITORS—Deposits are received by this Company both on current account and for periods of one year or longer. The rate of interest paid on amounts deposited on current account and which may be withdrawn by check in such sum as the depositor may from time to time require, is FOUR per cent, either paid or compounded half-yearly, and the rate on yearly deposits is FIVE per cent.

TO INVESTORS—The five and ten year FIVE PER CENT DEBENTURES of this Company which are issued in denominations of $100, $200, $500 and $1000 each, transferable by endorsement, with half-yearly interest Coupons attached, payable at the Head Office of the Company in Peterborough, or at any Branch of the Bank of Toronto in Canada, afford a safe and convenient mode of investment.
The funds of the Company being invested in first mortgages on Real Estate, no better security can be offered to depositors or debenture holders, they having a first claim on mortgage on the whole Assets of the Company, the shareholders having the second. The annual statement shows that the amount invested was over $200,000, and on the security of real estate at least double that value.

By the laws of Ontario, Trustees, Executors and Administrators may deposit Trust Funds of the estate which they control in this Company, and are free from all further liability, a privilege of which may have largely availed themselves.
Money is obtainable from this Company on approved Real Estate security at the Lowest Current Rates of Interest.

The Mortgage may be repaid by yearly instalments, or otherwise, as may be agreed upon, the interest ceasing at once on all amounts paid on account of the sum borrowed.

Applications may be made either to the Head Office, or to any of the Agents.

Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 9, 1886.

M. P. F. FOR WEST PETERBOROUGH.

It is not at all likely that the member for West Peterborough in the Provincial Legislature will be thought to have "shirked a vote." But to leave no excuse to those who may pretend to think so, it may be well to mention, what is generally known, that Mr. Carnegie was summoned by telegram to the sick bed of his son, then in extreme danger, and now happily some what better, though still very ill. As Mr. Carnegie was thus at Indian Point, near Coburn, he was deprived of the opportunity of opposing the Mowat Administration in its advocacy of Riel's cause.

Charlotte Street Church.

Evangelistic service will be held every night this week, except Saturday, in the school room of the Charlotte Street Church, commencing each evening at half past seven. Everyone will be welcome.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Strong winds or moderate gales from south east and a thaw, fair mild weather, followed by rain or sleet at night.

To the Unemployed.

Mr. H. C. Rogers, has received a card from Geo. T. Stewart, of Belleville, stating that he would be obliged if the Post Master would forward him the names of any persons in Peterborough who are unemployed and that he can give employment to as many as are willing to work.

The Ancient Mariner.

On Thursday evening an exhibition of stereoscopic views, illustrative of Coleridge's weird poem, the Ancient Mariner, will be given in Bradburn's Opera House. The illustrations are taken from the original paintings of the celebrated painter, J. M. W. Turner, and of great excellence. Mr. O'Connor, Principal of the Lindsay Collegiate Institute, presents these views to the public, and that, of itself, is sufficient to guarantee their real worth. Admission 25 cents.

Still They Come.

Another new paper has made its appearance and, perhaps, another long felt is supplied. The first issue of the Woodstock Standard is a very neat looking paper—eight pages, fifty-six columns. It is very nicely printed with clear type and contains a large quantity of reading matter. There are two things in this issue, however, that should put its readers on their guard. It calls Mr. Halse's speech a "misrepresentation," and in one place states that its circulation is 7,500, while in another place it states that within twelve months its circulation will not be far short of 5,000. These two things, grandiloquent praise of Mr. Halse and self-contradiction, show it to be a Reform paper of the most pronounced kind.

The Concert.

All arrangements have been satisfactory completed for Mr. J. A. Dacot's concert at Bradburn's Opera House on Friday night. Mr. H. C. Gardner, the renowned cornetist, has sent a card stating that he will play "Polka Dots," "Concert Visions," by A. Liberato, and "Sancho Pedro Polka," composed by himself. The starting brilliance of Mr. Gardner's cornet performance is said to be thrilling. The violin solo, a duet and trios by Mr. Dacot's pupils will form an attractive feature in the concert. Those who are to take part have been under Mr. Dacot's training for a considerable length of time, and much is expected from them. An orchestra of twenty pieces will give operatic selections at intervals during the evening. Miss Annie Howden, of Milbrook, now decidedly a favorite among the music loving of Peterborough, will sing some of her newest songs.

Burdette Lecture.

Tickets for sale at T. Menzies, China Hall, Salisbury's, Taylor & McDonald's and at A. L. Davis & Co's. Reserved seats at the last named place.

Social.

A social will be held at Mrs. Geo. E. Shaw's, Stewart Street, on Thursday evening, Feb. 11th, in aid of the building fund of St. John's South Ward Sunday School. An excellent programme has been prepared. Admission 15 cts.

Can Club.

The regular weekly practice by members of the Gun Club was held in the Riverside Park on Monday afternoon. The scores made well, take in all, fully up to the mark. Messrs. Tivey, H. C. Kent and H. Neil, especially distinguished themselves.

GENTS' LINED KID GLOVES marked down to cost to make room for spring goods at ANDREW McNELL'S, George street.

The Chief of Police.

There are now in the hands of the Town Clerk about thirty applications for the position of Chief of the Peterborough police force. These applications have come from all over the country, from Winnipeg to Montreal, and still they come. A number of the applicants have sent in their photographs when submitting their applications. If the position is left unfilled much longer the Clerk's office will be transformed into (in appearance) a photograph gallery.

Special Services.

Last Sunday was a memorable day in the Charlotte Street Church. All the services were of unusual interest, and attended by very large congregations. In the evening, eighteen new members were publicly received into the church. The evangelistic service held last night drew a crowded house, and was of a very warm and deep interest. These services will be continued every night this week, except Saturday. The public are invited.

Who is Burdette?

He is the celebrated humorist of the Burlington Hawkeye, and lectures in Peterborough, Ontario, on Monday, Feb. the 15th. The Lafayette Courier says of his lecture entitled "Advice to Young Men":—"It is enough to say that as an exquisite specimen of word-painting it was worthy of Dickens. In original and genuine humor it was as pure, fresh, and sparkling as a mountain brook, and in its little touches of pathos, and in its deeper waters where he touched the sad and serious problems of life, it flowed as calm and majestic as a river."

GENTS' ALL WOOL SHIRTS and DRAWERS marked down to cost to make room for spring goods at ANDREW McNELL'S, George street.

Romeo, Come Forth!

Let no tempter in a tea pot deter you from preparing for the carnival on the evening of Friday, Feb. 19th. From every hamlet people should attend. Merry wives, daughters and gentlemen will be present, in costume and as spectators. No one will wear a pretty costume, and the labor of preparing it will not be much ado about nothing, for the pretty attire will be greatly admired, and prizes will be given. Have your costumes as you like it and try for a prize. At the children's carnival in the afternoon there will be fairer merriment than in a midsummer's night's dream.

Catching Colds—Its Causes.

Few persons have recognized the origin of yellow fever; about the primary cause of asthma we are yet all in the dark; but in regard to "colds" alone, the prevailing misconception of the truth has reached the degree of mistaking the cause for a cure and the most effective cure for the cause of the disease. If we inquire after the cause, ninety nine patients out of a hundred, and at least nine out of ten physicians, would answer "Cold weather," "Raw March wind," or "Cold draughts," in other words, outdoor air of a low temperature. If we inquire after the best cure, the answer would be "Warmth and protection against cold draughts,"—i.e., warm, stagnant, indoor air. Now, I maintain that it can be proved with as absolute certainty as any physiological fact admits of being proved, that warm, vitiated indoor air is the cause, and cold outdoor air is the best cure of catarrh. Many people "catch cold" every month in the year, and then two or three times a month. Very few get off with less than three colds a year; so that an annual average of five colds would probably be an under estimate. For the United States alone that would give a yearly aggregate of two hundred and fifty-five million "colds."

"Colds" are, indeed, less frequent in mid-winter than at the beginning of spring. Frost is such a powerful disinfectant that in very cold nights the lung-purifying atmosphere of few houses can resist its purifying influence; in spite of padded doors, in spite of "weather-strips" and double windows, it reduces the indoor temperature enough to paralyze the floating disease germs. The rarefied force of a polar night-frost exercises that function with such resistible vigor that it dries the preventive measures of human skill; and all Arctic travellers agree that among the natives of Iceland, Greenland and Labrador pulmonary diseases are actually unknown. Protracted cold weather thus prevents epidemic catarrhs; but during the first thaw nature succumbs to art; an insular stove fire sets their fumes to the effluvia of the dormitory, tight-fitting doors and windows exclude means of salvation; superfluous triumphs; the lung poison operates, and the next morning a sneezing, coughing and red-nosed family discuss the cause of their affliction. "Taken cold"—that much they permit without debate. But where and when? Last evening, probably, when the warm south wind tempted them to open the window for a moment. Or "when those visitors from the thawing roof fell on my neck." Or else the boys caught it by playing in the garden and not changing their stockings when they came home. It would, then, be a person cannot be too careful, as long as there is any snow on the ground. But even that explanation fails in spring; and, when the incubatory influence of the thaws at most heat is brought to bear on the luxuriant catarrhs of a large city, a whole district school of it often tapers into a sniffling congress. The latter part of March is the season of epidemic colds.—Felix L. Oswald, M.D.

SERIOUS RIOT IN LONDON

THE CAPITAL OF THE EMPIRE IN THE HANDS OF A MOB.

A Demonstration of Unemployed Managed by Socialists—Houses, Clubs and Hotels Wrecked and Plundered.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—The starving mechanics of London held a mass meeting in Trafalgar square which resulted in a riot. The proceedings were opened with an assembly of 10,000. The police were present in large numbers. Burns, a socialist, entered at police, and finally ascended Nelson's monument to deliver a harangue. The police ordered him down, and tried to force compliance, but with the assistance of the mob he retained his ground. Fiery speeches were made and a strong resolution adopted. The House of Commons was denounced and an attack on the baker's shop threatened.

From Trafalgar square the mob poured along Piccadilly on its way to Hyde park, cursing the authorities, attacking the shops, sacking the salons, getting drunk, and smashing windows. On its way the front of the mob made an effort to enter the War office, but turned away when the sentinel at the entrance confronted the intruders with his bayonet. Conspicuous among the buildings attacked by this mob was that occupied as a residence by Arnold Morley, the newly appointed patronage secretary. The police along the route to Hyde park were brushed out of the way by the rioters as so many men of straw, and many of the officers terribly whipped for their interference.

Mr. Arnold Morley's residence is in the Piccadilly portion of this route. The house was formerly occupied by John Bright and was well known to many of the mob. When the rioters approached the house to-day Mr. Morley loudly called for help and a number of policemen for a moment stood in the way of the mob, but finally they were swept aside and a host of desperate men rushed up Mr. Morley's steps. He had locked and barricaded his door, but it was burst open against his face and the house was overrun, despite his frantic screams and protests. When the rioters went away they left a scene of a sad state of glass in the building. A very great number of other private houses along the route were attacked and many of them were looted. The attack upon the Devonshire club took place at the very beginning of the riot, and was very savage. When the mob passed Hancote's hotel, 67 and 68 Piccadilly, many of the rank and file were hungry, and they made a rush for the hotel. They had it in their possession in a moment, and they sacked it of food and drink and left the building badly wrecked. As the men were leaving the hotel they saw a carriage which had been pressed up against the curb by the police for protection and been abandoned by its frightened occupants. It was seized, and in no instant broken up and the spikes, shafts and other pieces were carried away for clubs.

The Trafalgar Club, being in Piccadilly, presented a temptation to the rioters as they passed, and they smashed all its front doors and windows with stones. All along Regent and Oxford streets, between Piccadilly and Hyde Park, houses were attacked indiscriminately and their windows smashed in.

After Burns had been driven away from the Nelson monument by the police, and had spoken from the National Gallery wall and Carlton club steps, a savage fight took place between the rioters, the socialists and anti-socialists. The battle raged for some time but the socialists proved victorious, and they lifted Burns to their shoulders and bore him aloft to Regent street, where with him they succeeded in breaking the crowd towards Hyde park Burns, leading the whole way. At the park, Burns, again addressed the mob. This speech was even more violent than the others he had made. The language was exhorting to the rioters to address was well calculated to set the crowd loose upon the town. Burns was followed by several other socialist speakers who did all in their power to stir up strife.

When the speaking was over the mob broke up into sections and disappeared from the scene. The main body went back east along Oxford street again. The afflicted residents along this thoroughfare had not yet recovered from the panic and the mob had the street in its power. They smashed every window they noticed. The wine shops were broken in and their contents distributed freely to whoever wished to drink. The beer saloons were similarly treated. Tailor shops were broken into and the clothes and rolls of cloth were thrown out into the street, to be taken by those strong-est in the fight which resulted.

Every person met who looked like a foreigner was at once or beaten from the street. Scores of times policemen attempted to make arrests but were every time beaten and compelled to surrender their prisoners.

In the meantime several thousand rioters remained in Trafalgar square during the police to come on and making rushes at the constables and other obnoxious persons. In one of these rushes the mob overthrew two heavy granite pillars. These fell across Charing Cross and blocked the traffic to and from the Charing Cross railway station. The police made several desperate exertions to clear away the obstruction, but were easily resisted every time by the mob. This mob held their ground so well at Trafalgar square that until they voluntarily abandoned the scene the entire power of the police proved insufficient to clear a way to one of the most important railway stations in the world, large enough to permit even a single carriage line to pass to or from the depot.

Some time after dark the mob gradually left Trafalgar square. They went away satisfied that without having actually collided with the police they had won the day. As the mob dispersed its sections made havoc on the streets until they dwindled away.

The police were powerless at first, but ultimately succeeded in restoring order by breaking up the ranks of the rioters into small squads. The military were kept under arms all the evening, while police forces patrolled the streets.

THE PROBLEM SOLVED

HOW THE MILL OWNERS AND THE ANTI-SAWDUST ASSOCIATION

Come to an Understanding—The Opposite Sides Addressed the Council in Committee—Conclusions Made.

The concluding proceedings at the Council meeting on Monday night was the taking up and thoroughly sifting the sawdust nuisance question.

On motion, the Council went into a committee of the whole on the second reading of a memorial to Government, praying that the petition of the millowners, in regard to exempting the Ottonabee river from operation of the Fisheries and Navigation Act, be not granted. Councillor Manley took the chair.

An invitation was extended to representatives of the millowners and of the Anti-Sawdust Association to speak on the question.

It was agreed to limit the speakers to ten minutes each, and the number to three on each side.

Mr. E. B. EDWARDS was the first to speak. He said that the members of the Anti-Sawdust Association bore no malice toward the millowners; but on the contrary, did not wish unjustly to do them any harm. There had been but one prosecution brought against the millowners for ten years, at which time the boat-dock took up the matter. All this time accumulations had been steadily gathering, and now the sawdust in the lake was, in many places, within two feet of the surface of the water in ordinary low water. There were even mounds of sawdust protruding above the surface of the water. This state of things resulted in the formation of the Anti-Sawdust Association, whom he represented, their object being to secure the removal of the sawdust in the lake and to prevent the deposit of any more in the future. They did not want to drive the mill owners out of town but to endeavor to induce them to use such appliances as would prevent the sawdust and other refuse from falling into the river. He then considered the nuisance from the health point of view and stated that while Peterborough had not as yet been greatly affected, other places had, from the same cause. Peterborough would suffer if this thing was allowed to go on. As soon as the sawdust rose above the surface so as to be exposed to the sun it would rapidly decompose, and that meant wholesale malaria.

In the recent action the millowners had tried to balk proceedings in every way they could, finally asking Government to give them exemption. If that were done there would be great danger. The town would have no control of the river.

The operation of the Fisheries Act once suspended the Act was repealed. It was, however, different with the Navigation Act; suspension did not mean repeal in that case. It had been urged that the cost would be tremendous, and yet other mills had put in such appliances. He thought the whole thing could be done for $2,000 or $3,000. Some of the great men opposite had stated that the cost would be many times that amount. Indeed it had been said that the cost would be $20,000 or $30,000, and even up to $40,000. There was a great discrepancy here. A full investigation should be held now if it was found that the cost would be great, the town should cause the millowners to put in the new appliances. The question of health was above that of expense. The accumulations were continuing of late years, the western channel at the mouth of the river at Rice Lake was filled and the Ashburnham wharf was not to be reached at all by steamers now. He was sorry that action had been taken to put the millowners to any trouble, but it was done in the interests of public health. In reply to Councillor Cahill, he read a report from the Provincial Board of Health which stated that Spaulding's Bay was a roused compared with what the lake would be in a few years. He read also other reports also condemning the result of the deposit of sawdust in the lake. In reply to Mr. Irvine he acknowledged that the appliances for burning sawdust at his company's mill on the Ottawa cost $7,000.

Mr. HILLIARD commenced by reiterating a former statement—that this agitation was commenced by young sports. They had started the ball rolling. The action reminded him of a child commencing to walk. It brooded itself up by a chair, then its eye on another, and then makes a dash for it. Unfortunately it did not observe the way which lay in the way and down it tumbled. The Anti-Sawdust Association did not seem to know what it would cost the mill owners to change their mills. They merely got their eye fixed on the objective point and then made a dash for it regardless of everything. It was not, he wished the council to note, it was not the solid men of this town who took up the agitation against the millowners, but a few young sports. To show what would have to be done if these laws were enforced he would simply state his own case. The first place he would have to tear down his mill, raise the foundation six or seven feet and substitute different machinery. He would have to introduce carriers, raise all the platforms about the mill, then buy a furnace and carry off the stuff twenty or thirty rods. Having a furnace there meant an increase in his insurance. He did not think he was prepared to do this. He acknowledged that there was sawdust in the lake, but it just formed a covering for the slabs and edgings that were deposited by the wharves forty years ago. If those slabs were not there to catch the sawdust, the sawdust would be washed out every spring and carried away. The channel Mr. Edwards spoke of was a channel that could be got through for years and years only in moderately high water. Mr. Edwards had said that the Ashburnham wharf was unapproachable in 1879, but there was no wonder that accumulations had been made in late years. As far as health was concerned this was acknowledged to be among the healthiest towns in the country. A certain doctor said that he was compelled to leave town on account of the sawdust so that he might get better. He knew of no one who came to Peterborough for the same thing and the Peterborough air invariably did them good. (Laughter.) He called attention to what the milling interest had done for Peterborough, not only directly but indirectly by fostering other industries. The foundation of the Hamilton Manufacturing Company's works was laid by the Peterborough mills and this foundry now sent mill machinery to every province in the Dominion. It was not the fact that the mill built up Peterborough. In reply to Mr. Rutherford, he said that it would cost him at least $7,000 to reconstruct his mill. In steam or geared mills, the difficulty could be obviated by merely any expense, but in the case of Pitman mills nothing short of tearing down the whole building could prevent all of the sawdust from falling into the river. He said the effect of Vessels Strickland and to put in the appliances if that was what was a most gross humbug. It was Strickland's and Chalmers who should commence first, then friend Irvine, and then his turn would come. (Applause.)

Mr. J. Z. ROGERS had always been against the deposit of sawdust in the river. He knew as a lumber mill owner there was great difficulty in the way of preventing the sawdust from falling into the river. But the damage that had been done by the accumulation of sawdust in the Lake was very great—so great that many did not know the extent of it—and it should be put to an end by some means. If any manufacturer perpetrate a nuisance it should be promptly suppressed. It was well known that the mill owners did not try to keep out the sawdust, all of it was dumped into the stream. This was a nuisance and measures should be taken to abate it.

Mr. LAWSON said he would relate some of the statements made by Messrs. Rogers and Edwards. He read the report by Mr. Rogers, formerly superintendent of the Trent Valley works, in which he stated that he had examined the mills and found only a very small percentage of the sawdust following the pitman and sawdust falling into the river. He estimated that about 60 per cent. of 10 per cent. of the sawdust falls into the river. He read the names of those belonging to the Anti-Sawdust Association. He read from the evidence by Mr. Chalmers, Fisheries Inspector, before the Anti-Sawdust Association, when it was stated that the being is better here than it was ten years ago; and that it was next to impossible to keep all of the sawdust out of the river. Also from Mr. Calcutt's sworn testimony, who stated that the matter dredged by him consisted mainly of slabs and edgings deposited years ago; that the water for navigation the year was good; and that he did not want to see the millowners put down. If these Acts were enforced he could not make any more lumber at Nassau. It would be cheaper for him to buy a mill up stream and down stream than to reconstruct his mill. It had been stated that health was good, navigation was good, and that the being was now better than it was ten years ago.

Mr. LUNDY said that the only objection to the millowners raised was that of expense. They were willing to alter the mills, but they did not want to stand the expense. He emphatically held that where it was matter between health and expense there could be but one choice. This sawdust did effect the health of the people, especially those who lived near the lake. It was all very well for those who lived in the west end of the town to come and say that this nuisance did not affect the health of any. It did injure the health and he could not put to more than one case.

Mr. HARTLEY submitted a letter from Mr. Wm. Hamilton who, as his (Mr. Hartley's) request had made a thorough examination of the Dickson company's sawmill. Mr. Hamilton, after entering into a full investigation estimated the cost of reconstructing the mill so that no sawdust should escape into the river, including the barrier for the refuse, at $31,500. He referred to the recent prosecution and said that the Magistrate had come with a written judgment in his pocket and had delivered it without having one tittle of evidence. He thought such a thing preposterous. Speaking of health, he said he remembered when there was annual epidemics of typhoid fever in the south part of the town, but since the sawdust had been deposited in the river these epidemics had disappeared. (Laughter.) Anyone that knew anything knew that resin and turpentine were powerful disinfectants. He pointed to some of the houses who lived in the vicinity of the lake as perfect pictures of robust health. There was Mr. Lundy—not at all unhealthily looking. He doubted not that some of the young ladies even thought Mr. Lundy was improving in appearance. This was what was to be expected. The three men who were in the dock, Mr. John Burnham, Mr. H. T. Strickland, Mr. Henry Calcutt and last, but not least, there was Mr. Fred Winch. (Laughter.)

Mr. COX spoke very earnestly on the matter. If the sawdust in the lake was a nuisance, he would not hesitate one moment in recommending it. But he did not think it was. If these owners with their six hundred em. lyes were driven away from the town business would suffer from the effects of it. He said that at Ferry Harbour a saw mill company in which he was interested, bought a barrier at $20,000, and it afterwards barred down the mill costing $40,000. He submitted statistics, showing that the death rate of Peterborough showed 18, while that of other cities and towns in America showed Europe showed from 18 to 44. No death rate was below that of Peterborough.

Mr. EDWARDS again spoke. He defended the action of the Magistrate, stating that he had received a letter the day before from Mr. Edwards, who stated that the mill owners were going to plead guilty.

Mr. HARTLEY said they pleaded guilty of breaking the law, but not the spirit of the law. Mr. HILLIARD again addressed the Council.

After considerable discussion on the part of the members of the Committee the following resolutions were carried:

Resolved, That it is the Council's recognition of the importance of the lumber industry in and to the town of Peterborough, and the natural advantage and benefit derived from the successful operation of the lumber mills, and of the probability of loss or serious injury to this staple industry by the strict enforcement of the law relative to the throwing of sawdust and other mill refuse into the river Ottonabee or other mill refuse into the river Ottonabee or other mill refuse into the river Ottonabee, and having in mind the great desirability of keeping the river as free as possible from deleterious matter, the Council, in the best of its judgment, is of opinion that the interests of all concerned would be best served by the strict enforcement of the law, regarding all the mills on the Ottonabee river and the back lake flowing into it, save that the millowners who use and run upright saws or on gates attached to pitmans in use therein, so long as they use the pitman, direct action from the water wheel, should be permitted to allow so much of the sawdust from their mills to go into the river as necessarily is carried into it by such upright saws, provided that all other sawdust, slabs and edgings, sidings, butts, bark and all other mill refuse of every kind and description, formed and caused in said mills, is and are at all times kept out of said river and otherwise disposed of by the millowners, lessors or others in charge thereof, that this resolution shall take the place of a memorial subject to the Governorment, and that the Mayor and Clerk do sign and seal the same.

The committee rose and the Council then adjourned at a few minutes to one o'clock, to meet at the call of the Mayor.

THE VIGOR OF YOUTH.

THE SHAREHOLDERS OF THE CANADA LOAN AND SAVINGS COMPANY.

Met in General Assembly for the Second Time—An Enthusiastic Meeting—A Very Satisfactory Year's Operation—The President, Vice President and Directors, Highly Enthusiastic and Re-Elected.

The second annual meeting of the shareholders of the Canada Loan and Savings Company was held in the Company's office, George street, on Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock.

There were present: the President, Mr. Geo. A. Cox, (in the chair) the Vice President, Mr. J. R. Dundas, M.P., North Victoria (in the Vice chair) and Messrs. E. S. Vinlo, Port Hope, J. M. Ferris, M. P., East Northumberland, Robt. Jaffray, Toronto, James Stevenson, Richard Hall, D. W. Dumble, A. P. Poussette, G. M. Roger, J. H. Roper, Dr. R. Kincaid, Wm. Clouston, J. W. Flavell, Robert Fair, Jas. Watson, Wm. Walsh, E. B. Edwards, and J. B. Sawyer, D. M. Sim, W. A. Morrow, and F. G. Cox, Peterborough; W. J. Wallace and Dr. Caldwell, Lakefield.

The balance sheet and the Directors' annual report were distributed among the shareholders.

On taking the chair the President called on Mr. Sim, the Secretary of the Company, to act as Secretary at this meeting.

The Secretary read the notice inserted in the newspapers calling the annual meeting of the shareholders.

DIRECTOR'S REPORT.

The President read the Directors' report as follows:—

The Directors beg to submit herewith their second annual report, showing the operations of the Company for the past year, accompanied by the Balance Sheet to the 31st December, 1885—July audited.

It was decided early in the year to dispose of the real estate and other securities that had been purchased by the company, and in future confine the business exclusively to that of a Loan and Savings Company, in carrying out that decision a profit of $28,194.78 was realized, and the increased profits of the year to $24,207.24, and enabled your Directors, after payment of all expenses, to declare two half-yearly dividends of three per cent. each, and to transfer $2,000 to the credit of a Reserve Fund, leaving $7,218.41 at Profit and Loss Account.

The $28,194.78 of subscribed capital that remained unpaid at the end of 1874, has been paid up, and the $10,000 of additional capital issued in February, 1885, was promptly taken, and has also been fully paid up.

During the year it was deemed advisable to purchase the subscribed capital to $100,000 by the issue of new shares to the amount of $20,000, as a premium of ten per cent. and before the close of the year $20,000 was taken, and ten per cent. of the premium paid; this enabled the Reserve Fund to be further increased to $20,000 received from the issue of new shares, and to transfer $2,000 to the credit of a Reserve Fund, leaving $22,218.41 at Profit and Loss Account.

In accordance with the instructions of the shareholders at the annual meeting, a leaving deposit was opened, and interest allowed on deposits at four and five per cent., according to the conditions of deposit, with the result that at the close of the year there was $22,218.41 at Profit and Loss Account.

This evidence of confidence upon the part of the investing public, and the favor with which the Company has been received by the borrowing public, is gratifying to the Directors, and they trust it will be satisfactory to the shareholders.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Geo. A. Cox, President.

The President said that according to the instructions of the shareholders at the last annual meeting, a savings department has been opened and interest at the rate of four and five per cent. had been allowed on deposits, according to the conditions of such deposits.

On current accounts four per cent. was allowed, and on deposits remaining not less than one year, five per cent.

Mr. FERRIS—Which class of depositors are the most numerous?

The President—Those making permanent deposits. The most of those dealing with the company as yet are those who desire permanent investments.

The President read the following balance sheet:—

We hereby certify that we have carefully audited the books and accounts of the Canada Loan and Savings Company of Ontario, for the year ending 31st December, 1885. The profits and balances of the company's ledger have been examined, and we find the whole correct, and in accordance with the above statement. We have also inspected the mortgage and other securities, and find the aggregate thereof agree with the amount under the head of "securities."

J. H. ROYER, CHARLES L. MACDONALD, Auditors.
Peterborough, January 2, 1886.

The President then spoke as follows:—It devolves upon me to move the adoption of the report but it will not be expected that at the close of only the second year's operation of the Company, either the nature or extent of the business will call for any lengthened remarks.

The program however that has been made during the two years will bear very favorable comparison with the progress made by the largest and most successful of the Loan and Savings societies of the Province of Ontario, during the first two years of their existence, and it affords reasonable ground to hope that the Company will have a prosperous and successful future.

It will be seen by the printed report that you have before you and that has been in the hands of the Shareholders for the last two or three weeks that the amount of the investments has already reached $813,996.39. During the year the new loan amounted to $541,649, after deducting $155,073.50 the amount of repayments on account of loans during the year, it shows a net increase of $386,575.79.

The amount of subscribed capital was increased during the year by $300,000, the amount of paid up capital by $169,989, and the reserve fund was increased to $38,000.

The Savings department, that was not opened until late in the year, showed a balance of $22,218.41, $50.00 at the credit of depositors at the close of the year.

Through this wealthy and populous section of Ontario, where it is intended chiefly to confine the operations of the Company, there are many of our more successful farmers who have large amounts of money lying on deposit in the banks at three per cent. while their less fortunate neighbours are borrowing possibly the very same money from Toronto Loan Co., at rates of interest that in many cases are simply ruinous. The aim and object of this Company is to be the medium through which the fortunate neighbours can borrow at four or five per cent. according to the terms of deposit, and those who are now borrowing from foreign Companies can get their money at home at a much less expense and at a lower rate of interest.

The names of the Shareholders and Directors of this Company the most of whom have for many years been known to both depositors and drawers will be a sufficient guarantee that their business will be safely and satisfactorily transacted.

Provision has been made for, and it is the desire of the present shareholders; that the unaltered shares of the Company should also be largely taken up in our own community thus affording to those who desire to avail themselves of a safe and easy mode of investment, promptly paying a half yearly dividend at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum. There is still some $28,000 of stock open for subscription at two per cent. premium and the reserve fund that has thus far been accumulated with the large business that has been secured, and with the preliminary expenses written off, makes the intrinsic value of the stock worth at least that premium and the premium itself remains, of course, the property of the shareholders, increasing the earning power of the company and lessening the possibility of a decreased dividend in the future.

I think that the shareholders will agree with the Directors that the first consideration is to feel absolutely safe in being able to declare a dividend at the close of the year to $24,207.24, and the possibility of any danger of its being reduced, below six per cent. by steadily increasing the reserve fund, rather than to hold out hopes of an increased dividend for some time, and then to be disappointed.

In this respect we are copying the largest and most successful monetary institutions of the country. It is true our reserve fund will not increase so rapidly as that of these old companies which got it at 17 per cent. for their money, but in the long run there is every prospect that a good business will be done by our company in this section of the country and I think that we can easily continue to pay a six per cent. dividend, and still have a reserve fund that will slowly, but surely, increase.

In conclusion I desire to explain that the $38,000 that has been carried to the reserve fund from the earnings of the company was partially from profits realized from the sale of securities handed over by the original shareholders in payment of the stock. It must not therefore be expected that the reserve will increase quite so rapidly in the future. We should however, keep it moving surely and steadily forward.

Before taking his seat President regretted to say that Mr. Gooderham, through sickness, was unable to be present. He had intended to come but when time came he found himself quite unable to do so. The President expressed his pleasure at seeing so many of the shareholders present and at seeing such an interest manifested in the affairs of the company.

The report was received and adopted without discussion and without amendment.

A MOTION.

Mr. W. J. WALLACE moved, seconded by Dr. CALDWELL, That by-law No. 3 be amended by substituting the words "vice president," instead of vice president, and that by-law No. 4 be amended by substituting "Second Tuesday in February" for the words "First Tuesday in February." Carried.

THE AUDITORS.

Mr. FERRIS moved—seconded by Dr. Kincaid—That Messrs. J. H. Roper and C. L. Macdonald be re-appointed as auditors—Carried.

Mr. CLouston said that he would like to say a few words as to the progress and prosperity of the Company. He thought it had, so far, a remarkable career. It had started off with good face and had, with much endurance, kept it up. He thought if the shareholders looked for the cause they would easily find it in the indefatigable exertion and indefatigable perseverance of the President—qualities which made his every undertaking successful. The Board of Directors which he had called about him also deserved thanks for their work. The speaker was in a shareholder's meeting and he spoke as a shareholder. The directors of any company should be those who, from their standing alone, would make depositors feel satisfied that their money is in safe hands, would assist in the sale of debentures, and will also be an inducement for persons to take stock. The gentlemen who formed the directors for the past year were eminently qualified for the position. They were men of experience, far seeing, men who had made their mark in their own localities. They were gentlemen who represented capital by thousands and millions. It was to good management that the stock had increased in value 10 per cent. in one year making the dividend 16 per cent. instead of 6 per cent. He thought the shareholders could look confidently to being greeted with satisfactory dividends in the future.

Mr. CLouston moved, seconded by Mr. JAFFRAY, That the thanks of the shareholders be due to the President, Vice President and officers of the Company, for the marked ability with which the affairs of the Company have been managed during the past year.

Mr. JAFFRAY also made a few remarks referring to the number in this Board of Directors who were in the Midland Railway Board of Directors, and to the struggle that was under to keep the road afloat. It was chiefly owing to Mr. Cox's real anxiety that the stock rose from 17 and 18 cents in the dollar to par value. He had seen Mr. Cox win his spurs in the financial field and he was confident that this company would be successfully managed. When asked to take work he had done so without any hesitation. P. success sagured well for future prosperity.

Dr. KINCAID had hardly a knowledge of the "ropes" as yet, but he felt sure that this company would prove a boon to this section of the Province. It was without any possible doubt a long left want. He was well satisfied with the way his money was invested and had every confidence in the Board of Directors and the President.

The motion was carried amid applause. The President briefly replied, reverting to the Midland Railway operations. He assured the shareholders that it was chiefly through the able work of the Directors that the railway was made a success. Messrs. Gooderham, Jaffray, Vinlo, Ferris, and Mr. Dundas, all members of the board, has always given him great assistance. He referred also to the resident gentlemen who were on the board, whose names were alone a guarantee of honest and honorable transactions.

THE DIRECTORS.

The election of Directors was then proceeded with, Messrs. Poussette and Morrow acting as scrutineers.

The following were re-elected:—

PRESIDENT—Geo. A. Cox, Esq., Peterborough.

VICE PRESIDENT—J. R. Dundas, Esq., M.P., Lindsay.

DIRECTORS—J. M. Ferris, Esq., M. P. P., Campbellville; William Clouston, Esq., Peterborough; Richard Hall, Esq., Peterborough; James Stevenson, Esq., Peterborough; Wm. Gooderham, Esq., Toronto; Robert Jaffray, Esq., Toronto; F. C. Taylor, Esq., Lindsay; E. S. Vinlo, Esq., Port Hope.

CABLE NEWS.

"Cable." The oldest and most reliable brand of cigars in the market. Free from all chemicals and artificial flavorings.

"El Padre" Cigars. Universally acknowledged to be the finest 10c. clear manufactured. Don't be persuaded to take inferior brands. No chemicals or artificial flavorings used.

S. Davis & Sons have moved into their new mammoth factory, the finest of its kind in America. They are the only cigar manufacturers in Canada who manufacture their own cigar boxes and packing cases, which industry gives employment to sixty hands.

Beware of cigars artificially flavored for the purpose of hiding the poor quality of tobacco used in flavored cigars. Inlet upon having the old reliable brands—"Cable" and "El Padre."

A trial will convince the most skeptical that S. Davis & Sons' manufacture of cigars are superior in every respect to any in Canada.

Prize medals against the world were awarded to S. Davis & Sons, of Montreal, for their manufacture of cigars, at Paris, 1867, Centennial, 1876, Montreal, 1883 & 84.

The remarkable interest in the War Papers and in the many timely articles and strong serial features published recently in THE CENTURY has given that Magazine a regular circulation of

MORE THAN 200,000 COPIES MONTHLY.

Among the features for the coming volume, which begins with the November number, are

THE WAR PAPERS

Those will be continued (most of them illustrated) until the chief events of the Civil War have been described by leading participants on both sides. General Grant's papers include descriptions of the battles of Chattanooga and the Wilderness. General McClellan will write of Antietam, General D. C. Buell of Shiloh, General Pope, Longstreet and others of the Second Bull Run, etc., etc. Naval combats, including the fight between the Kearsarge and the Alabama, by officers of both ships, will be described.

The "Recollections of a Private" and special war papers of an anecdotal or humorous character will be features of the year.

SERIAL STORIES BY

W. H. HOWELLS, MARY HALLOCK FOOTE, AND GEO. W. CARLE

Mr. Howells' serial will be in lighter vein than "The Rise of Silas Lapham." Mrs. Foote's is a story of mining life, and Mr. Carle's a novel of the Adirondacks of Louisiana. Mr. Carle will also contribute a series of papers on Slave songs and dances, including much superb work-up, etc.

SPECIAL FEATURES.

Includes "A Triptych Pilgrimage to Rome," illustrated by Paulsen; Historical Papers by Edward Eggleston, and others; Papers from Paris, by S. G. W. Benjamin; U. S. Minister, with numerous illustrations; Astronomical Art, practical and popular, on "sidereal Astronomy"; Papers on Christian Unity by representatives of various religious denominations; Papers on Manual Education, by various experts, etc.

SHORT STORIES

By Frank R. Stockton, Mrs. Helen Jackson (H. H.), Mrs. Mary Hall Foxe, Joel Chandler Harris, B. H. Boyesen, T. A. Janvier, Julian Hawthorne, Richard M. Johnston, and others; and poems by leading poets. The Departments, "Open Letters," "Bric-a-Brac," etc., will be fully sustained.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE

Social.
A social winter held at Mrs. E. Shaw's, Stewart Street, on Tuesday evening, Feb. 11th, in aid of the building fund of St. John's South Ward Sunday School. An excellent programme has been prepared. Admission 15c.

Trotting Stakes.
Entries for the Canadian Sportsman's four year old trotting stakes (foals of 1882) close on Wednesday, Feb. 11th. The race is to be trotted about the middle of August at Toronto. Entries should be sent to the editor of the Sportsman, Mr. E. King Dudge, No. 107 King street west, Toronto.

Industry and Ability.
The Port Hope Times says:—"Mr. Carnegie is not fondly loved by Mr. Mowat's ring in the Legislature. Those invulnerable questions he is in the habit of giving them must be very much dreaded, when they find it necessary to give their big and little organs the work to 'go for him.' Mr. Carnegie can stand the abuse, and the country appreciates his industry and ability."

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Increasing winds from east and south, partly cloudy or cloudy continued mild weather, with light rain or sleet in a few places as night.

The Ancient Mariner.
On Thursday evening an exhibition of stereoscopic views, illustrative of Coleridge's weird poem, the Ancient Mariner, will be given in Bradburn's Opera House. The illustrations are taken from the original paintings by the celebrated Gustave Doré, and are of great excellence. Mr. O'Connell, President of the Lirid, say College Institute, presents the views to the public, and that, of itself, is sufficient to guarantee their real worth. Admission 25 cents.

A Fire.
At 8.50 o'clock on Tuesday night the fire alarm was rung. A house situated on Wolfe street, belonging to Mr. James McNamara, was found to be on fire. The brigade turned out, but owing to the fire being situated so far away from any water supply they could render scarcely any assistance. The fire, it is supposed, originated from a defective flue. A tenant had just vacated the premises and Mr. McNamara was moving in. A fire had been kept in a stove in the house during the day and from this it would appear that the supposition was well founded. Loss, $800, insurance in the National of Ireland $1,000.

Young Men.
Should hear Rob Burdette, of the Burlington Reporter, on Monday next, the 15th. His subject is "One and the same" and the lecture is well known. One of the United States papers says:—
"Improvement inadequate to describe the discrimination, wit, the delicacy, the fancy, the looking splendour, the splendid refinement of sentiment. In fact, the lecturer Burdette as a refined classical humorist is almost as much a work of supererogation as it would be to give a favorable notice of the Bible in the religious press."
Get your tickets at the bookshops. Plan of the Hall, A. L. Davis & Co's. Admission 50 and 70 cents.

Carling.
A two rink curling match was played at the Charlotte street rink on Tuesday afternoon by rinks from the Kewee and Peterborough clubs, resulting in a win for Peterborough. The score is as follows:—

The Market.
There was a fair attendance at the market this morning. Choice butter, in prints, sold at 20 cents per pound; eggs at 20 cents per dozen; chickens at from 50 to 70 cents per pair; geese, at from 50 to 70 cents each; turkeys at 70 to $1.10 each; beef by the quarter at from $1.50 to $2.50 per cwt.; pork, at from $5 to $6 per cwt.; lamb, at 6 and 7 cents per pound; mutton, at 5 and 6 cents per pound; apples, at $1 per bag; and potatoes, at 60 cents per bag. The wood market was well supplied, soft wood brought from $1.75 to $2.50 per cord, and hard wood from $3.50 to $4.00 per cord. No. 1 wheat brought 82, No. 1 barley 85, peas 58, and oats 32 cents per bushel.

GENTS' LINED KID GLOVES marked down to cost to make room for spring goods at ANDREW McNEIL'S, George street.

Big Stock Sale.
The farmers and stock raisers of this district will have an opportunity of making valuable additions to their herds on February 24. Mr. William Collins, the son and successor of the well known stock raiser, the late Henry Collins, will on that day offer a large number of pure bred short horn cattle and a flock of Leicester sheep for sale. The cattle and sheep are all in a satisfactory breeding condition and although never having been fed for shows or exhibitions, are well adapted for the best practical purposes of farmers and stock raisers. Mr. Collins has had thirty years' careful experience in stock raising, and having given special study to the wants of the farmers, offers these cattle and sheep with every confidence. Mr. Collins' farm is situated on the gravel road, two miles from the town of Peterborough. On the day of the sale conveyances will meet the Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk trains, to take parties to the sale. By applying to Mr. Collins or Mr. Chas. Stapleton printed pedigrees of any of the cattle may be had.

The Beautiful Snow.
We have received from the composer of the words and music, Mr. Wm. McDunnell, of Lindsay, a pleasing duet entitled "The Beautiful Snow" published by Strange & Co., Toronto. The following letter will show the authors' undoubted claims to originality in regard to this song:—

LINDSAY, Jan. 22nd, 1886.
My Dear Friend Clouston,—
I send you a few copies of the duet, "The Beautiful Snow," just published. I wrote the words of the song long ago when I lived in Peterborough. It was subsequently set to music and published in England. As I did not like the music I composed what is presented in the duet I send. I am aware that there are many claimants for the "honor" of the authorship of the song. I wrote the verses in 1841 and they were first published in the Christian Guardian in Toronto, February 21, 1841. It is now conceded that there was no such poem under the name of "The Beautiful Snow" before that date. So the charge of plagiarism cannot be entered against me.

Yours sincerely,
W. McDunnell.
We give the words of this song as follows:—
The beautiful snow, the beautiful snow!
Over its bosom we merrily go.
Now stars in the heavens are shining bright,
And moon beams dance in the glittering light;
The earth in her own virgin garb is dressed,
And pearls from heaven are strewn on her breast.

The beautiful snow, the beautiful snow!
Away, away, over the snow we fly,
Like a sportive cloud through the deep, blue sky,
Away o'er the hills and strouded lakes,
Where the snow clouds dance when the tempest wakes.

Now sport on earth's bosom, no stain like care,
But boundless purity every where.
The beautiful snow, the beautiful snow!
But the snow will weep when the breeze of Spring
The colors of far distant lands shall bring.

'Twill start at the summons and soon disappear,
On the bosom it loved a frozen tear;
Like the waning light of some holy dream
That fades ere the morning's first smile is seen.
The beautiful snow, the beautiful snow!

And thus, like the snow, will each beauty fade,
And the lustre that wealth and power have made;
The young and the old, the sage and the strong,
With time irresistibly borne along.
And our love and our joy, our hopes and our fears,
Must pass, like the snow, from the earth in tears.

The beautiful snow, the beautiful snow!

THE PERFECTION OF COOLNESS

A Well-to-do Farmer Quietly Unleashes a Robbery on the Highway.

The perpetrator of the boldest highway robbery ever attempted in Canada was captured at Harrison the other day by G. T. R. Detective J. K. McCarty of Stratford. The robbery was committed at Palmerston on Jan. 19th. The thief drove to the G. T. R. station at that town, and picking up a lantern walked through the yard as though inspecting the cars. When he found the one that suited him he drove his team to the car, opened the door and commenced loading up. While doing so a yard-man came up, and was asked by the thief with an enquiry after the freight checker, when he said he would report the next day for not assisting him to get out his stuff. The yardman went about his business, and when he came back, he found that the thief had so overloaded his wagon that he was stuck. The yardman got a crowbar and helped him off. The thief was discovered next morning by McCarty sent for. He traced the thief to Harrison, where he discovered him to be a well-to-do farmer named James Brown. He at first denied the charge, but the discovery of some of the goods on his premises caused him to break up, and he showed where more of the stolen stuff, composed of dry goods, hides, and biscuits, was hidden. The various packages were scattered over a 200 acre bush.—Brantford Telegram.

THE SITUATION AT SEATTLE

The Chinese Question Forgotten in the Feeling for Revenge.

SEATTLE, W. T., Feb. 9.—Governor Squire has issued a proclamation suspending the habeas corpus act and declaring martial law in the city. Denunciations of the home guards for fighting on the anti-Chinese mob yesterday are heard on all sides. Prominent citizens belonging to the organization were threatened with hanging by the mob. Warrants were sworn out in the police court charging five home guards with shooting with intent to kill. A judge Greene declared that the guards were officers of his court, and that he would not have them molested. The Governor issued a call for volunteers, which was promptly responded to, and recruiting is going on rapidly. The authorities have plenty of rifles and ammunition, and men are organizing into companies as soon as they are enrolled. There is an ugly feeling in the air. Rumors of all kinds are being spread, and arrests are being made. The Chinese question seems to have been entirely forgotten. The only feeling now is of revenge on the one side and determination on the other. Many prominent leaders of the anti-Chinese sentiment are openly on the side of the law and are making every effort to restrain their late followers.

BOBCATOON.

TIMBER.—The production of logs this year will be larger than last year. Mr. Boyd's limits along the Munk Road will be very productive, and yield a large drive of logs for Little Bob mill, whilst Mr. Petrie, for his mill, has bought more logs than he ever before had on hand, and not quite as many as he can cut in the season. There is but small demand for hard wood, but wood is in fair request, and elm for furniture is increasing in demand. The prospects altogether are better now than they have been for years.—Independent.

WOODS FOR EXHIBITION.

A Quebec despatch says—Messrs. R. H. Jobell and Co., and John Hurstall and Co., have presented the Dominion Government with some very fine specimens of wood goods, selected from their respective stocks, for the Colonial Exhibition, London, consisting of sixteen pieces of timber of the following varieties: Black walnut, chestnut, maple, oak, black ash, rock elm, white pine, red pine, a full bark buckeye, white wood, bass wood and white oak; also dead, staves, etc. Some of the white pine deals by Hurstall and Co. are of extraordinary size. The above specimens are valued at some hundreds of dollars, and will, no doubt, attract considerable notice when placed on exhibition.

An Ingenious Paving Block.

A. T. Efford, of San Francisco, Cal., is the patentee of an improved paving block, which is designed to insure a permanent pavement, adapted to all kinds of weather, and to furnish superior advantages for laying telegraph wires or cables. The following directions give a general idea of the process of paving.

The blocks are cut about four inches thick, eight inches wide, and ten inches long, of any suitable timber of wood. The holes are made from two to two and one-half inches diameter, according to the nature of the timber employed. The blocks are laid closely together and when wet, on sand or any suitable bedding, such as is employed for other pavements. The top is then coated with asphaltum and sand or other suitable material, such as is already in use for coating road to render it more durable and capable of resisting the action of the weather.

When laid, it will be seen that the perforations are in a direct line and form a continuous passage. These passages form an excellent receptacle for telegraph wires or cables, allowing them to be laid along or across the street at any part, thus entirely avoiding the necessity of erecting telegraph poles, which are very objectionable in the principal streets of cities. The common paving block retains the moisture in the whole block, and when shrinking and swelling, is often thrown up and out of place as the weather alternates from wet to dry.

For the purpose of laying telegraph wires where the street is not paved, the sidewalk can be paved with the same kind of blocks and the wires run along through the same.

Mr. Wm. F. Quinn has tried the sugar beet but thinks it too woody, especially late in the Spring, and gives his first preference to mangels, Carter's Mammoth Long Red, second to the yellow kind. He finds them very sweet, brittle and tender even down to April. If a knife is thrust into one it cracks open wide like a good watermelon. He uses Carter's Red constantly on his table, as well as for his stock. Given them principally to sows and lambs, but employs them also for milch cows, and does not discover any objectionable taste or odor imparted to the milk. They produce a decided increase in the yield of butter, and make it yellower, but do not augment the percentage of cream in the milk. He prefers to grow his own seed; does not find it any great trouble, and home-grown seed is more trustworthy.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting their teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button. It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, always allays the fever, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. 35 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

FROM ALL OVER
NATIONAL PILLS is the favorite purgative and antibiotic medicine, they are mild and thorough.

Worms often destroy children, but Freeman's Worm Powders destroy worms, and expel them
from the system.

A CRYING EVIL.—Children are often fretful and ill when worms in the cause. Dr. Low's Worm Syrup safely expels all worms.

William Young is the new chief of police at Chatham.

To REMOVE DANDRUFF.—Cleanse the scalp
with Prof. Low's Magic Sulphur Soap. A delightful medicated soap for the toilet.

A BAD BREAKDOWN.—It is a common thing
nowadays to hear one complain of being all broken down with a faint, weary, restless languor, with strength and appetite nearly gone and no well defined cause. This is general debility, which Burdock Blood Purifiers promptly relieves, and most invariably cures.

Owing to a smallpox visitation the convent at St. Maurice, Que., has been closed.

Every second person has doctors think it incurable, but Dr. Chapman's Catarrh Cure is guaranteed to cure or the money is refunded.
All druggists, or the Dr. Carson Medical Co.,
Toronto, $1.00 per bottle.

SEARCHING FOR PROOF.—There is no trouble in ascertaining from any druggist the true virtue of Haysard's Yellow Oil, for all painful and inflammatory troubles, rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, frost bites, burns, bruises, sprains, contracted cords, stiff joints, aches, pains and sores.

If the ice does not move soon it is feared the Michigan Central trains will have to go around

MURRAY & LAMMANS FLORIDA WATER.—We earnestly urge every purchaser to ask for that which is prepared by Messrs. Lauman & Kemp,
New York, who are the sole proprietors of the true perfume. All other so-called Florida
Waters are only ordinary Colognes.

WHAT A wonderful discovery is Perry Davis Pain Killer! It not only cures the ills of the human family, but is also the sure remedy for horses with colic. It has never been known to fail in a cure of the worst cases and for sprains, galls, &c. it never fails—try it once. Directly accompany each bottle. Sold by druggists generally.—Kent County (Ky.) Democrat.

The by-law granting $10,000 to the Leamington & St. Clair railroad, has been carried in Leamington by a vote of 20 to 1.

A REASONABLE ITEM.—During the breaking up of winter, when the air is chilly and the weather damp, such complaints as rheumatism, neuritis, lumbago, sore throat, croup, and other painful effects of sudden cold, are prevalent. It is then that Haysard's Yellow Oil is found truly valuable as a household remedy.

"RHEUM AND SCALDS."—If you are an unfortunate as to injure yourself in this way we can suggest a remedy that will (we speak from experience) soon relieve you of all pain and quickly heal the wound; it costs but twenty-five cents and is sold by all druggists—ask for Perry
Davis' Pain Killer.

Application will be made at the next session of parliament asking for the incorporation of the Vine-Grass association with headquarters at Windsor.

A WISE CHOICE.—In selecting a remedy for coughs and colds the wise choice is to take one that lessens the tough mucous clinging to the air passages. Nature's remedy is Haysard's Pe-riol Balsam, which promptly breaks up hard colds and their troublesome effects.

IN A DANGEROUS CONDITION.—Any man, woman or child is in a dangerous condition when neglecting a complicated state of the bowels. There can be no perfect health without a regular action of this function. Burdock Blood Purifier cures constipation by imparting a healthy tone to all the secretions.

NO BLUNDERING.—There is no blundering in the dark in the action of Burdock Blood Purifier upon the system. It is no scattering shot gun prescription, no cure-all; but it acts directly upon the four cardinal points of health: the stomach, the liver, the bowels, and the blood, and works its cure in a natural manner
through natural channels.

That troublesome cough should be at once cured, as, if not, it is liable to terminate in consumption. Throatcures die annually that might have been saved. If West's Cough Syrup

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1886.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Social.
The social to be held at the residence of Mr. Shaw, Stewart street, this evening, will be well worth attending. An excellent programme of music has been provided.

Another Applicant.
Mr. Charles Thompson, of Kingston, is an aspirant for the position of Chief of the Peterborough Police. He says that he had a long experience in police affairs and has been connected with the Kingston force for twelve years. His appearance on the street to-day excited some curiosity, many thinking that the appointment had been quietly made.

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Wind between south-east, partly cloudy or cloudy weather, not much change in temperature, with light rain or sleet in a few places; colder to-morrow.

Gents' All Wool Shirts and Drawers marked down to cost to make room for spring goods at ANDREW McNEIL'S, George street.

The Concert.
Mr. R. C. Gardner, America's great cornet soloist, arrived in town today and will give an exhibition of his powers at Mr. J. A. Doucet's concert to-morrow evening, at Bradburn's Opera House. Mr. Doucet has shown us this cornet to be used by Mr. Gardner to-morrow evening. It is a beauty presented to the owner by Emmette's renowned cornet. All arrangements are completed and everything points to the concert being a decided success. Secure your seats at once.

Water Ways.
Mr. D. W. Dumbleton, of a pardonable witicism at the Trent Valley Canal meeting on Wednesday afternoon. The Belleville representative was on his feet informing the delegates that Belleville would not be directly benefited by the construction of the Trent Valley Canal, but that still they took well to the scheme. "Yes," interposed our Police Magistrate, "Belleville seems to be taking to 'water ways' of late" (Laughter).

Gents' Lined Kid Gloves marked down to cost to make room for spring goods at ANDREW McNEIL'S, George street.

Cricket.
A cricket match was played at the Charlotte street rink on Wednesday afternoon, between Lindsay and Peterborough juniors, resulting in a win for the latter. The score is as follows:—

LINDSAY.		PETERBOROUGH.
J. Williamson	Run 10	M. Manger	Run 10
H. Ferguson	Run 10	D. Bellingham	Run 10
A. Lumsden	Run 10	J. Cameron	Run 10

Total, 25
Peterborough wins by 10 shots.

The Best.
The Boston Transcript says:—"The lecture by Robert J. Barlett was one of the real successes of the season. In fact we regard it as the best effort of the platform in a number of years that has been given in Boston for several years. Mr. Barlett is a fluent, bright, sparkling speaker, and his wit is fresh and vigorous. The lecture was interspersed with pathos and sentiment, each said exquisitely uttered, and with artistic gradations of light and shade. He inspired a large audience in Boston Temple most favorably, and if he visits Toronto again, it will be with a reputation that is magnetic. This lecture thus described will be delivered by Barlett in the Opera House, Peterborough, on Monday evening, Feb. 14th. Get your tickets early and avoid crowding. Seats can be secured at A. L. Davis & Co's. Admission, 25 and 50 cents.

Chamberlain's Parlor Dining Room.
Suppers, Luncheons, etc., will be served in a style at all hours.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT.

A Bona-fide Attack Timber Licensee—The Question of Exemptions—Municipal Loan Fund—Auditor's Instructions.

TUESDAY, Feb. 9.—Reports were presented from the Committee on Standing Orders and the Railway Committee.

BILLS INTRODUCED.
Mr. CARNegie introduced a bill to amend the Act respecting Joint Stock Companies, and also to amend the Registry Act.

A CHARITY MATTER.
Mr. MOWAT moved that the House ratify an Order-in-Council authorizing the Treasurer to pay to the Home for Aged Women, Toronto, the sum of $3,378.25 the amount realized from the estate of Elizabeth Neal, who died intestate and without heirs, in that House.

Mr. MOWAT said that the papers brought down gave meagre information. He hoped that in future the House would not be called upon simply to register the act of the Government.

Mr. MOWAT said if he had known the information was not full enough he would have had additional information brought down.

THE MEMBER FOR WEST TORONTO.

Mr. MORRIS called attention to an attack in the Globe upon Mr. H. E. Clarke, M. P. P. for being absent from the House. Mr. Clarke had been ill for thirteen days.

Mr. MORRIS said that Mr. Clarke was ill, and that perhaps the Globe writer was ignorant of the fact.

INTERIM ESTIMATES.

The interim estimates of $350,000 were considered in Committee and passed.

TIMBER LIMITS.

Mr. CARNegie asked whether any portions of the townships of Franklin, McClinton, Livingston, Lawrence, Canby, Peck, Finlayson, or Sinclair have been placed under license to cut timber, and if so, when and to whom, and the terms, if any, said therein.

Mr. PARKE said that in Franklin there were 467 square miles under license. They were sold by public auction on the 6th June, 1877, at an average of $202 per square mile. In the township of Franklin, there were 10 lots in 1st and 2nd concessions. There was no bonus, the license being given in lieu of other lots taken out of Lodge's license by inadvertency. In Lawrence 50 square miles had been placed under license to H. R. Symes and others in 1883. No bonus. Fifty cents per square mile ground rent. In Peck 26 square miles were placed under license to H. R. Symes and others in 1883. No bonus. Fifty cents per square mile ground rent. In Finlayson there was no license. In Sinclair there were 634 square miles under license. Sold at public auction, December the 6th, 1881, in 1st and 2nd concessions. No. 1 to J. Henderson; No. 2 to Isaac Cockburn; No. 3 to A. McAdam; and No. 4 to S. Shortland, at an average of $71.30 per square mile.

THE EXEMPTION QUESTION.

Mr. ERMATINGER asked whether it is the intention of the Government to bring any measure before the House to abolish exemptions from municipal taxation.

Mr. MOWAT expressed the opinion that the crown, church and cemetery sites should not be interfered with. He proceeded to discuss the exemption question.

Mr. MOWAT protested against discussing the question, in reply to an enquiry, as it was contrary to the rule, and the Opposition would not have a similar privilege.

Mr. MOWAT refused to give a more direct answer to the question.

WAGE-EARNING VOTERS.

Mr. FRASER, in reply to Mr. YOUNG, said he had no doubt that wage earners could not be assessed for income unless it exceeded $400.

TIMBER LIMITS.

Mr. CARNegie moved for a return of a copy of the petition of William Hurdman and Brothers, on the fourth of August, 1873, addressed to the Commissioner of Crown Lands for Ontario, praying (among other things) that a license might be issued to them as assignees of one Richard McConnell, for the vacant space between the license granted to the Amable du Fond branch of the Petawawa, and of all correspondence to or from the Commissioner of Crown Lands or any officer in the Crown Lands Department relating thereto; also, of all reports made and of all orders in Council passed with reference thereto; also, of all assignments of the claim set up in the petition and of all licenses issued in recognition of such claim, to whom issued; the area covered and the amount paid (if any), on account of ground rent accruing previous to the first issue of such license, and the amount (if any) allowed to Messrs. Hurdman and Brothers, or their assignees, as compensation in rebate of the double duty charged them for cutting timber thereon without proper authority. He said that some in 1867 an application was made by one McConnell for a license to cut timber in the territory mentioned. The petition was refused by the Hon. J. F. Dunning and the license granted to him. He believed Mr. Dumbleton was the present member for North Bruce, but he at that time member of the House.

Mr. PARKE said when the papers came down he thought it would be found that the position of the Government was perfectly defensible and one that had been fair.

The motion was adopted.

MUNICIPAL LOAN FUND.

Mr. BRERETON moved for a return showing the amount due by the township of Hope to the Municipal Loan Fund and a copy of the agreement entered into by the Provincial Treasurer, and the township.

DUTIES OF AUDITOR.

Mr. CARNegie moved for a return of copies of all orders touching the office of auditor, and of all instructions issued to the auditor with reference to the discharge of his duties.

Mr. ROSS (Huron) said he was not aware that any auditor's instructions had been issued.

Mr. CARNegie—in 1880 an Order-in-Council was passed appointing the auditor, and this would be found in the sessional paper of that year, Number 18. Of course, if there had been no instructions issued there was no use in adopting the motion.

Mr. ROSS asked that the motion be allowed to stand, and would make enquiry.

Mr. MOWAT said the motion had been adopted a week already. The object in putting it in the paper was to give the Government time to make due enquiry.

The motion was allowed to stand.

A ROAD.

Mr. YOUNG moved for copies of correspondence between the Ontario Government and the Dominion Government or other persons relating to the Dundas and Waterloo macadamized road.

The House adjourned at 4.30 p. m.

COLLISION.

A Pair of Hairyway Horses Charge on a Railway Train.

Mr. Owen McCarthy, an Otonabee farmer, about forty years of age, was driving his pair of horses homeward on Wednesday evening. At twenty minutes after four o'clock he crossed the locks bridge and pressed the horses into a gentle trot.

Mr. McCarthy is somewhat deaf, and when the whistle of the engine drawing the afternoon train on the Grand Junction branch was blown, he did not hear it. His horses did, however, and taking fright at the sound started off on a gallop.

They sped along swiftly, notwithstanding Mr. McCarthy's strenuous efforts to restrain them. The train came on, was rapidly nearing the intersection of the railway and the road; and so was the pair of frightened steeds.

The engine, tender and first-class car passed before the collision occurred. But when the third car was gliding by the runaway charged full upon the train, the pole of the sleigh staving into the car. Quick as thought the horses and sleigh were twisted along side the swift moving train. One horse was instantly killed, the sleigh was smashed to pieces and Mr. McCarthy was violently thrown from the sleigh and lay insensible on the ground. The other horse escaped by a miracle with but a few scratches.

Mr. McCarthy was brought to town and conveyed to the Stewart House, and during the evening and night Drs. Bingham and O'Sullivan were in attendance. He suffers from concussion of the brain and severe lacerations, but hopes are entertained for his recovery.

ALL WINTER GOODS are packed down to cost to make room for spring goods at ANDREW McNEIL'S, George street.

MISSING.

The Disappearance of a former Resident of Lakefield—His Wife Here.

Mr. James Little, a former resident of Lakefield, has been, for the past several months, engaged in Meer. R. C. Strickland's shanty, situated about twenty-eight miles from Gravenhurst. While he was working at the shanty his wife lived in Gravenhurst.

About four weeks ago the shanty broke up and all of the men left. But Mrs. Little has not since heard anything of her husband.

It has been reported that he was paid off at the shanty and that he had a considerable amount of money on his person; but such, Mr. Strickland says, is not the case. None of the men were paid off at the shanty.

Mrs. Little has come to Peterborough and is at present, staying with her daughter, Mrs. Mathison, anxiously awaiting her husband's return.

The Great Dramatist.

Wm. Shakespeare was the "prince of dramatists." The character in his tragedies, historic dramas and comedies are known to all, and many of them will be impersonated at the Carnival on Feb. 19. Fine prizes are offered for the best costumes and the success of the Carnival is assured. Children's Carnival in the afternoon.

Personal.

Capt. J. A. Orr, of the Advocate, Trenton, was one of the Trent Valley Canal delegates at the meeting held on Wednesday. He called on the Review.

Mr. W. Sanderson, B. A., of Smith, having been engaged as teacher in the Walkerton High School, has entered upon the duties of his position.

CALL AT ANDREW McNEIL'S, George street and see the sweeping reductions made on all winter clothing.

Open Air Meeting.

The Salvation Army held an open air meeting on George street last night up to nine o'clock. We do not know if it was for the special benefit of the pauper, or for the public generally in drawing attention to the low prices at which goods are sold here; if the latter we give them credit for their judgment, and would suggest that the next meeting be held in front of the "Grand Marche," as the next place in town where the best value is given in all lines of goods, not to mention in the goods possibly they might do the proprietor with no harm to themselves.

If you are not afraid of the results of that Cuckoo and hold, you ought to be "Pectus"; will thoroughly cure you. Sold every where; 25 cents.

CANADIAN PACIFIC AND EXTENDED TRADE.

It is a mistake to say that the Canadian Pacific Railway is of benefit only to Manitoba and the Northwest Territories. That it was intended to, and will, open up the western country and lead to the settlement of that part of the Dominion is true enough, and the chief benefit of the construction of the railway will be felt there, but it will also be beneficial in extending the trade of the older Provinces. As Canadians we desire that the whole of our vast domain should be populated, for as our country increases in population and wealth it will become stronger and greater; but it is also gratifying to know that immediate benefits will be derived in the older Provinces from the construction of this great national highway. Peterborough will share in the advantages of having this railway connection as well as other business centres, and the benefits are not slow in coming. The Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company have executed an order for machinery for a firm in New Westminster, British Columbia. The Canadian Pacific railway, with its Ontario branch running through Peterborough, gives this town direct connection with Winnipeg and the North West and British Columbia, and the Pacific Ocean. Trade with the most remote portion of the country thus opened to us by the railway has already commenced, and as the intervening country is developed and settled there is no reason why it should not increase.

The Canadian Pacific authorities, it was recently announced, have made arrangements for connection between Vancouver, the terminus of their line on the Pacific coast, and San Francisco by steamers, and the efforts being made to establish regular communication with China will doubtless be eventually successful. The statement has also been made that Lord Salisbury's government had decided to use the Canadian route from England to the east, and if they found that it would be advantageous to do so their successors in office will most probably view the matter in the same light. The construction of the Canadian gives every promise of being a great thing for Canada.

Another fact, more directly interesting in Ontario, is that this railway has opened up for settlement a large tract of land in the north west part of the Province, and the building of the Northern Pacific line has assisted in this work and given more direct communication with the west by connecting the Northern Railway with the Midland system with the Canadian Pacific at Oshawa.

The operations of the National Policy tends to keep the trade of the Northwest and the Pacific Province for Canadians, and the great railway supplies the avenue for the trade. The business between this part of the Dominion and the west will undoubtedly increase, and not only will the industries of Peterborough be benefited, but by a wide-awake policy on the part of our Municipal Council and citizens their number should be increased.

The London Advertiser says that "Sir John Macdonald will not feel at all pleased with the attitude which his friends have taken in the Local Legislature," and the Globe says that his friends in the Local Legislature acted accordingly to Sir John's instructions. The Reform readers of these papers can take their choice, but most fair minded people will decide that the Advertiser and Globe are making guesses—as saying what suits them without being careful as to the truthfulness of their statements.

Mr. AWEY, M.P.P. in a public speech, as reported by Globe, stated that Dr. Dowling "was the unmistakable choice of the people of South Renfrew" when Mr. Mowat asked him by his legislative legislation. Well, our judges differed from Mr. Awey, for they held that Dr. Dowling obtained his seat not by the "choice of the people", but by personally corrupt acts. Dr. Dowling swore that he was not guilty of this corruption, but the judges did not believe him.

BABON BRANWELL, a retired English judge, has written a letter to the London Times, in which he depicts Riel in his true colors. Mortified at this portrayal of their hero, the Hon. Messrs. Mowat and Fraser are employing some of their present leisure in repudiating the authenticity of this document, a repudiation, however, in which the author, Baron Branwell, has not joined.

HINDER

THE NEW COURT OFFICES.—The new brick building erected by the County is now completed internally, and the County Clerk and Treasurer have taken up their new quarters therein. The offices are very convenient, and when the new furniture arrives for them, they will be both neat and comfortable. Besides the advantages they possess of complete safety from fire of all the County records in connection with these offices.

Book Poison.

GRATTON, Ont., Feb. 12.—A young man living near this village named Wm. Richardson committed suicide yesterday by taking a dose of "Rough on Rats." He mixed the poison in a tumbler of water and drank it at 8 p.m. At 8 o'clock he was dead. Disruption and the loss of a small sum of money are given as the reason for the terrible act.

THE DAILY EVENING REVIEW is delivered to subscribers at ten cents a week.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

THE THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT.

The Law of Compensation—Rewarding Their Friends—Farmers' Institutes—Colonial Exhibition—Railway Annulment—Outstanding Accounts.

THURSDAY, Feb. 11.—Nine bills were introduced and read a first time.

Mr. FRASER moved the second reading of his bill to amend the law respecting compensation to persons killed by accidents or in duels, so as to allow the heirs of the deceased to sue after six months in case the executor of administrator has neglected or refused to do so.

Mr. MCKENDRICK said that the question as to the rights of a husband to recover damages on the death of his wife should not be overlooked. The bill was read a second time.

Mr. ROSE (Huron) said the Government intended to ask for an appropriation to assist the Beekeepers' Association to make an exhibit at the Colonial Exhibition.

Mr. GRAHAM moved for a return of the number of Farmers' Institutes formed in the Province, together with the number of lectures delivered in connection with the institutes by the professors of the Agricultural colleges.

Mr. CRITCHTON spoke of the usefulness of these institutes. In 1883, when the then Commissioner of Agriculture proposed the scheme for model creameries, it was suggested by the Opposition that instead of spending $10,000 in that way, thoroughly qualified lecturers should be sent through the province to deliver addresses on agriculture to the farming community, and thereby much more good would be done to the farmers. The Government would not accept that advice. The creamery scheme had not fallen through, and the idea of giving lecturers had at length been adopted.

A discussion followed in which several members took part.

Mr. CARMICHAEL moved for a return, showing the names of all persons who were at any time members of this House, or of either branch of the Legislature of Canada, who have been appointed by the Government of Ontario since 1st January, 1872, to any office, commission or employment, and showing the nature of the appointment or commissions, the date of each, and the emolument, if any, derivable from any source in respect of such appointment.

He pointed out that Mr. Blake, when in opposition in Ontario, strongly condemned the practice of giving members of the House Government appointments. The views of hon. gentlemen opposite had changed since they assumed power. Eight members who had supported Mr. Blake's views had received offices from the Government. Messrs. Gibson, Gow, Paxton and Springer had each received a similar appointment in a constituency he had not represented. Mr. Sinclair had received a magistracy in his own constituency. Then Mr. Blake had argued that the Provincial Government should not assume a hostile attitude towards the Dominion Government or towards the Dominion Parliament.

Well, there was an alliance now between the Government and the Opposition at Ottawa. He referred to the large amounts paid Messrs. Mills, Irving, Hildner, Mayor Walker and Senator Scott, no doubt for previous services in the political campaign.

Mr. O'CONNOR moved in amendment that all the words after "members of this House" be struck out, and the following substituted: "Mr. representatives from this province in either the Senate or House of Commons of Canada, since July, 1867, have been appointed, etc." He accused the Opposition of being in a coalition with the Dominion Government, and said the Riel resolution had been dictated from Ottawa.

Mr. MCKENDRICK pointed out that the amendment meddled with Dominion matters, which the Government refused to consider. He stated that the policy of the Opposition was dictated from Ottawa.

Mr. HARDY defended the Government, and read a list of names of persons appointed to positions by the Dominion Government.

Mr. CRITCHTON said the hon. gentleman was trifling with the question raised, which was that the members of the Government had once laid down a policy which they had since reversed. As to the list of names read by the last speaker, many were those of gentlemen appointed by the Mackenzie Government.

Mr. PARLIE said Mr. Blake's policy was simply that no member of the House should receive an appointment while he was a member of the House.

Mr. HARCOURT defended the appointment of the boundary arbitrator.

Mr. CARMICHAEL said no one had controverted the contention he had made. Hon. gentlemen opposite had gone back entirely on the doctrine laid down by Mr. Blake. In summing up he cited a number of cases of members of the House who had resigned their seats to accept positions in the gift of the Dominion Government.

Mr. FRASER contended that his party had not receded from the position assumed by Mr. Blake. The motion was amended and adopted.

Mr. CARMICHAEL moved for a return showing the amounts payable, in respect of any branch of the public service, as far as can be ascertained, on the 1st January, 1886 and not then paid. The same to be classified under the same head as the expenditures for the year are so classified in the public accounts.

The motion was adopted.

Mr. ROSE (Huron), in reply to Mr. McKendrick, said he would probably make his financial statement next week.

The House adjourned at 5.10 p.m.

His Thigh was Severed.
WELLINGTON, Ont., Feb. 10.—On the farm of David Corger, near this place, two men by the name of Josiah Rose and J. Smith were chopping wood, when Smith's axe glanced off, striking Rose and severing an artery in his thigh, from which he bled to death.

CANALS.

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR.—The enclosed slips cut from the Rochester Herald received this morning, shows that we are not the only agitators of canal extension at the present time, and that canals are not considered out of date by other nations.

Yours, &c.,
R. C. STRICKLAND.
Lakefield, Feb. 11th, 1886.

The following are the extracts referred to:—

THE GERMAN CANAL.
The proposed German canal which is to connect the North Sea and the Baltic seems to have direct-acted in France in various schemes for connecting the mouth of the Rhone, thus completing inland communication with Lyons, Paris, Rouen and Havre. In 1881 the General Council with the department of the Bouches du Rhone adopted a resolution expressing approval of a scheme for a canal which was to be carried through a tunnel eight kilometres long. The plan was, however, shown to be attended with many practical difficulties. A proposal is now made by Dr. Louis Combel, Deputy Mayor of Lyons, to carry the canal from the port of Marseilles along the shore of the Mediterranean to the mouth of the Rhone. It is asserted that the whole expense will not exceed $50,000,000 francs, and that the new waterway will very materially diminish the cost of sending goods by inland navigation from the Mediterranean to the British Channel.

THE ERIE AND OSEGO CANALS.
Senator McMillan has offered the following resolution in the senate in relation to federal aid in enlarging the Erie and Oswego canals, the resolution was read to the printer:—

"Whereas, The Erie and Oswego canals are highways of national commerce between the seaboard and the interior of the American continent; and

"Whereas, The canals for sixty years have been maintained at the expense of New York, and are now the only waterways within the boundaries of the United States, between the great west and the seaboard, whereby the great lakes are connected with the water; and

"Whereas, It has been deemed expedient by the State of New York in the interest of labor and commerce of the whole country to remove canal tolls and make the canals open and free to the commerce of the United States; and

"Whereas, It is believed that an expenditure of $3,000,000 in improving the Erie and Oswego canals by giving them nine feet depth of water throughout and by lengthening the locks one tier, will be greatly to the commercial advantage of seventeen western states and territories and five New England states; and

"Whereas, New York expends annually $100,000 in maintaining the canals in an important manner, it is just equitable and wise that the federal government should bear the expense of improvement; therefore,

"Resolved, That New York's representatives be requested to stipulate with the federal government and in return pledge that the state will forever keep the canals free."

THE DISAPPOINTMENTS AND DIFFICULTIES AND TROUBLES OF LIFE

SERMON BY LAYMAN.
To the Editor of the Review.

When people first start out in life they do so with high expectations, but are almost always disappointed. The young and the old strive after many things which they never obtain. Each one thinks himself able to succeed, but in the end falls and then begins to realize the difficulties and troubles before him. It is not until he has tried and failed that he discovers that life is full of disappointments and difficulties and troubles. That there is no sure road to success or fortune. The greatest mistake that people make is to suppose that they can easily overcome opposition and succeed where others have failed. And many an individual has become discouraged and given up hope simply because he was sanguine and allowed his will to outstrip his reason. And many a one has ended his existence because he had not the energy and the patience to wait for better things—because he forgot that the darkest hour was just before day. "Try, try again" should be the rule of every one, and he should keep on trying until he succeeds. The school boy thinks he could learn his lessons and he, becoming discouraged, gives up trying, while another boy, with more hope and determination, sticks to his task, burns the midnight oil in his determination to conquer, and he at last does conquer. The school teacher meets with disappointments and troubles when he had not anticipated them. He feels that it is useless to persevere, innumerable difficulties meet him in his way, complaints beginning to assail him. But he perseveres and by and by he feels that he has gained the victory. Bruce, the Scottish warrior, beaten and beaten again, at length well nigh gave up hope, but, changing to a spider, that had tried ten or twelve times, succeeded on the thirteenth attempt, he took courage and succeeded also. Many a military commander has been beaten and beaten again and again, but in the end, by patience and perseverance, he has recovered all his losses and won the day. The minister too often does not succeed. He blames the people and the people blame him. He thinks they have no spiritual life, and they think him cold and careless and indifferent. So they go on until, at length, he makes greater efforts and shows that he is really anxious to do well, is more frequent in his pastoral visits, trusts to the saving faith in the Gospel and calls on the people for encouragement and help, and the trouble disappears. The church is prosperous and happy once more, and the minister then discovers that the plain, simple truths of the Bible are what the people want, and not his former self-sufficiency and pride. The husband and wife who disagree and quarrel, and who are not happy, and who are not successful in their business, are in no more. The family suffer from their want of harmony, but the complaints are unheeded. The husband and wife each blame the other, and so the conflict goes on. Months and years, which might have brought them peace and happiness, and which might have seen a contented family, are full of angry discussions, and at last separation is about to take place. Friends render advice and warn them of the misery and hard times ahead, but the probable ruin of their children, and entreat them to give over this quarrel and live together in peace once more. Wiser counsels at length prevail, and thereafter, where there had been confusion and discord, there was soon peace and comfort and happiness. A new light had dawned upon their minds; a new and better feeling had taken possession of their minds; the household gods had been set up once more, and love and trust and peace reigned over all. It is easy to create and fan the flame of discord and unrest; it is easy to keep up disputes and warfare; it is easy to keep the whole domestic life in confusion and trouble; it is easy thus to make miserable the lives of the children, but it is hard for the wife or husband to acknowledge his or her own faults; it is hard to admit the existence of a bad temper; it is hard to confess that either is to blame. Such is human nature. But the remedy is not far, and charity could once prevail, if the unhappy pair had but only seen their mutual faults, if they could look forward a few short years, when the cares and toils and heartburnings of this world will be over, and when they are passing away into eternity, to appear before their Maker, when all human passions will be cooled and when they will have to give an account of their lives, when they will fall down and cry aloud for that mercy and forgiveness which, during life, they refused to give to each other. If they could only now, while they have the power to do so, say to themselves the difficult words, "peace be unto this house and to each of us," and could only hold out the right hand of friendship and mercy and resolve to banish away from them the old miserable feeling of discontent and sorrow, how great would be the change, and how great would be their joy. Domestic harmony is the greatest misfortune of life. If husband and wife would only consider how impossible it is to pass through this world without pain and sorrow, and how much it is in their power to alleviate much of their troubles by kindness and forbearance, and how necessary it is to overlook faults which are common to all mankind, and how much greater would be their happiness here and hereafter by the exercise of a little patience and by forgiving one another, they would surely try a little more than they do to smooth their way through life and to remove obstacles to their happiness, which are easy to remove by a little exercise of self-denial and kindness, and when they had once succeeded in doing this they would wonder at their former foolishness and ask themselves why they had not done this before. They have only one life to live here below and let them learn to live it in peace and mutual forbearance and comfort. They will think of this on their death bed, and why not think of it now? When darkness closes their eyes, when the angel of death has put his hand upon their brow, and their hearts beat no longer, their last thoughts will be for that mercy which they never showed each other. And then the grave opens and receives the last remains of those whose lives were filled with angry passions and feelings of unforgiveness and hate. Verily, our lives are filled with disappointments, difficulties and troubles, many of which are of our own creation. Take the case of a father of many children, of whom he is proud, so far in life he had done his duty and given them and their mother a peaceful and happy home, but one day a small cloud could just be noticed upon the clear horizon. His wife saw it, his children saw it, and they trembled lest it should increase, and finally overshadow their pleasant home. This little dark spot was but a beginning of a storm in a short time this exemplary and kind husband and father had been a corpse. A sudden accident led to the death of the mother and children, and needless to say that the once good man lost all control of himself and now became the terror of the household. All love and self-respect, all peace and joy and happiness were buried alike in one common ruin. The man's life was destroyed and soon he was laid at rest in the silent grave. Then the mother and children set to work in earnest to retain and improve their home, but it was a hard task, and many a time they almost gave up in despair, but after many discouragements they succeeded, and then they could look back upon the past, could see how much anxiety and suffering they had undergone, and they acknowledged that life here below was filled with disappointments, difficulties and troubles, and that true peace and happiness were seldom found in this world. And just so it is in every walk of life. In the morning the sun rises clear and bright and at evening it goes down in blackness, darkness, clouds, loud thunder and storms fill the earth and there is light and peace no more. This is but a type of human life. People come in the world and pass through it in the vain hope of realizing what they never find. They travel on and on and the longer they do the greater are their disappointments, and difficulties and troubles, and at last, tired out with their vain seeking, and weary and worn, they lie themselves down in despair and soon the grave closes over them and they are seen no more. And so generation follows generation, each ending with the same experience and the same death comes and gives them a happy release from all their sorrows. Go into our graveyards and then look upon the places where rest the bodies of those who in life were well known and with whom we were wont to talk and laugh, and now see their end. They have had their day, some longer and some shorter, but they have all now met together and we see them all talk with them no more. They have gone to another world, their bodies lie in the cold ground and we may pay our last duty to them by some little act of kindness and love, but they have passed away and are gone. They feel neither cold or heat, they hear not the songs of the birds as they sit over their graves. Sunshine and storm and tempest is all the same to them now. Father and mother, brother and sister, wife and child, all lie there in the cold arms of death. But if we draw a useful lesson from the recollection of their lives and from the temptation, from all that now remains, we will not have visited their graves in vain, for they show us our own destiny, and our duty is to be prepared to meet it when it comes.

FROM ALL OVER

A Winnipeg despatch says that plowing commenced at Medicine Hat on Saturday last.

NATIONAL PILLS is the favorite purgative and antibilious medicine, they are mild and thorough.

The annual meeting of the North American St. George's Union is to be held in London, Ont. on the 24th of August.

Worms often destroy children, but Freeman's Worm Powders destroy worms, and expel them from the system.

A CHILING EVIL—Children are often fretful and ill when worms are the cause. Dr. Low's Worm Syrup safely expels all worms.

The new Canadian Pacific Railway elevator at Montreal, with a storing capacity of 600,000 bushels, has been opened.

To REMOVE DANDRUFF—Cleanse the scalp with Prof. Low's Magic Sulphur Soap. A delightful medicated soap for the toilet.

Simon Dufour, a farmer of Murray Bay, Que., aged 45, was gathered in by his threatening machine and instantly killed.

A BAD BREAKDOWN—It is a common thing now-a-days to hear one complain of being all broken down with a faint, weak, restless languor, with strength and appetite nearly gone, and no well defined cause. This is a general debility, which Burdock Blood Bitters promptly relieves, and most invariably cures.

Mr. George Ward, of Georgetown, was fatally injured on Wednesday last by falling from an elevator. He died on Saturday morning.

Every second person has it; doctors think it incurable; but Dr. Carson's Catarrh Cure is guaranteed to cure or the money is refunded. All druggists, or the Dr. Carson Medical Co., Toronto. $1.00 per bottle.

The Dominion Government will be asked to place a sum in the estimates to improve the Red River with a view to its utilization in the Hudson Bay route.

SEARCHING FOR PROOF.—There is no trouble in ascertaining from any druggist the true virtue of Hagar's Yellow Oil, for all painful and inflammatory troubles, rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, foot bites, burns, bruises, sprains, contracted cords, stiff joints, aches, pains and soreness.

The postmaster of Montreal is investigating the matter of the scandalous letters sent from post office box 139 to a young lady in Toronto. The postmaster will spare no trouble to bring the miscreant to justice.

A SEASONABLE ITEM.—During the breaking up of winter, when the air is chilly and the weather damp, such complaints as rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, sore throat, jaundice, and other painful effects of sudden cold, are prevalent. It is then that Hagar's Yellow Oil is found truly valuable as a household remedy.

James H. Bryson, hired man on the farm of Mrs. Harper, West Guilfordville, sloped with his employer's daughter, Linzie, married her at Hamilton, and then was arrested for abduction and taken to Bradford for trial.

A WISE CHOICE.—In selecting a remedy for coughs and colds the wise choice is to take one that loosens the tough mucus clinging to the air passages. Such a remedy is Hagar's Pectoral Balm, which promptly breaks up hard colds and their troublesome effects.

Upwards of sixteen thousand bushels of seed grain will be distributed by the Department of the Interior among the distressed settlers and halfbreeds of Prince Albert, Duck Lake, St. Laurent and Batoche, N.W.T.

"BURNS AND CALDS."—If you are so unfortunate as to injure yourself in this way, we can suggest a remedy that will (we speak from experience) soon relieve you of all pain and quickly heal the wound; it costs but twenty-five cents and is sold by all druggists—ask for Perry Davis Pain Killer.

Two gentlemen from the Northwest Territories had an interview on Thursday with the Minister of the Interior for the purpose of submitting to the Government a list of claims made on behalf of the people of the Territories.

That troublesome cough should be at once cured, as, if not, it is liable to terminate in consumption. Thousands die annually that might have been saved if West's Cough Syrup had been taken in time. It will positively cure the worst cases of throat and lung diseases, colds, coughs, hoarseness, bronchitis, whooping cough. Price 25 cents, 50 cents and $1 per bottle. Sold by J. D. Tully, druggist.

No BLUNDERING.—There is no blundering in the dark—in the action of Burdock Blood Bitters upon the system. It is no scattering shot gun prescription, no cure-all; but it acts directly upon the four cardinal points of health: the stomach, the liver, the bowels, and the blood, and works its cures in a natural manner through nature's channels.

SHILOH'S VITALIZER is what you need in Constipation, Loss of Appetite, Distress and all symptoms of Dyspepsia. Price 10 and 75 cents per bottle. For sale by Ormond & Walsh druggists, Peterborough.

AN INCIDENT OF "THE WAR"

The difference of opinion regarding many points connected with the management of the campaign in the "unpleasantness" in the United States a few years ago are numerous, and the discussions to which they have given rise are still going on, with no indication of when they will end. It cannot, therefore, be regarded as surprising that there has been some discussion over incidents connected with the suppression of the rebellion last year. The chief event of that campaign was the taking of Batocche, and it occasioned considerable discussion, which has been revived by some remarks made by Dr. Orton in a recent speech.

Dr. Orton's remarks have been misrepresented in many papers, and Major C. A. Boulton says that the doctor fell into an error. The statements of the doctor and the major, however, appear to us to explain a point regarding which there was a dispute in the newspapers. The accounts of the capture of Batocche written by some correspondents made it appear that the final advance or charge was made without orders from the General, and that it had been decided upon at a meeting of the officers. This statement we believed to be absurd, and stated so at the time, and full information confirmed the belief that Gen. Middleton ordered the advance. Dr. Orton's speeches and letters and Major Boulton's letter explain an incident that may have occasioned the report sent out by the correspondents. According to these authorities, on the afternoon of the first day at Batocche the officers feared that the General might withdraw the troops to the camp, seven miles back, and they thought that such a move would be construed into a retreat by the enemy and do harm. A group of officers talked over the matter, and Major Boulton said he would represent their views to the commander. Dr. Orton and Major Boulton went to the General and expressed the views of the officers. The troops did not retreat to the camp, but remained in front of Batocche. Major Boulton also states that the General did not confide in him what his intentions were and did not lead him to suppose he contemplated retreating, nor had he, to Major Boulton's knowledge, given intimation to anyone that such a step was under serious consideration.

This incident, although it occurred on the first day at Batocche, may have given rise to the report that the officers, consulting together, had decided on a charge and carried it out without orders, and, indeed, several newspapers, in publishing Dr. Orton's remarks, fell into the error of believing that they referred to the last day. Dr. Orton also states that the General did order the final advance, and that the orders given by the General to "stop firing," which some correspondents represented as being addressed to the troops, were given to Capt. Howard, of the Gatling, who was firing away and endangering the volunteers, not knowing that the men were so far advanced.

There is one satisfactory consideration connected with the discussion that took place regarding Batocche. It was carried on, not to find out who should be discredited, but to ascertain to whom credit was due. In that particular it differed from some of the discussions on the other side of the line.

DEBATING BUSINESS

The Ontario Legislature met on January 24th, and since that date the members have been in attendance. The people were pleased that the House met some time before the Dominion Parliament would assemble, as, when both Houses are not in session at the same time, more attention can be given to Provincial affairs. But for weeks the Mowat Government have met the House day after day to again adjourn, as they had not made preparations to meet it and the business was not ready to proceed with. The only thing of importance that they have accomplished is placing themselves on record as disapproving of the just punishment meted out to a rebel leader by the courts and the cementing more strongly the alliance between the avengers of Riel and the leaders of the Reform party in Ontario. It does appear as though the Mowat Government was purposely delaying the business of the House, so that the Dominion Parliament would be in session before the financial and other important affairs of the Province were discussed, for then the press would not be in a position to give as much space to the publication of the debates and the attention of the people would be to a large extent drawn from them to the Dominion House. They evidently wish to avoid a thorough ventilation of their transactions and a criticism of their administration.

BOBCATSEON

ACCIDENT.—Mr. Geo. Coons met with a painful accident, and narrow escape the other evening. She was walking across the end of the bridge when the pole of a cutter struck her on the head, knocking her down under the baron feet and was then run over by the cutter. No serious wounds were made and no limbs broken, though it is feared that internal injury has been sustained.—Independent.

The London Relief Fund.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—The Bank of England and City, Mills and Curran, bankers, have donated $1,000 each towards the relief of the unemployed workmen of London. The firms Frubling & Co., and Frederick and Huth & Co., merchants, have donated $500 each, and many other firms £100. Subscriptions are being collected on the Stock Exchange.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT.

Lots in the Township of Livingstone—Timber for Settlers—Aid to Poor School Sections—More "Globe" Ignorance.

FRIDAY, Feb. 12.—Six private bills were introduced and read a first time.

LOTS IN LIVINGSTONE.
Mr. CARNEUR moved for a return showing the number, concession and acreage of the lots in the township of Livingstone placed under license to cut timber to John Lodge in August 1884; the township, number, concession and acreage of the lots in lieu of which the license of 1884 was issued; the date which the last named lots were taken out of Lodge's license, and the disposition made of the timber thereon, with copies of all correspondence, reports and orders in Council relating to the exchange of territory thus effected.

The motion was adopted.

TIMBER FOR SETTLERS.

Mr. WOOD moved for a return showing the timber districts set aside for local mill purposes, extent of each district, and the conditions under which such districts are held by the parties to whom granted, the parties holding the same, with the rate of dues charged by the Department of Crown Lands, such return to comprise that section of the province lying to the east of the Boboygon road. He said there was dissatisfaction among the people residing in the neighborhood of private mills and among local millmen because the timber set aside for local mill purposes was inferior in quality. Another grievance was the high price of the timber caused by the dues paid the Government for each log and fifteen cents to the licensee. It was claimed that the policy in vogue prevented settlers from being properly supplied with timber. A thousand feet of first class lumber could not be obtained fifty miles back as cheap as could be had at the mouth of the Trent or Moira. This was a serious matter for the settler, as it affected his interests materially.

Mr. PARER said that on the whole the system used worked well. He suggested that the motion be amended by asking for a return showing the local mills east of Boboygon in which timber had been allotted for local purposes, the quantity of timber allotted to each mill, the license from which the timber is ordered to be taken out, and all orders in Council and regulations in connection therewith.

Mr. WOOD accepted the suggestion, and the motion was amended passed.

POOR SCHOOL SECTIONS.

Mr. WOOD moved for a return showing the school sections in the province which received aid from the Poor School Fund during the year 1885; the sum paid to each section from said fund, and any further aid given by township or county municipalities, with the regulations of the Education Department as to the distribution of the Poor School Fund.

PRIVILEGE.

Mr. WOOD called attention to a misrepresentation by the Globe of remarks of his. He had not denied that he had been a salaried officer of the Dominion since he was elected member of the Legislature, but stated that he had been appointed two years before his election. As his constituents elected him after a knowledge of that fact he was right in retaining his position.

The House adjourned at 3:45 p. m.

PROTECTION FOR THE BIRDS.

The Rev. V. Clementi has handed us a circular, issued by the American Ornithologists' Union, containing the following, taken from a recent issue of Forest and Stream:—

Bird destruction in this country is every year becoming a more and more serious aspect. The decrease in the numbers of many birds, brought about of late years by the increasing persecution waged for the sake of fashion, has aroused the American Ornithologists' Union to a recognition of the necessity for instant and decided effort in behalf of the birds. To answer this imperative demand the Union has appointed a "committee on the protection of North American birds." This committee was lately organized in this city with the following membership: Mr. George B. Sennett, Chairman; Mr. Eugene P. Peckol, Secretary; Mr. J. A. Allen, Dr. J. B. Holder, Dr. George Bird Grinnell, Mr. Wm. Dutcher and Mr. L. S. Foster, all of New York city; Mr. Wm. Brewster, Cambridge, Mass.; Mr. Montague Chamberlin, St. John, N. B.; Col. N. S. Goss, Topeka, Kansas.

The objects of the committee are as follows:—
1. The gathering of all possible information bearing on the subjects of the destruction and the protection of North American birds.
2. The diffusion of information among the people in respect to the extent of the slaughter of birds for millinery and other mercenary purposes; the wanton killing of birds for sport by men and boys; the robbing of birds' nests; the destruction of the eggs of rails, terns, gulls and other birds for food; and the needless destruction of many species resulting from the several destruction; the spreading of information, also, in respect to the utility of birds as a natural check upon the increase of insects injurious to vegetation, and with reference to their interest and value from an economic point of view. This with the object of developing a public sentiment in favor of the rigid protection of our native birds, a sentiment that will naturally spring up strongly and widely as soon as attention is called to the subject.

3. To encourage the formation of bird protective associations and anti bird wearing leagues.
4. The perfection of a statute for the protection of birds, drawn with regard to its availability for enactment by all the States and Territories, leaving, however, the game birds, properly so considered, to the care of the same protective associations.
5. The prevention of the collecting of birds and eggs for pseudo-scientific purposes, and the development of a system of co-operation between this committee and the various authorities to whom may be assigned the power of granting permits for the collection of birds in the interest of science.
6. The consideration of the best means for securing the enforcement of bird protective statutes.

The committee is desirous of collecting facts and statistics bearing upon the subject of the destruction of our birds, and will welcome information from any source. It also extends the promise of its hearty co-operation to all persons or societies who may be interested in the protection of our birds.
The head quarters of the committee are at the American Museum of Natural History, Central Park, New York city, where the officers or any of the members may be addressed.

THE NEW AND THE OLD.

How natural it is for a man who assumes a position to criticize the condition in which he finds things, and the work and arrangement of his predecessor. How many times in visiting manufacturing concerns have we had the faults, neglects and errors of "the fellow who was here before me," dilated upon by some new broom whose sharp corners and trim edges were already, we could see, beginning to wear off, and whose "head," as the politicians say, would doubtless some day "come off" with quite as many faults upon it to be dilated upon by his successor. Very few of us indeed could step down and out upon short notice and leave the affairs of our office in a state which could not be criticized with some degree of truth by our successor.

With these facts in mind an engineer who accepts a situation should find all the faults which there are about it, seek for all the points where improvement can be made, and then set quietly about having the requisite changes made. He will not gain any particular respect to himself, nor any special reputation for smartness, by parading his superior knowledge and ability, and will make the best impression even upon his employer by quietly calling his attention to the advantages to be derived from a change without finding fault with the condition in which you find it, or by respectfully insisting that an element of danger be removed without any uncomplimentary allusions to the man who preceded him. In suggesting improvements it is well to commence with small and inexpensive changes, which will pay a large percentage upon the amount expended in making them. He should, at the first opportunity, make a thorough inspection into the condition of his boilers in regard to their freedom from corrosion, scale and dirt, see that the passages to the water gauge are free, that the gauge cocks are clean, that the safety valve is large enough to clear the boiler of all the steam which it can possibly make, is in no danger of sticking from corrosion, and is not piped so that the water of condensation can stand upon its back. The safety valves for many boilers are figured from the grate surface alone, and this is frequently increased after the boiler has been in use, without a corresponding increase in the safety valve. Having determined the boiler to be in a safe and economical condition, or, make it so if it was not, the engine should be looked over carefully for signs of wear, for errors in the setting of the valves, or for any chance of improvement as regards economy or safety. The same attention should be paid to the piping and accessories, never having sufficient confidence in your predecessor to take it for granted that he leaves things all right, while exercising sufficient charity towards him not make his blunders your chief topic of conversation.—Boston Journal of Commerce.

Every bottle guaranteed to be as represented or money refunded. Price, 50c. and $1.00 per bottle. For sale by all druggists, or address the HARTLAND CHEMICAL CO., 27 Wellington Street East, Toronto. Stamps taken.

TOR., N.Y., Jan. 4, 1886.

DEAR SIR, I have much pleasure in saying that I have used your White Face Cream for my complexion some three weeks, and find it superior to anything I have ever used for the same purpose. It softens the skin and imparts a fresh and delicate bloom to the face and hands, and is indispensable by the way many other preparations.

Sincerely yours, MISS LOMAX

New York Stocks.

Over Futures and Co's Private Wire.

New York, Feb. 16.—Commission brokers claim to have done the business of the present bull movement. They advise their customers that long holdings are not selling out their stocks, and that purchases made on reactions will eventually show large profits. The majority of the non-holders quoted the street short of stock, and at the up lower prices lower prices were predicted during the early part of to-day. Gold being engaged with prospect of increased engagements led the room traders to make a drive at the market, and although prices sagged off on the average 1 per cent., very little long stock was disposed of.

PORT HOPE.

ACCIDENT.—About nine o'clock on Sunday morning, Mrs. Paul Lechner, South street, while walking in the back yard, fell and broke her left arm at the wrist.

FIRE.—About midnight on Sunday night the alarm bells were sounded, when it was found that the mill loft of J. J. Turner, Mill street, near the wharf, was in flames. The fire had made such headway that the mill loft, with Turner's residence adjoining, and Wallace's storehouse, were destroyed. Three tenement houses adjoining were badly damaged; one occupied by Capt. James Hadden, one by John McCaffery, the third by an old man. There were suspicious circumstances connected with the fire, and no doubt the insurance companies will hold an enquiry. The fire bug should be caught and punished.

FLOOD.

The ice jam at the Walton street bridge broke about six o'clock on Saturday night.
All the logs being out at Heim's dam and the way being clear to that point, the ice in the harbour being solid, a jam took place near the Vindict, when the whole of Mill street, from the Turner House to the wharf, was flooded.
Wright Bros. coal yard and stables were under water. The coals on Sunday from the Vindict was one of demolition. Three small houses on Mill street, between Peter street and the vicduct, were several feet deep in water and the families had to vacate them. Mill street is impassable from Peter street to the wharf, and it will cost perhaps hundred dollars for traffic, besides the damage done to the sidewalks and the Peter street bridge. The penny-wise and sordid-fishiness of the Council has been fully illustrated. Had the ice been cleared out of the harbor early last week, at an expense of twenty-five or thirty dollars, all this loss and inconvenience would have been averted.—
Guide.

THE CARRIDGE COMMISSION.

KINGSTON, Feb. 15.—The Carriage Commission have concluded their business. They have arrived at a conclusion as to the defects in the carriages, and suggested a remedy. The powder, it would seem, was defective as it should have been. The decision of the board will be despatched to the Minister of Militia, who will incorporate it in his report.

Chamberlain's Parlor Dining Rooms

Beppars, Lamborne, etc., will be served in

A CLEVER CAPTURE.

Alleged Perpetrator of Indecent Assault
Under Arrest.

On Saturday evening County Constable C. C.
Bontar, arrived in the city from the northern townships, with Hiram Phillips in custody, who is charged with attempting to commit an indecent assault upon Miss Margaret Ann
Briggs, of Marmora, on the 25th of December.
Miss Briggs is a cheese-maker, and was engaged in the Belmont factory last season. Her father has a small mill on the Beaver Creek, about five miles from Marmora, and manufactures cheese boxes.

It is stated that shortly before the date mentioned Miss Briggs received a letter apparently from J. W. Jordan, of Napanea, which set forth that Jordan had leased three cheese factories in Madoc township, and having heard of her qualifications as a good cheese maker was desirous of securing her services for the coming season. He so stated that he intended to purchase boxes of her father and asked her to meet him at Millbridge, in Tudor township, on the 25th of December. As the depot was about a mile from the hotel at the place named, Jordan proposed to meet her at the depot with a horse and cutter. Miss Briggs assented to this, and kept her appointment at the Millbridge depot on the day appointed. She was met by the prisoner, Phillips, who did not represent himself as the man she expected to meet, but offered to hunt him up for her. He drove her to the hotel and left. After dark Phillips returned and said he had found Jordan at Bannockburn. Miss Briggs said she would return home. If Jordan had wished particularly to engage her for one of his factories he would have kept his appointment. Phillips stated that Jordan had been detained but wished to see her. He (Phillips) had to go that way in going home, and was driven to the village. She finally agreed to accompany him. On the way Phillips assaulted her but Geo. Jackson, who heard her cries, went to the scene and gave her shelter. Jackson knew Phillips, who disappeared from the neighborhood, and could not be found when sought for by officers.

Chief McKinnon was consulted, and from his instructions a trap was laid which resulted in Phillips' arrest.

The letter which Miss Briggs from her home was a forgery and was compiled for the deceitful purpose described.

Constable Bontar says Miss Briggs has an irreproachable reputation.

Phillips was arraigned before J. J. C. Fillet, Esq., on Monday, but was remanded until Saturday to allow witnesses to be summoned.—

THE OLDEST PERSON LIVING.

A Man Whose Authentic Records Prove
His Age at 137.

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 13.—When old "Dan"
Freeman was buried across the river in Windsor a few days ago, it was believed that the oldest man in the world had been laid to rest.

"Dan" was 122 years old, as conclusively proved before his death, and left 138 descendants.

Since Freeman was buried, some relic hunters have brought forward a man whose authentic record fixes his age at the remarkable figure of 127 years. The proof furnished leaves no room for any sort of doubt. The name of this man is Andrew Lucas. He is a father of Mr. P. A.
Lucas, who for nine years past has kept a harbor shop at No. 34 Elfrida street west, this city.

Mr. Lucas has been a slave under the father of General Jackson, and was a grown man when the General succeeded to the paternal estate.

He remembers the revolutionary war distinctly, and recalls many very interesting incidents of the second war between this country and Great Britain. He declares it is as distinct to him as yesterday when General Jackson went to New Orleans during that very memorable struggle, when he accompanied the General as his servant. He describes the cotton bales piled up as a temporary fortification.

Soon after this, at a time when the General was away, Lucas was whipped for some reason and ran away. He remembers very well why he was whipped, but does not give the reason.
He worked his way slowly north and

CROSSED INTO CANADA.

At Black Rock on the Niagara river, Andrew Kirby, then Custom collector at Fort Erie, sheltered him and helped him to cross into the King's domain. Lucas found employment in the family of General Brock, who was killed in the war of 1812 at Queenstown Heights. Next he ran on the Niagara river under Captain John Chisholm, for whom he worked nine years, and was then discharged by his employer because the latter considered him too old to be useful.
Lucas was then 62 years old.

Lucas soon found employment again, this time at Kingston, Ontario, where he married his second wife. His wife had borne him seven children. His second and free wife bore him seven more.

One daughter by this union is now living at East Sarnia, Mich. Her name Mrs. Williams and she is 71 years old. Fifty years ago he removed to Bradford, Ont. There he got work from the father of Judge Stevenson of Cayuga. The Judge, though an old man himself, remembers Lucas as a man about 70 years old when he was a boy was going to school.

For 29 years Lucas was a driver for the Express Company at Bradford, and resigned the place ten years ago for the reason that he was getting along in years.

and felt the need of rest. He has the frame of a once powerful man, and stands six feet three inches in his stockings. A year ago the month he saw and spent 25 cord for William E. Walling, of Bradford. Up to three years ago he never wore spectacles, and during the summer of 1881, when visiting his son in Toronto, Mr.
Lucas read the City Hall clock from the front of the Kirkwood house, across the Ontario Martina. He then walked without the assistance of cane, being 124 years old.

This is a most remarkable case of longevity.
Lucas is certainly as old as stated, and from his appearance to day promises to hang on for some time to come. This man is probably the oldest man living. He has witnessed the development of the most wonderful era in the world's history, and has personal recollection of all the many great events in the career of this nation.

The World's Most

It is certainly remarkable the wonderful cure effected by West's World's Wonder or Family Liniment. This remedy has not an equal in the world for the cure of Rheumatism, Sprains, Cuts, Bruises and all diseases requiring external application. Price 25 cents and 50 cents per bottle. Sold by J. D. Tully.

An Age of Discovery.

We certainly ought to appreciate the fact that we are living in an age of progress and discovery, this is especially appreciated by all persons that have been afflicted with rheumatism, as West's World's Wonder or Family Liniment is a positive cure for rheumatism. It is invaluable for cuts, sprains, bruises, burns, scalds and all diseases requiring external application.
Sold by J. D. Tully at 25 and 50 cents per bottle.

Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 16, 1886.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Town Council.

A special meeting of the Town Council will be held to-morrow evening at 7.30 o'clock for the transaction of general business.

Y. M. C. A. Bible Class.

The young men's Bible class will be conducted this evening by the General Secretary, the Rev. Mr. Wallace being engaged with the special meetings in his church.

Conservative Meeting.

A meeting of the Junior Liberal Conservative Club and of members of the Senior Conservative Association will be held in the rooms of the Junior Club, over Mr. Stethem's store, at 7.30 o'clock this evening. A large attendance is requested.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Fresh to strong winds from southwest and west, mostly fair colder weather, with local snow flurries.

Good Service.

The London Free Press says:—"Mr. Carnegie is doing good service by moving for a return of all the members of the Local Legislature that have been appointed to fat offices by Mr. Mowat. When the return comes down the public will gain some idea of the kind of 'Reform' that these people are the most fond of."

Did Not Appear.

On Monday evening P. C. McGinty arrested a farmer who was conducting himself in a disorderly manner. The culprit was taken to the lock up but, not wishing to be shut up gave a $5 bill as a guarantee of his appearance at the court. This morning however he did not file an appearance.

The Late Board of Trade.

The Port Hope Times says:—"The Peterborough Board of Trade is defunct. We think this a pity, as such boards, if they exclude politics and devote their attention to the development of local interests, are very useful in any town situated as Peterborough is, in the centre of a magnificent agricultural country."

GENTS' ALL-WOOL SHIRTS AND DRAWERS marked down to cost to make room for spring goods at ANDREW MCNEIL'S, George street.

The Carnival.

Again we call the attention of our readers to the date of the grand Shakespearean Carnival to be held on the afternoon and evening of Friday next, February 19th, under the auspices of the Fire Brigade Band. It is expected that this carnival will surpass any former event of the kind ever held in Central Ontario. Rich and gorgeous costumes will be visible in endless profusion. The music will be extra, and the decorations superb.

A Musical Acquisition.

Mr. Fred Barker, a graduate of the Conservatory of Music, Munich, Germany, has arrived in Peterborough and will in future make it his home. Mr. Barker is a thorough musician, and will give lessons on violin, piano and organ. His card will be found in another column, and the attention of the musical portion of the community is directed to it. It is the intention of Mr. Barker to organize a first-class orchestra in Peterborough, composed of both brass, string and wood instruments.

Y. M. C. A. Convention.

The sixteenth Provincial Convention of the Young Men's Christian Association is to be held at Hamilton this week, commencing Thursday. A large number of delegates are expected, including some from the United States. The Peterborough Association will be represented by the Rev. A. H. Munro, Jno. S. Hall, Geo. E. Williams, (General Secretary), and perhaps others. The Boys' Branch are sending their President and Secretary, Jas. Eastland and Fred Ratcliffe. The Rev. A. H. Munro is to deliver an address before the Convention on "Our English Bible." Mr. Williams will read a paper on "What the Associations are doing for young men socially, and what more can be done." The general secretaries will have a conference on the day preceding the Convention.

ADVICE TO YOUNG MEN

ROBERT BURDETTE LECTURES TO A THOUSAND PEOPLE

His odd Humour and Sound Good Sense. Quaintly put, Create Alternate Laughter and Sobriety.

On Monday evening Mr. Robt. J. Burdette, of the Brooklyn Eagle gave a lecture in Bradburn's Opera House, entitled "Advice to Young Men." The hall was filled in every part, the gallery being reserved for the Peterborough Business College Students.

The lecturer was introduced by the Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, Rector of St. Luke's who apologized for the absence of Mr. Stevenson, the Mayor, by saying that a severe cold had prevented his taking the chair.

Mr. Burdette bowed, and advised that there was never words more true than the scriptural. "It is better to give than to receive"—good advice. Advice to the young might be represented like this: you take a tub of water—a good large round tub—and place it in the centre of a room—a spacious room—and then put your finger in it. Allow your finger to remain there for, say from twenty five to thirty minutes. Then draw it out and look at the hole in the water. The length of time that hole remained in the water represented the lasting impression good advice has on young men. It was not always the oldest men that gave advice. Sometimes it was the youngest people that gave the best advice.

MAKE A START.

If a young man wanted to be anything he should make a start at once, immediately, now. He could not loaf away the forenoon of this life and in the afternoon says he is going to do some thing prodigious. No; if he is even going to be anything he must begin at once. The position he takes at school will be the same when he enters in the great wide world.

CULTIVATE INDEPENDENCE.

When a young man wants to borrow $500 or marry the old man's only daughter—its all the same thing—be able to say so right out squarely. Don't go hanging around telling one story and then another. Say right out square what you want and you will fetch the old fellow. Or may be he'll fetch you—you can't always tell. But at all events it is better to astonish than to tire, to startle than to weary.

CHECK.

Don't fall into the habit of being cheeky or run away with the idea that no man gets along in this world who has not a great fund of cheek. You say, "see that fellow; he goes right up to the cushioned front pews when us chaps are standing away back under the gallery." "Never mind. It is not that he is respected that he sits there; and he will only occupy that place temporarily. When a man comes down street with a paint pot in his hand all of the people get out of his way; not that they cherish any profound respect for him. Both the paint pot and the cheeky man get lots of room. The people don't want to get soiled. Gold is better than brass any day. The world invariably finds a young man of solid worth if that young man finds it out first himself. There are pebbles and diamonds in the world. The pebbles are easily seen and trampled on, but the diamonds are hard to find and are esteemed. Every diamond no matter if it is away down in the dark, damp earth, will sooner or later be brought to light to sparkle in the sunlight. So it is with solid worth. There are men, plenty of them, even now, looking for young men of the right qualities and if you possess them they are this moment searching with spectacles and telescopes for you.

THE SECRET.

The secret of success is hard work. Sometimes genius will accomplish in a flash what hard work has been striving for for a hundred years. But generally success is accomplished by hard work and sticking to it. Hard work never killed anybody. Those that work pe sitently and steadily have no time to die. Hard work is the key of success. It is rejoicing to think that man's work goes on continually—and woman's too. Over at home I am compelled by a tyrannical ordinance in the land of the free to shovel snow off my sidewalk. If I happen to take a three cornered bit off my neighbor's sidewalk I put it put it back. It would not be justice to him if I didn't. Shovelling off that snow develops his muscles and makes a man of him. No one man has to do all of the work. It is a matter of the supremest satisfaction to think that the future generations will have to take up the pick and shovel just as I did. No; it is not the hard work that kills people; it is the fun.

CONCENTRATION.

It takes a good many years to be anything and it takes a good many years, to some, to find out what they are going to be. A young fellow goes to the opera and hears something music! Then he goes and buys a fiddle and drives the whole neighborhood mad for the next two weeks. He hears an eloquent sermon, and starts preaching, and so on. You can light a little pile of powder on this stage and all that it will amount to is a little puff and a flash. But ram the same amount into a gun and no man will stand in front to catch it as it comes out. The one is concentrated, the other is scattered energy. Endeavour to have one idea. But people will say I'm a crank! Exactly, that's what we want you to be. You know a crank is a machine that turns the machinery and drives the driving wheel—keeps the world in motion. Cranks are trustworthy men. There are only two or three cranks on this continent, Endeavour to do some one thing well. A tolerably good doctor, a tolerably good lawyer, a tolerably good minister, and a tolerably good editor was about as good as a tolerably good egg.

SOWING WILD OATS.

There is no law on earth to prevent you from sowing wild oats. If you are determined to sow wild oats, all I have to say is go to it and sow them; sow them broadcast take lots of fun; sit up till three o'clock in the morning sowing them. That is the only fun you will have. You can say at 35, "Well, I sowed wild oats at 22, but I guess I'll plough, and cross plough, and turn the furrows to the sun and frost, and then harrow and destroy all those wild oats. You can't do that. With tears burning and blistering the cheek, you have to reap as you have sown.

INDUSTRY. Take Edison sitting by his bench with his hands folded and his dreamy eyes looking away over a thousand years hence and he resembles very much the man who sits on a rock and watches the cork on his fishing line bob up and down on the tranquil stream. What was evolved? One evolved the telephone, the electric light and gave us great blessings—or sold them to Jay Gould, which is about the same thing—and the other evolved a soft-mouthed catfish and gave it to his family. You can't tell by appearance how much a man does. It is absolutely necessary that you should be industrious. You must gain eminence before you can rest on your oars. When you have written such poetry as Tennyson you can afford to write thin poetry and get $20 a line for it.

BE HONEST.

Be honest with the world. It is a good old world after all, a foolishly charitable old world. It is better to you than you are to yourself. Be honest, but don't go according to that contemptible old saying "Honesty is the best policy." Be honest because it is best. Will honesty pay? No it won't pay if you go in for making money out of it. Every night try to get acquainted with yourself; ask yourself questions; good, hard, pointed questions, and above all don't try to lie to yourself about it. If you have been wrong in anything, acknowledge it like a man.

CONTENT.

Be content; but don't be satisfied. Try to reach higher but be contented under your present lot, don't be envious. Nine cases out of ten, you are the one to be envious. If a man dies and leaves $200,000,000 behind, congratulate yourself that you'll leave $3.50, only it is better to leave the former than the latter; you won't die under a heavy heart thinking how your family is to be provided for.

FREE THOUGHT.

There is great danger of young men drifting off in free thought now-a-days. It is not as it was in former times. Then it was better, gross, repellent; now it is all bright with scintillations and ripples and sings the live long day. Before, there was never such brilliant eloquence as now flows from the leading apostles of free thought. The siren music charms the sensibilities and the young man falls into line as regular as he keeps step to marching music of a brass band.

THE LECTURER CLOSED by giving a graphic description of the "dear old home on the farm." For fully a quarter of an hour the house was convulsed with laughter. He advised all to cultivate good nature. For that alone the young man would be loved, and if diligent, industrious and persevering, he would surely reap his reward.

The Chiefship of Police. It is reported, we believe on good authority, that Mr. G. Cochrane has withdrawn his application of the position of Chief of Police of Peterborough.

Government Buildings.

A letter received by a citizen from New Edinburgh, near Ottawa, states that Mr. J. E. Askworth, of that place, has secured the contract for both Post Office Customs and Inland Revenue offices to be built here, and further says that the contractor will commence operations about the 16th of March. It is generally believed among contractors here that Mr. Askworth has been given the contract for the Inland Revenue and Customs offices, but that he has secured the contract for building the Post Office is doubted. No official announcement has yet been made.

THIS CHAT.

It is likely the curlers will go to Toronto next Thursday.

They are to play matches with the Granites and Torontos.

Mr. G. B. Sproule has taken photographs of the Separate School and the Convent, for display at the Indian and Colonial exhibition.

The photographs are very clear and distinct.

The Peterborough Business College Students made their first appearance on stage last night.

They attended Burdette's lecture and made a formidable array in the gallery, observing commendable decorum—a quality not generally possessed by students.

A Business Change.

A change has taken place in the management of the Golden Lion general dry goods house. By mutual consent the partnership existing between Messrs. Fair and VanEvery has been dissolved, Mr. VanEvery desiring a change. Mr. VanEvery still continues to hold an interest in the business, but Mr. Robt. Fair, the senior partner, will assume full management. Since opening in Peterborough Messrs. Fair, VanEvery & Co. have met with success in business. They have been live and energetic in business and as a result they have built up a trade, which, under the new management, will no doubt continue and increase. Mr. Fair has had a long experience in the business in different phases and, associated with Mr. Patterson, an active practical business man, the management cannot fail to be creditable to the firm and acceptable to the public.

A Little Hint.

A merchant alone in a desolate store sang: "Willow, ut-willow, ut-willow." I said to him, "Why are you pacing the floor, singing 'Willow, ut-willow, ut-willow'?" "Ain't" he replied, as he smothered his cries, "I thought it was nonsense in advertising. And now I have no custom at all but the flag. Oh, willow, ut-willow, ut-willow."

If you are not afraid of the results of that Cough and Cold, you ought to be. Peterborough will thoroughly cure you. Sold everywhere; at 25c.

THE MASSACHUSETTS FLOODS

Further Accounts of the Damage Caused by the Overflow of the Rivers.

TADTON, Mass., Feb. 15.—The water continued to rise all day in the mill river. It flooded the entire city. All the dams are either gone or useless. Many unoccupied buildings are tottering. Between 300 and 400 people are flooded out. The city is in darkness. Loss, $200,000 to $300,000.

BRAINTREE, Mass., Feb. 15.—The Mannitquot Valley is suffering from the greatest wash-out in its history. The Mannitquot paper mill dam went down at 4 p.m., yesterday, sweeping the railway embankment below, which was 50 feet high, and washing away hundreds of feet of old colony railroad. The water rushed down the valley for miles, sweeping everything before it, including seven bridges and three other dams. Buildings were washed away, orchards destroyed and fences ruined.

WARR, Mass., Feb. 15.—Along the Ware river thousands of acres are completely inundated. Ruins of bridges and fences may be seen amid the ice. The damage in Wardwick is very heavy. Work was suspended in the Ware river has fallen six inches since noon yesterday.

A CITY BATTALION.

To the Editor of the Review:

SIR,—I have been asked the object of the meeting I have called in the Council Chamber for to-morrow, Thursday, evening. It has been suggested, that the 57th Battalion be formed into a City Battalion, and before taking any steps in the matter, I would like to hear the opinion of those who are or may be interested in the matter, whether they are or have been volunteers or not. If formed into a City Battalion we would have to raise six Companies in Peterborough, Ashburnham and the immediate vicinity, but we would not be called away to drill every year, but would perform our drills at home, in the evenings. I would like all who feel any interest in the volunteers to attend, so that we may discuss the matter.

Yours truly,

JAMES Z. ROGERS,

Lieut. Col. 57th Batt.

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY GRANTS

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR,—In reading the proceedings of the County Council I notice that Mr. Strickland moved in amendment to the motion for the adoption of the report of the Finance Committee, seconded by Mr. Burnham, that the report be referred back to Committee with instructions to amend, giving $500 to both the East and West Agricultural Societies, to enable them to erect permanent buildings. Mr. Walsh, in opposing the amendment, said his ratemakers were against it and he would, on that account, support the adoption of the report. Now, sir, what are the facts, as shown by the vote of the ratemakers of Asphodel at the last municipal election? The two members of the Council who supported an Agricultural grant, viz. Messrs. Fitzpatrick and Elliott, were again returned to the Council, while the men who opposed the same were either defeated or were so near being so that it took the County Council to get them seated, and I tell Mr. Walsh that he may thank the elements for his election, for had not the day been so wet he would not have been the ghost of a chance being elected, and I would earnestly advise the members of the County Council to beware, as the time for another municipal election will soon come again and the agricultural ratemakers will watch their votes at the June session and judge them accordingly.

Yours respectfully,

AGRICULTURIST,

Asphodel, Feb. 15th, 1886.

ESCHATE

Mr. J. C. Hutchinson, of Toronto, sends to the York Herald a letter which settles the responsibility for the view taken that the Dominion and not the provinces was entitled to escheats. Mr. Hutchinson, it appears, wrote, in 1875, to Mr. Galbraith, the Reform M.P. for Lanark, to look after an escheat question for him, and this is the reply he received:

"House of Commons, April 5th, 1875.

"J. C. Hutchinson, Esq.

"My Dear Sir,—Your letter of the 4th of March was duly received. I called upon the Hon. Minister of Justice (Hon. Mr. Fournier) to ascertain what had been done in your case. He informed me that a difficulty existed between the Dominion Government and the Government of the Province of Ontario as to which party jurisdiction in escheat estate claims belonged, and until that was settled nothing could be done with your claim. I understood him to say that he intended to disallow the 'Act of the Ontario Legislature under which jurisdiction in those claims was sought to be assumed by the authorities of the province. In that event considerable time may yet elapse before any decision is come to in your case.

"I remain, yours,

"Signed, DANIEL GALBRAITH."

It was clearly the Reform Administration that advanced the view that the Dominion only was escheat.—Toronto Mail.

Church struck by Lightning.

HALIFAX, N. S., Feb. 16.—One of the heaviest thunderstorms ever experienced here passed over the city early this morning. Lightning struck the spire of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, wrecking it from top to bottom, thus travelling across the front and damaging the other tower with a terrific crash. The streets are littered with pulverized boards and shingles. The church also caught fire, but succeeding torrents of rain immediately extinguished it. It had no lightning rod. The storm was of brief duration, but was succeeded by a terrific gale of wind from the south-west, lasting some hours.

Gold shipments are still a bad feature, but the market is not much affected. There is an increase of $38,610 in St. P.'s earnings for the second week of February. There are but points out on N.P.P., but investors claim that as they cannot pay any dividend for a year at least, and besides, there is a suit at present pending against the co. to compel them to pay back a dividend, and any boom in the stock is fictitious.

DESPERATE FISHERMEN

Starving French Canadians Follow an English Example.

PARISIEN, Que., Feb. 15.—The stores of the firm of S. Robin & Co. and LeBoutillier were this morning raided by a terrible crowd of French Canadians and the door of the provision stores broke open and about two hundred and sixty barrels of flour taken. Every effort was made by the agents of the room, Messrs. Romeril and Hoo, the clerks, Rava, I. Hely, Lock and C. Carver, and by the mayor, J. P. Legrand, to bring the crowd to reason, but without avail, as the spirit of madness possessed them. One half barrel of flour and potatoes was offered them, which was more than the small gangs of the government permitted throughout the country. This was, however, indignantly rejected and the ringleaders led on the two hundred rioters who helped themselves to all they could take. This crowd led by the ringleaders, that is, the French portion of it. It is feared that this is but the beginning of the evil. To-morrow or next day at the latest the number of the rioters will be augmented by hundreds from other parts of the country, who were rioting may be expected. Troops have been telegraphed for, but cannot arrive in time to prevent some further serious trouble. Personal violence has not yet been attempted, but other stores outside the city are threatened. The general relief committee met this afternoon to see what steps can be taken in this emergency.

ALL QUIET IN PARISIEN.

CAMPBELLTOWN, Feb. 16.—All is quiet at Parisien this morning. The rioters have pillaged to their satisfaction, returned to their homes with loads of provisions after four p.m. As they will have all that they require for present need it is likely they will remain quiet for a while. It is feared, however, that the success of the Parisien mob in plundering yesterday will induce others to come from neighboring places, where the distance is greater than at Parisien, and it is not improbable that there might be another outbreak and the scene and doings of yesterday repeated. Fortunately the mob did not succeed yesterday in obtaining liquor. It appears that the Customs House officials have the place locked up where the liquor is stored and the mob was afraid to attack Government property.

ALL WINTER GOODS are marked down to cost to make room for spring goods at ANDREW MCNEIL'S, George street.

Body Recovered.

OTTAWA, Feb. 16.—The body of constable McVeigh, who was drowned in the Ottawa river, whilst returning from a trip up the Gatineau to recover stolen property, was recovered last night. It is supposed he mistook the path across the ice and got upon some loose ice, which had been cut by ice stores.

Another Street Railway Strike.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—The Fourth Avenue car conductors and drivers, being dissatisfied with the agreement recently made, met last night to discuss the situation. At half past six this morning a general tie up was ordered, and no cars will be run on the Fourth Avenue line until new arrangements have been made.

Hardcore and Twelve.

ALLENSTOWN, Pa., Feb. 16.—George Phillips, Albert Zimmerman and Henry Weaver were arrested yesterday for committing a number of robberies in Lehigh County. Zimmerman and Phillips confessed to having waylaid and robbed a man near Newark, N. J., one night, after which they knocked him senseless and laid him on a railway track. The next morning the man's mutilated body was found and the coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

An Artillery Team for England

OTTAWA, Feb. 16.—A special meeting of the council of the Dominion Artillery association was held in the adjutant general's office, in the east block this afternoon. Col. Macdonald, of Guelph, president of the association, occupied the chair, the other officers being Col. Irwin, Montserrat, Lamontagne, Mackenzie and Major Stewart. The question of sending a competing team to Shoeburyness, England, was considered and it was unanimously resolved that the association should be represented at the great English artillery meeting this year. The report for the past twelve months was then considered and adopted. This concluded the business of the meeting.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1886.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Cold Weather.

The Rev. V. Clement's self-registering thermometer recorded 4° below zero on Tuesday night.

Four girls from the Training Home at Sutherland, England, expected in Peterborough in April. Any ladies wanting domestics should have their names at the Protestant Home.

Children's Chorus Concert.
We learn that the lady, Mrs. of the Sacred Army have been training the children for some time for a Chorus concert to be held on Friday night, Feb. 19th, in Bradburn's Hall. All are invited.

GENTS' ALL WOOL SHIRTS AND DRAWERS marked down to cost to make room for spring goods at ANDREW MCNEIL'S, George street.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—South and west winds, fair, followed by cloudy weather, with light snow falls in some places towards evening, higher temperatures.

The Earthquake.

We learn that the earthquake reported as being plainly felt at Port Hope last Friday was also felt in this neighbourhood. Mr. John Peck, while drawing in an upper room in the family residence at Ashburnham, felt a distinct shock, the lamp, etc., vibrating. This was about 7 o'clock in the evening.

Rifles.

A captain of the 57th has been in to see us. He is in bad humor notwithstanding Mr. Burdette's lecture. He complains that members of the Rifle Association to whom he has been in the habit of lending rifles will not return them in the time. He proposes, if the arms are not returned this week, to hire a man and horse and send after them, charging the delinquents the expense. No rifles from his armory next summer.

"Ruth"

The first rehearsal of the cantata "Ruth" which is to be presented in St. John's church in about five weeks from date, was held on Tuesday evening in the church. There was about thirty vocalists present at the rehearsal and considerable preliminary work was done. Practice will be continued every Tuesday evening until the presentation of the cantata. A few more voices are needed. Those desiring to join may apply to Mr. Charles Hamphreys, conductor.

Conservative Club.

A well attended meeting of the Junior Liberal Conservative Club was held on Tuesday evening in the Club Room. Several members of the Senior Association were present. Mr. Geo. Hilliard, M. P., was present and gave a short address. It was decided to call a meeting of representatives of different parts of the West Riding to be held in Peterborough on the afternoon of Wednesday, Feb. 24th, at 3 o'clock, to consider matters of importance. A vote of thanks was tendered to Mr. Hilliard for the donation of volumes of Hansard to the Club. Other business was attended to and the meeting adjourned.

The Market.

This morning's market was not a large one, accounted for, perhaps, by the state of the country roads. The better and egg market presented a rather vacant appearance compared with the usual busy uniform it wears. Eggs were very scarce, selling from 30 to 32 cents per dozen. Butter was not offered in large quantities, it sold for 19 cents per pound. Fowl was also scarce, resulting in high prices ruling. Chickens brought from 60 to 70 cents per pair and the smallest turkeys $1. Beef, pork and lamb were offered in considerable quantities, the first selling at $4.25 and $5.50 per cwt.; the second, at 7 and 8 cents per pound; and the third at 5 and 6 cents per pound. There were quite a number of loads of hay on the market, and wood was also well represented.

PETERBOROUGH vs LINDSAY.

A Review of the Lindsay "Post's" Remarks Concerning the Markets.

The EVENING REVIEW of February 8th, contained an item embodying the statements of a Peterborough grain buyer, which satisfactorily proved that what a Lindsay paper had said about our market prices and the quality of grain grown in Peterborough county, was all wrong.

The Lindsay Post doesn't like what the buyer said. It squares off like a little man and makes an attempt to knock down Peterborough prices. But in its unguarded impetuosity in the onslaught makes, in its column article, a few misstatements which it may not be amiss to correct. It says:—

"Several cases were reported where farmers from the borders of Victoria county had taken their grain to Peterborough and had received a higher price than was paid in Lindsay. At the same time some of these farmers had not only fared worse than their neighbors but had actually got less than was paid at the time at Lindsay." Information from Mr. J. W. McBain, a buyer, is as follows:—"We are buying thousands of bushels of wheat from Victoria farmers every day, some of whom live the other side of Lindsay. These farmers say they make from 4 to 5 cents per bushel on their wheat by bringing it here, and as far as barley is concerned, there is no comparison in the price; and mind you, they're not the lads to draw grain thirty or forty miles to accommodate any buyer."

"The prices reported by telephone yesterday show Peterborough several cents lower than Lindsay."

The price reported were: spring wheat, 70 to 78; fall wheat 70 to 79; barley, 55 to 75; and so on. At the same time Peterborough buyers were paying 82 and 83 cents per bushel for wheat, and from 50 to 55 cents per bushel for barley. The Post's reporter here does not deal in grain and thus it cannot be expected that he should take much interest in it. His quotations of prices of provisions are all right but his grain quotations are all wrong.

"The local demand for wheat for milling at Peterborough is not any greater than that at Lindsay. The Lindsay mill uses up over 1000 bushels of wheat per day, while Senne's mill, too, is probably equal to any of the smaller mills at Peterborough. There are six mills at Peterborough and unitedly they do not use over the above mentioned amount, if they reach it."

There is a little mixture of generosity here. Peterborough is credited with possessing six mills, when there are only four here. The Post's informant is, so mill men here say, a little astray when he says that the Lindsay mills use 1000 bushels of wheat per day. It has that grinding capacity. And then all the mills in Peterborough do not use a thousand bushels of wheat a day? Perhaps not in Lindsay eyes, but here are the facts:—

	Per Day.
City Mills (stone process)	900 bush
Otonabee Mills (roller process)	630 "
Hilliard's Mill (roller process)	425 "
Martin's Mills (stone process)	700 "

A new roller process mill will shortly be opened by the Dickinson Company which will have a capacity of grinding 500 bushels of wheat a day. This will make the capacity for local consumption of wheat in Peterborough, not 1,000 bushels per day, as the Post's informant puts it, but 3,275 bushels, or more than three times the amount which the Post says is consumed per day at Lindsay.

The Post quotes a Peterborough buyer's statement of a few days' business:—

	Bus.	Total A/c.
Wheat, white	701 24	$ 49 73-75c
Spring	3,067 07	$ 212 11-75c
Barley	823 19	$ 46 35-40c
O. Peas	502 24	$ 25 107-50c
H. E. Peas	28 20	$ 2 85-75c
Wheat	7 24	$ 2 82-30c

Peterborough, Feb. 1, 1886.

"If you compare those prices with the Lindsay prices for the same date you will find that the Lindsay prices are about 1 cent higher. Here they are, taken from the market list published in the newspapers:—Spring wheat, 80c to 85c; fall wheat, 70c to 75c; spring wheat, 75c to 80c; barley, 50c. You see that barley at Peterborough brought only 45c per bushel, and at Lindsay we were paying 55c for a fair sample."

According to the Post's own statement Peterborough prices are higher. Look—Peterborough average price for white wheat, 78; Lindsay, from 70 to 78, average 74. Peterborough, average price for spring wheat, 78; Lindsay, from 75 to 80, average 77. Very unfairly the top price has been quoted for Lindsay barley in the foregoing paragraph, while in the table the average price, only, for Peterborough barley is given. Ninety cents per bushel has frequently been paid on the Peterborough market lately for No. 1 barley. There is such a small quantity of Scotch wheat bought here that no quotation is given for it. Then one buyer here, to whom the table was shown, says that the average given is low, that his own average is considerably higher.

The buyer for the Lindsay flour mills informs the Post reporter that he has bought lots of wheat and barley from Peterborough at a lower price than he could get the same for in Lindsay. That buyer, whoever he is, is an invertebrate punter. He has played both on the word and the credulity of the reporter. He did buy lots of wheat from Mr. W. H. Wrighton—a few small lots of celeriac, No. 3 grade which Mr. Wrighton wished to get off his hands. That was all.

CALL AT ANDREW MCNEIL'S, George street and see the sweeping reductions made on all winter clothing.

Complimentary Dinner.

On Tuesday evening Mr. Jas. Jardine, at one time connected with the Bank of Toronto, Peterborough, and now a resident of Toronto, and Mr. Perry, Artist, together with a few friends, were the recipients of a complimentary dinner at the hands of Mr. W. H. Chamberlain, proprietor of Chamberlain's Restaurant and Bodega. The company were numerous in their praise of the palatable dishes placed on the hospitable board and toasted the genial proprietor in a right royal manner. After spending a very pleasant hour chatting over old times the party broke up. Mr. Jardine left to-day for Toronto.

STRAY SHOTS.

The Salvation Army and What is Being Done.

Staff Capt. Edie arrived in town on Monday and took part in the big jubilee held on Tuesday night.

He officiated in his usual enthusiastic manner in the installation of the sergeants and bandmen of the Army corps on Tuesday night. The names of the officers are as follows:—

James Henry	Secretary
James Telford	Sergeant
James Milled	"
R. Howland	"
W. J. Mould	"
W. Beeson	"
J. Bateman	"
J. York	Bandman
J. Barker	"
J. W. Butler	"

Capt. Edie, after the installations, appeared much interested in items regarding the Army processions which appeared in the Times and Examiner. He said he would take copies of the papers to Hamilton with him for personal inspection.

The fight between the Salvation Army soldiers and obdurate, which occurred on George street on Monday night, is not yet settled. The Army solicitor in Toronto is to be consulted as to the best mode of procedure.

On Tuesday night there was quite a sensation in the barracks. Three young men were in a seat. When the first song was given out they all stood up, but before the song was finished they all sat down. Capt. Edie commanded them to stand up. Two complied, but the other sat still. The captain then commanded all the people in the barracks to bend their optics on the matter, but he stood the scrutiny without apparent discomfort and still continued to sit. Then the captain threatened to use force to either stand him up or put him out. But the captain's threats didn't strike terror into the young man's heart worth a cent, for he sat there cool as an iceberg. Thinking the easiest way the best way, several officers clustered around the obstinate, and after considerable whispering on both sides the young man took his overcoat and archly strode out of the barracks.

No Bible Class.

There will not be a meeting of Mr. Munro's Bible Class to-morrow afternoon.

The Boy Preacher.

We learn that Ferdinand Shivers, the celebrated Evangelist of New York, commonly known as "The Boy Preacher," is expected in our town about the beginning of March.

To-night.

Don't fail to see Millard Comedy Co. in the laughing success "Fanny" or the fortunes of a comedian, introducing songs, dances, imitations of actors, fancy sayings, etc. Popular prices, 10 and 20 cents.

Violin Playing.

The attention of those interested is invited to the card of Prof. Doucet to be found in our advertising columns. Prof. Doucet has met with much success in teaching the violin. He can be recommended as a capable, painstaking, prompt, reliable and thorough instructor.

To Lakefield.

Mr. E. J. Hartley, of Peterborough's champion skater, has been engaged by the manager of the Lakefield skating rink to give an exhibition of fancy skating in the Lakefield rink a week from Friday night, the 19th. His skating will form one of the special features of a carnival which is to be held the same evening.

Burdette's Lecture.

The lecture given in Bradburn's Opera House on Monday evening by Mr. J. Burdette, under the auspices of St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, was a complete success, financially as in other respects. The proceeds will amount well up to $200.00, fully $75.00 of which will be clear profit. The agreement entered into by which Mr. Burdette was brought here stipulated that he was to receive $100 for his services; but when the reckoning up time came he very offhandedly cut his pay down to $75. Should Mr. Burdette be induced to come here again there is no doubt that he will be greeted with eclat.

Not Far Astray.

A few evenings ago, as the evening train over the "Link" was drawing up to the Bethune street station, two handsome young ladies might have been seen rising from their seats as a unit, their faces wearing an expression of the utmost alarm. One near, kindly enquired as to the nature of their distress, and soon quelled their fears by saying in a good-humored voice loud enough to be heard by every one in the car: "Oh, no, this is not Toronto, it's Peterborough." Those two young damsels had emerged from under the maternal wing at Lindsay to visit some friends here. When arriving they thought by some mischance they had gone on to the city. Perhaps they weren't far wrong in taking Peterborough for a city.

Another Business Change.

Messrs. W. J. Morrow and Thos. O. Rush have carried on business here as dealers in groceries and liquors for some years, the firm being styled Messrs. W. J. Morrow & Co. A change has taken place. Mr. W. J. Morrow has retired from the business and his interest has been purchased by Mr. Henry Rush. Hereafter the firm will go by the name of "Messrs. Rush Bros." By the change the business will suffer nothing. Mr. Henry Rush has had a long experience in the business, and is without doubt as well up in the trade as any man in the Midland District. Mr. W. J. Morrow, during the few years he presided over the counters in the old firm, has made many friends throughout the town and county, who will no doubt, much regret his decision to retire from business.

THE DAILY EVENING REVIEW is delivered to subscribers at ten cents a week.

The Carnival Prices.

The date of the grand Shakespearean carnival is almost at hand. Friday afternoon and evening will be a gala day for the skatist artists and others in Peterborough. The beautiful are now on exhibition in the window of Mr. Andrew McNeil's store, Habillment Hall, George street. It will at once be seen that the prices are good ones and will doubtless be contested for by a large number. No delay now; make your preparations at once for the best carnival ever seen in this section of the Province.

Piano Recital.

A piano recital was given in St. Luke's church school building on Tuesday evening by Mr. J. S. Parker, assisted by several vocalists. The attendance was fairly large and the music rendered thoroughly appreciated. The recital opened with a well chosen and well executed piano solo by Mr. Parker, "Allegro from Sonata Pathétique," Beethoven, and further in the programme he gave solos revised and arranged by himself, "Home Sweet Home" and "Scottish Airs." Each of the solos rendered were very effective. A piano duet given by Mr. Parker and Miss Grey was well received. Mr. Geo. sang "The Little Hero" and "Thou Wilt Return" in his usual good style. Mrs. Sanderson sang "Queen of the Night" in a very pleasing and acceptable manner. Mr. Manning was in excellent voice, singing "Let Me Dream again" with much success.

Will Demand Indemnity.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—The Chinese Minister laid before Secretary Bayard to-day a telegram received by him from California to the effect that there is a preconcerted movement in progress to drive out the Chinese from all the towns and cities of California except San Francisco, and that the Governor of the State and sheriffs of the various counties evince no disposition to protect the Chinese in their treaty rights. It is understood that the representations made by the Chinese Minister are for the purpose of invoking the protection of the Federal Government, and to lay a foundation for a claim of money indemnity similar to the claims that have been advanced by the United States in a large number of cases, and paid by China as indemnity for injuries sustained by American citizens in that Empire.

A Prayer.

A tender child of summers three,
Seeking her little bed at night,
Fetters on the dark stair timidly
"O mother! Take my hand," said she,
"And then the dark will be all light."

We older children group our way
From dark behind to dark before;
And only when our hands we lay,
Dear Lord, in Thine, the night is day,
And there is darkness never more.

Reach downward to the sunless days
Wherein our guides are blind as we,
And faith is small and hope delays;
Take Thou the hands of prayer we raise,
And let us feel the light of Thee.

—Whitier.

How to Boom Business.
When times are hard and trade is dull,
The merchant then who wins is he
Who does not sit down to scratch his skull
While he schemes devices
His trusting creditors to gull,
But straightway advertises.
Then comes a sudden boom to trade,
And presto! change his fortune's made.

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 18, 1886.

An excellent certificate of character is being given to Mr. A. F. Wood, M.P.P., by the above of the Review. One of the slanders in the Mowat Administration (we forget which and it is not of sufficient consequence to look up) instanced Mr. Wood as an M. P. P. who had been appointed to a paid office by the Macdonald Administration, and the Review published in a column. Mr. Wood showed that he was appointed before he became a member, but his critic's instead of apologizing stuck to their abuse. Are we to understand that because a man is selected by an Ontario constituency, he is to be dismissed from any public employment for Canada. It is quite a different thing to appoint a sitting member, especially if it is a bribe for him to vacate his seat.

THE CENTRAL SCHOOL JANITOR

Sir,—Is it in accordance with the genius of our institutions that we should be governed by those whom we are taxed to support? Our Police Magistrate is a very useful functionary, and it would add to his dignity, something valuable, if he had only one public office. He can't be a member of the Council, and I think there are just as potent reasons for his being ineligible for a seat on the Board of Education.

Some years ago when the Hon. O. Mowat descended from the bench there were serious objections made to his again mingling in politics. The objection was made in his generation.

We have a Magistrate who descends at least monthly and takes part in the meetings of the Board of Education, which are not always conducted in such a manner as to leave intact that dignity which I must confess seems native to him, but of which he himself is not at all times quite careful. It does not look well for one public servant to accuse another of being a nuisance and disconcerting and it is appreciated when a magistrate is a very useful functionary, and it would add to his dignity, something valuable, if he had only one public office. He can't be a member of the Council, and I think there are just as potent reasons for his being ineligible for a seat on the Board of Education.

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 18, 1886.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Piano Tuning.
S. R. Hoffman, will tune town on Monday; orders for tuning left at Salisbury's book store attended to.

St. John's Church Social.
An at Home for the benefit of the organ fund of St. John's Church will be held at the Rectory on Tuesday, Feb. 23rd, at half past seven o'clock.

The Chief of Police.
Councillor Kenney, chairman of the Committee, on appointments announced at the meeting of the Council on Wednesday night that the appointment of the Chief of Police would be made during the next three or four days.

Personal.
The Port Hope Times say that Mr. Harry Allan, Traveler for Messrs. Andrews & Winslow, of Port Hope, who has headquarters here for some years at Oshawa, is about to remove to Peterborough, as the most central point to get over the Midland Division. Mr. Allan's friends in Peterborough will be glad to have him near them, for he is a good fellow and a very pushing man of business.

New Music.
We have received from Messrs. Salisbury Bros. two pieces of new music. One, "Polka Militaire," for piano, by Henry Bourcier, is published by an engraving on the title page of a Military column "on the double." The other, "Snow Shoe Polka," should be a favorite in this weather. These are two of a series of new dance music published by Messrs. I. Nodding & Sons, Toronto, and for sale at Salisbury Bros.

GENTS' ALL-WOOL SHIRTS AND DRAWERS marked down to cost to make room for spring goods at Andrew McNeil's, George street.

Concert at Lakeside.
A concert in connection with the celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Dr. Baranoff's Home, will be held in the P. C. A. Hall, Lakeside, on Monday evening next. To commence at 7:30 p.m. Residents of Peterborough who are desirous of joining the party should communicate with Mr. Edward Duff, Lakeside, not later than Saturday. Tickets for concert alone, adults 25 cents, children 15 cents. Conveyances to and from Lakeside including admission to concert 50 cents.

To-morrow is the Day.
To-morrow is the day of the double carnival under the auspices of the Fire Brigade Band. In the afternoon at 2:30 the Children's Carnival will be held, and in the evening the grand Shakespearean Carnival will come off. This event will be held in front of the old Police Station, and will be a decided success. The Shakespearean Carnival in the afternoon will add much amusement for not only the children, but for older people as well. The band will be present on both occasions and render some of the best selections of the most composers. Don't miss this grand event.

"Work and its Worth."
The above is the title of a lecture which is announced to be delivered by the Rev. Dr. Tiffany, of New York, on Tuesday evening next, February 23rd, in the George Street Methodist Church. The subject is very apropos at present, when it is remembered that an unusual amount of labor is being directed to the great social problem of labor in both the old and the new world. All who may be anxious to inform themselves on the many knotty points involved in this intricate problem of "Work and its Worth," will find with delight the opportunity of hearing one so able and distinguished as Dr. Tiffany. It should not be forgotten either that the thanks of the community are due to the managers of the George Street Methodist Church for their successful securing of the services of so eminent a lecturer to deliver his views to us on a subject now engaging so much of the consideration of the civilized world.

GENTS' CASHMERE JACKETS marked down to cost to make room for spring goods at Andrew McNeil's, George street.

To Toronto.
Five Peterborough rinks of curlers leave on the 6:43 train over the Canadian Pacific Railway, for Toronto, where they will play matches with the Toronto and Granites.

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Moderate to fresh winds, generally fair milder weather.

Nicholls Hospital.
The Nicholls Hospital has been considerably improved since its opening. The various departments have been made more complete, especially the surgeons' room. There are several patients now in the hospital attended by Dr. King, who is now taking his regular turn.

Over-Eating.
On Wednesday a cow belonging to Mr. W. H. Rickham died from the effects of eating hay. She had not been dieted on hay for some little time and when her favorite feed was placed before her in unpareing quantity, she played the glutton, and ate so much that she died from the effects. The cow was valued at $60.

An accident.
On Wednesday, Master Fred Ridley, a boy of fifteen years, employed in the Examiner office press room, by some means got his foot caught in a power press. It was found that one of his toes, the second on the left foot, was so badly crushed that amputation was necessary. Dr. King performed the operation.

Lacrosse.
Mr. J. Beach, who has been in Cincinnati during the past year, says that the Cincinnati Lacrosse Club are going to pay a visit to Peterborough during the coming season. Mr. Pongelly, who left Peterborough about two years ago, is a member of the club. All of the first twelve are flyers; several can do a hundred yards in eleven seconds and one can do it in nine seconds.

New Proprietors.
Messrs. John Kincaid and Geo. McWilliams have bought out Mr. F. W. McKee's planing mill and furniture factory, situated on the Dickson Company's race. The new proprietors have taken out a lease of the property from the Dickson Company and intend to push business with vigorous effort. Although the place is about filled with machinery already, more will be added and everything put in first-class shape.

Gratuity to a Wounded Volunteer.
The Kingston correspondent of the Globe says that Lieut. Col. Villers, D. A. G., sent a cheque to Mr. R. S. Cook, of Peterborough, for $147, a gratuity from the Dominion Government until Parliament fixes the question that he is to receive. Cook was with French's scouts and was hit in the leg. He has had a terrible looking knee ever since. He quit employment receiving $100 per month to take part in the scouting.

CALL AT ANDREW MCNEIL'S, George street and see the sweeping reductions made on all winter clothing.

A Golden Surprise.
Mr. M. Tierney, who has held the position of chief clerk in Mr. H. Rush's general grocery establishment for the last five or six years, met with a genuine surprise on Wednesday evening. Just as Mr. Rush was leaving business, he handed Mr. Tierney a gold watch and, opening it, said, "Mike, how do you like that inscription?" After a cursory inspection Mike expressed his appreciation as to how the engraver had done his work, and was about to hand it back. On being bidden to make another examination he found the inscription to read, "To M. Tierney from H. Rush, January, 1886." The donee was broken up, to say the least. He spent about four minutes in trying to call back the words that fled in the utmost disorder when he wanted to use them, and when they fled up at his bidding he thanked Mr. Rush suitably. Mr. Rush made an appropriate selection when he decided on giving a watch to mark his appreciation of the faithful services Mr. Tierney has given. Mr. Tierney has indeed "watched" his employer's business with the closest attention and with an eye as keen as if the business were his own.

POLICE COURT.
PROFANE LANGUAGE.
THURSDAY, Feb. 18.—Patrick Lavery was charged by P. C. Adams with having used profane language in a public place. The defendant admitted the charge and was fined $2 or 10 days in jail.

SETTLED.
The Tolly v. Connors larceny case and the Irish wages cases were set out of court. In the former case the litigants each pay half the costs, and in the latter the complainant pays the costs.

Fire in Quebec.
MONTREAL, Feb. 17.—There have been 310 local boards of health reported to the central board since the latter was formed. There is considerable diphtheria, scarlet fever and typhoid in the province, and the central board will, in all probability, be given special powers shortly to deal with these.

Hit the Fire With Coal Oil.
ONAWAKE, Va., Feb. 17.—At Tangier Island on Sunday four small children undertook to build a fire with coal oil. The can exploded, scattering the burning fluid over the children, and lighting their clothing. Two of them died and the other two were fatally injured.

GENTS' LINED KID GLOVES marked down to cost to make room for spring goods at Andrew McNeil's, George street.

Dr. W. G. Henry, Kansas City, Mo., says: "I have used Scott's Emulsion for years, and for consumption and anemic patients and children with marasmus, have found it very reliable. I have frequently given it when patients could retain nothing else on the stomach."

Advice to Mothers.
Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the gums, softens the bowels, and in the best known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from indigestion or the cause. It is a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

THE OLD FIFTY-SEVENTH TO BE OVERHAULED AND REORGANIZED
—A NEW CITY BATTALION

An Enthusiastic Meeting Held in the Council Chamber—Officers and Men
Allie Anxious for the Change—Encouragements and Discouragements of Volunteering.

A public meeting was held in the Council Chamber on Thursday night to consider the advantages of forming the 57th into a city battalion.

There were present: Lieut.-Col. J. Z. Rogers,
Lieut.-Col. Harry Rogers, Major Bell, Capt.
Edwards, Capt. Langford, Capt. Rogers, Lt.
Master Sergt. Hill, Lt. Master Miller, Sergt.
Graham, Sergt. Irwin, Surgeon Kincaid and a large number of private and citizens.

Lieut.-Col. Rogers took the chair and explained the object of the meeting. It was proposed to form the 57th into a city battalion. The battalion was now composed of three town companies, one at Keene, which was some years ago moved out there, one at Norwood and one at Hastings. What was wanted was the moving of all of these companies to town. In his opinion and in the opinion of the officers this was much to be desired. The battalion would not be called on to go to camp and all of the drilling would be done in the evenings. He thought by this change many young men would connect themselves with the force, who could not do so under the present conditions. The smallness of the number of volunteers, when any turnout of the battalion took place, was not at all creditable to Peterborough. The outside companies could not be brought in for parades and the result was that only three companies represented the battalion on such occasions. He did not purpose, however, to take any steps until he received an expression of opinion from others as to the movement.

Surgeon Kincaid had looked favourably on the movement since it was first mooted. The position of the Battalion had been a deplorable one for the past few years on account of its being spread and scattered over the county. He had always been of opinion that the time would come when this step to concentrate would be made, and he felt confident that if this were effected that Col. Rogers and his staff would place this battalion in the front rank of the volunteer force of Canada. As far as he was concerned he was heart and hand with the movement. It would keep the battalion together, the men would see each other, a rivalry would be created among the companies, and the citizens would take an interest in the battalion when they saw a creditable turnout.

It seemed to him so far that the people took no interest in the volunteers until the time came when the soldiers were needed. Then the people came and begged the volunteers and pleaded with them to go out and fight their battles.
But he felt sure the citizens would take an interest in the Battalion if the members themselves took a pride in it. He saw no reason why one of the best battalions in the province could not be organized. The men were here, the officers were here and they had the ability to shape the men in line.

Major Bell said the officers were agreed as to the advisability of forming a city battalion; all they wanted was an expression of opinion on the part of the men. The question now resolved itself into this: "Will there be enough men forthcoming to support a city battalion?" For six companies 250 men would be required. If such were forthcoming the Keene company could be readily restored to Peterborough, and he thought a satisfactory arrangement could be made with the others. He could not see, for the life of him, why Peterborough could not support a city battalion. True, Peterborough was not a city in name, but it was equal in population and commercial importance with several of the junior Ontario cities. Belleville had a city battalion, and so had Brantford. Brantford's, he could say, was one of the best in Ontario; it was kept up in fine style. The advantage of having a city corps would be that the men would be all together, drilling every year. As it is now, in the case of a rural corps, the men go to camp to drill every second or third year. Not seeing their clothing or accoutrements from one year's end to another, the volunteers did not take that interest in having them bright and tidy they would if they were frequently called out, as members of a city battalion, to parade.

Then a great many objected to go to camp. The employees of shops and offices, who composed a good part of some of the companies, choose to spend their holidays in camping out on the back lakes or some other amusement. When called on to leave work for a second fortnight they could not afford to leave their work. Another class, the mechanics, who composed the bulk of the force, could not afford to leave work to spend two weeks in camp after having their usual holidays. If the drilling was done in the evenings the force would draw, he felt confident, large numbers of each of these classes. He had spoken to several old members of the battalion, who, in their turn, had spoken to old comrades;
and all were willing to join if the necessity of going to camp was got over by forming the 57th into a city battalion. We had a population of about 10,000 and all the men they wanted was 250. He referred to the number of military organizations kept up in Toronto, and, by comparison of the population, thought it would be an easy matter to form the battalion.

Private DESTIN said that in Montreal the English Nationality, numbering 42,000, raised six regiments each 300 strong.

Capt. EDWARDS—That is a regiment for every 7000 population.

Private DESTIN—And this does not include the cavalry, artillery and engineers.

Capt. EDWARDS recalled the time when he first joined the Battalion. He undertook to raise a company to drill at night. The meeting was called and when he was going to the drill shed he did not know whether there would be anybody there or not. He was surprised to find the drill shed well filled and Capt. Lang-ford's company already filled. These companies 45 men strong, were organized, and he believed that he could have organized a couple more with those who applied for admission to the ranks. The position had not got any worse since the time, it had improved. The town had grown, and he did not think the military spirit had at all subsided. He referred to the camp's being an obstacle to deter many from joining the force. Many would not join if they were compelled to leave two weeks in going to camp, but were ready and willing to drill at home.

We would be in the same position that Ottawa is in now. The 43rd was scattered all over the county of Carleton and getting together was found to be difficult. It was moved into Ottawa and it was now a thriving military organization.

Corp. BROWN was sure that, in the event of a city battalion being organized, there would be no lack of men. He had spoken to several and all to whom he had spoken were anxious to belong to such a military organization.

Mr. J. R. STRATTON saw no reason why an efficient battalion could not be raised here. He would be glad to see such a change as the forming of the 57th into a city battalion, take place.
He was confident that the citizens would interest themselves in the matter and that the officers would receive all support required.

Capt. COOPER, formerly adjutant in the 43rd, Ottawa, was called on to speak. He felt, he said, connected with the volunteer force for over 20 years, joining in 1864. He had seen, during that time, many a city corps organized and all had been found to work satisfactorily.
He had no hesitation in recommending the change proposed. He referred to the Toronto troop of cavalry, which had previously been a country one. All difficulties were easily surmounted, and the troop was now very efficient.

The 43rd had progressed wonderfully since it was organized into a city corps. It appeared him that there was no difficulty in the way of forming a strong battalion here. There appeared to be lots of fine looking young men willing to join, and with the officers in charge he felt sure a first-class battalion could be organized.

Q.—Master Sergt. GRAHAM said a few words concerning the scheme.

Mr. STRATTON moved, seconded by Sergeant
GRAHAM, That a city battalion be formed in Peterborough, and that the necessary steps be taken by the officers to have one formed.

Sergt. Major LAWIN had taken an opposite view of this matter but had, when taking all things into consideration, come to the conclusion that a city battalion would be best, at least from a military point of view. It was well known that there was a good deal of humbug about these camps and very little good came from them. He had been connected with the force for 20 or more years and wished only for the improvement of the battalion. There were circumstances just now that were discouraging to volunteers. Opposition came from a quarter that he least expected to see it come from—from a party of our own people—from our Legislators.

This party seemed to think that those who rose in rebellion were entitled to be praised for doing so and that the volunteers who had gone and staked their lives on the plains of the Northwest to uphold the country's laws and to preserve the peace of the Dominion—these volunteers were to be sneered at for doing their duty. It was a poor encouragement for volunteers to be treated in this way.

Q.—Master MILLAR made a short address in which he pointed out that the present mode of drill was greatly against the forming of a strong volunteer force in town. The men did not know until a few weeks before when they were going to camp, and when they came back the accoutrements were thrown down and never looked at till next camping time.

Sergt. ROBINSON agreed that the force could be easily largely augmented if the night system of drilling was introduced, and such being a part of the city battalion regulations, he thought it highly desirable that the 57th be formed into a city battalion. He knew of dozens of young men who stated positively that if compelled to go to camp they would not join the force, who, if home drill could be put in, would be glad to join. He did not agree with the remarks of the Major. It was the mechanics who formed the majority in the force here, and he thought they would continue to be in the majority.

Major BELL replied that he had laid particular stress on the predominance of mechanics in the ranks.

Lieut. Col. HARRY ROGERS, though not belonging to the 57th, took an active interest in its affairs. He heartily joined in commending the organizing of a City Battalion, and hoped that all would pull together till it was formed.

Mr. HENDERSON recommended sending a deputation to Ottawa to urge the matter on the Minister of Militia or to petition the Town Council to memorialize Government. He doubted not that a strong battalion could be formed here, indeed he thought the insurance agents alone would make a strong company. As an old member of the 45th he commended the scheme.

Mr. HAY was of opinion that the enthusiasm would grow so much that the officers would be able to put a test on applicants for admission to the ranks and allow none other than men of a set standard and weight to become members of the force.

The motion was passed. Lieut. Col. J. Z.
Rogers then thanked those present for their attendance and thought it would be little difficulty in arranging the matter with the Minister of Militia.

The meeting then adjourned.

RATE OF DISCOUNT REDUCED.
LONDON, Feb. 18.—The Bank of England has reduced its rate of discount from 3 per cent to 2 per cent.

A GREAT CONVENT BURNED.
BRUSSELS, Feb. 18.—The great Ursuline convent at Laeken was burned yesterday. Thirty nuns and one hundred and five girls, who were scholars and lodgers, were all saved, with little loss, together with the personal effects of several of the scholars from America.

IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT.
LONDON, Feb. 18.—Parliament reassembled to-day. Mr. Gladstone stated in the Commons that after the Government had concluded financial business they would be able to state a part, if not the whole, of the Irish measures they intended to introduce. He expected to be through the financial business about the 22nd March.
The Government had no intention of renewing coercion in Ireland. Mr. Gladstone said he would follow the Eastern policy inaugurated by Lord Salisbury. In the House of Lords, Lord Grenville announced that the Government would not introduce any Irish measures before the 1st of March.

TO OPPOSE HOME RULE.
LONDON, Feb. 18.—Leading members of the Conservative party met at the Carlton Club today to confer upon the course the party shall pursue in regard to Irish affairs on the re-assembling of Parliament. Lord Salisbury presided, and Lord Randolph Churchill and other prominent Tories were present. The meeting was very enthusiastic. The speeches made indicate the intention on the part of the Conservatives to offer the most strenuous opposition to any measure presented by the Liberals concerning Home Rule in Ireland.

ACCUSED OF TREASON.
ROME, Feb. 18.—The journals of this city have published the letter written by Signor Dorisio, which was seized by the police, and Dorisio was arrested here recently, and which, through obvious initials, involves several officials of the Vatican, the object being to accuse the Vatican of treason. The Minister of Justice announced in the Chamber to-day that the letter was genuine.

THE AUSTRIAN ARMY.
VIENNA, Feb. 18.—A bill has been introduced into the Reichsrath to create a Landwehr in Austria. The bill provides for the enrolment of all men not in the regular army between the ages of 19 and 60, the first class to consist of those between 19 and 42 and the second class of those over 42. The third class will only be applied to home service unless a special law is passed.

To-Night! To-Night!

This is the day of the Shakespeare Festival in the Chamber Street Hall. The day is in excellent condition, notwithstanding the soft, spring-like weather. It is just the kind of weather to enjoy a carnival. Come along to-night with all the family, and if you do not skate, you can rest your eyes on the dazzling scene before you from the spacious galleries. Comfort and amusement for all. Don't miss it.

Concert at Lakeside.

A concert in some respect a repetition of the one lately given in St. Paul's Schoolroom by the children of Dr. Bernardo's Home, will be held in the P. C. A. Hall, Lakeside, on Monday evening next. To commence at 7.30 p.m. Residents of Peterborough who are desirous of joining the party, should communicate with Mr. Edward Duff, Hazelbrae, not later than Saturday. Tickets for concert alone, adults 25 cents, children 15 cents. Conveyances to and from Lakeside including admission to concert 50 cents.

CITIZEN—"What's the matter with Johnston Carey that he is having a closing-out sale of boots and shoes? He's not going to leave town, is he?"

MERCHANT—"Oh, do, we're not going to lose Mr. Carey. He's making room for the output of his own new factory, and is selling off his entire stock of imported goods at less than cost."

Obituary.

The Buffalo Express of Feb. 16th contains the following obituary notice of Mr. Frederick C. Hill, a brother of Mr. E. C. Hill, of Peterborough:—

DEATH OF FREDERICK C. HILL.

"In the death of Mr. Frederick C. Hill, Buffalo loses an able, energetic and highly respected citizen. It occurred at his home, No. 34, Fremont Place, on Sunday, the 14th inst. Mr. Hill was about his business but a few days since. A disease of the liver is understood to have caused the fatal illness.

"Mr. Hill was born in Frome, England, on March 12, 1817. At twelve years of age he came to Toronto, and at 18 moved to Buffalo, which has ever since been his home. During the first year or so of his Buffalo residence he worked at the trade of tinsmith and cooper, and it was while he had early learned, and in which he was unusually expert. But he soon went into the hot-air furnace business, which he carried on for nearly 30 years, of late years at No. 385 Main Street. He was a skillful mechanic, and received several patents on his improvements for hot air furnaces.

"He was a man of quiet disposition, and shrank from the publicity of office. He was often urged to represent his ward—the Tenth—in the Common Council, but declined to enter a political contest. He was one of the original members of St. John's Episcopal Church, of which he always continued a consistent and devoted member. He was a member of Buffalo Lodge, I.O.O.F., and a man of strict temperance principles. He belonged to the Exempt Masters' Association, and was one of the oldest of Buffalo's early band of volunteer firemen. He was also a Free Mason. He was a man of many admirable traits, whose life was governed by principle and a regard for the welfare of others.

"The mourners include a widow, two children, James F. Hill, of this city, and Mrs. Robt. W. Mack, of Wyandotte, Kansas; and a stepson, Mr. Wm. F. Reed, of this city.

"The funeral occurs to-morrow, at 2.30 p.m., from St. John's Church. It will be in charge of Lake Erie Commandery, Knights Templar. Mr. Hill has long been a member of this commandery."

POLICE COURT.

DISTURBING THE PEACE.

FRIDAY, Feb. 19.—Edward Webb was charged by P. C. McIntyre with having disturbed the peace by fighting on the street on Monday night. He pleaded not guilty.

CHAR. DELISLE was called. On Monday night, he said, the Salvation Army was marching up George street. The procession had just passed Hunter street when a man named Higgins broke into the ranks and snatched him out. He swung round, but when he came to face Higgins, brother Webb was between them. Higgins then up with his fist and struck brother Webb on the nose. Higgins then turned and went to the sidewalk, and he saw no more of the affair.

EDWARD WEBB called, said that Higgins hit him, giving him two black eyes and a broken nose. This rather stunned him and when Higgins came towards him again he struck Higgins with a torch, which he was carrying, in self-defence.

The case was enlarged indefinitely.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Fresh to strong south and west winds, mostly cloudy mild weather with light rain, colder to-morrow.

GENTS' CARDIGAN JACKETS marked down to cost to make room for spring goods at ANDREW MCNEIL'S, George street.

Carried Off.

A plying in the Otonabee river just below the Smith street bridge had its whole top creaked off by the ice on Thursday night. The pier was used by the Dickey Company for scrubbing sorting stocks. It is now fastened in the ice near the black bridge.

A Beem to Reporters.

Councillor Moore, who is now engaged in framing amendments to the standing rules of order of the Town Council, is, he says, going to introduce a clause to close the council's deliberations at 11 o'clock each night of the session. Such a rule would not be at all amiss. Where is the use of sitting up till twelve o'clock and after discussing side issues?

GENTS' ALL-WOOL SHIRTS AND DRAWERS marked down to cost to make room for spring goods at ANDREW MCNEIL'S, George street.

The Nicholls Hospital.

A meeting of the committee appointed by the Town Council to confer with the trustees of the Nicholls Hospital, and the trustees, was held in Mr. A. F. Poussette's office on Thursday afternoon to consider the bill now before the Legislature in reference to the Hospital. The bill was amended in about ten particulars, the principal of which were the following:—The bill was amended to give the Town Council representation, through the Mayor, on the Board of Trustees. It was decided to give Ashburnham similar representation provided Ashburnham chooses to avail itself of the advantages of the Hospital. It was amended so as to prohibit the endowment being used in permanent improvements in the Hospital. A clause in the Bill provided that the Council of the Town of Peterborough could, at any time, grant a sum to improve, extend or enlarge the Hospital. A provision was attached to the clause stating that no such grant could be made without the approval of the ratepayers. A clause permitted the churches to appoint a representative to the Board. It was so amended that such members appointed shall be a ratepayer of the Town of Peterborough. The bill was so amended so as to provide that no part of the endowment shall be expended for any other purpose than the maintenance of the Hospital.

A Strange Count.

Our Vienna Correspondent telegraphs:—The death is announced to Count Emerich Salm-Reich-Rudowitz, who was known to society for his extraordinary hatred of horses. This aversion amounted to a real hippophobia, and obliged the Count many years ago to throw up his commission in the Army. The Count died at an advanced age on his estate in Sclavonia. He was a distinguished agriculturalist, an excellent landlord, and on all subjects but that the horses, asses, and mules a man of sound judgement. He would not follow any animal of the equine kind to come upon his lands, so that visitors who rode or drove to see him had always to alight at his park gates. He himself for many years used a vehicle drawn by trained deer, but latterly he went about his estate in a carriage with a team of oxen. His horrid of horses is said to have been innate, as there was no accident in his life to account for it.

ALL WINTER GOODS are marked down to cost to make room for spring goods at ANDREW MCNEIL'S, George street.

The virtue of Carbollic Acid for healing, cleansing and purifying is well known; but from the many modes of applying it, the public is uncertain how best to use it. To meet that want, McCreagor & Parke's Carbollic Cerate is prepared, and may be used with confidence. It is not mislabeled. Take only McCreagor & Parke's Carbollic Cerate, sold by John McKee at 25c. a box.

Sanitizing Haggard.

There is now being manufactured here an article for instantly removing pain of any acute external nature, and it is certainly the most perfect cure for neuralgia, headache, toothache, and the like that has ever been tried. It is called Fluid Lightning from the rapid manner in which it is applied, and is manufactured by McCreagor & Parke. Sold in Peterborough by J. McKee, druggist.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

THE THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT.

A Claim for Damages—The Public Accounts—A Proposed Change in the Municipal Law—The Estimates Submitted.

WEDNESDAY, Feb. 17.—Several bills were introduced and read a first time.

A CLAIM FOR DAMAGES.

MR. MERRITT moved for papers with reference to the claim of James Knott for damages for the flooding of his lands in the township of Chaffey by the construction of public works.

MR. FRASER said that there were a number of claims, all of which had been settled but this one, Knott objecting to the terms the others accepted. The Government would consider the matter.

After further discussion the motion was withdrawn.

PUBLIC ACCOUNTS.

MR. HARDY presented the Public Accounts for 1885.

THE MUNICIPAL LAW.

MR. ERMATINGER moved the second reading of a bill providing for the annual statement being made by the treasurer of a municipality previous to election instead of after them. It also provided for the statement being attested by the treasurer as well as by the auditors, and published in the newspapers or in any such other way as the Council might determine. It was further provided that all accounts should be sent in by the end of the year, so that the treasurer's statement might be a complete one.

MR. FRASER suggested that it be referred to the Municipal Committee.

MR. MERRITT said that the House had been sitting three weeks and doing nothing, and instead of sending the bill to the Committee the time might be more profitably employed by discussing the provisions in the House.

MR. MOWAT believed that the bill could be better discussed in Committee.

THE ESTIMATES.

A message was received from the Lieutenant Governor transmitting the Estimates for the year.

PRIVATE BILLS.

A couple of private bills were passed through Committee.

The House adjourned at 4.10 p. m.

For Anemia and Marasmus in Children.

Mr. W. G. Gentry, Kansas City, Mo., says: "I have used Scott's Emulsion for years, and for consumption and anemic patients and children with marasmus, have found it very reliable. Have frequently given it when patients could retain nothing else on the stomach."

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the irritation, soothes the inflamed parts, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhea, whether arising from teething or other causes. 25c a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

PARENTAL RESPONSIBILITY.
"Knowing that Abraham will command
His children after him," the Lord of Heaven said:—"Encouragement
These words to parents should afford."

Blot as a parent, faithful to
The trust reposed in him, behold!
Heaven's high approval, whom the Lord
God did this place to him unfold.

Talking with Abraham, as friend
Who doth in chartered friend confide,
And Modern and Monarch's down
God did not from his servant hide.

Too few as Joshua say, "for me
And my bones will serve the Lord;"
Too few whose family government
Doth with the Scripture's rules accord.

What lack of true solicitude
For children's souls in manifest
By many who too lightly view
The lazar graves that on them rest.

With what untiring energy—
What early rising, sitting late,
Will parents work ungrudgingly,
All for their children's worldly state.

But passing strange it is to view
Their unconcern about the soul,
That shall in woe or happiness
Live while unending ages roll.

Full often Sabbath days are told Away in idleness, instead
Of pointing out the narrow way
Wherein their children's feet should tread.

How heedless of the prophet's word
That "line must given be on line
And precept, too," to nurture them
In knowledge of the Law Divine.

To "teach them, sitting in thine house,
(Or when thou walkest by the way,"
For God's word hidden in the heart
Keeps free from paths that lead astray.

In place of rivalry in style
And ostentatious display,
Parents should for their children seek
Those treasures that fade not away.

What will avail all this world's wealth,
If staid hours, lured fair,
To parent, for your child, if he
Has in the Book of Life no name?

The blessing of the Lord abides
On parents and on children too,
Keep His commands, and only such
Can claim at last the promise true.

Y. M. C. A. CONVENTION.

Opening Proceedings in Hamilton—
Conference of secretaries.

HAMILTON, Ont., Feb. 18.—The sessions of the Young Men's Christian Association convention were opened yesterday afternoon by a conference of secretaries upon the various branches of the work. After devotional exercises Mr. George E. Williams gave a Bible reading on the "Holy Spirit." A paper upon "The Secret of Spiritual Power" was read by Mr. W. McCulloch, of Toronto. After the discussion the secretaries adjourned to Mr. Lonsdale's for tea. After reports from the various associations represented were presented this morning the business opened with a paper upon "Railway Work" by Mr. Burford, Secretary of the Railroad Christian Association, Toronto. He showed the Toronto Railway Association to be in an excellent condition. The subject of provincial work was then discussed, and the secretaries were greatly aided by the long and careful experience of Mr. D. A. Budge, the Montreal secretary. This gentleman has had the honor of turning out some of the best secretaries in the Dominion, and his kind and sensible counsel has been of great service during the whole of the proceedings. After discussion the secretary's relation to business was discussed.

THE ALLANBURG HORROR.

Unabated Excitement Over the Mysterious Death of Mr. and Mrs. Bates.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Feb. 18.—The excitement in and about Allanburg can be but faintly guessed by those living out of the district. A reporter visited the scene of the Bates murder yesterday and found a large number of men looking over the debris of the fire. Some men had found $1.25 in silver, but nothing else of value had been recovered. It is a curious fact that no trace of buried feathers can be found, as Mrs. Bates was known to possess a number of feather ticks and pillows, and it is well known that feathers massed together in this way are seldom entirely consumed and even if so will leave a peculiar crushed mass easily identified. It is believed the feathers were removed by the murderer, and the detective are starting on a new clue. It was rumored in the city last evening that three men had been arrested in connection with the crime. The excitement was intense until the rumor was contradicted. The combined rewards for the arrest of the murderer now amount to $1,000, and some of the best detective talent in the country is engaged on the case. It is firmly believed the guilty ones will yet be caught and punished.

The Living Needle Cushion.

KITTINGHAM, Pa., Feb. 18.—Miss Josephine Weaver, of this place, yesterday had five pieces of cambric needles removed from the lower part of her leg by a physician. She is known as the "Living Needle Cushion," and during the past six years, it is said she has had extracted ninety-two needles, whole and in part, from her limbs. Miss Weaver is thirty-four years of age, is quite eccentric, though intelligent. She maintains that she is bewitched. She has been watched frequently, and awakens out of an apparently deep slumber with screams. It is generally believed she is a monomaniac on the subject of sticking herself full of needles, but her parents and friends assert that they have watched her repeatedly, and found no evidence of such actions.

More Evil Than Leadballs.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—It is easier to pick a note from a neighbor's eye than to remove a beam from our own. While Mr. Chamberlain and the Censors are denounced the oppression of land lords there is a tyranny in their own city crying for redress. It is doubtful if the "down-to-earth" agricultural laborer would carry the lot of the female cashiers in a large Birmingham establishment. From 8.45 in the morning till 8 in the evening, and until 11 p.m. on Saturday, they must not leave their desks under any circumstances for even a minute, and should they violate this Draconian rule they are fined half a crown for each offence. As their salary only amounts to £4. (£1.25) per week, extreme care must be observed to prevent the entire amount being absorbed in fines.

FROM ALL OVER

Anticipating grave Oriental trouble, Russia is augmenting her army on the Austrian frontier.

NATIONAL FILLS is the favorite purgative and ant-bilious medicine, they are mild and thorough.

Mr. Gladstone says there is no intention on the part of his Government of renewing coercion in Ireland.

Worms often destroy children, but Freeman's Worm Powders destroy worms, and expel them
from the system.

Lord Randolph Churchill will visit Belfast next Monday, when the Orangemen will give him a public reception.

A CRYING EVIL.—Children are often fretful
and ill when worms is the cause. Dr. Low's
Worm Syrup safely expels all worms.

On account of the lack of interest shown by European countries in the project, France substitutes standing her exhibition of 1889.

To REMOVE DANDRUFF.—Cleanse the scalp
with Prof. Low's Magic Nigropur Soap. A delightful medicated soap for the toilet.

The German Reichstag agreed to the second reading of the Socialist motion in favor of paying salaries to members of that body.

A BAD BREAKDOWN.—It is a common thing
now-a-days to hear one complain of being all broken down with a faint, weary, restless language, with strength and appetite nearly gone, and no well defined cause. This is general debility, which Burdock Blood Bitters promptly relieves, and most favorably cures.

The Impression is gaining abroad in London that the present cabinet will prove unwearable and that it will be impossible to hold it together.

WHAT A wonderful discovery is Perry Davis
Pain Killer! It not only cures the ill of the human family, but is also the sure remedy for horses with colic. It has never been known to fail in a cure of the worst cases and for sprains, galls, &c., it never fails to try it once. Directions accompany each bottle. Sold by druggists generally.—Knox County (Ky.) Democrat.

It is stated that Colonel Villiers, D. A. G. of
No. 5 Military District, will be second in command of the projected flying column for the North-West-Territories.

MURRAY & LAMAR'S FLORIDA WATER.—We earnestly urge every purchaser to ask for that which is prepared by Messrs. Lamman & Kemp,
New York, who are the sole proprietors of the true perfume. All other so-called Florida
Waters are only ordinary Colognes.

"BURNS AND SCALDS."—If you are so unfortunate as to injure yourself in this way we can suggest a remedy that will, (we speak from experience) soon relieve you of all pain and quickly heal the wound; it costs but twenty-five cents and is sold by all druggists—ask for Perry
Davis' Pain Killer.

Owners of iron mines along the Kingston and Pembroke railway are in a flutter of excitement over the proposed admission of iron ore into the United States free of duty.

SEARCHING FOR PROOF.—There is no trouble in ascertaining from any druggist the true value of Hagar's Yellow Oil, for all palatal and inflammatory troubles, rheumatism, neuralgia,
lumbago, frost bites, burns, bruises, sprains, contracted cords, stiff joints, aches, pains and soreness.

IN A DANGEROUS CONDITION.—Any man, woman or child, is in a dangerous condition when neglecting a constipated state of the bowels. There can be no perfect health without a regular action of this function. Burdock Blood Bitters cures constipation by imparting a healthy tone to all the secretions.

The trade receipts of the Canadian Pacific Railway for the week ending February 11th were $111,000, an increase of $19,000 compared with the corresponding week last year.

A REASONABLE ITEM.—During the breaking up of winter, when the air is chilly and the weather damp, such complaints as rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, sore throat, group, and other painful effects of any druggist are prevalent. It is then that Hagar's Yellow Oil is found truly valuable as a household remedy.

A WINE CURE.—In selecting a remedy for coughs and colds the wise choice is to take one that loosens the tough mucous clinging to the air passages. Such a remedy is Hagar's Pectorial Balsam, which promptly breaks up hard colds and their troublesome effects.

NO HESITATING.—There is no blundering in the dark—in the action of Burdock Blood Bitters upon the system. It is no scattering about prescription, no cure all, but it acts directly upon the four cardinal points of health: the stomach, the liver, the bowels, and the blood,
and works its cure in a natural manner
through nature's channels.

RELIABLE CURE will immediately relieve Croup, Whooping Cough and Bronchitis. For sale by Ormond & Walsh druggists, Peterborough.

ARE you made miserable by Intemperance, Constitution, Irritability, Loss of Appetite, Yellow skin? Hagar's Vitalizer is a positive cure. For sale by Ormond & Walsh, druggists, Peterborough.

Hersford's Acid Phosphate
Source of Irritation
Imitations and counterfeits have again appeared. But sure that the word "Hersford's" is on the wrapper. None are genuine without it.

The World's Best
It is certainly remarkable the wonderful cure effected by West's World's Wonder or Family Liniment. This remedy has not an equal in the world for the speedy cure of Rheumatism, Sprains, Cuts, Bruises and all diseases requiring external application. Price 25 cents and 50 cents per bottle. Sold by J. D. Tully.

Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites.
For Anemia and Marasmus in Children.
In W. G. Henry, Kansas City, Mo., says: "I have used Scott's Emulsion for years, and for consumption and anemic patients and children with marasmus, have found it very reliable.
Have frequently given it when patients could retain nothing else on the stomach."

A Bad Case
A lady writes: "I had almost given up all hope of having my natural growth hair back, I as I tried most everything advertised for the hair. I can now thank Dr. Dewey's Hair Magie for not alone restoring the growth, but also the color. I have used two bottles and my hair is in a state of perfect satisfaction to myself." For sale by all reliable drug stores. J.
D. Tully, Agent for Peterborough.

Advice to Mothers.
Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once, it produces natural quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhoea which arises from teething or other causes. 25 cts a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

GENTS' LINED KID GLOVES marked down to cost to make room for spring goods at ANDREW McNELL'S, George street.

New Music.
We have received from Messrs. A. L. Davis & Co. two choice pieces of new music, "Recollections of the South," by T. R. Watts, and "Puka Militaire" by Henry Bourlier. They are of the series of new music published by Messrs. I. Suckings & Son, of Toronto.

CITIZENS.—What's the matter with Johnston Carey that he is having a closing-out sale of boots and shoes? He's not going to leave town, is he?

MERCHANT.—"Oh, no, we're not going to lose Mr. Carey. He's making room for the output of his own new factory, and is selling off his entire stock of imported goods at less than cost."

Sticks.
A Canadian Pacific Railway freight train, consisting of 21 cars, stuck tight in a snow drift near Myrtle this morning. The line has been closed all day in consequence. A large number of men are now at work clearing the line and it is expected it will be opened at about six o'clock this evening.

Concert at Lakeside.
Next Tuesday evening a concert under the auspices of the Barnardo Home will be given in the P.C.A. Hall at Lakeside. It is a special feature of this concert will be reproduction of that given last week in St. Paul's Church School room, when it gave much satisfaction to the audience. The Rev. Mr. Tovey will take the choir at 7.30 p.m. Admission 50c, children 25c.

Do they (these) Early in Lindsay?
The Lindsay Post says:—

"The Rev. I. Tovey at the Methodist church, Peterborough, preached on Sunday night a sermon—a whole sermon—in the inquiry of keeping the shops open until a very late hour on Saturday nights. This, Mr. Tovey points out—and he points out truly, too—is the fault of the purchaser, who should buy at a reasonable hour if not the day previous. Possibly, Rev. Mr. Tovey draws his salary on 8 o'clock and knows nothing of the technicalities about getting paid on Saturday night and doing your marketing after supper. It is after all as much the fault of the paymaster as of the purchaser."

Mr. Tovey did not preach "a whole sermon" on the subject, but he talked a few minutes before he commenced his sermon, and crowded a number of facts into those few minutes.

Don't do it!
Referring to the last curling match played here between the Peterborough and Lindsay Juniors, the Post says:—

"It is currently reported that the attention of one of the Lindsay junior ships was taken off the game by the captivating attractions of the Peterborough maidens who were departing on the ice skating rink adjoining the curlers. If such prove to be the case then we must ask the Peterborough men—when another junior match is played—to carefully exclude young, attractive, alluring and arching ladies—any under twenty-six—from the ice during the time of the match."

The presence of ladies has an opposite effect upon the gallant young curlers of this burg. When ladies are present they strive to excel in the play, and that pleases the fair ones more than attempts to flirt or any such foolishness. Let the ladies remain!

GENTS' ALL WOOL SHIRTS AND DRAWERS marked down to cost to make room for spring goods at ANDREW McNELL'S, George street.

THE SECOND CARNIVAL.

TWO BRILLIANT GATHERINGS IN THE CHARLOTTE STREET RINK

On Friday—The Second of the Series of Carnivals even more successful than the first.

On Friday the second of a series of grand fancy dress carnivals, given under the auspices of the Fire Brigade Band, was held in the skating rink.

The drizzling rain in the morning made the members of the body in charge of the carnival feel rather doubtful of its success, but contrary to the expectations of some it turned out a very brilliant and successful affair.

In the afternoon the children were given the opportunity of putting the first cut in the newly prepared ice. This they did, to the number of about seventy-five, with evident relief. The costumes worn by the little ones were, taken in all, very creditable, some really elegant. The names of those in costume are as follows:—

Best Dressed Boy—Archie Morrow, Page.
Best Dressed Girl in Comic Costume—Nellie Bertram, Old Mother Hubbard.
Best Dressed Boy in Comic Costume—Jas. Bolton, Chinese Tea Merchant.

After skating for three hours the rink was vacated by the little makers, and scrapers were busily applied to the ice. Soon it was smooth, off, ready for the carnival in the evening.

In the evening the scene was a gay one. The large sheet of ice, at eight o'clock, was covered with a throng of people, representing almost every nationality and class. The galleries were crowded with spectators, who looked down through the profuse and elaborate decorations on the flowing mass of gay colors below.

The following is a list of those who appeared in costume:—

The races were brought on at about nine o'clock. The barrel race came first. There were three entries, but Allen Bell soon began to outstrip the other two, and also to perform the same operation on himself. The pantaloons were so tight that he could not resist the tug he received each time the boys passed through the barrels, and soon the buttons refused altogether to do their duty. Applause and laughter came from the spectators, and the mock modest girls turned away their heads and tried to blush. Each barrel seemed now to take particular delight in making the poor boy's distress more distressing.

To him the situation was becoming most painful, while cheers and laughter came from both the makers and spectators in the gallery. At last only two more barrels were to be passed and the lad could put out his hand and reach for the prize. He stood irresolute for a moment. Would he readjust his pants and retire from the race? The other two fast borrowing the barrels behind him decided him. He went in again and won his well earned prize, an Accordion, amid prolonged applause.

The hurdle race came next. There were three entries. Mr. S. H. Kirby, of Ottawa, with light elastic bonds and graceful strides, soon forged ahead and won, with J. Shevlin a good second. Prize, a miniature clock.

About twenty five entered for the boy's race. After considerable scrambling, W. Grierson came from the crowd and won. Prize, a breast pin.

The Potato race came next. Mr. Kirby won this also, with Mr. J. Shevlin second. Prize, a pair of vases.

The Bell race was the last on the programme. The boys who entered were all blindfolded, the one catching the bell man who rang a hand bell continually, being the winner. Wm. Sharp was the lucky one. A suitable prize was given.

Mr. R. A. Wood, one of the judges, then announced the names of the prize winners. The judges, he said, had had some difficulty in arriving at a decision in some cases. They could only give the number of prizes that was on the bill, and therefore some of those whose costumes were worthy of recognition could not receive a prize. The disappointed ones, however, could console themselves that they came very near winning. The names of the prize winners were read as follows:—

Best Dressed Lady in Fancy Dress Costume—Miss Gullie Hall, as Virginia, Coriolanus' wife. Prize, a silver card receiver.

Best Dressed Gentleman in Shakespearean Costume—E. A. Reid, as Charles I. Prize, a gold watch chain and seal.

Best Dressed Girl in Costume—Miss Ida Ulin, as an Italian Street Peddler. Prize a Silver Napkin ring.

Best Dressed Girl in Comic Costume—Miss Bertha Dean, as Hundred Years Ago.

Best Dressed Boy in Costume—F. Larsons, as Cowboy. Prize, a Paper Weight.

The prizes were all distributed by Mr. Wood as awarded.

The judges were Mr. and Mrs. Wood and Mr. and Mrs. McGill.

Among those who did not receive prizes the following are worthy of mention:—Mr. W. E. Leeb, as Mountjoy, a French Herald; Miss Emma Derry as Sunset, Miss Addie Everett, as Fancy Work; Miss Poole as-Portia, Mabel Chambers, as Elizabeth Woodville, and Miss Hamilton, as Ophelia, and C. McNeil as Earl Botherwell.

During the evening the band discoursed music of a high standard of excellence.

Entertainment.
An entertainment will be held in St. Luke's school room on Monday evening, Feb. 22nd, consisting of songs, readings, charades and a musical comedy, commencing at 7.30.

GENTS' CARDIGAN JACKETS marked down to cost to make room for spring goods at ANDREW McNELL'S, George street.

None Should Miss It.
Dr. Tiffany's lecture in the George Street Methodist Church on Tuesday night next promises to be a rare treat. No intelligent citizen can afford to miss hearing him. The sons of toil and their families, the proprietors of manufactures and their employees, men of commerce and their clerks, the occupants of the humble home, and the dwellers in our finest residences will be intensely interested in this lecture by one of America's most gifted men. The "Social Problem of Labour" is a burning question in every civilized country to-day.

Curling.
Four rinks of Peterborough curlers went to Toronto on Thursday evening. In a match played with the Granite the next day they were defeated by 13 points. The score is as follows:—T. P. Attrill, skip, 7-23; Geo. Brown, skip, 14-10; W. G. Ferguson, skip, 19-8; R. P. Boucher, skip, 11-18. The ice was very gummy from the beginning, getting so soft that some of the rinks had to stop playing before the match should properly have ended. The curlers arrived home on Friday evening.

Choral Concert.
A very entertaining Choral Concert was given in Bradburn's Opera House on Friday evening under the auspices of the Saved Army. Between thirty and forty little girls under the conductorship of Miss Conacher, sang five choruses in a highly pleasing manner. During the evening addresses were delivered by D. W. Capt. Munt, Delegate Wier, Pie. Parks, Pie Rogers and others. Another similar entertainment is to be given next Friday evening, and no doubt it will be well worthy of patronage.

The Churches.
The following is a list of services in the several churches for to-morrow:—
St. Peter's Cathedral.—At St. Peter's Cathedral, Roman Catholic, there will be three masses celebrated, the first at 7 a.m., the second at 8 a.m., and the third at 10.30 a.m. Vespers at 7 p.m.

St. Luke's.—The regular services at St. Luke's Church will be conducted, as follows: Morning Prayer, Litany, and sermon at 11 a.m.; Evensong and sermon at 7 p.m.

St. John's.—The regular services at St. John's Church of England, Holy Communion at 8.30 a.m.; Morning Prayer, Litany and sermon and Communion at 11 a.m. Evening Prayer with sermon at 7 p.m.

St. Paul's.—In the morning at 11 o'clock the Rev. Mr. Torrance will preach the sermon on "Elijah's Prayer on Mount Carmel." In the evening at 7 o'clock the pulpit will be occupied by the Rev. A. H. Munro.

Baptist Church, Murray Street.—The Rev. A. H. Munro, the pastor, will conduct the morning service, having for his subject "Spiritual Addition." In the evening the Rev. G. F. Torrance will conduct the service.

Methodist Church, Charlotte Street.—The Anniversary service will be conducted, in the morning at 11 o'clock the Rev. F. H. Wallace will preach the sermon, having for the subject "Christian Warfare and its Weapons." In the evening the Rev. I. Tovey will conduct the service.

Methodist Church, George Street.—In the morning the Rev. I. Tovey will conduct the service. In the evening an Evangelistic service will be conducted by the Rev. F. H. Wallace.

Methodist Church, Mark street, Ashburnham.—The usual services, at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m., will be held.

St. Andrew's Church.—The usual services, at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. will be held.

Outrage Upon Missionaries.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Advices have been received of disturbance at Chirkling, China, in which missionaries were grossly abused by Chinese mob. The presence of a man-of-war was requested. It seems a mob of workmen went to the house of two American missionaries and took them out by force, and having bound them hand and foot, took them to a local magistrate who immediately released them. Other assaults were committed on missionaries about the same time, causing considerable excitement in town. The trouble was caused by the refusal of the missionaries to comply with the demands made by a contractor for buildings erected for them. Admiral Hamilton, R.N., sent British ship Wanderer, to Chirkling for the purpose of protecting the missionaries and notified Rear Admiral Davis that he would remain until relieved by the American man-of-war. Admiral Davis telegraphed his thanks and directed the U.S. ship Marion to proceed to Chirkling at once to relieve the British vessel. Her commanding officer was instructed to confer with the United States Consul, Mr. Bergholtz, in regard to the reported outrage and take what steps may be deemed advisable.

An Illinois Tragedy.
BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Feb. 19.—Three days ago David Scholtz, a wealthy farmer, residing near Shirley, Ill., armed with two shot guns, secreted himself in the oat bin of his barn. Yesterday members of his family discovered his whereabouts and attempted to take him to his house. He fired a number of shots, inflicting serious and perhaps fatal wounds upon his brother, Levi Scholtz, his wife, sister-in-law, and his son, aged 17. He then set fire to a barn, which was entirely consumed, with its contents including a loss of $10,000. Scholtz then made his escape to some timber, three miles away, where it is believed he has committed suicide. His wife and sister-in-law will die.

Indignant Shoppers.
CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—The advance in freight rates on east bound live stocks and dressed meats has caused intense feeling among shippers of dressed beef. They assert the new rate amounts to a virtual embargo on their industry. It is claimed the railways have immense sums in the stockyards, &c., and that the present advance is a move to crush out our shippers of dressed meats.

Small-Pox.
DALLAS, Tex. Feb. 19.—There have been five deaths from small-pox at Fort Worth and there are now twenty-eight persons down with the disease.

ALL WINTER GOODS are marked down to cost to make room for spring goods at ANDREW McNELL'S, George street.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 22, 1886.

M. C. CAMERON AGAIN

Mr. M. C. CAMERON has been again venting his abuse upon his betters publicly in a fresh string of slanderous falsehoods. He pretended to back up his inventions by extracts from the public records, making them suit his purpose by means of falsification and forgery. He quoted what he knows to be a forgery concocted by the Globe in order to make the Mail appear as saying something that it never did say. And adopting this base policy as his own he read a string of names from the blue books and then made false statements as to the meaning of these lists. For instance he treated applications as being the same as grants, though he knew many of them had been refused, and pretended to believe that a first year's payment on leases never granted because the conditions were not carried out was a proof that timber had been cut.

In the same way he bolstered up his accusations of nepotism against the Dominion Ministers. He accused the Hon. J. O. Pope of appointing his father to a public office, though, in truth, he had been in the civil service for 30 years previously. He abused the Hon. Thos. White for Mr. Romaine being made stationary clerk for the House of Commons, though the appointment was made long before Mr. White's entrance into the Cabinet, and was an admirable selection of a man well qualified for the position. Mr. Romaine having already saved the country over larger sums than those spent by Mr. M. C. Cameron in corruptly buying his way into Parliament. He makes it a crime against Sir L. Tilley that some of the Barjore are in the public service. The Hon. Mr. Rowell is vilified because his daughter is married to a gentleman who bought a share in a public company under Reform officers and sold it again. Being like many other knaves, a rank coward, he delights indeed in bringing women within the scope of his slanders. He shows his virulent hatred and envy towards Sir John Macdonald by accusing him for marrying a lady who had a brother at the time and long previously in the public service.

It would be impossible to follow Mr. M. C. Cameron through all the dirt in which he wallows. We have given a few characteristic specimens of his manner of treating the statesmen whom the people of Canada delight to honor. We have told enough for our readers to judge the man and his methods, and we gladly leave such an unworthy subject.

TRENT VALLEY NAVIGATION.

On Saturday afternoon the Executive committee of the Trent Valley Navigation had an informal meeting with the members for the East and West Ridings of Peterborough, to make arrangements for the deputation to Ottawa, as requested to do by the recent public meeting. After some discussion Thursday, March 11th, was the day selected; the secretary was instructed to communicate with the other localities interested, and the members undertook to notify the Minister.

It is to be hoped that all the municipalities along the route will send such influential delegations as will have due weight with the Ministers and indispose them to delay flooding to the request to undertake the immediate construction of other sections.

It is an undertaking of such great national importance that its completion should not be postponed. Even if the current finances may not suffice for the grant of an adequate appropriation, it should still be vigorously pressed, for it is a case in which it would be quite legitimate and truly economical to borrow the money, as it could not fail to prove a good investment through the development of the resources of the country that would result.

The people of the localities which, from their situation on the route, are best acquainted with the merits of the project, should bestir themselves at this juncture and give all their moral support to the undertaking.

WHICH VERSION NOW?

In another little tiff on its bogus telegram the London Advertiser says: "There is no doubt whatever that the Advertiser's statement is true." Which statement? The Advertiser has stated that the telegram was sent and that it was not sent; that it was sent from Winnipeg to Ottawa, and from Ottawa to Winnipeg; that it was sent from Sir A. Carson to Sir John Macdonald, and from Sir John Macdonald to Sir A. Carson. Which version does the Advertiser say is true now? The only feasible explanation is that the forger tried his hand on several versions and left them all lying on the editorial desk. What a charming set are the Ridings of the Reform party. No wonder the honest Reformers are leaving them.

The chief organ of the Ridings is now boasting that its amiable clients hooded and insulted the Minister of Militia to prevent him from addressing a public meeting. Well, it is only natural that the friends of rebels and their organs should have a bitter dislike of the brave Canadian volunteers and of all connected with them, from the Minister of our forces and their commander to the private still suffering from wounds inflicted by the traitors.

Mr. FRASER, according to the Globe, expressed his opinion that nobody knew what Mr. Creighton was talking about in his speech on the budget. Did Mr. Fraser know what he was talking about when he suggested a statue in honor of a murderer?

"ARCHBISHOP TACHE."

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

THE THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT.

Bills Introduced and Others Advanced—The Drainage Act—Increase in the Estimates for the Departments.

FRIDAY, Feb. 19.—The following bills were introduced and read at first time: By Mr. Ball, four, respecting the Douro Tramway company (private); Mr. Wood (North Hastings), act to prevent minors frequenting billiard, pool and bagatelle rooms; Mr. Freeman, respecting gas and water companies; Mr. Mowat, respecting the estates of deceased persons. The bill respecting the Leamington and St. Clair Railway received its third reading.

THE DRAINAGE ACT.
Mr. CLARK moved for a return regarding the work done, money paid, etc., in each municipality under the Drainage Act.

Mr. FRASER said the Government made payments only to contractors.
The motion was allowed to stand.

SECOND READING.

Mr. CAMERON'S bill to amend act 157, R. S. O., respecting the borrowing powers of joint stock companies for supplying cities, towns and villages with gas and water was read a second time and referred. The bill provides that the above chapter be repealed and this substituted: "The sum so borrowed shall not exceed the sum of $40,000, to be expended in gas works, and a like sum for water works, for any incorporated village, or the sum of $100,000 for any town or city for either gas or water works."

Mr. BAXTER'S bill to amend sec. 351 of the municipal act so as to enable municipalities to lease bridges from the government so that they may be made free was read a second time and referred. The several private bills were advanced a stage.

THE HOUSE again went into committee of supply and reached the thirteenth item of the estimates before adjourning. The items passed included the several departments, it each of which there were increases. The increases were severely criticized.

Mr. MEREDITH pointed out that the new Deputy Attorney-General was placed at the same salary ($8,000) as Mr. Scott was getting when he left.

Mr. MOWAT said he could not have secured the new officer at any lower figure.

Mr. CAMERON said the members of the Government were probably appropriating the salaries of subordinates to their own so that they might be enabled to pay their own salaries were not large enough, and then ask for an increase. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. MEREDITH advised the abolition of the item for immigration altogether, especially as the Dominion kept up a large staff of immigration officers.

Mr. MEREDITH also called attention to the fact that the expenditure in the Board of Health and Bureau of Statistics had nearly tripled the amounts indicated by the Government when these boards were established. He thought the salary of the secretary of the Board of Health should not have been increased from $1,500 to $1,750 unless the Government had control of his whole time.

Mr. ROSS (Huron) said the secretary's private practice as a medical man had been so injured by his attendance at localities where small pox or other epidemics broke out that the Government had to make him some compensation.

The committee rose and reported, and the House adjourned at 5.10 p. m.

RED HOT SHOT.

An Appeal for Assistance in Christianizing our Indians.
We have been requested to publish the following. To explain the title, we may state the heading in the original are in red ink:

"RED-HOT EXTENSION."
RED-HOT SHOT
No. 1

A gentleman suggested to me that I should fire a few red hot shots in among the people of Canada, and let them know in a few words what I propose to do in the way of extending our Mission Work among the Indians; so, acting upon his advice, this is Number One and may God direct it by the power of His Holy Spirit home to the hearts and consciences of His people.

WHAT OUR WORK IS.
We have two institutions at Sault Ste. Marie—large, commodious stone buildings—the Shingwauk Home, with accommodation for 60 Indian boys; and the Wawashk Home, with accommodation for 30 Indian girls. We have also a handsome Stone Chapel, built in memory of the late Bishop Paquet. These buildings have all been erected within the last eleven years, and cost in all about $30,000. I have never, during that time, asked for any collections after meetings I have addressed, or done any house-to-house begging. My plan is to make our work known through speaking, preaching and printing, and I leave it with Almighty God to put it into the hearts of His people to give. This our work is wholly in God's hands; and therein lies our strength. We have never been in debt. This winter we expect to have nearly 70 pupils in our two institutions. The children come from Indian Reserves in all parts of Ontario to receive a good Christian education; and the boys are either prepared as school teachers or taught different trades.

WHY I WANT TO EXTEND THE WORK.

I think God has put it into my heart to do. The rebellion which took place in the Spring has drawn the attention of people to the Indian question. Surely it were better to educate the young Indians and teach them the Bible than to have to fight them. With a view to finding out in what condition those Indians in the Northwest were, I paid a visit to Regina this summer and made acquaintance with the chiefs on eight different Indian Reserves in that neighborhood. On one of those reserves was there either (Church or School); or a Missionary, either of the Catholic church or of any Protestant denomination, visiting them. A few were professed Roman Catholics, but nearly all of them were Pagans. "How is it that you are all Pagans?" I asked of some of the poor creatures: "Is it that you refuse to become Christians?" "No," they said, "it is only that we are ignorant, and that no one comes to teach us."

WHAT WE PROPOSE TO DO.
I want, if God will, to enlarge our present Shingwauk Home at Sault Ste. Marie, so as to make it capable of accommodating a hundred pupils. I want this to be the central institution; and in addition to our Indian pupils, to have three or four young white fellows, whose hearts have been drawn by God to the work, training them as school teachers and missionaries. These I propose to establish at various distant points Four Branch Homes. One of these Branch Homes will be in Assiniboia, one perhaps in Manitoba, and two within the confines of Ontario. Each of these Homes will have accommodation for 40 Indian pupils, boys and girls, and all will be under the control of the Central Management at Sault Ste. Marie.

WHAT WILL BE THE COST?

The enlargement and refitting of the Shingwauk Home, so as to make it the Central Institution, will cost about $7,000. Each of the proposed Branch Homes will cost about $5,000.

HOW CAN THE MONEY BE RAISED?
I will not do any begging. I am doing God's work, acting for God, and I will not put Almighty God in the position of a beggar; that is, I ask nothing of those who are indisposed to give, and I want no banners, tabernacles or rallies. Let the money given to this work be given to God in a humble spirit, and then a blessing will follow both upon the giver and upon the work. In the course of my six weeks' tour through Western Ontario, which has just ended, unasked offerings were made to my work, amounting in all to $246.71. To this I wish to add $100 as my own offering. We have therefore $346.71 as a nucleus to begin upon, and this requires to be raised to $7,000 in order to carry out the proposed additions and improvements to the Shingwauk Home. Who will give the tenth of one year's income to this work? Who will prove God by doing this? For the establishment of this Branch Home, I shall endeavor to make an indication from God that the work is to be proceeded with, and shall take steps to put the scheme into more definite shape and to raise the needed amount.

Oh, that the hearts of God's people through the length and breadth of this great country may be stirred to do something on behalf of these poor Indians, whose lands and hunting grounds we are now occupying. The Indians are God's poor people, and God's will is that we should "remember the poor."

A NOBLE RESPONSE.

Dear Sir,—Will you kindly insert in the next issue of your paper the following extract from a letter I have received from Manitoba, in reply to my "Red Hot Shot":

DEAR SIR,—Kindly let me know what are your plans establishing an Indian boy's home in Manitoba. I am willing to give $1,000, to assist in the good cause; a few days prior to my receiving your "Red Hot Shot" the subject came to my mind, and was talked over in my family, strange to say the amount you ask for came forcibly to my mind and I mentioned to my wife the desire to give $1,000 towards an Indian School. I have not yet decided, but was the dictate of the Holy Spirit asking for a mite towards God's cause. Probably I could assist you in choosing a site if you so desire. Awaiting reports and particulars I am, Sir, very respectfully,
Yours truly,
Shingwauk Home, Sault Ste. Marie, Dec. 30th, 1885. E. F. WILSON.

The Hudson Bay Road.

Donald Grant, the railroad contractor, left St. Paul last evening for the South. He admits that he and Rosy McClellan have contracted with the Hudson's Bay railway company to build the first 300 miles of that line, and hopes to start work early in the ensuing spring. Mr. Grant said he had full faith that the line is destined to carry the products of not only the British Northwest, but also to get a share of the States and Territorial business as well. In laying the matter before the English capitalists, the testimony of the captains, who have operated vessels in the bay for fifty years, was submitted. This testimony was to the effect that the waters could be navigated by sailing vessels from four to eight months of the year. This would make an average of six months ample time in which to remove the season's crop product before the close of navigation. Of course, Mr. Grant further said, steamers could be run much later in the season than sailing vessels. Capitalists need only to be assured that the water route is feasible for the moving of the crop of the Northwest to rest in the project. The construction of the first 300 miles would demonstrate the fact so clearly that there would be no difficulty in securing funds to construct the other 300. Daniel Mann, of Winnipeg, seen last evening, said the principal objection erected by the English capitalists was that a certain specified amount for each mile constructed should be stipulated and not exceeded. —St. Paul Pioneer Press.

WATER'S PAIN KING works like a charm in relieving pain in the stomach, all bowel difficulties and cholera. No traveller should be without it. Should be kept in every household. Cost but 2 cents. Sold by J. D. Tully, Druggist.

WATER'S WORLDLY WONDER or family liniment has proved to be one of the greatest blessings of the age. It is a never failing remedy for rheumatism, cuts, sprains and bruises. Call on J. D. Tully for a trial bottle and you will use no other.

THE GREATEST PREPARATION YET.
"Eureka," Dorey's world renowned Hair Restorer, restores all superfluous hair on the face or arms or legs or on the scalp. It is harmless, causes no pain in using, and leaves no disfigurements; can be easily applied, and works quickly and surely. Thousands have used it and pronounced it to be the best article of the kind before the public. To be had from J. D. Tully, Druggist, agent for Peterborough.

I had been a miserable sufferer from dyspepsia and tried all known remedies and the best of medical skill at my acquaintance, but still grew worse, until unable to eat anything without great suffering, or do any kind of work. I began to think there was no hope for me, and that I must surely die; when like a drowning man catching at a straw, I determined to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial. I at once began to improve so rapidly that in two months I was as well as I had ever been in my life.—Wm. Evans, Leamington. Sold by J. McKee, druggist. Free trial bottles.

THY, N.Y., Jan. 4, 1886.
GENTLEMEN,—I have much pleasure in saying that I have used your White Rose Cream for my complexion since this year, and find it superior to anything I have ever used for the same purpose. It softens the skin and imparts a fresh and delicate bloom to the face and hands, and is indispensable to the use of any other preparation. Sincerely yours, ELLA LOMAX.

Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 23, 1886.

FLOUTED.

THE Young Liberals of Ontario have been flouted. They met in solemn convocation, to devise a policy for their seniors, and their very first request, one upon which they were of one mind, has been refused by their party leader in Ontario. How serious the matter is may be learned from the following extract from the Ottawa Free Press, the organ of the Reform party at the capital:—

"Premier Mowat has refused the first request made to him by the Ontario Young Liberals, and in doing so has flouted the unanimous wish of their late convention. When the premier replied to the request that the franchise be made one of manhood suffrage, that there was great diversity of opinion even in the Liberal ranks upon the advisability of the proposal, he must be understood as speaking for the senior Ontario Liberals, and not the Young Liberals. Among the latter there was no difference of opinion so far as this plank was concerned."

After this outburst the loyal Free Press (loyal to its party) proceeds to elaborate Mr. Mowat's reasons for "flouting the unanimous wish" of the Young Liberals. The reason given by Mr. Mowat is, plainly, that he could not control his party and that some of them objected to the demand of the Young Liberals. Mr. Mowat had good reason for saying that some of his own party objected to the demand of the Free Press for Mr. Mowat himself, and everyone of his supporters in the House, voted against the principle for which they are contending. The Conservatives were willing to grant it, before the Young Liberals had expressed their views, as a concession to the intelligence and integrity of the youth of Ontario, but Mr. Mowat and the so-called Liberals refused to do so, and now go any further than they have already been forced to go by the Opposition.

The Young Liberals have been flouted. Will they resent the insult?

The very first request they have made to their leaders has been refused. Will they meekly submit?

They have contended for a principle which their party refused to accept. Will they abandon their principles at the call of party expediency?

If they do the result of their convention and all their great doings last year will only be ridicule cast upon themselves.

THE SENATE.

MR. BARNOR, the Reform candidate for the representation of North Victoria in the House of Commons, who called himself a Young Liberal, announced at the convention which nominated him the following views regarding the Senate:—

"To the Senate as now constituted I am wholly opposed. (Applause.) I do not want an elective Senate, because such would be tantamount to increasing the membership of the Commons. It would be virtually tearing down the wall between the two chambers. As it at present is a blot upon our political constitution and a parody on representation."

Mr. Barnor does not want the Senate as at present constituted, and he will not have an elective Senate. What would meet his views? Or, what is of more importance, what would meet the views of the Reform party? The Kingston Reformers declared themselves in favor of the abolition of the Senate, and the Ottawa Free Press, which takes its stand on the Young Liberal convention platform, advocates an elective Senate. When there is such difference of opinion within the party, the people cannot be expected to understand what the policy of the Reform party is, and so long as their policy is unknown the electors can scarcely endorse it. They will prefer a known policy, that has proved beneficial, to an unknown one.

THE London Advertiser in yet another editorial allusion to its bogus telegram says:—"We say the telegram shows" something or other, it does not matter what. As this forged telegram has been described by the Advertiser as being sent, first by one person and then by another, first to one man and then to another, it only shows that the Advertiser is as stupid as it is careless, too stupid to remember from day to day the purport of its own falsifications."

PACATI, the friend of Messrs. Mowat, Fraser and Riel, is still drawing his pay from the people of Ontario as occasional writs, and is also still publishing his paper in advocacy of rebellion and in opposition to the volunteers and the authorities of Canada. Thus doubly employed, he is at present too busy to organize any more meetings to express sympathy with the murderers.

MR. BALFOUR, in the budget debate, credited Mr. Mowat and his colleagues with the erection of the Mercer Reformatory. We cannot see that they were very generous in taking the late Mr. Mercer's estate from his son to expend it upon Mr. Edgar and women of bad character. Riel in Hood is said to have made such gifts with property he had appropriated from others, but generosity of this nature is somewhat out of date now.

LORD RANDOLPH CHURCHILL.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—Lord Randolph Churchill arrived at Larnoe this morning on his way to Belfast. He was enthusiastically received by a large crowd. On his journey from London, Lord Randolph made a short stop at Stranraer, Scotland. There was a gathering of people at the station, and, in reply to their greetings, Lord Randolph made a speech, in which he said he was glad to be in Scotland, and that he was glad to be in the habit of meeting so many distinguished statesmen and politicians at a secluded house, sometimes with another woman, who cooed with another prominent politician, and state officer. He discovered on the night that Mrs. Phillips was murdered that she met this politician, who escorted her home in a closed carriage. In her guarded testimony this woman corroborates the facts related, but she did not ask the name of the politician, who must have witnessed the murder of Mrs. Phillips. This man is a prominent State Officer and an active candidate for the Governorship of Texas. The other man is assistant to the chief of a department. Both are married.

In an address at Larnoe, Lord Randolph Churchill asserted that the granting of Home Rule to Ireland would result in the dissolution of the connection between Great Britain and Ireland. He declared that the placing of the Loyalists of the North of Ireland under the authority of a Dublin Government would be a monstrous act of dishonour. The Loyalists must organize and fit themselves for a struggle for the maintenance of the union, which was only beginning now, but he predicted would assume grave proportions.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

WILL THE LAW BE UPHOLD.

The Canadian Riel organs are shrieking for vengeance on Sir John Macdonald because of the "punishment" he inflicted upon the rebel. Sir John did not "punish" Riel. The latter suffered under the laws of Canada, which prescribed the grade of his offense, and fixed the death penalty.—Baltimore Herald.

SELF DESCRIBED.

Until Mr. M. C. Cameron, M. P., made a huge sum of money out of North West land speculation his name appears annually in the Ontario Public Accounts in connection with somewhat highly paid Crown prosecutions. Mr. Cameron now lays down the principle that the man who receives employment from a government and is paid for his services is a speculator and a thief.—Mail.

ILLIBERAL "LIBERALS."

The baldheaded young Liberals of Toronto have resolved to petition Mr. Mowat for a repeal of the law of 1882 held by him and another by Hon. Mr. Fraser, did not agree as to a date he had cited. Mr. Carnegie suggested that there was one edition printed for the Government and another for the Opposition. Very likely. We are beginning to believe these Ontario Grits will do most anything—it will give them a temporary victory, or even raise a laugh. Shew, seems to be a stranger to them. Port Hope Times.

A SUGGESTIVE INCIDENT.

Mr. Carnegie had the best of the argument in the Ontario Legislature the other day, when one of the opposition papers 1882 held by him and another by Hon. Mr. Fraser, did not agree as to a date he had cited. Mr. Carnegie suggested that there was one edition printed for the Government and another for the Opposition. Very likely. We are beginning to believe these Ontario Grits will do most anything—it will give them a temporary victory, or even raise a laugh. Shew, seems to be a stranger to them. Port Hope Times.

INEXCUSABLE DELAY.

It appears that some of the returns called for by the Opposition in the Local Legislature two years ago have not yet been brought down. Day in and day out the Mowat Government, whenever anything is to be inquired into, but this exceeds the usual bounds. The public accounts are systematically held back until a thorough scrutiny is made and pending questions stand over indefinitely, and for long periods, for want of a quorum. What excuse can any minister offer for delaying a return which has been asked for for two years?—Montreal Gazette.

GLORIOUS SOUTHERN CLIMATE.

One of the remarks provoked by the weather freaks of the present season is that the cattle on the ranges in the south-western states have suffered much more severely from snow and cold than the herds of the Canadian northwest. This is a development which astonishes and annoys our friends across the border, and justifies the confidence which the great majority of Canadians repose in the future of their territories. The south-western ranchers are constrained to admit that their methods will have to be revolutionized. Their herds must be reduced to such proportions that they can receive more care in winter than is now given them. The old whole system of "thin cows till you get fat" has been discredited by the rigors of the glorious climate of Kansas and New Mexico.—Toronto World.

A BRIGHTENING COMET.

A grand spectacle is to be presented, commencing on April 1.

The comet discovered in Paris, Dec. 1, said Prof. Bosc, the director of the observatory, "is showing increasing brightness, and promises to be a grand spectacle. About April 1 the increase will begin to be much more rapid, and by the middle of April the comet will undoubtedly become visible to the naked eye. Two weeks later it will be very much brighter—perhaps at its maximum—and then it will probably be as brilliant a spectacle as the great comet of 1811, which attracted so much attention. The position of the Paris comet—we call it comet, you know, by the name of its discoverer or after the place from which they are first seen—will be much like that of the comet of 1811, and will be visible all night. It will be seen in the western sky early in the evening, as was that of 1811. I will appear very bright, as there will be no moon to detract from its brilliancy. When nearest the earth the comet will be only 12,000,000 miles distant. This will be a nearer approach to the earth than any comet of recent years has made. Another remarkable thing about this comet will be the long period, of which it will retain its brightness—probably from May 1 to May 16. It will thus afford a long time for popular study of its appearance. The comet will then disappear from the view of persons in the northern hemisphere, and will sweep all its grandeur into the eight of people south of the equator. To them it will retain its brightness for a longer time than to observers in the northern hemisphere. It will gradually fade from view and about May 31 will not be visible except as a telescopic object. It will remain within the telescopic view, however, until about August 1—an unusual period of visibility. At the same time," continued the professor, "and under much the same conditions, the comet recently discovered by Barnard is increasing in brightness. It is doubtful, however, whether this comet will become visible to the naked eye to observers in this hemisphere. At about the same time that the Paris comet disappears from our view in the northern sky the Barnard comet will also disappear, and may also be seen by observers south of the equator. It is possible that it, too, may be visible to the naked eye from southern points. The Barnard comet will also remain visible until Aug. 1 or later. The two comets together will constitute the most remarkable conjunction of celestial phenomena noticed for years. Neither comet has a previous recorded appearance."—Albany Express.

THE AUSTIN MURDERERS.

Light Thrown on the Mysterious Crime That Convulsed Austin Society.

AUSTIN, Tex., Feb. 21.—On Christmas Eve two women were murdered in this city and their husbands were arrested. Mr. Hancock, the husband of one victim, was acquitted. James W. Phillips, Jr., the young husband of the other, was remanded. A prominent citizen of unquestioned integrity says that Phillips is a detective made the discovery that Phillips was in the habit of meeting secretly distinguished state politicians at a secluded house, sometimes with another woman, who cooed with another prominent politician, and state officer. He discovered on the night that Mrs. Phillips was murdered that she met this politician, who escorted her home in a closed carriage. In her guarded testimony this woman corroborates the facts related, but she did not ask the name of the politician, who must have witnessed the murder of Mrs. Phillips. This man is a prominent State Officer and an active candidate for the Governorship of Texas. The other man is assistant to the chief of a department. Both are married.

CABLE NEWS.

"Cable."

The oldest and most reliable brand of cigars in the market. Free from all chemicals and artificial flavoring.

"El Padre" Cigars. Universally acknowledged to be the finest 10c cigar manufactured. Don't be persuaded to take other brands. No chemicals or artificial flavoring used.

S. Davis & Sons have moved into their new mammoth factory, the finest of its kind in America. They are the only cigar manufacturers in Canada who manufacture their own cigar boxes and packing cases, which industry gives employment to sixty hands.

Smokers!

Beware of cigars artificially flavored for the purpose of hiding the poor quality of tobacco used in flavored cigars. Insist upon having the old reliable brands—"Cable" and "El Padre."

A trial will convince the most skeptical that S. Davis & Sons' manufacture of cigars are superior in every respect to any in Canada. Prize medals against the world were awarded to S. Davis & Sons, of Montreal, for their manufacture of cigars, at Paris, 1867, Centennial, 1876, Montreal, 1883-88.

A Society of Murderers.

METHUEN, Mass., Feb. 22.—A rich Jew, Isador Black, was assassinated a month ago and his house robbed of $15,000. Two Mexicans, Juan Anguay, a gambler, and Isidoro Gonzalez, a once noted bull fighter, were arrested and made a confession which implicated a dozen other persons, and discloses the existence of a secret society whose members are all murderers and robbers banded together for mutual protection and for the purposes of plunder. The organizers of the band are two Americans, Samuel Williams and Samuel Reid, deserters from the United States Army. They were apprehended and are now in jail.

The Williams Memorial.

Lieut. C. L. Van Straubenzie, D. A. G., is circulating among the commanding officers of the city regiments subscription lists for the late Lieut. Col. Williams memorial fund. It is expected, from the enthusiasm shown, that a very handsome sum will be raised in Montreal. A number of private citizens have announced their wish to subscribe, and the following subscriptions have been already received, without canvassing, in addition to the $50 subscribed by Colonel Oswald: Hon. D. A. Smith, $50; Hon. J. George Stephen, $50; R. B. Angus, $25; Hon. J. J. C. Abbott, $20.—Montreal Star.

"What Say You to a Piece of Roast Beef and Mustard?" Well, there is much to be said. The question being asked of the banqueter at the average boarding house, calls up reminiscences of dire suffering, or, at the least, of a bad cold. I began to think there was no hope for me, and that I must surely die; when like a drowning man catching at a straw, I determined to give McGregor's Peppery Cure a trial. I at once began to improve so rapidly that in two months I was as well as I had ever been in my life. Wm. Evers, Leamington. Sold by J. McKee, druggist. Free trial bottles.

LINES OF THANKS

Respectfully inscribed to Mr. Robert H. Thompson of Chicago, Ill., for the unceasing interest he has taken in myself and my simple life. Many of them he has had reprinted, and sent all over the United States, Canada, England and Scotland. Although he has never seen me or corresponded in a very warm, interesting and frequent.

Sir, time has passed and I am fast away. Our first acquaintance dates three years to-day. For that short space, communications have been two hearts, sustaining thoughts have passed.

In Scottish American, Journal of great fame, "There were you first beheld my humble name, some unseen power endeavored you to mine. While love for me your noble soul entwined, such love as yours no obstacle retard. You searched and found me; through your postcard.

I read it, wondered, read and thought again. At last I saw its import, clear and plain. You found me not with praise nor honored name. Nor in the ranks of high poetic fame, my name and mine I to you revealed. A humble Farmer tilled in the field, your love expressed, caused mine to originate. Blending two hearts two loves reciprocate. Our friendship formed, time hath not yet estranged.

Love kindled then flows, free to-day unchanged. My obscure lot, in your view, was no fault. Your chiefest object was me to exalt. Like leaves in Autumn, scattered over the ground.

Both far and near you spread my name around. Time or space seemed nothing unto thee. Printing or mailing to friends across the sea, To England, Scotland, that dear old loved spot. Through you, my lines are read in many a cot. Throughout this land, young Canada by name; To Rulers and Statesmen you have sent the same.

To all your friends, acquaintances and mates, The length and breadth of the United States. With ardent zeal my name you promulgate. In California and New England state. Over north and south—to men of rank and fame, Beyond the Rockies you have sent my name; In your own city you have spread it over. Like waving sands upon the wild sea shore; Judges and lawyers, bishops, old divines, Merchants, mechanics read my simple lines.

Some hold the theory and conclusions draw That man can't love the man he never saw; Our friendship, Sir, breaks down their flimsy case. We love and never saw each other's face. In thought you saw me, when love threw its dart.

Its power the fulcrum, which propels your heart, Absorbs your thought, till they overflowing move. Towards a stranger, with unwavering love. No false live yours, no selfish motives thine, Not your own name, your chief aim, honor, mine. For free will kindness—I to you impart. The grateful thanks of my true loving heart.

I lack the language, lower and altitude To render you a full share of gratitude. My pen is powerless my thoughts to define. Accept the shadow for the true design. I would possess a cold, ungenerous mind To fail to thank you for your acts so kind. Past correspondence proves well what thou art, A friend sincere, with a kind loving heart.

My heart's true wish—and it is thine I know—As years roll on our mutual love may grow, Unmarred, untrammelled, adoring and adored—Extinguished not until death breaks the cord. WILLIAM TELFORD, Smith, Peterborough P.O., Ontario.

HANCOCK IN THE FIELD

How He Battered the Federal Troops at Gettysburg

An officer who was with Hancock at Gettysburg, but who describes the general's heroism in the field. "On the second day of the fighting Hancock was at Cemetery Heights during the frightful massacre when the rebels cut down the first 150 guns on our line. The air was full of muskets; streams of shot and shell screamed and hissed everywhere; it seemed as though nothing could live under that terrible fire—men and horses were torn limb from limb; cannons exploded one after another in rapid succession, blowing the ground to pieces. The infantry hugged the ground closely and sought every slight shelter that the earth afforded. It was literally a storm of shot and shell, like the fall of rain drops or the beat of hailstones. Those who had taken part in every battle of the war had not seen anything like that consequence, and the better soldiers began to be weary for the result. Hundreds and thousands were stricken down; the shrieks of animals and screams of wounded men were appalling; still the awful roaring sound of flying missiles went on and apparently never would cease. It was then, when the fiercest hearts had begun to quail, the army witnessed one of the grandest sights ever beheld by an army on earth. Suddenly a band began to play 'The Star Spangled Banner' and Gen. Hancock with his staff—Major Mitchell, Capt. Bissham, Parker and Brown with corps flags flying in the hands of Private Wells, appeared on the right of the line, uncovered, and rode down the front of his men to the left. The soldiers held their breath, expecting every moment to see him fall from his horse pierced by a dozen bullets, but still he rode on, while the shots rained and crashed around him, every moment tearing great gaps in the ranks by his side. Every soldier felt his heart thrill as he witnessed the magnificent courage of his general and he resolved to do something that day which would equal it in daring. Just as Hancock reached the left of his line the rebel batteries ceased to play, and their infantry, 18,000 strong, were seen emerging from the woods and advancing up the hill. Hancock knew the artillery fire had been intended to demoralize his men and cover the advance of their infantry who was to make the real attack. Turning his horse he rode slowly up his line from left to right, holding his hat in his hand, bowing and smiling to his troops as they lay flat on the ground. Hardly had he reached the right of the line when the men who, inspired by the courage from their general, could hardly restrain themselves, received orders to attack the advancing rebels. Eighty guns which Hancock had concentrated opened their brass mouths and streams of blue bullets flew from the muzzles of our rifles to the breasts of the Confederates. It was an awful day, and longed for. Of the 18,000 who came in the attack, 5,000 fell or were captured on the hillside. Thirty dead of colors and an immense number of small arms were taken. Hancock was everywhere, riding the storm of bullets as if he were a charmed life. At last, just at the moment of victory, he was seen to reel in his saddle and would have fallen to the ground had he not been helped from his horse. A ball had pierced his thigh, and for a time it was thought his wound was mortal. "Tell Gen. Meade," said Hancock, addressing his aide, Major Mitchell, "that the troops under my command have repulsed the enemy and gained a great victory. The enemy are now flying in all directions in my front." "When the aide delivered this message to Gen. Meade and added that his general was dangerously wounded, Meade said: "Say to Gen. Hancock that I am very sorry he is wounded and that I thank him for myself and for the country for the service he has rendered to-day."

EACH THE OTHER'S KEEPER

Two Violent Lunatics Watch Each Other Until Both Are Cured.

Dr. George W. King, superintendent of the Hudson county lunatic asylum, at Snake hill, reported to the freeholders yesterday a cure he had effected in the case of two parties, Patrick Ryan and John Murphy, for some months the very worst lunatics in the asylum. They were so vicious that it was found necessary to confine them separate in padded cells. No keeper could approach them in safety, and it was impossible to prevent them from destroying their clothing, bedding, and the furniture of the cells. After every other method of treatment had failed Dr. King made an experiment. He put both in one cell. The keepers feared they would tear each other to pieces. Each of the lunatics, however, conceived the idea that he was put in the cell for the purpose of taking care of the other. They sat from morning until night at opposite sides of the small apartment and gazed compassionately at each other. When the doctor called, they were as quiet as if they were perfectly sane. Each possibly had frightened the other into good behavior.

"Well, John," said the doctor, addressing Murphy, "how is Ryan?" "Oh, the poor creature is getting better, sir," was the cool reply. "If you leave him here with me a little longer, I'll have him cured entirely." "And how do you find Murphy?" the physician asked Ryan. "Well, to tell you the truth, sir," was the answer. "I'm afraid he'll never be quite right in his head, but he's not so bad as he was." After the men had been kept thus confined for two months, the doctor reported, they were entirely restored to reason, and were discharged. —New York Sun.

PROPOSED CHANGE IN THE TARIFF. The following is a somewhat clearer statement of the charges proposed by Mr. Morrison, after July 1st, 1896, as far as they affect Canadian interest:—

FREE LIST—ADDITIONS.

The bill provides that from and after July 1, 1896, the following rates of duty shall take effect:—

WOOD.

Sawed boards, plank, deals and other lumber of hemlock, whitewood, spruce, fir and balsam, and other articles of sawed lumber, when planed or finished, for each side so planed or finished, 30 cents per 1,000 feet, board measure.

LEAD, ZINC, ETC.

Lead, in pigs and bars, molten and old re-lead, run into blocks and bars, and old scrap lead, if only to be remanufactured, 14 cents per pound. Lead, in sheets, pipe or shot, 24 cents per pound. Zinc, spelter, or tutenague, in blocks or pure, and old worn out zinc, fit only to be remanufactured, 1 cent per pound; zinc, spelter, or tutenague, in sheets, 2 cents per pound.

SCANDIUM.

Marble of all kinds, in blocks, rough or square, 50 cents per cubic foot; veined marble, sawed, dressed or otherwise, including marble slabs and marble paving tiles, $1 per cubic foot. Stones, free stone, granite and stone and all building or monumental stone, except marble, when hewn, dressed, or polished, 30 per centum ad valorem.

A Dam Given Way

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Feb. 22.—A $30,000 granite dam, 250 feet long, across the Chicopee River two miles above the Chicopee Falls, gave way yesterday afternoon. The accident will cause a loss of $20,000 to the owner.

Chamberlain's Parrot Biting Rooms. Suppers, Luncheons, etc., will be served at all hours.

WATER WORLD WOMEN or Family Hygiene has proved to be one of the greatest blessings of the age. It is a never failing remedy for women's ailments, colds, sprains and bruises. Call on J. D. Tully or a trial bottle and you will use no other.

FROM ALL OVER

Mrs. A. German immigrant, gave Patrick Dozer, of Hamilton, an ugly stab on the back on Friday last.

NATIONAL PILLS is the favorite purgative and anti-bilious medicine, they are mild and thorough.

The Chiboumou miners have great expectations from a rich bar on the Fraser River, lately discovered.

Worms often destroy children, but Freeman's Worm Powders destroy worms, and expel them from the system.

British capitalists are taking a lively interest in the mineral resources of the Thunder Bay and Rainy River districts.

A Crying Evil.—Children are often fretful and ill when worms is the cause. Dr. Low's Worm Syrup safely expels all worms.

The Omaha authorities exhumed the remains of David McEwen and found the body in exactly the same position as before burial.

To REMOVE DANDRUFF.—Cleanse the scalp with Prof. Low's Magic Sulphur Soap. A delightful medicated soap for the toilet.

MURRAY & LAMMANS FLORIDA WATER.—We earnestly urge every purchaser to ask for that which is prepared by Messrs Lammans & Kemp, New York, who are the sole proprietors of the true perfume. All other so-called Florida Waters are only ordinary Cologne.

An Indian agent at Battelford has been placed under arrest for embezzling $400 of Government funds. He is to be tried at Winnipeg.

"BURNS AND SCALDS"—If you are so unfortunate as to injure yourself in this way we can suggest a remedy that will (we speak from experience) soon relieve you of all pain and quickly heal the wound; it costs but twenty-five cents and is sold by all druggists—ask for Perry Davis' Pain Killer.

A BAD BREAKDOWN.—It is a common thing now-a-days to hear one complain of being all broken down with a faint, weary, restless languor, with strength and appetite nearly gone and so well defined cause. This is general debility, which Burdock Blood Bitters promptly relieves, and most invariably cures.

A buyer in Napanee bought a hide from an honest farmer on Thursday last, which, on being opened out, was found to contain 15 lbs. of oil from.

At this season of the year it is very important to have a reliable remedy in the house for such diseases as flux, dysentery, diarrhoea, summer complaint, cholera, cholera morbus, cholera infantum. Such a remedy is West's Pain Killer. Only 25 cents. Sold by J. D. Tully, druggist.

WHAT A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY is Perry Davis' Pain Killer! It not only cures the like of the human family, but is also the sure remedy for horses with colic. It has never been known to fail in a cure of the worst cases; and for sprains, galls, etc., it never fails—try it once. Directions accompany each bottle. Sold by druggists generally.—Kenton County (Ky.) Democrat.

Chinese burglars entered two stores in Victoria last week and helped themselves to old Tom, whiskey, and tobacco to the value of $25.

SEARCHING FOR TROOP.—There is no trouble in ascertaining from any druggist the true virtue of Hagar's Yellow Oil, for all painful and inflammatory troubles, rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, foot-blisters, burns, bruises, sprains, contracted cords, stiff joints, aches, pains and soreness.

IN A DANGEROUS CONDITION.—Any woman for child is in a dangerous condition when neglecting a constipated state of the bowels. There can be no perfect health with out a regular action of this function. Burdock Blood Bitters cure constipation by imparting a healthy tone to all the secretions.

West Lorne and Yarmouth, in the county of Elgin, are overrun with foxes. The township council are to be asked to pass a by-law providing a bounty for each head killed.

A SKINNABLE ITEM.—During the breaking up of winter, when the air is chilly and the weather damp, such complaints as rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, sore throat, croup, and other painful effects of sudden cold, are prevalent. It is then that Hagar's Yellow Oil is found truly valuable as a household remedy.

A WISE CHOICE.—In selecting a remedy for coughs and colds the wise choice is to take one that loosens the tough mucous clinging to the air passages. Such a remedy is Hagar's Pectoral Balsam, which promptly breaks up hard coughs and their troublesome effects.

Lodger Blanchet, a member of a leading French Catholic family of Quebec, has joined the Presbyterian Church, creating a great sensation. He is a nephew of the late Catholic Bishop Baghet, of Oregan, brother of Jean Blanchet, Secretary of State in Quebec, and nephew of J. G. Blanchet, late speaker of the Canadian House of Commons.

NO BLENDING.—There is no blundering in the dark in the action of Burdock Blood Bitters upon the system. It is no scattering shot gun prescription cure-all; but it acts directly upon the four cardinal points of health: the stomach, the liver, the bowels, and the blood, and works its cures in a natural manner through nature's channels.

WEEPING NIGHTS.—Made miserable by that terrible cough, Billet's Cure is the remedy for you. For sale by Ormrod & Walsh, druggists, Peterborough.

RHILONS' CURE will immediately relieve Croup, Whooping cough and Whooping Cough. For sale by Ormrod & Walsh, druggists, Peterborough.

An Age of Discovery.—We certainly ought to appreciate the fact that we are living in an age of progress and discovery, and especially appreciated by all persons who have been afflicted with rheumatism, as West's World's Wonder or Family Liniment is a positive cure for rheumatism. It is invaluable for cuts, sprains, bruises, burns, scalds and all diseases requiring external application. Sold by J. D. Tully at 25 and 50 cents per bottle.

Field Lightning is simply a marvelous rheumatic remedy. I was for two months a cripple, unable to get out of the house from sciatica. One bottle gave me instant relief, and passed me on my feet again. I have driven fourteen miles today (remembering I could not possibly have done were it not for Field Lightning) for the express purpose of securing another lot. So says Wm. Dixon, Genoa, Ont. Only 50 cents per bottle at J. McKee's.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Weething Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once. It produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhoea without arising from teething or other causes. 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Weething Syrup," and take no other kind.

Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 23, 1886.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Y. M. C. A. Bible Class.

The above class will be held to-night at eight o'clock as usual. All young men are invited.

"Work and its Worth."

Is the subject of Rev. Mr. Tiffany's lecture to-night in George Street Church. It was delivered last night in Toronto and was enthusiastically received by an immense audience.

Entertainment.

An entertainment will be held in St. Luke's school room on Monday evening, Feb. 22nd, consisting of songs, readings, and a musical comedy, commencing at 7:30.

Piano Tuning.

Geo. G. Gumprecht is in town for a few days. Orders left at Mr. T. Menzies store or Messrs. Taylor & McDonald's Drug store will be attended to.

Conservative Meeting.

A meeting of representatives of various parts of the West Riding will be held at 3 o'clock to-morrow afternoon in the rooms of the Junior Conservative Club, over Mr. Stethem's store.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district or the twenty-four hours counting from 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—South and west winds, fair, comparatively mild weather.

Personal Telegram.

To Rev. J. T. T. from Mr. Hugh Johnston, B.D., Toronto: "Tiffany a true bold success here, overflowing house and enthusiastic audience."

Come and hear him in George Street Church to-night. Chair taken at 8 o'clock. Admission 25 cents.

Postponement.

The "At Home" which was to have been held at the rectory of St. John's Church on Tuesday evening has been postponed until Thursday evening, Feb. 25th, at half past seven o'clock, on account of the death of Mr. Isaac Robinson.

Peterborough Locks.

The Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Company have decided to send an exhibit of their goods to the Colonial and Indian exhibitions in London, Eng. The exhibit has been selected and may be seen at the office of the works, Simco street, on Friday afternoon.

Rev. Dr. Tiffany.

Lectures to-night in George Street Church on "Work and its Worth." It is certain the lecture is one of the most brilliant speakers a Peterborough audience has ever had the privilege of hearing. It was Dr. Tiffany who was chosen in New York to deliver the address of welcome to the late Dean Stanley on his visit to America. Dr. Tiffany is the present pastor of the largest and most influential Methodist Episcopal church of the city of New York.

An Impressive Sermon.

The pastor of one of the Peterborough churches preached a sermon on Sunday evening that appeared to have taken particular effect on a young man sitting in a front pew. When the service was over this individual, so much was he overwrought, did not actually recognize his own brand new Persian lamb cap. Instead of taking his own he mechanically took possession of that of him who sat next—a cap of a second-hand appearance, with a scalp suggestive of a recent hurried departure of Blackfoot Indians, not to say anything of the condition of the lining. He did not recover consciousness until half past four on Monday morning and then he became alive to the fact that he had made a wretched mistake. Next day he spent in forgetting out the party he had wronged with the intention of making things right. His efforts were fruitless and late in the afternoon he succeeded in again doing his own part.

POLICE COURT.

VIOLATION OF THE LIQUOR ACT.

TUESDAY, Feb. 23.—Timothy Giroux was charged P. C. Pidgeon with having violated the Liquor License Act by selling liquor during prohibited hours on Saturday last. A plea of guilty was entered and a fine of $20 and costs was imposed.

J. E. McIntyre was also charged by P. C. Adams with having broken the law in this respect on the 21st.

Mr. C. A. Weller said that by inquiring into the matter he had found that Mr. McIntyre acknowledged that a guest had had liquor sent to his room. The proprietor had allowed it, not being aware that it was against the law. The case stands over.

ASSAULT.

Walter Squares charged Michael Sweeney, Joseph McDonagh and Patrick Carroll with having committed an assault. On their names being called, the three youthful pugilists ranged themselves in front of the bar, and at the request of the court individually identified themselves. Pat. Carroll, the smallest of the three, about 11 years of age, stoutly declared that he never hit Walter Squares, that he was home at the time, and that he did not know who did the deed. Michael and Joseph said that in response to an invitation delivered to them by Squares' emissary, Dan Cumhen, they went to a certain corner to contest for certain honors with Squares and another. They went, they saw, and they conquered. Squares was laid low and liberally pounded.

The complainant denied in toto what had been said. Pat. Carroll, the other two, and a gang of about twenty boys—

MICHAEL SWEENEY—There was only eight. The COMPLAINANT—And a gang of twenty boys had frequently set on him with various kinds of missiles. He had never sent any challenge whatever and did not wish to fight. The case was allowed to stand adjourned.

BILIARDS.

J. E. McIntyre was charged by P. C. Adams with having infringed on the Billiard License Law, by having allowed billiards to be played in his rooms on the night of the 18th of February. The complainant testified that he had seen a light in the billiard room after 12 o'clock on that night and saw people rolling the balls on the tables.

Mr. Weller submitted that there was not sufficient evidence. That was the hour at which the room was cleaned and scrubbed. Mr. McIntyre, being an early-to-bed man, did not know anything about it. In order to prove the case, direct evidence that the game of billiards was being played was necessary.

The Court held that the case was proven and imposed a fine of $20 and costs. IMPROVING THE POLICE OFFICER. P. C. ADAMS, left flanking the Magistrate, surveyed the numerous faces in the court room and called on Alfred LeDuke to come forth. A little man rose from the midst of the seated crowd and enquired where Alfred LeDuke lived, stating, at the same time, that if the officer would call the right name he would stand before the bar. After a little parley the little man, whose name, it appeared, was Walter instead of Alfred, was persuaded to come up, when the Court informed him that he was charged with having obstructed Officer Adams while in the discharge of his duty, being night watchman at the Oriental Hotel. Walter LeDuke admitted the charge and was fined $20 and costs. He resumed his seat, dryly remarking that the Court had been gracious in making the fine so light.

VIOLATION OF THE LIQUOR LAW.

F. J. & J. J. Daly were charged by P. C. Adams with having committed a breach of the liquor law by having allowed liquor to be sold on their premises during prohibited hours on Sunday, the 21st of February.

P. C. ADAMS and P. C. PIDGEON testified to hearing voices in the bar after 12 o'clock on Sunday night and also to hearing glasses jingle occasionally. Neither had seen any light in the bar. When demanding admittance at the main entrance they heard three taps at the bar door from the inside and then all was still. Mr. W. H. MOORE submitted that the evidence was insufficient. There had been neither direct or prima facie proof, required by the statute before a fine could be imposed. The Court said the case was proved to his satisfaction. Mr. J. J. Daly had been given an opportunity of refuting the evidence given, but did not avail himself of it. A fine of $20 and costs was imposed.

A second charge, laid by P. C. Pidgeon, for having committed a breach of this law on the 16th of February, was taken up, but the evidence was of too weak a character to admit of a conviction.

GENTS' CARDIGAN JACKETS marked down to cost to make room for spring goods at ANDREW McNELL'S, George street.

A Black Item.

A few evenings ago one of the Business College students entered a George Street jewelry store to have a chat with the workers in the precious metal, who were busied with their respective "jobs." Now, those that sit so meekly on their stools in this particular shop, peering into the intricacies of the diamonds and disorders of clocks, are not so meek as their appearance indicate. They have just as keen a relish of a practical joke as any shoe maker that ever lived, and are forever on the watch for a chance to display their genius in this line. By nice turns in conversation the easy balanced movement in a watch soon became the absorbing topic. The unsuspecting student at once complied with an invitation to look at the works through a microscope and after a prolonged work expressed his admiration of the piece of mechanism. While walking down street a friend hailed the student to ascertain what boring school he was now attending. The student had not observed that these friendly fellows in the back shop had blackened the rim of the eyes before heading him for application to the eye.

MERCHANT.—"Oh, no, we're not going to lose Mr. Carey. He's making room for the output of his own new factory, and is selling off his entire stock of imported goods at less than cost."

Consolidation.

The committee to whom the Town Council referred the matter of the consolidation of the town by-laws has not yet met. Councillor Moore, the chairman of the committee, is collecting copies of the consolidating by-laws of other towns and cities so that when the Committee meets a definite plan of action may be readily arrived at. As the by-laws are now, it is difficult to find out how many of the five hundred which have been framed since Peterborough became a town, are now in force. The consolidation of these by-laws will be an undertaking of considerable weight, and it is quite probable that it will be a year before the work will be accomplished. It took three years to consolidate the by-laws of the city of Belleville.

It May be Remembered.

—That there was not a blank at the Police Court this morning.

—That the receipts of this morning's business will be about $30.00.

—That little Pat Carroll pleaded his own case so well that he and his confederates got off.

—That likely large numbers of people will listen to Dr. Tiffany's lecture at the George Street Methodist Church to-night.

—That the second rehearsal of the cantata "Ruth" will be held at St. John's Church to-night.

—That punsters are not the only things that should be set on.

—That those who wear new caps to church should make them serve the purpose of a cushion.

—That the Finance Committee met this afternoon for the transaction of regular business.

—That the curiers at the rink last night were extraordinarily enthusiastic over the game.

HOW DREAMS COME TRUE.

She slipped a piece of wedding cake under the pillow upon her bed.
"I wonder what I shall dream about?" With a happy sigh to herself she said:
"I wonder if ever a dream comes true?"
"I busy thoughts, will you fly away?"
"Mine never did that ever I knew."

"I hope I'll be nice," with a pretty pout, And a little toss of the golden head.
Then she blew the wedding candle out,
And said her prayers, and went to bed.
"I never shall dream if I lie awake!"

"O, waking dreams, ye are there, no doubt,
But the last thought fades into dreamland's realm."
"I wonder—who—I shall—dream about?"

"What did you dream in the canny spell Of the wedding cake?" a fond voice said.
"I—don't remember," O, red, red head.
"What have you done that you hang your head?"

"Two little hands in a strong, firm hold,
Then may I tell my dream to you?
A whisper, a shy voice half afraid—
"Isn't it funny how dreams come true?"

SPECIAL INDUCEMENTS WILL BE GIVEN DURING THE CHRISTMAS AND HOLIDAY SEASON.

George Street, Peterborough, Next Door to the Bank of Toronto.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for the Welland Canal," will be received at this office, from mechanical, skilled, practical contractors, until the arrival of the Eastern and Western mails on TUESDAY, the 23rd of MARCH next, for raising the walls of the locks, weirs, etc., and increasing the height of the banks of that part of the Welland Canal between Port Dalhousie and Thorold.

The works throughout will be let in sections. A map showing the different places, together with plans and descriptive specifications, can be seen at this office on and after Tuesday, the 23rd of February instant, where printed forms can be also had. A like class of information relative to the work will be supplied at the Resident Engineer's Office, 7, Broad.

Parties tendering are requested to examine the locality and bear in mind that the season and circumstances under which the work have to be done render some of them of an exceptional nature.

Tenders will not be considered unless made strictly in accordance with printed forms and, in the case of firms, except where they are attached to the actual signature, the nature of occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm; and further, a bank deposit receipt for the sum of Two Thousand Dollars or more according to the extent of the work to be executed—must accompany the respective tenders, which sum shall be forfeited if the party tendering declines to enter into contract for the work at the rates of prices stated in the offer submitted. The amount required in each case will be stated on the tender.

The deposit receipts thus sent in will be returned to the respective parties whose tenders are not accepted.

This Department does not, however, bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.
By order,
A. F. BRADLEY, Secretary.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1886.

DEVELOPING OUR COUNTRY.

We cannot agree with the Monetary Times that it is reasonable to ask the advocates of the Trent Valley Canal to wait till the practicability of the Hudson Bay route is ascertained. Still less can we agree with its assertion that should the Hudson Bay route prove feasible this canal will not be required to carry the produce of the West. We both hope and believe that the Hudson Bay route will prove feasible, but even if it fulfills the expectations of its most sanguine advocates, we feel convinced that it alone will not be adequate for the movement of the vast produce that may be expected from our North West Territories to any other route. Before the Hudson Bay and Trent Valley routes can be opened there will be ample demand upon the accommodation they will be able to afford. It is an enormous country that has to be provided with means of transport and one outlet will not be sufficient. There are great stretches of country that from their location would find this the preferable route even if that by the Hudson Bay were most completely successful.

And the Trent Valley route has great advantages over all others. Nature herself has done by far the larger proportion of the work, and this has already been supplemented by extensive operations. Comparatively little now remains to be done for its completion, and extensive surveys have progressed so as to make it possible to call for tenders at once, which cannot be said of any other route. Its natural advantages of safety, saving of distance and time, economy of maintenance etc. have been so fully discussed that we need not recapitulate them. And last but not least we have the pledge of the Dominion Ministers that this great national work shall be prosecuted without delay. Since they gave this pledge the work has steadily been carried on and we do not believe it will be stayed by a refusal to grant another appropriation.

In the face of these facts it is not reasonable to ask for delay in the construction of the work which should be carried on to completion forthwith.

THE POINT OF DIFFERENCE.

The London Advertiser says:—"The Peterborough Review complains because we said that Sir John Macdonald will not feel at all pleased with the attitude which his friends have taken in the Local Legislature upon Mr. Fraser's motion."

There it is again! That is a statement of the $30,000 a year cab hire style. Mr. Fraser's motion was not specially referred to, and what we pointed out was, that while the Globe was saying that Sir John Macdonald dictated the motion of the Ontario Opposition, the Advertiser was saying that he would not be pleased with their action.

The Advertiser proceeds to ask:—"Why was the motion of Mr. Solomon White brought forward? Was it not first to white wash the Government for having executed Riel?"

The Government does not need any white wash from the Ontario Legislature for that act. It was the law of the land and the courts established to execute it that executed Riel, and Mr. Sol. White's motion only expressed approval of the act of the courts in that case. Mr. Mowat and his followers refused to say the Riel was justly punished. That is the difference between the Ministerialists and the Opposition. Both voted for a motion recommending the imprisoned halfbreeds for amnesty. The Conservatives also expressed the opinion by their votes that Riel was justly punished, but the Reformers refused to do that. The only difference of opinion was on the question of Riel's punishment.

We owe an explanation to Mr. M. C. Cameron, as we used language concerning him which is capable of being misunderstood. We asked him why he did not oppose Mr. Mackenzie's legislation to establish Colonization Companies, as he thinks so badly of them. We must not be understood as meaning that he could have opposed it by his vote, as he had been turned out of the House on account of the disclosure and corrupt trickery by which he usually obtains a seat having been proved before the judges. But he might have howled his criticisms of Mr. Mackenzie from the platform as he now does his slanders against the Macdonald Administration.

THE Hon. C. F. Fraser maintains that it is right to use money for one purpose that is voted for another. If then he secures the appointment of a Provincial Auditor after his own heart, the rebel employee Fraser for instance, there will be nothing to prevent him from applying part of the appropriation, say for the building of a prison, to the construction of his monument in honor of his hero Riel.

The Rockville Recorder accuses Sir John Macdonald of undue friendship for Riel, while his political friends in Quebec are denouncing him for not being more friendly to that individual.

A prominent member of the church was talking to his pastor the other day about an excellent but somewhat aggressive lady in the parish. After discussing at length on her virtues, he concluded by saying:—"In fact she may be called the salt of the earth." "Yes," responded the clergyman, "and the pepper too."

THE DAILY EVENING REVIEW is delivered to subscribers at ten cents a week.

THE LOCK INDUSTRY.

A Rapid Increase in the Business of the Factory.

SUPPLYING CANADIAN TRADE

THE GOODS MEET WITH PREFERENCE FROM WHOLESALE DEALERS

Two Hundred and Fifty Different Kinds of Locks Made on the Premises—A Large Building Added to Supply Accommodation.

A little less than a year ago the manufacture of locks was commenced in Peterborough. The beginning was made on a small scale, but the developments since are fully up to what the most hopeful could have expected. At the commencement the second floor of the Central Bridge Works was made to provide a huddled accommodation for nearly all the departments of lock making, but from the time that the first order was filled

PROSPECTS BRIGHTENED, and Mr. James Stevenson, who owns the property on which the Bridge Works stand, felt so confident of success in manufacturing on a large scale rather than on a small scale, that he proceeded at once to have a large building erected for the use of the Lock Manufacturing Company. This building he has generously given to the company, free of rent, for a term of five years, and by the action of the Town Council the company will be spared from being interviewed by the tax collector for a term of ten years. Thus far, at least, the company has fared well.

THE NEW BUILDING was built by Messrs. J. J. Hartley, bricklayer, and D. Gamble, carpenter, in the months of July and August of 1885. It is more than ninety feet in length and has a frontage on diameter six from the surface of the floor to a depth of about four feet. It is not into the ground they sink, but into a furnace which has been sunk beneath the ground. When the process of moulding is being undergone a pair of crucibles sit on those circular holes

BOILING COPPER, ZINC, and other ingredients, just as naturally as if they were a tangle of kettle singing songs of family glee on the stove in a farm kitchen. When the metals are fused, the molten brass or bronze metal is poured into moulds of a similar kind to those in the iron moulding shop. When cooled the castings are taken up to the machine shop, where, by liberal application to a rotary brush, on a little pulley from which sprouts myriads of fine wires, the dust and sand which is yet attached is whisked off. The cleaned castings are then taken to the polishing department, a room where some dozen or so emery wheels are all ranged in a row. Here, in the hands of experienced artists, the dullness which still lingers on the face of the casting is removed, and, after contact with the various wheels, terminating with the 'buffer', the bronze or brass casting stands forth a BRIGHT AND SHINING GEM.

The bronze and brass castings are finished in a variety of ways. This is effected by their being dipped into various baths, previous to being polished. But to return to where the moulders were lifting the symmetrically formed iron: the keys and other appurtenances are rudely broken from the main trunk and all are taken into the rolling department. In this room, which is next door to the iron moulding shop, there are several rollers, octagon shaped iron barrels about four feet long and two feet in diameter. The castings, with the mould sand adhering to them, are thrown indiscriminately into one or the other of these barrels, which rapidly revolving, soon break off all little excrescences, round protuberances and brush off all sand, at the same time imparting a preparatory polish to the iron. Then the now presentable locks are conveyed to the machine shop whence the little fittings are ground down to a nicety, the minute holes are drilled into the main body of the locks and iron will render the locks made by the Peterborough company of still better quality. The styles of locks made by the Peterborough Company number about two hundred and fifty, and three pattern makers are employed in fabricating designs for newer and more efficient kinds. It is quite probable, to judge from the present rate of progress, that a man will be able to lock or unlock his door half a block away, or that something will be yet invented to enable a burglar to get into the house during the wee hours of the night without his wife being startled into believing that a burglar is trying to pick the lock on the front door.

THE COMPANY'S CATALOGUE FOR 1886.

The Company have issued, at an expense of about $1,000, an entirely new catalogue, profusely illustrated on every page with designs of their manufactured goods. It contains illustrations of all goods made in the factory—locks, knobs, escutcheons, door bells, bell pulls, sash lifts, etc. This work has entailed a great deal of careful labor on the part of the Managing Director, and it will be found an exceedingly useful and handy catalogue for hardware men, builders, plumbers, and others. It is pleasing to add that the publication of the work has been done by Canadians. With a few exceptions the illustrative cuts were executed by the Toronto Engraving Company, and the artists employed by this firm have done their work so well that the Lock Company have complimented them on the accuracy of their engravings. The printing of the catalogue was entrusted to the Review Printing Company, and we leave the character of the letter press, presswork and bookbinding to speak for itself. The paper on which it is printed is also of Canadian make, being purchased from the Messrs. Brown Bros., Toronto, finely toned and calendered and was made by the Cornwall Paper Co., Cornwall, Ont.

One department not yet touched on—and perhaps an important department as any—is the office. It is conveniently situated in the south end of the second floor, and is approached by a flight of stairs leading from the south end of the main building. Here Mr. Geo. Stevenson, the talented young Secretary-Treasurer, looks after the correspondence and the office business.

THE PETERBOROUGH LOCK MANUFACTURING COMPANY'S WORKS.

Simcoe street of about thirty-five feet. Better to subserve the interests of both parties concerned, the Lock Manufacturing Company have retained the use of the second floor of the Central Bridge Works building, while, in exchange, they have given Mr. W. H. Law, proprietor of the Bridge Works, the use of the first flat of their new building. The company, then, carry on the process of lock making in two of the flats of the new building. The second flat is divided into an office, a lock room and a pattern room, and the third, into a knob fitting room, and as a shipping room. The various departments—original and recently added—are now in full operation, and locks of almost

ALL CONCEIVABLE SIZES, shapes and of the most cunning devices, are being daily made by the scores and shipped to the principal wholesale hardware houses in Canada. The first process in lock making is that of melting the iron and brass in the rough, and moulding it into form. The moulding shops are situated, of course, on the ground flat and occupying a considerable space of ground directly in the rear of the Central Bridge Works. The iron moulding shop is similar in appearance to those of any of the foundries. A blast furnace fed by wood and coke kept roaring for a short time takes the stiffness from the iron, which is previously pyled in chunks and bars on top of the fuel. At the proper time the door of the furnace is opened and the molten metal, at a white heat,

SETTING AND SPECTERING, runs out as if fleeing from a fierce fire within. The moulders with large iron ladles are on the alert. By turns they catch the unnatural flood and from the ladles pour it into the moulds, which have been all put in readiness. After the iron is thoroughly cooled, the moulds are opened and 'gates', much resembling the picture of a deciduous tree in a winter scene, are taken up. On these 'gates' are clustered keys, and the different sorts of mouldings that go to make up the lock. The moulding of brass and bronze metal is carried on in a different method. The brass foundry is situated in the rear of the iron foundry. Two circular holes about two feet in DELICATE TREATMENT are put on where required. The catches and other parts of the lock which need polishing, are introduced to the emery wheel and the desired sheen speedily makes its appearance. The main body of the lock is taken to the japanning department. The iron casting is here coated with japan, or a heavy coat of varnish. Then it undergoes a baking process. A kiln heated to a certain temperature steadily dries and thoroughly hardens the material on the lock. The shell and the contents properly belonging to it next meet in the lock room, where the fittings are put together, the keys belonging to their respective locks picked out and filed, and the common lock complete is made. Silver and nickel plated parts of locks, to obtain their lustre, are dipped in respective solutions in the electroplating department, when, remaining a sufficient length of time in the metallic baths, the parts are taken out and are

DRIED ON A STEAM TABLE. When the locks are all put together they are elevated to the second flat of the main building. At the north end of this flat the common porous iron knob, its neck and circular clasp are put together, the necks and knobs being by an ingenious and rapid process

SOUBRIY SOLDIERED TOGETHER. Locks, knobs, and other smaller adjuncts, are sent to the packing and shipping department, situated at the south end of the third flat, where deft hands carefully pack them away in paper boxes of various sizes, neatly made and nicely labelled.

The business of the factory and the demand for its output has steadily increased since it first opened, and the leading wholesale Canadian dealers have found that Peterborough locks are of as substantial material and fine a finish as those made by the largest American factories. Even now the factory is severely taxed to fill the orders that are coming in, and when a special grade of iron, several consignments of which are on their way from England, the NUMBER OF EMPLOYEES will be largely increased, and the output will be correspondingly larger. The use of this class of COLONIAL EXHIBITION. Just now a sight worth seeing is on exhibition in the company's office. An collection of the manufacture of the establishment is being prepared to be sent to the Colonial and Indian Exhibition, to be held next summer in London, England. The lock factory's exhibit will comprise knobs, locks, escutcheons, fancy store door handles, store door locks, door bells, bell pulls, sash lifts, and other numerous articles.

 MANAGING DIRECTOR—Thos. Brooks, Esq.
 SECRETARY-TREASURER—Geo. Stevenson, Esq.

CABLE NEWS.
 "Cable."
 The oldest and most reliable brand of cigars in the market. Free from all chemicals and artificial flavorings.

"El Padre" Cigars.
 Universally acknowledged to be the finest 10c cigar manufactured. Don't be persuaded to take other brands. No chemicals or artificial flavorings used.

S. Davis & Sons have moved into their new mammoth factory, the finest of its kind in America. They are the only cigar manufacturers in Canada who manufacture their own cigar boxes and packing cases, which industry gives employment to sixty hands.

Beware of cheap artificially flavored for the purpose of hiding the poor quality of tobacco used in flavored cigars. In fact upon having the old reliable brands—"Cable" and "El Padre."

A trial will convince the most skeptical that S. Davis & Sons' manufacture of cigars are superior in every respect to any in Canada.

Prize medals against the world were awarded to S. Davis & Sons of Montreal for their manufacture of cigars, at Paris, 1887, Constantinople, 1876, Montreal, 1883-84.

FOILED FLIBUSTERS.

Disappointed North American Revolutionaries Brought Back to Florida.

KEY WEST, Feb. 22.—The steamer City of Mexico arrived here yesterday in charge of Lieut. Elliott, of the U. S. steamer Galena. There are 30 filibusters on board, including Gen. Delgado and Col. Morn. The City of Mexico has been to Progreso, Belize, Blue Fields, Cien Island and St. Andrew's. It was the intention to land the filibusters at the latter place, but finding it impracticable and being discouraged the officers and crew, except the captain, refused to do further duty. The people of St. Andrew's prohibited them from landing and patrolled the beach with armed forces. The crew were taken in charge by the consular agent, who dispatched a schooner to Colon to notify the United States consul, who communicated with Admiral Jonett, and the Galena was sent to St. Andrew's. All the filibusters except five are foreigners, several Cubans being among them, and an appeal has already been made to friends here for assistance.

An Old Woman Burns to Death.
 FRANKFORD, Ont., Feb. 22.—A lady about 70 years of age, named Gallavan, has been burned to death. She is supposed to have been kindling a fire, as matches were found near the stove, and her dress caught fire. Her body was burned to a crisp. The house was saved.

An Accident on the O. & Q.
 KINGSTON, Ont., Feb. 22.—The express train on the Ontario & Quebec railway, from Montreal for Toronto, met with an accident this evening. When a few miles west of Sharbot lake junction, the tender and four cars left the track, and two of the cars were badly wrecked. Fitzsimmons, the express messenger on the train, is the only person reported injured.

NEW IMPORTS ON WHISKY.

Important Notices of Motion From the Ontario Government

Among the government notices of motion which appeared on the order paper of the Ontario legislature on Tuesday were some important additions and alterations to the fees which the government proposes to levy on the liquor traffic, and which were fore-shadowed in Treasurer's budget speech. The notices are of sufficient importance to print in full. The resolutions state:

That it is expedient that sec. 35 of the Liquor License act of 1884 be repealed and the following substituted: "Over and above the duties for license heretofore imposed by the Liquor License act, or any act amending the same, and any duties which have been or may be imposed by any municipal bylaw, otherwise provide, there shall be paid, in order to the raising of a revenue for provincial purposes, for the exclusive use of this province, the following additional duties thereon, the whole of which shall form part of the consolidated revenue of the province:

Wholesale Licenses

Cities over 2,500

Under 2,500 and other municipalities

Tavern and Shops

Cities over 2,500

Under 2,500

For each beer and wine license, a fee in addition to that provided by 44 Vic. cap. 27, sec. 2, as amended by 45 Vic. cap. 27, sec. 2, of 1881, of one-fourth hereby added to tavern licenses.

That it is expedient that nothing herein contained shall limit the right of the council of any municipality, without submitting the same to the ratepayers, by their bylaw to fix the duty or fees upon tavern or shop licenses, wholly for the use of the municipality to the extent provided by sec. 32 of the liquor license act, and the sum so fixed or to be fixed by any municipal council, may be, in addition to any sum imposed by this section, in and for the respective municipalities above mentioned.

That it is expedient that sec. 26 of the liquor license act of 1884 be repealed, and the following substituted therefor: "The time in which during the present year, 1886, any municipality may require a large duty to be paid for tavern or shop licenses therein, is hereby extended to the twentieth day of April of the said year, and any municipality may vary, amend or repeal any bylaw of such municipality now existing or which may be hereafter passed in respect to license duties as late as the twentieth day of April, during the present year."

That it is expedient that the following license duties, issued under and in pursuance of sub-secs. 4 and 8 of sec. 99 of the Canada Temperance act of 1878 shall hereafter be payable as follows:

Each drugist's or shop license in cities

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

THE FOURTH SESSION OF THE FIFTH

PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

The Speech from the Throne—Satisfactory Position of Affairs—Important Legislation Foreshadowed.

By Telegraph to the Review.

OTTAWA, Feb. 25.—Parliament was opened today with the usual ceremonies. His Excellency the Governor General, having proceeded to the Senate Chamber read in person the following

SPEECH FROM THE THRONE.

Honorable Gentlemen of the Senate

Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

On meeting you again I have the pleasing duty to perform of congratulating you on the successful harvest of last year on the prosperity and substantial progress of the country.

Since the suppression of the insurrection in the Northwest Territories, peace and order have been restored and now prevail. After so serious an outbreak some disquiet and apprehension of the recurrence of those disorders may naturally be expected to linger and it will be the duty of my Government to make such precautionary arrangements as will assure the present inhabitants as well as intending settlers of efficient protection against all disturbance.

I warmly congratulate you on the practical completion of the Canadian Pacific Railway and the announcement that it will be open for the daily carriage of passengers and freight from ocean to ocean in the month of June next. This great work so important alike to the Empire, and the Dominion cannot fail to cause the trade between British Columbia and the other provinces, to ensure the early development and settlement of Manitoba and the Northwest, and greatly to add to the commercial prosperity of the whole country.

Should the negotiations between Her Majesty's Government and that of the United States for the appointment of a joint Commission to adjust what is known as the fisheries question, and to consider the best means of developing our international commerce fail to secure any satisfactory result, you will be asked to make provision for the protection of our inshore fisheries by the extension of our present system of Marine Police.

The measure submitted to you last session for the consolidation of the statutes and for the introduction into the Northwest Territories of a more simple and economical system for the transfer of land, will be again laid before you for consideration and legislative action. The acts of last session will be found to be included in the first of these measures. You will also be asked to consider the expediency of improving the judiciary system which obtains in those territories. Your attention will be invited to the propriety of amending the law relating to the business of the office of queen's printer, and of providing for the more satisfactory working of the present system of government and parliamentary printing.

A numerical census of the Northwest Territories has been taken and a measure based thereon for the representation of the people in parliament will be laid before you.

Other measures will be laid before you and among them will be found bills for providing for a better mode of trial of claims against the Crown, for regulating post office savings banks in British Columbia and the Northwest Territories, for expediting the issue of patents for Indian lands, for the administration of the rights of the Crown in the foreshores of the Dominion, for the establishment of an experiment al farm, and for the amendment of the Chinese Immigration Act.

Get Upmen of the House of Commons:

The accounts for the last year will be laid before you. You will find that the estimate of receipts has been fully realized—but I regret to say that the outbreak in the Northwest has added largely to the expenditure of the country.

The estimates for the ensuing year will be submitted to you. They have been prepared with due regard to economy and the requirements of the public service.

Honorable Gentlemen of the Senate:

Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

I commend these several subjects, and the others which may engage your attention, to your best consideration, and I earnestly trust that the result of your deliberations may under the divine blessing conduce to the advancement and prosperity of Canada.

YOUNG'S POINT.

IMPROVEMENTS.—Mr. C. Young has put a new cast and track in his saw mill, from Wm.
Hamilton's foundry, Peterborough, also new saws in the saw and shingle mill. Customers and others can rely on getting their sawing done satisfactorily. Mr. Young closed his mill down on the 1st of January for the winter, but was compelled to start work again owing to the rush of customers' work to his mills.

THE GRIST MILL.—Our genial friend D. Mc-Lean is making things hum in his line of business. He keeps from three to four teams engaged drawing flour and feed to the back country.

STEAMER FAIRY.—Mr. P. P. Young, of this place has purchased the Steamer Fairy and has intended having them thoroughly fitted up for the coming season's work.

had been a miserable sufferer from dyspepsia and tried all known remedies and the best of medical skill of my acquaintance, but still grew worse, until unable to eat anything without great suffering, or do any kind of work. I began to think there was no hope for me, and that I must surely die; when like a drowning man catching at a straw, I determined to give Dr. Doan's Speedy Cure a trial. I at once began to improve so rapidly that in two months I was as well as I had ever been in my life.—Wm.
Evers, Leamington. Sold by J. McKee, drug-into the interior of Russia because they administered the Catholic sacrament to Greek churchmen. The monasteries are almost deserted of friars.

GREECE SUBSIDIES.

LONDON, Feb. 24.—Lord Rosebery, foreign secretary, has received from Sir Horace Rumbold, the British minister at Athens, a telegram announcing the formal submission of Greece and stating that Premier Delagris will prepare a protest to the powers that Greece submits only to the force of the majority.

BOGUS MEDICAL DIPLOMAS.

BERLIN, Feb. 24.—The North German Gazette says: "The prosecution is imminent of numerous Germans who style themselves doctors on the strength of diplomas purchased in America.
There are 3400 such doctors in Berlin alone."

HOME RULE SCHEME.

LONDON, Feb. 24.—The Standard says: "The Under Secretary for Ireland has submitted a scheme for Home Rule to the Government."

A BANK SUSPENSION.

LONDON, Feb. 24.—A despatch from Adelaide says the Commercial of South Australia, the head office of which is at Adelaide, has suspended payment.

KENE

From Our Own Correspondent.

KENE CARNIVAL.—The second grand carnival took place on Wednesday evening last and was without exception the greatest event ever held in this place. Music was furnished by an excellent string band. Crowds were in from all directions and all enjoyed themselves greatly. The judges had great difficulty in awarding the prizes. Great amusement was created by the races, especially the barrel race.

A MAJOR PLAY.—A curling match was played by the following rinks:
ALLAN DALE. KENE
Robt. McNeil
J. D. Dinale
Dunc. McNeil
Jeffrey Dinale, skip
Alex. Campbell, skip?
After the match the players enjoyed a supper at Keene Hotel which was served in Mick's usual style.

A COMING MATCH.—A match is being arranged between Campbell and Keene Clubs on Friday, Feb. 26, in the Keene rink.

CARNIVAL NOTES.—Through an accident on the part of someone the following names of those in costume were overlooked:—Miss Kate E. McFarlane, Lone Star; Bella E. McFarlane, French House Maid; Nellie Cummings, Pet of the Regiment. At all future carnivals all those in costume will be expected to leave cards with their names and also the name of their character with the doorkeeper to ensure a report.

CURLING MATCH.—The match between Campbell and Keene clubs has been arranged for Friday, Feb. 26th.

PISTOL SHOT IN PARLIAMENT.

The sensation which stirred the French Chamber of Deputies.

PARIS, Feb. 25.—A strange man in one of the galleries of the chamber of deputies arose excitedly this afternoon, drew a revolver, fired it twice with downward aim and then coolly threw a letter toward M. Clemenceau. The man was quickly seized and hurried off by the police. When the excitement had subsided a flattened bullet was found at the feet of the president of the chamber. The prisoner said he was a soldier who had been so ill-treated by his superiors and ignored by the officers of justice, that he had resorted to the desperate expedient of creating a sensation in the chamber of deputies to secure attention to his grievances. He gave his name as Puer, and said he was an officer in the French army. He asserted that the letter which he threw towards Clemenceau contained an offer to give to the government the names of the buyers of Metz. The excitement caused by the shooting lasted for a long time and affected the deputies as much as it did the gallery. When the man who fired the shot was first seized he exclaimed, "I have written to Clemenceau; he knows what it means." This of course was not understood by those who heard it, but added to the general confusion. Investigation showed that both bullets were fired into the air and not at any person on the floor occupied by the deputies. The letter which the prisoner cast at M. Clemenceau was found and delivered into the custody of the president of the chamber.

Narrow Escape from Death.

HALIFAX, N. S., Feb. 25.—Hector McDougall, M. P., for Cape Breton county, had a narrow escape from being drowned on Monday night. He had left his home at Christmas Island, and was on his way to Port Hawkesbury, en route for Ottawa, driving on the ice on the Bras d'Or lake. It was at night time. Mr. McDougall remonstrated with the driver for the pace at which he rattled along, but in vain, and suddenly there was a crash, the team and passengers were partially submerged and the whole crowd were in great danger for their lives. Fortunately they were in the neighborhood of houses, the alarm was raised, assistance obtained and the team rescued from its perilous condition. They had learned that a few yards ahead of them was open water, forty feet deep. There was a narrow escape.

Will Not Surrender.

EL PASO, Texas, Feb. 25.—General Crooks and Geronimo met on Tuesday. General Crooks demanded his unconditional surrender. Geronimo refused to give himself up and left for his camp. It is not known what his movements will be.

FROM ALL OVER

The commercial depression in Stockholm has reached a crisis. The gravity of the situation has not been paralleled since the panic of 1857.

NATIONAL PILLS is the favorite purgative and anti-bilious medicine, they are mild and thorough.

It is officially announced that her Majesty will hold two drawing-rooms in person at Buckingham Palace on the 4th and 23rd prox.

Worms often destroy children, but Freeman's Worm Powder destroys worms, and expel them from the system.

A CHRYING EVIL.—Children are often fretful and ill when worms is the cause. Dr. Low's Worm Hyrup safely expels all worms.

A basis of union of the Montreal Board of Trade and the Corn Exchange under the title of "The Board of Trade" has been arrived at.

To REMOVE DANDRUFF.—Cleanse the scalp with Prof. Low's Magic Sulphur Soap. A delightful medicated soap for the toilet.

MURRAY & LAMMANS FLORIDA WATER.—We earnestly urge every purchaser to ask for that which is prepared by Messrs Lamman & Kemp, New York, who are the sole proprietors of the true perfume. All other so-called Florida Waters are only ordinary Colognes.

Mr. Henry Sugden Evans, analyst of the Inland Revenue Department, Ottawa, died suddenly in New York on Wednesday morning of pneumonia.

"HURTS AND SCALDS."—If you are so unfortunate as to injure yourself in this way we can suggest a remedy that will (we speak from experience) soon relieve you of all pain and quickly heal the wound; it costs but twenty-five cents and is sold by all druggists—ask for Perry Davis' Pain Killer.

A BAD BREAKDOWN.—It is a common thing now-a-days to hear one complain of being all broken down with a faint, weary, restless languor, with strength and appetite nearly gone, and no well defined cause. This is general debility, which Burdock Blood Bitters promptly relieves, and most invariably cures.

Several of the prisoners who received short sentences for complicity in the Northwest rebellion are to be released immediately, to enable them to do their spring seeding.

What a wonderful discovery is Perry Davis' Pain Killer! It not only cures the life of the human family, but is also the sure remedy for horses with colic. It has never been known to fail in a cure of the worst cases (and for sprains, galls, &c., it never fails—try it once. Directions accompany each bottle. Sold by druggists generally.—Kenton County (Ky.) Democrat.

Hyndman, Champion, Williams and Burns the Socialist leaders who are accused of having incited the riots at Trafalgar Square and Hyde Park, were committed for trial.

SEARCHING FOR PROOF.—There is no trouble in ascertaining from any druggist the true virtue of Hagar's Yellow Oil, for all painful and inflammatory troubles, rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, frost bites, burns, bruises, sprains, contracted cords, stiff joints, aches, pains and soreness.

IN A DANGEROUS CONDITION.—Any man, woman or child, is in a dangerous condition when neglecting a constipated state of the bowels. There can be no perfect health with out a regular action of this function. Burdock Blood Bitters cure constipation by imparting a healthy tone to all the secretions.

It was decided at a meeting of the Parks Committee in Toronto, to petition the City Council for the immediate establishment of a system of parks and boulevards in the city.

A REASONABLE ITEM.—During the breaking up of winter, when the air is chilly and the weather damp, such complaints as rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, sore throat, croup, and other painful effects of sudden cold, are prevalent. It is then that Hagar's Yellow Oil is found truly valuable as a household remedy.

A WISE CHOICE.—In selecting a remedy for coughs and colds the wise choice is to take one that loosens the tough mucous clinging to the air passages. Such a remedy is Hagar's Peppermint Balsam, which promptly breaks up hard colds and their troublesome effects.

Vol Villers, D.A.G. of No. 3 military district, has been notified by Major-General Middleton that he will not be removed from the district, notwithstanding that his term of five years has expired.

No BLINDING.—There is no blinding in the dark—in the action of Burdock Blood Bitters upon the system. It is no scattering about gun prescription, no cure-all; but it acts directly upon the four cardinal points of health: the stomach, the liver, the bowels, and the blood, and works its cure in a natural manner through natural channels.

RIPEPLESS NIGHTS, made miserable by that terrible cough, Whitt's Cure is the remedy for you. For sale by Ormond & Walsh, druggists, Peterborough.

CATARH CURED, health and sweet breath cured by Whitt's Catarrh Remedy. Price 50 cents. Nasal Injector free. For sale by Ormond & Walsh druggists, Peterborough.

J. D. Tully, druggist, will gladly inform any one inquiring of him of the wonderful results of Whitt's Cough Syrup. It is an unfailing cure for all throat and lung diseases, coughs, colds, hoarseness, influenza, consumption in its early stages, and whooping cough. Price 25c, 50c, and $1 per bottle.

had been a miserable sufferer from dyspepsia and tried all known remedies and the best of medical skill of my acquaintance, but still grew worse, until unable to eat anything without great suffering, or do any kind of work. I began to think there was no hope for me, and that I must surely die; when like a drowning man catching at a straw, I determined to give McCreag's Speedy Cure a trial. At once began to improve so rapidly that in two months I was as well as I had ever been in my life.—Wm. Avera, Leamington. Sold by J. McKee, druggist. Free trial bottles.

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 26, 1886.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Cold Weather.

The Rev. V. Clement's self-registering thermometer recorded 41° below zero on Thursday night.

Thirty-six Dozen, Not Six.

It was thirty-six dozen bottles of Pine Tar Cordial, not six, that has been sold by Mr. Nugent during the past three months, or 432 bottles altogether.

Thoroughbred Stock Sale.

The sale of thoroughbred short-horn stock at Mr. Wm. Collins' farm on Wednesday, which was conducted by Mr. Charles Stapleton, was largely attended, many being present from a distance. The bidding was good and fair prices were obtained.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district or the twenty-four hours counting from 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Strong west and north-west winds, decreasing by night, fair cold weather.

No Business.

Mr. Jas. Stevenson, J. P., presided at the Police Court this morning. There were four cases on the calendar, two for performing manual labor on Sunday, one for a breach of the Liquor License Act, and one for obtaining liquor during prohibited hours. The cases were all adjourned till Monday.

Religious Tract Society.

A meeting of the Committee of the above society was held in the Y. M. C. A. rooms on Thursday evening. It was decided to hold the annual meeting of the society in the Y. M. C. A. Hall on Thursday night, 4th March, to be addressed by the local minister. The Committee for the coming year was nominated, and will be elected at the annual meeting.

P. A. A. A.

An attractive comedietta will be presented in Bradburn's Opera House at an early date, under the auspices of the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association. Even in this respect one of the principal rules of the Association will be adhered to—the actors and actresses who are to take part will be all amateurs. Steady rehearsals are now the order of the evenings. Doubtless the play, when presented, will draw a large house.

The New Firm.

The notice of the change of proprietors of the Riverside Planning Mills published in the Review contained an error or two which it is well to correct. It was from Mr. Thos. McKee that Messrs. Kincaid & McWilliams purchased the business, and they will carry on the business as before. The members of the new firm are thoroughly acquainted with every part of the business, and all orders entrusted to them will receive prompt attention.

Personal.

Mrs. Chambers, who left town a short time ago to go to Montreal, has arrived in that city and is engaged in the study of operatic music under the direction of an Italian professor who is at present in Montreal. Mrs. Chambers will be absent about three months.

Miss Eliza Johnston will, during Mrs. Chambers' absence, assume the position of leading soprano in the Charlotte Street Methodist Church choir.

On Thursday evening Miss Annie Dalaney made her departure for Boston, Mass., where she will attend the Conservatory of Music for a term, devoting special attention to voice culture. A party was given at Mr. T. Dolan's residence on Wednesday night at which she was the guest of the evening.

Mr. Archie McDonald, who has been attending the Conservatory of Music, Boston, for some months, is prosecuting his studies with considerable success. His fine tenor is being much developed.

The many friends of Mr. Heathfield, organist of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church, will regret to learn that he is still suffering severely from a distressing attack of bronchitis.

Mr. Fred Bell has acted in the capacity of organist for Mr. Heathfield for several Sundays, and it is probable that he will continue to do so until Mr. Heathfield is about again.

The Hand's Cunning.

A very fine specimen of cabinet making is to be seen in the workshop in connection with Mr. A. Clegg's furniture store. The piece of work is the pulpit for the new St. Andrew's Church. It is made of birch, accurately carved by hand, panelled in the front and ornamented by walnut carvings which form at regular distances into pendant trefoil foliations. The work is entirely done by hand, and is a piece of handwork on which the maker, Mr. Robert Sharlock, may well look on with pride.

"At Home."

On Thursday evening an "At Home" was given at the Rectory. There was a goodly number in attendance, and all seemed to enjoy themselves heartily. During the evening Mrs. Lewis, Mrs. G. A. Smith and Miss M. Beck gave piano solos and the Misses Dennison, two piano duets. Mrs. R. H. Dennison and Mr. Newbold each contributed vocal solos. At half-past nine o'clock refreshments were served, and the company separated in about an hour afterwards. The proceeds, which will be donated in the organ fund, amounted to $19.05.

A Senation in Napanee.

A short time ago the action of our two police relieved Peterborough of several undesirable inhabitants. According to the Belleville Intelligencer they went to Belleville, but they were informed that that city was not anxious to retain them, and they went further east to Napanee. On Tuesday night the police took possession of her premises and arrested herself in that town, and a man was also captured at the same time. The Intelligencer states that he was the proprietor of a paper in Napanee, and when this became known a sensation was caused.

Curlers' Congress.

A six rink match between the Granites, of Toronto, and Peterborough curling clubs, is in progress at the Charlotte street rink this afternoon. At three o'clock the Granites were slightly ahead in the all-round score. The names of those composing the rinks are as follows:—

PETERBOROUGH.
No. 1 Rink.	H. B. Merrick, Geo. Walker, R. S. Davidson, W. G. Ferguson, skip
No. 2 Rink.	E. B. Edwards, J. Connal, W. H. Bodden, Geo. Dunstford, skip

Equine Excitement.

Today at a few minutes after eleven o'clock a team attached to Mr. Harry Drake's sleigh started out from Messrs. Lochart & Chown's yard, George street, and before the driver was aware of their surreptitious departure the pair were tearing down the street. They crossed over to Water street, down Hunter street, flew up Chambers street, crossed over to George street again, and came down for the second time. They struck a furious gallop along the west sidewalk, but by colliding with a post opposite Smart's music store, they were brought to a momentary standstill. There three or four men ran out in the street and commenced waving their hands. Mistaking the good intentions of these individuals, the runaways again took to their heels, upset the sleigh and dragged it for a short distance, when another interesting post liberated them and held the sleigh fast. Freed from the sleigh they ran better-skater down street. A pair of farm horses which had stood meekly weathering the heavy wind till now, tied to a post near Messrs. A. L. Davis & Co.'s book store, looked with envy on the frolic their town cousins were enjoying, and they, too, determined on having a piece of the fun. They broke away from their mooring, and were making fine headway. They had already given the signal to another when an electric light pole at the corner of Hunter street caught them and whirled them around. The two heavy draughts then menaced the fine plate glass front of Mr. J. McClelland's jewellery store. The sleigh to which they had been attached also lovingly clasped a post, but the heavy whiff-trees and double-tree rattled at their heels. They came directly towards the front of the store, but the appendages of the harness misled their mark and happily struck the iron frame work of the window instead of the plate glass. One of the horses fell but was quickly jerked to its feet again by the other. The two only sent a few yards up Hunter street when they straddled on the electric light pole and were captured. The horse attached to Mr. A. Hall's express sleigh, which caught the signal given by the farm horses, was by this time dashing along down George street, most successfully dodging several rigs that lay in the way. Mr. Carter's express horse, which was standing at the front of his grocery, tried hard to join in the fun, but its excitement was quelled, preventing anything serious happening. Mr. Drake's horses were caught on Simcoe street, and Mr. Hall's horse was laid hold of near the Canadian Pacific Railway station. The sleigh which had been overturned on the way down was misnamed a dash-board. Mr. Drake's sleigh suffered similar damage, but the farmers' sleigh was not much the worse.

Musical Organization.

The Redpath Company, of Boston. The fifth season. The performance. Will give one of their refined and artistic Concerts in the Opera House on Wednesday, March 3rd, under the auspices of the Ottonian Lodge of Oddfellows.

A Narrow Escape.

A horse tied in front of Messrs. T. Dolan & Co.'s dry goods store at about eight o'clock on Thursday evening took fright at the noise and din created by the Salvation Army while out on parade. When the Army was coming up behind, the horse snapped the halter in two and made a dash across the street, sweeping by within a few inches of a woman and child who were walking along the crossing. By the merest chance they escaped unhurt. The horse was caught before it had gone many yards up street.

The Deputation's Date.

Some confusion seems to have arisen as to the date upon which the Trent Valley Canal Deputation will meet at Ottawa. The date decided upon is Thursday, March 11th. The liberal arrangements made with the Canadian Pacific Railroad—return tickets for a single fare—and the equally liberal arrangements which will doubtless be made with the Grand Trunk, together with the importance of the canal to this section of the country, should ensure a large and very influential deputation.

GENTS' CARDIGAN JACKETS marked down to cost to make room for spring goods at ANDREW McNEIL'S, George street.

Evening Social.

Quite a number from town attended an evening social given on Thursday evening at the residence of Mr. George Stewart, Ottonabee. When they arrived there they found the spacious house filled to overflowing with the good people from nearly every part of the township. The evening was one of enjoyment to all, and was a genuine success in every respect. Miss Lillie Dickson and Miss Sophia Cameron, from Peterborough, gave vocal solos. One of the sleighs, when coming back to town, tipped over and spilled its occupants on the roadside; but none being hurt all gathered themselves up, righted the sleigh and climbed in again, enjoying rather than otherwise, the little incident.

Knights of Labor.

The organization of a branch of the Knights of Labor in Peterborough, which was mooted about one year ago, has taken definite shape. At a meeting which was held in one of the parlors in the Grand Central Hotel on Thursday evening there were about thirty persons representing the labor interests. The roll was opened and a membership list liberally subscribed. Mr. Croly being appointed secretary pro tem. The election of officers then took place. Those filling office are:—

MASTER WORKMAN.—James Bogus.
 WORTHY FOREMAN.—Geo. Ball.
 TREASURER.—W. J. Devlin.
 SECRETARY.—J. O'Brien.
 FINANCIAL SECRETARY.—J. J. Croly.
 The secretary was authorized to communicate with Mr. March, President of the Toronto Trades Union Council, to invite him to come to Peterborough to organize the branch of the Knights of Labor here at an early date. A committee was appointed to see after details, and the meeting adjourned.

Shot for his Trouble.

LONDON, Feb. 25.—Last night Bill Shrimpton and other roughs, besides a couple of respectable women, got acquainted with a farmer named Neil Munro, got him drunk and all hands about 11 o'clock reached the house of Wm. Monks, a peaceably inclined man about 38 years old and a member of the Salvation Army. Here a couple of the roughs alighted and knocked at the door. In reply to the demand, "who there," they answered, "we've got some Salvation issues here." Monks refused to open the door, and with an oath Shrimpton kicked in a panel. The old man placed the muzzle of a gun through the aperture made in the door, and fired, the charge entering Shrimpton's body. He dropped with a howl of pain and was picked up and driven home by his companions. Dr. Gardner pronounced the wound serious though not necessarily fatal. A couple of constables proceeded to Monks' house and arrested him.

GENTS' LINED KID GLOVES marked down to cost to make room for spring goods at ANDREW McNEIL'S, George street.

LONDON, Feb. 25.—Hudsonman, Champion, Williams, and Burns, the Socialist leaders, have been ordered to appear as witnesses next Saturday, when their case is to be called for final hearing. They expect to obtain from Sir Edmund Hardgrove testimony tending to show that the "Folgar square riots" owed their start and progress more to the inefficiency of the police than to any intention contained in the speeches of the orators of the day.

SHILOH'S CURE will immediately relieve Croup, Whooping Cough and Bronchitis. For sale by Ormond & Walsh druggists Peterborough.

An Age of Discovery.

We certainly ought to appreciate the fact that we are living in an age of progress and discovery, this is especially appreciated by all persons that have been added with rheumatism, as West's World's Wonder or Family Liniment is a positive cure for rheumatism. It is invaluable for cold, sprains, bruises, burns, boils and all diseases requiring external application. Sold by J. D. Tuohy at 25 and 50 cents per bottle.

"What Say You to a Piece of Roast Beef and Mashed Potatoes?"

Well, there is much to be said. The question being asked of the banqueter at the average boarding house, calls up reminiscences of those delightful times when the roast beef and potatoes were served with a dash of the old-fashioned butter and a sprinkling of the old-fashioned salt. The banqueter, in such a case, would use McGee's Speedy Cure, a sure and effective remedy for dyspepsia, constipation and all diseases of the stomach and liver. Sold by J. McKee. Trial bottles free.

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1886.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

To-Night.

The usual young men's meeting will be held to-night in the Y. M. C. A. rooms at 8 o'clock. It is open to all young men.

Y. M. C. A. Convention.

The delegates to the recent convention at Hamilton will report concerning it at the meeting in the Rooms on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. All young men are cordially invited to attend.

The Assassins.

The assassins, Messrs. McGrath and Albridge, are now at work in their official capacity. They have almost finished the assessment of the property in No. 1 ward, and are now in No. 3 Ward. No. 4 Ward will next be taken, and they will finish up in No. 2.

Magnificent Flowers.

The Lindsay Post says:—"Taking advantage of the soft-weather the end of last week Mr. S. Perrin got in a consignment of flowers, among which was some magnificent calla lilies. The latter were very much admired, being in full bloom. The consignment came from F. Mason's hot house at Peterborough."

Visiting Carters.

Several of Toronto's leading citizens figured in the curling match played on Friday afternoon in the Charlotte street rink. Messrs. D. E. Wilkie, cashier of the Imperial Bank, R. H. Bellhouse, cashier of the Dominion Bank, Robt. Jaffray, well known in railway circles, A. R. Carmichael, of the Toronto Observatory, and several leading wholesale merchants from the Queen City, were with the Granites.

The Hexagonal Match.

The six sided match between the Granites of Toronto and Peterborough Curling Clubs, played in the Charlotte street rink on Friday afternoon, resulted in a victory for the Peterboroughs with a fair margin to the good. On the arrival of the Granites at noon they were met by a number of the Peterboroughs and driven to the rink, where dinner was served in the rink dining room. Play was commenced at shortly after one o'clock, and terminated at about five. The rink was in very good condition and the play was interesting throughout. At the conclusion of the match lunch was partaken of, and a drive was next in order. A number of sleighs were filled and the jolly party drove through the town, visiting various places of interest. The visitors left on the evening Canadian Pacific train. The score is as follows:—

A Rich Treat.

Arrangements have been made to secure a visit to Peterborough from the eminent Scotch eloquist, S. B. Vallance, F. S. B., London, Approved Master, Glasgow University, who will give one of the memorable, pathetic and dramatic lectures at Peterborough's Hall on Monday, March 3rd. Of Mr. Vallance the Montreal Review says:—"He manages his Irish brogue with elegant effect, and we were in the beautiful, soft West country speech."

Evangelistic Services.

The services being held in the George St. Church are proving to be productive of much good. On Sabbath last many of the Sunday school scholars were evidently brought under the wholesome influence of the truth, while during the three weeks of evening meetings over 50 adults have presented themselves as members of Christ. These services will be continued another week. In the absence of the pastor, who goes to Niagara to preach anniversary sermons, the Rev. A. Browning will occupy the George Street Church pulpit on Sunday. Mr. Browning is said to be especially adapted for revival work. Mr. Torvell will have charge of the meetings during the week.

The Market.

Considering the cold and blustery weather there was a fair attendance at the market this morning. Outside butchers were on hand in full force, and piles of different kinds of meat were offered. Beef sold from $3 to $3.50 per cwt.; pork, at from 7 to 8 cents per pound; mutton, at from 6 to 8 cents per pound. The butter and egg market was actively attended and high prices, as a natural consequence, ruled. Eggs sold at 20 cents per dozen; butter, 22 cents per pound; turkeys, $1.25 and $1.50 each; and chickens 80 to 70 cents per pair. Grain hay and wood were offered in large quantities at prices unchanged.

Cold Weather.

The Rev. V. Clement's self-registering thermometer recorded 15° below zero on Friday night.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Moderate winds, fair weather, stationary or slightly higher temperature.

Trade from Toronto.

In the report of the meeting of Thursday afternoon of the Board of Works, Toronto, published in the Mail, there is the following:—"Tenders were opened for the construction of iron footpaths on each side of the King street Don bridge. The tender of the Central Iron Bridge Company was adopted."

The Central Iron bridge Company referred to in the Central Bridge Works of Peterborough.

Personal.

Mr. Ellis, the energetic business manager of the Barber & Ellis Company of Toronto, called at the Review office yesterday. He stole out for a holiday with the brother members of the Granite Curling Club, and to help them defeat our Club at "the roarin' game." Mr. Ellis is generally considered the hardest man in the country in pushing envelopes and stationary goods, but he owns up he got badly left yesterday, in pushing the "stance" with our laddies. The Oshawa Herald copied the item from the Review regarding the purchase of a plating mill here by Messrs. Kincaid and McWilliams and added:—

"The many friends in Oshawa of the above gentlemen will be pleased to learn of their having secured this mill, and as they are both practical and skilled workmen we have no doubt they will receive a large share of patronage and will give entire satisfaction."

Evening Entertainment.

An entertainment was given in Bradburn's Opera House on Friday evening, under the auspices of the Saved Army, entitled "A pre-concerted choral concert." Mr. Geo. B. Sproule occupied the chair. Mr. Jos. McClelland, of the Trumpet and several army officers occupied seats on the platform. The entertainment was prefaced by singing one of the army songs, and by prayer by Divisional Capt. Must. The chairman then made a few remarks. He said that it was now about two years since the Saved Army came to the town of Peterborough. During that time, he claimed that God had made it a means of great good community. He said this because he knew it to be a fact. The Saved Army had been the means of effecting good in his own individual case, and in that of many others of his own personal acquaintance. The Army was prospering here now, as much as at any time; converts were being made every week, and those who were made were made in coolness and deliberation, they received lasting good. Those who were acquainted with church work knew that more good was done in a small meeting than a large one. The Army was here, it was soundly established, and he had every hope of its prosperity, and that it would be the means of a great good in the future as in the past. The entertainment followed consisting of recitations, songs, duets, choruses and addresses. The choral singing by about twenty children was very pleasing. The choruses by the Army soldiers would have been more interesting if not accompanied by the tambourines. Divisional Capt. Must, Mr. McClelland, Capt. Stubbs and Capt. Mason, took part in the entertainment. The attendance was fairly large.

The Hexagonal Match.

The six sided match between the Granites of Toronto and Peterborough Curling Clubs, played in the Charlotte street rink on Friday afternoon, resulted in a victory for the Peterboroughs with a fair margin to the good. On the arrival of the Granites at noon they were met by a number of the Peterboroughs and driven to the rink, where dinner was served in the rink dining room. Peterborough wins by 17 shots. The Granites have been particularly successful this season, being rarely defeated, and having won the Ontario Tankard. The Peterboroughs can claim a certain degree of credit for putting together so tidy a score when pitted against such opponents.

That Battle.

Soldier Todd Webb is justly indignant at the absurd remarks made by the Examiner in regard to the finding of a lady's bustle in the Army barracks. He doesn't deny having come into possession of the article of apparel referred to but hopes that in the future the Examiner will speak the truth. It was not four bags he found, it was five, and they were not filled with sawdust either. Some of the boys had found the thing (or things) under a seat, and were playing baseball with its sectional parts. As officer in charge of the door it was his bounden duty to correct all indecorum, and he forthwith confiscated the instrument. Upon minute examination he found the sections were filled with torn up newspapers, mixed with strips of calico that had presumably done good service in the dresses of both mother and daughter. Referred to the Anti-Sawdust Association! How ridiculous, he says.

It May be Remarkable.

—That it is a very good thing to scatter smiles as we pass through the world.
—That it would be a better thing if the smiles were disposed with for the next few days and asbes, or sand, or something of the kind, were substituted—the sidewalks are awful.

—That the driver of that rig containing "socialists" says it is the first time in his life he ever was "tipped" by a pleasure party.

—That the long contest at the Charlotte street rink yesterday afternoon is very interesting.

—That the Committee on Appointments recommended Capt. Cooper as Chief of Police, at a recent session.

—That "Work and its Worth" will be re-discussed at the Opera House shortly.

—That the Knights of Labor will then receive their coronets.

—That a meeting of the Town Council will be held on Monday night.

—And that a meeting of the Board of Education will be held the night after.

Sad Affliction.

The Rev. Wm. Joliffe, of Bloomfield, formerly pastor of the Bible Christian Church in Peterborough, has suffered sad bereavements in the death of two members of his family, which are thus noticed in the Bowmanville News:—

"The many friends of the Rev. W. Joliffe, so well known here—will sympathize with him and his family in the sad afflictions which have recently fallen upon them. Only two weeks ago we saw an account of the accidental death of his little grandson at Ottawa; and this week we have to announce the death of his second son, L. G. Joliffe, of London, Ont. Lucius, with his brother, attended our school during the time that his father was stationed here some fourteen years since. Both of them were exemplary young men, and universally respected by all who had the pleasure of their acquaintance, and this sad intelligence is lamented by a large circle of warm friends. The London Advertiser, of Wednesday says:—'Mr. L. G. Joliffe, a former well known resident of the city, died here Monday, at a short illness. He was a young man who had just returned, and was the son of Rev. Wm. Joliffe, of Bloomfield. (Deceased was a member of St. John's Lodge, 2014, and of St. John's Chapter, No. 3. A widow and three small children are left to deplore his loss.'"

Another Smash.

While W. J. Mason's grocery express was being driven along London street at half past four o'clock on Friday afternoon a piece of board, which lay in the street, was struck by the sleigh runners and thrown on the horse's heels. The animal started off briskly down London street to Harvey street, but was kept pretty well under control by the driver, who succeeded in getting his charge turned again. The blood was up, however, and the driver's stopgatch was brought into requisition. At last his foot stepped through the dashboard from the sheer weight with which the animal tugged on the lines. Suddenly relieved from the check it darted off with the driver and a sleigh load of groceries. It turned the corner of George street, and, as a matter of course, struck a straight route for the nearest post. The sleigh was left hanging on the post considerably in need of repairs, the driver was thrown out and the animal sped down street at a gallop. A little daughter of Mr. Clegg was run over and knocked down opposite Smart's music store, but, most wonderfully, she was not hurt, even though seemingly trampled on. The runaway slipped and fell on a piece of ice opposite McKee's hardware store and was safely secured.

Mr. John E. Belcher, some time ago received instructions from the President of the Ontario Central Fair Association at Port Perry to supply plans and specifications for the exhibition buildings to be erected in that town. Mr. Belcher has prepared the plans and they have been forwarded. The plans of the new buildings are handsome. The main building will be 127 feet long by 50 feet wide, and an annex will be made in the rear 100 feet long by 32 feet wide. The main building will consist of a ground floor and several galleries, which lead from different parts to a balcony which runs around almost the entire building. The front will be elegantly finished in glass. At each side of the main entrance there are committee and officers apartments. The Association have purchased twenty acres of land part of which they will devote to a driving-track, and the grounds will be laid out artistically. The main buildings which have galleries and are suitably floored throughout are intended to be utilized for amusements and other purposes when not required for the primary object of Agricultural Exhibitions. We learn that the farmers of the locality have displayed laudable enterprise in forwarding this undertaking having already subscribed stock to the extent of $1000, and they are prepared to take more if required. The representatives of our farmers in Council have not shown the same appreciation of this means of fostering improved methods of agriculture.

POLICE COURT.

ASSAULT.

SATURDAY, Feb. 27.—Wm. H. Srgeworth charged Wm. McCullagh with having committed an assault on him on the night of Feb. 21st. The defendant pleaded guilty.

The COMPLAINANT was called to give the circumstances of the case. He said that McCullagh was in the Salvation Army barracks in the night in question and was spitting on the floor. He told McCullagh that the spitting must be stopped, as it was against the barrack rules. With that McCullagh swore, rose from his seat and struck at him. He dodged, but received the blow on his shoulder. Several then interfered and McCullagh was silenced.

The Magistrate said that the offence had been admitted. It had taken place in a place of worship, resulting, not only in an assault on the person struck, but in disturbing public worship. If a person conducted himself well in any place that place should be in a church or in any place of public worship. If people go there from a right nature they conducted themselves well, but if not they were guilty of a more serious offence than an assault. A fine of $5 was imposed with the alternative of 12 days in goal.

The mulcted litigant asked and received permission to look around for the necessary V and strode towards the door. Just as he was making his exit he was halted by P. C. Piddon. He returned to find that another charge had been laid against him, that of raising a disturbance in place of public worship. As none of the Salvationists present seemed willing to father the information, the charge was dismissed.

The Golden Lion.

The attention of the public is called to the first announcement from Mr. R. Fair, of the "Golden Lion," under the new regime. It will no doubt be read with interest by all, but the ladies especially will be pleased to see so many of the items devoted to them.

The Churches.

The following is a list of services in the several churches for to-morrow:—

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL.—At St. Peter's Cathedral, Roman Catholic, there will be three masses celebrated, the first at 7 a.m., the second at 8 a.m., and the third at 10.30 a.m. Vespers at 7 p.m.

ST. LUKE'S.—The regular services at St. Luke's Church will be conducted, as follows: Morning Prayer, Litany, and sermon at 11 a.m.; Evensong and sermon at 7 p.m.

ST. JOHN'S.—The regular services at St. John's Church of England. Holy Communion at 8.30 a.m.; Morning Prayer, Litany and sermon at 11 a.m. Evening Prayer with sermon at 7 p.m.

ST. PAUL'S.—In the morning at 11 o'clock the Rev. Mr. Torrance will preach the sermon on "Abundance of Rain." In the evening at 7 o'clock the subject of his sermon will be "Religious Neutrality."

BAPTIST CHURCH, Murray Street.—The Rev. A. H. Munro, the pastor, will conduct the services of the day.

METHODIST CHURCH, Charlotte street.—The services of the day will be conducted by the pastor, the Rev. F. H. Wallace.

METHODIST CHURCH, George Street.—In the absence of the pastor, the Rev. I. Towel, who preaches anniversary sermons at Napanee to-morrow, the services, both morning and evening will be conducted by the Rev. Arthur Browning, of Campbellford.

METHODIST CHURCH, Mark street, Ashburnham.—The usual services, at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m., will be held.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH.—The usual services, at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m., will be held.

THE WAR ON THE CHINESE.

MARYVILLE, Cal., Feb. 26.—Yesterday morning a body of masked men from Westland, compelled the Chinese on three ranches near Wheatland to leave their sleeping quarters and marched them to Wheatland, where they were turned loose. The Chinese quarters were destroyed with all their contents.

Committed for Trial.

WELLAND, Ont., Feb. 25.—H. F. Hoskie, the Niagara Falls man charged by Detective Wynne with bigamy in marrying a woman in Stamford who he had a wife living in Napanee, was yesterday committed for trial by Magistrate Hellen. His case seems to have been a victim to matrimonial infidelity, as both his alleged wives deserted him shortly after marriage and he returned to their parents. When he married Miss Bradt in Stamford he alleged that he had obtained a divorce from his Napanee wife.

Democracy at Court.

To speak of Mr. McJelly's household, says a London correspondent, an American lady's ignorance of his feudal and wonderful constitution led to an amusing incident the other evening at a West End reception. "Who is that well-dressed woman with the diamonds in her hair?" asked the new arrival.

"Do you mean that lady in plain plaid and cream colored lace?"

"Yes."

"Oh, that's one of the Queen's bedchamber women."

"Who?" almost screamed the fair Bostonian as if she could scarcely believe her ears. Her companion repeated his words.

"Well," cried the lady, disgustedly gathering up her skirts; "whether she belongs to the Queen or any one else makes no difference. I don't come to Europe to hooch chambermaids. Give me your arm. I'll thank you to call my carriage."

To attempt to explain was useless. She refused to listen, and drove off boiling over with rage, at the contamination to which she had been subjected.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, MARCH 1, 1886.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Cold Weather.
The Rev. V. Clement's self-registering thermometer recorded 104° below zero on Saturday night, and 15° below on Sunday night.

Prize Poultry.
Mr. J. H. Debus of Lakeside recently purchased from Mr. P. G. Keyes of Ottawa several prize pullets and cockerels.

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Fresh to strong north and north-west winds, generally fair, continued cold weather.

Wednesday Evening, March 3rd.
The plan for the reserved seats for the Red-path Concert Co., under the auspices of the Oddfellows of Ottawa Lodge, is now open at Hartley's music store, and the seats are being taken. We would recommend our citizens to secure seats, and not miss this fine entertainment.

Presentations.
A short time ago Mr. Wm. Brown, an employee at Mr. G. W. Hall's biscuit and confectionery works, was united in marriage to Miss Eva Martyn. The employees of the factory, when apprised of the event, did not let the opportunity slip by without expressing their appreciation of the unwavering good nature and geniality of their fellow workman, together with well wishes for his future happiness. A half dozen of handsomely upholstered chairs were sent to his home, accompanied by address signed by the factory hands. Mr. and Mrs. Hall, ten, sent a handsome and serviceable wedding present in the shape of a set of dinner dishes, together with an address full of well wishes to both parties to the contract.

GERM'S CARDIGAN JACKETS marked down to cost to make room for spring goods at ANDREW McNEIL'S, George street.

It May be Remarkable.
—That that 500 feet of hose which was so urgently asked for at the last meeting of the council has not yet been ordered.

—That all barbers, locally speaking, are henceforth to remain in a state of quiescence on Sundays.

—That the late clerks will either bow and haught at their own plights or go to church on Sunday morning wearing a fresh frock.

—That a merry party of three went to a restaurant on a Saturday night and ordered oysters and beer.

—That the oysters were despatched and the beer just taking after the bivalves when the license inspector looked in.

—That the council met in special session to-night.

—That likely the long looked forward to appointment of a chief of police will be made.

A Lucky Escape.
Mr. R. Neill, proprietor of the Red Store boot and shoe house, next to the Review office was one of those who were unfortunate enough to be in the train which ran off the track on the Northern Railway on Thursday. He was sitting in the smoking car talking to the proprietor of the Barrie Express about his dog, which was tied securely to the iron framework of the seat and which pointed his nose gracefully on Mr. Neill's knee. Suddenly the car gave a jump and then it kicked backwards. Then it went tumbling over and over and when it stopped Mr. Neill found himself in a heap of debris, from which he happily he soon extricated himself. He found his way out to the door, through a mass of seats, men covered with blood and even the bodies of some which the head of death had already seized. He grew faint from the bruises he had received, and was half dead from the suffocation of the shock. He got away from the rushing scene and left the car. He has a distinct recollection of seeing his dog scamper off as seen as he opened the door. How that dog could have broken a strong rope and got out of the car is what he has been wondering about ever since. The car had, when thrown from the track, tumbled down an embankment about fifty feet. Mr. Neill is bruised somewhat about the head, and suffers from a swollen ankle; but his injuries are not so severe as to keep him away from business.

DRIFTED OUT TO SEA.
A Boat Load of People Believed to have been Lost in the Gale.
BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Feb. 28.—The passengers of the steamer Idylwild, which went ashore off Stamford, Conn., in the gale of Thursday night, arrived here yesterday morning. They said the steamer had begun to break up at the stem, and that she would probably prove to be a total loss. Soon after the boat grounded the lifeboats were launched and all the women on the steamer were placed in them. The attempt to reach the shore was unsuccessful and the boats returned to the steamer. One boat containing seven men cut loose from the steamer during the excitement and drifted away. There were no men in the boat and it is thought it drifted out into the sound and was swamped and the occupants drowned. Among those in the boat were Ernest Judson, assistant clerk of the steamer, and Judson Abbott, fish dealer of this city.

Messrs. Morrow, Tivney & Co.
Mr. W. J. Morrow, recently of the firm of W. J. Morrow & Co., grocers, etc., and Mr. M. Tivney, for a long time chief clerk in Mr. H. Nash's grocery house, and that of Messrs. Nash & Elliott, have purchased the stock and good will of the grocery business heretofore carried on by Messrs. Furtys & Elliott, in Messrs. Nash & Elliott's old stand. They have entered into partnership and will carry on the business in all its branches, the style of the firm being Messrs. Morrow, Tivney & Co. As to their capacity as business men, and their qualification for carrying on such a business, it may be said that both have "grown up" to it. They are well known to the people of both towns and county, and there is no doubt that a large part of the trade in their line will be bestowed upon them.

An Epitaphical Sermon.
On Sunday the Rev. Arthur Browning, of Campbellford, preached both morning and evening in the George Street Methodist Church.

In the evening he took as a text for the sermon Isaiah lvi, 13—"As one whom his mother comforteth so will I comfort you, and ye shall be comforted in Jerusalem." He drew attention to two words contained in the text. The first, "comfort." This word was an exotic, but there was no word more thoroughly acclimated to the English tongue than the word "comfort." In fact it had been said that none but the English realized the full meaning of the term. The French knew what luxury meant, and other people knew the meaning of terms akin to it; but the word "comfort," in its fullness, was peculiarly English. He had known farmers to build a fine, large brick residence with a beautiful parlor on one side of the front hall and an airy sitting room on the other; and yet the family lived in the kitchen. This was not comfort. He had known of families who had to climb a ladder to get to their bedrooms, through the oblique in the covering of which twinkled the little stars on clear, cold nights; and yet this family, blessed with the word of God and with the warmth of true religion in their hearts, were as comfortable as could be wished. Comfort did not depend on $3 a day, neither did it depend on fine houses. Many people had riches to surfeit and still the gaunt skeleton of discomfort sat at the head of the table. The old farmer who now lived in his stately brick would say, if he were asked the question, that it was when he went to bed early, got up early, worked during the day and gathered his little children around him before a crackling fire in the hearth in the evening, that he knew what comfort was. The next word was "mother."

It was also an exotic, from the Saxonist, but it was now the property of all nations. The word "mother" was one that should be dear to every heart. The hardened criminal had been known in his last moments in a dreary, lonely cell, to gasp that word and cling to a shadow. It was a word that held a fast and firm place in the mind. Even old men and old women, sinking into dotage, frequently with a last effort of memory brought up before their eyes that old familiar form and pronounce that word so full of meaning. The sinner which came to God would surely be comforted with all that mothers comforting words. God was, in the language of the prophet, beautifully compared to a mother. The sinner, no matter how black with sin, shame and guilt, could come unhesitatingly and assuredly being received with open arms by his Heavenly mother. The preacher viewed a mother's love as an unselfish love, a hopeful love and a tender love. He illustrated a mother's noble unselfishness by telling of a mother and her boy who left New York many years ago to join the husband and father in California. They sailed to the Panama, crossed the isthmus, and voyaged up the western coast. One day the ship caught fire and the whole vessel was speedily enveloped in flames. The sailors pulled away, and seeing her standing on the lower deck returned and offered to take one more. She dropped her boy to them and perished in the flames. Even so unselfish was the love of Christ the Lord for mankind. He died for us. God's was a hopeful love. As a mother loved her son even as a prodigal, thief, or profane swearer, even so does God love men, waiting and watching for their change of heart. And it was a tender love. God took up the poor, torn, tired, weary sinner, dressed their bleeding wounds, took them up tenderly, clothed them in robes of white and gave them a place in the choir of the redeemed.

The Shoemaker's Grievance.

BOARD TO THE PUBLIC.

I have read the advertisement published by the "Shoemakers' Union of Peterborough" which appeared in the Review of Saturday evening, giving the particulars of a resolution passed at a special meeting of that body, and wherein it is decided that—Whereas, I had "been paying the Union bill of wages," that my shop must be "closed from the list of Union shops," and that "all men working for said shop be rated as Scabs."

In reply to this I beg to say, that the first place, that there is no branch of the Knights of St. Crispin in Peterborough, which is the only Shoemakers' Union of Canada recognized by the trade; and that the so-called "Shoemakers' Union of Peterborough," has no connection with the Grand Lodge, and is therefore, without any jurisdiction whatever, so far as I am aware.

In the second place, when I decided to establish a wholesale boot and shoe manufactory in Peterborough, I took the trouble to address a letter to the "Shoemakers' Union," here, asking them to furnish me with their bill of wages to make boots and shoes which I "did" stock, so that I might be able to sell them at a profit. I had been the last to sign their bill of wages for rough stock, when they started their Union in Peterborough, and was desirous of consulting them in this matter as well. To my courteous letter I received the following reply:

JAN. 12th, 1886.
JOHNSTON CAREY, Esq.,
Dear Sir, In reply to your communication to me, as Secretary of the "Shoemakers' Society," I have to state that, according to your request, and they have been to the conclusion that we cannot furnish you with a manufacturing bill of wages, as you will have to act according to your own judgment. Hoping you will not alter our bill on measure work. Hoping this will prove satisfactory,
Yours truly,
JOHN S. WELLS,
Secretary of the Shoemakers' Society.

The above is the last reply communication I have received from the "Shoemakers' Union of Peterborough." Therefore, I took the advice they sent me to—"according to my own judgment," and have been paying the Toronto Knights of St. Crispin's bill of wages—the highest paid in Canada. This bill applies to my custom, or measure work, as well as to manufactured work, and the same will be made more perfectly with "die" stock. ("Die" stock "all cut out from steel dies worked by machine.") My boots have been working steadily all winter, making good wages and have been well satisfied.

I may just say, in the third and last place, that the trouble has originated from the fact that the "Union" here had received notice from other shops, who do not use machinery in the manufacture of their stock, that if the Union did not strike Carey's shop off the list of wages it would not continue to pay the bill of wages, the bill of wages under the old system of rough made out of rough stock, claiming as a reason for insisting upon this, that they did not compete with my price.

The men who have arrived from Toronto to work in my factory are perfectly satisfied with their wages, and if the local men do not go to work, I will be compelled to fill their places with men from outside.

As I have no wish for further controversy in this matter, I leave the facts now in the hands of the public.

STAFFING THE MUNICIPALITIES

In commenting upon the "grab" which the Municipalities are making of the whole of the increased sum to be paid for liquor licenses, the Monday Times says:—"But no part of what the Government gets will be taken from what the municipalities are now receiving." Not so; revenue is diverted from the municipalities in two ways. Their present statutory power of exacting from license holders an increased payment for the benefit of the municipal treasury, is obviously hampered by the Provincial Administration selling upon this right for its own benefit. Again, the very object of high licenses is to lessen the number of licensed houses, and the municipal revenue will be reduced by the reduction of the number of licenses without being allowed the compensating advantage of an increased fee on each of the remaining licenses.

The fact is that Mr. Mowat and his colleagues, finding that the Provincial revenue, even supplemented by periodical sales of slices of the Provincial property, or by the issues of debentures (or promissory notes), are not sufficient to meet their extravagant yearly expenditures, have been driven like spendthrifts to find some other way of raising the wind. With their own hands they have been driving the municipalities to the verge of bankruptcy, and they are now seeking to divert from the municipalities the revenue which is the lifeblood of the municipalities, and which will have increased taxes to pay.

HEARING FALSE WITNESS

The London Advertiser says:—"The Peterborough Review speaks of Mr. Charlton's statements as 'Charlton's standard.' Unfortunately for Ministers, the statements made by Mr. Charlton are taken from the reports that Ministers themselves brought down to Parliament."

Yes, and so may the words "Thou shalt" "bear false witness against thy neighbor" be taken from the Bible. By a similar method Mr. Charlton, Mr. Cameron and the London Advertiser concoct their slanderous misrepresentations. Their list of names professing to be taken from the official reports are wrenched from their context to distort the meaning. These slanders state that the names are those of persons who are holding timber limits corruptly granted to them by the Macdonald Administration for an insufficient consideration. They know while making these false statements that the list is one of applicants, that in the great majority of cases the grants were refused and were abandoned because the price was too high or the terms too onerous. They also know that of the few cases in which the limits are still held a large proportion consist of grants made by the Macdonald Administration.

The slanders hope by constant repetition to make their readers believe in their false witness against their neighbors.

LOYAL MEN

"What would the men of Cavan, noted for their loyalty, and compassion as opposed to invaders of their territory, have done if it had so happened that some colonization company had attempted to re-survey their lands with a view of alienating their boundaries or giving them to those not entitled?"

So asks the Globe in an article in defence of rebellion.

We know something of the loyal men of Cavan, and we believe that, being loyal, they would have had faith in the law to maintain their rights. Confident of the justice of the country, they would have calmly made enquiries, and on learning that all decided or even occupied lands were especially excepted from the grant, they would quickly have gone on with the tillage of their farms.

They certainly would not have listened to the inducements to rebel of Riel's newspaper correspondents or of employees of Mr. Mowat hired to defend murder and to vilify the authorities of Canada. They would not have been persuaded to oppose an imaginary wrong by wounding ministers of the gospel, driving women to flee into the swamps, robbing stores or shooting down the volunteers from rifle pits.

In short, the loyal men of Cavan are not rebels or Rielites.

DIRECT TAXATION

The revenue of Ontario is fixed-it cannot be increased except in one or two respects, and then only slightly-while the expenditure is constantly increasing as the needs of the province increase. The time is coming when the municipalities must tax the people directly for objects to which the legislature now grants material aid, and it would be wise on the part of our government to give the municipal council notice of coming events, and gradually prepare them for the inevitable, by lopping off small grants from time to time.—Kingston Whig.

The Spectator has been warning the public for some years that direct taxation was a thing of the near future. The expenditure has been increased by leaps and bounds, while the revenue has been stationary. Nothing but direct taxation remains. For two years the government has been borrowing under the guise of annuities, but that sort of thing cannot go on indefinitely. The funds may be relied upon for a good deal of money for many years to come; but the government is taking no steps to own serve them, and our magnificent patrimony is being eaten up year by year as prodigal squanders his estate in riotous living. The Hon. John Sandfield Macdonald, with wise foresight, laid by a handsome cash surplus, from which considerable interest was derived, but that has nearly all been squandered, and the subsidies to railways will form the last of what remains. Had that surplus been preserved, it would have aided out other sources of supply, and income would meet expenditure—even the reckless expenditure of the Mowat government.

The Whig is right: we must accept the unpleasant fact of direct taxation. But how about those journals which sneered at the Spectator when it predicted, only two or three years ago, that the days of direct taxation were almost upon us.—Hamilton Spectator.

THE CHIEF OF POLICE.

THE LONG DELAYED APPOINTMENT MADE—MR. W. H. COOPER

To Wear the Belt—Fire Limits Extended—Billiard License Reduced in price—Appointment of Town Officers.

A special meeting of the Town Council was held on Monday evening. There were present: His Worship the Mayor and Councillors Cahill, Davidson, McNaughton, Kelly, McNeill, McClelland, Yelland, Moore, Rutherford, Kendry, and Hartley.

Communications were read as follows:—From Geo. Hilliard urging the Council to take steps to secure the location of the Kerr Thread Company in Peterborough. The definite location of the Company's factory had not yet been decided. He offered a free site to this Company's factory, if located here, for a term of five years—Finance Committee.

From King & Hibner, manufacturers of parlor sets and sofas, Berlin, asking the Council to take into consideration the matter of giving the Company, in case they locate their factory here, exemption from taxation and a bonus, the amount of which to be afterwards settled—Finance Committee.

Accounts were presented for payment as follows:—Adam Hall $ 18 06 Henry Denno 0 50 Great Northwestern Tel. Co. 162 50 Times Printing Co. 78 32 The accounts were all ordered to be paid when certified to.

FINANCE

Councillor Davidson read the report of the Finance Committee as follows:—

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough:—

GENTLEMEN.—Your Finance Committee beg leave to report and recommend the payment of the following accounts and grants:—J. W. Flavell $ 4 50 A. Clegg 7 00 J. R. Crowe 7 75 J. H. Wright 8 00 J. R. Straton, $15.50, $3.20 18 70 W. J. Morrow & Co. 19 00 Geo. Westman 20 00 R. Wainwright 3 00 Review Printing Co. 31 50 Peterborough Gas Co. 30 15 Peterborough Gas Co. 24 80 W. Waterhouse & Son 10 75 Grand Trunk Railway Co. 18 22 E. B. Edwards 10 96 Peterborough Water Works (without pre-judgment) 275 00 These items 30 00 The Fire Brigade, to be given for the benefit of their fund, in consideration that they pay one night in each week during the summer months in the Court House Park, and on any other occasion on which their services may be required by the Corporation 150 00 The consideration of the by-law providing for the rate of order have been considered by your committee, and will be submitted this evening for your approval.

All of which is respectfully submitted, R. S. DAVIDSON, Chairman.

Peterborough, Feb. 26, 1886.

The Chairman of the Committee moved the adoption of the report.

Councillor McNaughton understood that the Water Company had agreed to supply water for street watering purposes free of charge. If the Water Company were still with the Corporation he thought the Corporation should be stiff with the Company.

Councillor Yelland took the same view of the matter.

Councillor Davidson said that he was of opinion that the Water Company was to supply the water free of charge, but the Company claimed that they should receive payment for watering streets other than the streets.

Councillor Hartley called for the production of the original by-law. He thought the Corporation was to have water for all purposes free of charge.

Councillor Rutherford said that agreement was made upon certain conditions. These conditions were not carried out on the part of the town. He thought the amount recommended to be given to the Company was fair.

Councillor Moore did not think the claim put in by the Company, that of $500, was at all moderate. That recommended by the Committee he thought was about right.

The report was adopted.

ELECTRIC LIGHT

A communication was read asking for an electric light on the corner of Simcoe and Aymer streets.—Fire, Water and Light Committee.

APPOINTMENTS

Councillor Kendry read the supplementary report of the Committee on Appointments as follows:—

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough:—

GENTLEMEN.—Your Committee beg to recommend the following:—That the Hon. be appointed Local License Inspector, Sanitary Inspector, Market Inspector and Janitor for the town buildings with the exception of the Clerk's office; salary $75 per annum.

That E. B. Edwards be appointed Town Solicitor at a salary of $300 per annum.

That W. H. Cooper be appointed Chief of the police force. Salary $800 per annum.

That Robert H. Adams, Thomas McInity and Richard Pigeon be appointed policemen. Salary $10 each.

That Dr. Clarke be appointed Medical Health Officer at a salary of $600 per annum.

All of which is respectfully submitted, JAS. KENDRY, Chairman.

The report was received.

THE FIRE LIMITS

Councillor Rutherford read a report of the Building Committee as follows:—

Peterborough, March 1, 1886.

Report of Building Committee—beg leave to report and recommend that the present fire limits be extended to the north as far as the centre of King street, and along King from Milne street south to the centre of the street; west to the centre of the street; and along Bethune street to the centre of the street; and along the street from the centre of the street to the west end of the street; and along the street from the centre of the street to the east end of the street.

All of which is respectfully submitted, (Signed) A. RUTHERFORD, Chairman.

The report was adopted.

STREETS AND BRIDGES

Councillor Cahill read the report from the Street and Bridge Committee as follows:—

To the Mayor and Council:—

GENTLEMEN.—The Street and Bridge Committee beg leave to report that they have received tenders for supplying the Corporation with pine plank, cedar scotching and round cut timber, as follows:—

For pine plank Mr. Geo. Hilliard at eight cents per M. The cedar scotching to Mr. W. Kelly at ten cents per M. The round cut timber for furnishing one hundred and fifty pieces of round cedar to Mr. Maurice Landrum at $10, per running foot.

Your Committee recommend that the water tables of the back between Simcoe and Hunter streets on George street be paved with cobble stones with dressed stone edging.

Your Committee also recommend that the Property Committee be authorized to procure a lot suitable for a lumber yard for the Corporation, and in case that they should decide to purchase a lot that they shall consult with the Finance Committee.

All of which is respectfully submitted, THOS. CAHILL, Chairman.

Peterborough, March 1, 1886.

The report was adopted.

APPOINTMENTS

The Council went into a Committee of the Whole on the second reading of the by-law to appoint town officers.

Clause 1, appointing the Town Solicitor, was so amended by motion moved by Councillor Moore, that his duties were defined.

Councillor Davidson moved seconded by Councillor McNaughton—that the blank in clause 3 appointing a Chief of Police, be filled in with the name of Robert H. Adams, acting chief.

Councillor Rutherford moved, in amendment, seconded by Councillor Kendry—that the blank be filled in with the name of W. H. Cooper.

The mover of the amendment spoke strongly in favor of Mr. Cooper.

Councillor Davidson asked the Chairman of the Committee if Mr. Cooper had ever been a chief of police or a policeman. Mr. Cooper answered in the affirmative.

Councillor Kendry replied that he understood Mr. Cooper had not had any practical experience.

Councillors McNaughton and McNeill urged the appointment of Mr. Adams as acting chief and the selection of a thoroughly practical man. It was the duty of the Council to exercise care in selecting a chief of police.

Councillor McNeill would vote against Mr. Cooper's appointment on account of his having had no experience as a policeman.

Councillor Kendry, in answer to McNaughton and McNeill, said that he did not think Mr. Adams had sufficient executive ability and he thought Mr. Cooper would fill the position creditably.

The Mayor favored the appointment of Mr. Cooper.

Councillor Moore asked for the production of Mr. Cooper's recommendations.

About a dozen communications recommending Mr. Cooper, were read by the Clerk.

Councillor McNeill said that to get an experienced officer would cost the town an expenditure of $1,200. It did not appear to require a long experience. He would have voted for Mr. Cooper had his application been made.

Mr. Cooper was a man of unimpaired character and knew neither fear or favor. Considering everything, he would support Mr. Cooper's appointment.

Councillor Yelland gave all the credit of the present good order to E. C. McGinley. At the time the recent disturbances Mr. McGinley was appointed, and all had been quiet since. He thought the men we had here were capable. He felt like supporting Mr. Adams. A saving would be effected.

Councillor McNeill said that the present force was insufficient. Two years ago the citizens condemned the Council for not having a better police force. It would be but going back to that position. Our policemen were few enough for a town of this size.

Councillor Cahill was prepared to vote for Mr. Adams as Chief of Police, but he would not vote for him as acting Chief of Police. This matter was under consideration on the question now as to whether or not Mr. Adams was not to be appointed he would support the appointment of Mr. Cooper.

Councillor McNeill moved that the committee rise and return to the seventh order of business, to take up the consideration of the notice of motion presented by him at the last meeting in reference to advertising for a Chief of Police.

The amendment, to fill in the blank with the name of Mr. W. H. Cooper, was carried on a division of four to six.

Councillor Davidson amended his motion to appoint Mr. Adams as permanent Chief of Police. The motion was put and lost on a division of six to five.

Councillor Moore moved in amendment to the last clause, seconded by Councillor Rutherford—that the several appointments by this by-law made shall be subject to, and governed by, all by-laws now in force and that may hereafter be passed, relating to the officers and positions held by them hereunder, and defining the duties of the several officers and other persons hereby appointed.

The amendment was carried.

Councillor Kendry moved for the third reading.

Councillor McNeill moved, in amendment seconded by Councillor McNaughton—that the by-law be not read for a third time.

The amendment was lost on the following division:—

YEA—Councillors Davidson, McNaughton, McNeill.

NAY—Councillors Cahill, Kelly, McClelland, Yelland, Moore, Rutherford, Kendry and Hartley.

LICENSES

A by-law regulating local licenses was read for a first time.

The Council went into a Committee of the Whole on the second reading of the by-law.

Councillor McNeill moved, seconded by Councillor Kelly,—That the amount to be charged for billiard table licenses be $50 for the first table and $25 for each subsequent table.

Councillor Rutherford moved, seconded by Councillor Yelland,—That the amount to be charged for billiard table licenses be $75 for each and every table.

Councillor Rutherford dilated on the evils that billiard playing had on the young men of the town. It was the duty of the Council to legislate in the direction of the moral good of the community. These places tended to destroy young men. He would vote for the abolition of billiard rooms altogether.

Councillor Yelland spoke in the same strain. Councillor Moore pointed out that the by-law expelled boys under 16 years of age from playing billiards. He thought Councillor Rutherford took an extreme view of the matter. The licenses were higher in price now than they ever were, and much higher than that charged in Toronto.

The Mayor favored Councillor McNeill's motion.

The amendment was lost, Councillors Yelland and Rutherford alone voting for it.

The amount to be charged for bagatelle tables was placed at $100 per table.

The holders of licenses were made liable to the payment of any future by-law passed by the Council.

The Committee rose with leave to sit again.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL. Councillor Cahill moved, seconded by Councillor Davidson,—That the members of the Council and Messrs. Cox, Carnegie, Dumble, Stratton, Tink, and Robertson be and are hereby appointed members of a deputation to go to Ottawa on the 11th of March to Trent Valley Canal, and that the Treasurer is authorized to pay the fare of any of such members of the deputation as go to Ottawa.—Carried.

The Council adjourned to meet again on Monday night.

SNEAK THIEVES

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR Sir,—I wish to warn people living near the upper part of Charlotte Street that there are sneak thieves around and at work in that neighborhood. Last night I lost a wolf skin robe out of my yard, and no long ago a buffalo robe. Any future visitor will find themselves warmly received.

Yours truly,
W. H. RACKHAM.

CROOKS ACT.

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR Sir,—In the case before our Public Magistrate, on Monday, we were to understand that if a man is a guest at a hotel he can be supplied with drink at any time? Only one room in the hotel is the bar. Not allowed to keep liquor on draught in any other. The bar to be locked at 7 p. m. on Saturday, (closed Monday, where does he get the drink? We want a clearer law than that.

I remain, yours truly,
HENRY ROSSITER.

Peterborough, March 2nd 1936.

A COMPLAINT.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I should like to make the enquiry, through your columns, how much longer the authorities of St. John's church are to be permitted to endanger the lives of pedestrians on Water street by running the waste water from their organ on to the street? Last winter it was put a stop to by the interference of property owners near, but the state of the southeast corner of Brock and Water streets is a public nuisance and the town authorities (the attention of whom I am sure has been called to the matter long since) will certainly be morally if not legally responsible for any accident which may occur on this corner.

Yours, etc.,
WATER STREET.

March 1st, 1936.

REVIEWS

THE CANADIAN MELRODIST MAGAZINE FOR MARCH.—The opening article of this number is one exquisitely illustrated on Norway and its people. The engravings have never been surpassed even in this Magazine. Another well illustrated article of special interest is on Mission Work and Winter Travel in the North-West. It gives a striking portrait of the Rev. E. R. Young, in winter costume, with graphic sketches by pen and pencil of his camping adventures and missionary experiences. H. E. Clarke, Esq., M. P. P., concludes his account of his trip to the Rockies. The engravings are particularly fine. The Rev. Dr. Ling contributes a paper of much importance upon "Chiliasm," showing the errors of interpretation involved in the Millarian theory. A. C. Carwell, B. A., gives a spirited account of Green and his history of the E. of the People. A brilliant chapter by Canon Farrar, on the Gospel of St. Luke; a review of Tennyson's new volume of poetry, with copious quotations from his Irish and Yorkshire dialect poems; two interesting and interesting chapters of "Jan Velder's Wife," and other articles make up a number of more than average interest.

Competition.

The steamship line running into San Francisco are uttering forth every effort to get control of the Pacific trade so that there will be nothing left for the line which the Canadian Pacific railway intend to put on between Vancouver, Asia and Australia. The strongest line on the Pacific is the Pacific Mail Steamship Company. It is owned in New York and San Francisco, but a large share of its earnings is in the shape of subsidies from the British. Speculates, the Sandwich Islands sugar monopolist, owns another line plying into the South Pacific the steamers being very fast. With these and other lines the San Franciscans hope to hold the trade of the line against the competition of the Canadian Pacific line. It is reasonable to suppose that as soon as the latter is in operation the subsidies to the Pacific Mail company will cease, and that all British mail matter now sent by way of San Francisco to Japan and China, New Zealand and the Australian colonies, will be sent by the all-British route, now reaching from Liverpool almost around the world. The Canadian line will attract a large share of the passenger traffic, because the route to Great Britain is shorter and more direct. The fact that the mercantile community in San Francisco is bestirring itself and resorting to every scheme to advertise the shipping lines is proof that competition has already begun, although the Canadian steamers have not yet been put on, and it behooves the company to get its ships under way as soon as possible.—Toronto News.

Musical Instruments.

The exhibit of pianos manufactured by Messrs. R. S. Williams & Son for the forthcoming Exhibition in London has been seen by some of our leading musicians at the factory, on Hayter-street, during the last few days, and it was their unanimous opinion that a finer lot of instruments it would be hard to find. These pianos are finished with Canadian wood, in the usual good taste and style that characterizes the productions of this firm. While judging from a musical point of view, and taking into consideration the various elements of tone, touch, and power, will prove a great surprise to the people of England and visitors from our country engaged in London, who will be astonished to learn that pianos of such merit can be produced in Canada. Messrs. Williams & Son are, however, the oldest and the largest firm in the manufacture of musical instruments in this country, and their experience for forty years has been brought to bear on the construction, not only of this special exhibit, but on their every day pianos, which are of equal merit and quality.—Toronto Globe.

A Fatal Ride.

PETERBORO, Ont., Feb. 23.—In the township of Moore on Friday last, two children, son and daughter of Mr. Alexander Hughes of lot 16 in section 8, Enniskillen, were going to school. The driver of a passing team drawing a lot of logs offered them a ride, which they accepted. Before they had proceeded far the sleigh broke down and the horses took fright and ran away upsetting the load. The little girl aged 7 years, died yesterday from the effects of the injuries received and the little boy is in a very low condition.

NATIONAL PILLS is the favorite purgative and antibilious medicine, they are mild and thorough.

Donald McTavish was accidentally drowned in

Worms often destroy children, but Freeman's

Worm Powders destroy worms, and expel them

from the system.

At McLaren's mill, Perth, on Saturday last a young man was literally split in two by a burst saw.

A Crying Evil.—Children are often fretful

and ill when worms is the cause. Dr. Low's

Worm Hyrup safely expels all worms.

Alexander Gunn, of West Gwillimbury, has been arrested on a charge of shooting with intention at his brother.

To Remove Dandruff.—Cleanse the scalp

with Prof. Low's Magic Sulphur Soap. A delightful medicated soap for the toilet.

The snow-bombardment at Ottawa was a success. On Thursday night the various clubs reported had a grand torchlight procession through the city.

It is spring. A resurgence of nature's latent forces is taking place. Like the world around you, renew your complexion, invigorate your powers, cleanse the channels of life. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the means to use for this purpose.

Gold dust of the value of $300 was sent to Lethbridge from the west of Canada hills. That district is believed to be exceedingly auriferous.

Is your hair turning gray and falling out?

Hail's Hair Renewer will restore it to its original color, and stimulate the follicles to produce a new and luxuriant growth. It cleanses the scalp eradicates dandruff, and is a most agreeable and harmless dressing.

There has been quite a revival in the horse trade in Montreal lately, three car loads having been shipped from the city hotel on Friday by American buyers at prices ranging from $15 to $150.

A SOURCE OF GREAT TROUBLE.—Probably the most prolific source of chronic ill is indigestion or dyspepsia, causing indigestion. Yet taken in time it is readily curable. Burdock

Blood Bitters has cured some of the worst cases known, even of 15 years' duration. It troubled with indigestion try it.

What is good for a cold? is a question often asked, but seldom satisfactorily answered. We can answer to the satisfaction of all, if they will follow our advice and try Hagar's Pectoral

Balm, a safe, pleasant and certain throat and lung healer. Sold by all druggists.

MURRAY & LAMMAN FLORIDA WATER.—We

earnestly urge every purchaser to ask for that which is prepared by Messrs Lamman & Kemp,

New York, who are the sole proprietors of the true perfume. All other so-called Florida

Waters are only ordinary Colognes.

The Young Women's Christian Association of

Montreal has decided to start a children's day-nursery to take care of those whose mothers have to go out and work during the day.

"BURNS AND SCALDS."—If you are so unfortunate as to injure yourself in this way we can suggest a remedy that will (we speak from experience) soon relieve you of all pain and quickly heal the wound; it costs but twenty-five cents and is sold by all druggists—ask for Perry

Davis' Pain Killer.

In GOOD REPUTE.—James McMurdoch, writing from Kansas, says:—"B. B. B., as a remedy for diseases of the blood, liver and kidneys, has an excellent reputation in this locality. I have used it, and speak from experience as well as observation. It is the only medicine I want, and I advise others afflicted to try it."

A man named Felton, employed in the woods near Rimouski, by the Baie des Chaleurs, was killed by the fall of a tree, which struck him on the head fracturing his skull. The deceased leaves a widow and eight children.

HANDY TO HAVE.—Every household should have some ready remedy at hand for painful diseases, sudden attacks of indigestion, and accidental injuries. Such a remedy is best found in Hagar's Yellow Oil for internal and external use. It cures rheumatism, sore throat, croup, neuralgia, lame back, sprains, bruises and burns.

WHAT A wonderful discovery is Perry Davis'

Pain Killer! It not only cures the ill of the human family, but is also the sure remedy for horses with colic. It has never been known to fail in a cure of the worst cases and for sprains galls, etc., it never fails—try it once. Directly as accompany each bottle. Sold by druggists generally.—Rensselaer County (N.Y.) Democrat.

A very large deputation from the committee of

Peel, Grey, Wellington and Huron waited upon

Attorney General Mowat on Friday night and asked for the formation of a new county out of the four named. Mr. Mowat, in reply, stated that nothing could be done this session.

THERE IS NOTHING LIKE IT.—There is no one remedy offered to suffering humanity whose use is so universally and frequently required as Hagar's Yellow Oil, for rheumatism, neuralgia, colic, sore throat, deafness, croup, inhalation and scabs, pains, lumbago and sore-ness of all kinds, when internally and externally used.

A GREAT AWAKENING.—There is a great awakening of the sluggish organs of the human system whenever Burdock Blood Bitters are taken. It arouses the torpid liver to action, regulates the bowels and the kidneys, purifies the blood, and restores a healthy tone to the system generally.

If you are afflicted with rheumatism call on

J. D. Tully, druggist, immediately and procure a bottle of West's World's Wonder or Family

Lotion. It is a certain and positive cure. It is infallible for sprains, cuts, bruises, burns, scalds and all diseases requiring external application. Price, 25 and 50 cents per bottle. Sold

R. FAIR.
Formerly FAIR, VanEVERY & CO.

I take this opportunity to thank the customers of the Golden Lion for past favors, and trust in this new departure I will still merit a continuance of their patronage.

NEW GOODS ARRIVING.

Cases of new goods are being opened out weekly, and although it is yet early to show some of the lines, still we think that ladies will profit by calling and inspecting the many new designs which we already have imported.

NOT IN A HURRY.

We have not been in a hurry this year in sending out our largest importing orders to the Old Country. By waiting we have been the gainers, as our orders just reached the wholesale houses at the time when they were beginning to weaken in their prices. We will, therefore, be able to make closer prices to our customers, and it will be to their benefit in mind.

NEW EMBROIDERIES.

New Embroideries in almost endless variety, imported from St. Gall, Switzerland. Widths from half inch to forty-two inches. Best value in the market. Ladies should not fail to look through this line.

THE DINING ROOM.

Perhaps the greatest inducements offered in Peterborough to buy Towels, Towelling, Table Linen, Table Napkins, &c., is now to be had at the "Golden Lion." Customers are amazed at the prices we are offering these goods at, and wonder how they were ever made for the money.

DRESSMAKING.

Our Miss Johnston is now hard at work, as we find our Dressmaking Department busier than ever it has been at this season of the year. The satisfaction which ladies have found in our Dressmaking will continue to be maintained in the future.

RE-WANTS AND ODDMENTS.

We are still offering Remnants and Oddments at greater reductions than we have hitherto offered these goods. On account of having a large variety of Spring Goods coming forward, we are anxious to get all our present stock cleared out.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

MR. JONES, HEAD MASTER OF THE SOUTH WARD SCHOOL RESIGNS.

The Resignation Accepted.—The Ashburnham Grant.—New Deeds to be Procured.

A Teachers' Convention.—School Attendance and School Fees.

A regular meeting of the Board of Education was held on Tuesday night. There were present: Mr. James Stevenson, chairman, and Messrs. Dumble, Errett, McWilliams, Kutherford, Henry, Kendry and Sproule.

The minutes of the last two meetings were read and confirmed.

MR. STEVENS moved, seconded by Mr. SPRULE, that the Board should be authorized to purchase the South Ward School. The pupils had to buy their own supplies. There were neither pens nor pencils.

MR. STRATTON said that it was through the kindness of the teachers in not sending after the supplies.

MR. SMITH said that there had been no supplies procured for the last two weeks. There was none in stock at the Central School.

MR. STRATTON replied that he had sent the supplies as per Mr. Smith's order.

MR. ERRETT favored having stock rooms at each of the Ward Schools.

MR. SPRULE asked whether the Board supplied pens and pencils.

The CHAIRMAN replied that the Board had always supplied pens and pencils.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From Arthur Jones, Head Master of the South Ward School, tendering his resignation on account of ill health, and urging the Board to relieve him from his duties at once.—Accepted and referred to Committee on Appointments.

From the Department of Education, with reference to the usual grant for the last half of 1885. The grant would be $102.54.—Received.

From the Ashburnham Council, stating that that body had made a grant of $100.00 towards the Collegiate Institute.—Received.

From Geo. Coyle Brown, stating that a teachers' convention would be held on March 11th and 12th, and asking the Board to supply a room.—Received.

From Geo. A. Marshall, applying for the position of Head Master of the South Ward School, and enclosing testimonials.—Committee on Appointments.

SCHOOL ATTENDANCE.

The Secretary read the report of school attendance for February as follows:—

On Roll. Ave. Att.

Collegiate Institute 171 150

West Ward School 181 181

South Ward School 206 178

Central School 650 570

FEES.

The report of the fees received during February was read as follows:—

Collegiate Institute $91.50

Public Schools 9.08

$100.58

A SALARY QUESTION.

MR. JONES addressed the Board in regard of his salary. He had taught six months out of the teaching year. He had received $250, a little over $40 a month. He claimed that he was entitled to $50 a month. His salary was placed at $300 a year, and having taught three fifths of the teaching year he thought he should have three fifths of his salary.

MR. ERRETT objected to paying Mr. Jones at the rate of $50. He had only taught two months in the present year.

Several members favored Mr. Jones' proposition.

MR. STRATTON moved seconded by Mr. SPRULE, that the resignation of Mr. Jones be referred to the Committee on appointments with power to accept or to relieve him as soon as possible, and that the Treasurer be instructed to pay Mr. Jones at the rate of $50 per annum, for the time he has taught, allowing him his fair share of pay in respect of the vacation.—Carried.

MR. SPRULE moved, seconded by Mr. Rutherford, that the Secretary be instructed to advise in the most able and able manner to fill the vacancy made by the resignation of Mr. Jones, Principal of the South Ward School.—Carried.

THE ASHURNHAM GRANT.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 3, 1886.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Rev. Father's Return.
The Rev. Father, who had been appointed to duty at the Bishop on the part of the Clergy.

Grand Convent.
The Grand Convent of the Holy Spirit (Catholic) Co. under the auspices of the Monks of the Order of O. F. M., take place this evening in the Opera House.

The Nicholas Hospital.
The bill before the Ontario Legislature to incorporate the Nicholas Hospital Trust was on Tuesday considered by the Private Bills Committee and reported.

Personal.
The Rev. Arthur Browning, who occupied the pulpit of the George Street Methodist Church on Sunday and assisted at the special services on the two following evenings, returned to Campbellford this afternoon.

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—West and north winds, fair and a little milder weather.

Farm Stock Sale.
There was a good attendance at the sale of Mr. George Tucker, Donno, on Tuesday. It was conducted by Mr. Charles Stapleton, auctioneer. The farm stock sold well and it was a satisfactory sale.

GENTS' CARDIGAN JACKETS marked down to cost to make room for spring goods at ANDREW MCNEIL'S, George street.

The Nicholas Hospital.
The Lady Superintendent has kindly acknowledged the following donations to the Hospital in February:—Major Stevenson, carload of wood; Mrs. Wallis, clothing, old linen and jelly; Mrs. T. Robb, cake, pastry and papers; Mrs. Flavelle, illustrated papers; Mrs. R. S. Davidson, preserves; Mrs. Geo. Burnham, jelly and oranges; A Friend, clothing and old linen.

Carry's Work.
Mr. Johnston Carry is confident that the large circle of customers who have entrusted their orders for measured work during the last number of years, are well aware of the quality of the goods he has supplied. The high standard of work, he says, will be kept up in the future, and that he will, with increased facilities, turn out even superior goods. Sale of imported stock now going on.

An Evangelical Convent.
The Rev. Mr. Shivers, one of Moody's converts, has been invited by the Peterborough Ministerial Association to hold a series of evangelistic meetings in Peterborough. He has accepted the invitation and will arrive in Peterborough on the 9th of March. The campaign will be opened in the Baptist Church, Murray street, on the night of the 9th of March, and the meetings will be continued in the other churches during subsequent evenings.

The Shoemaker's Strike.
Mr. Johnston Carry wishes us to state that he had no communication with the Shoemakers' Union, in reference to the present difference, as to the action they were about to take or their wishes as to his scale of prices, so that he had no opportunity of coming to any agreement with them. He expresses himself perfectly willing to have a conference with the Union, or to submit the whole matter to arbitration, paying half the expense. When the notice of the resolution of Feb. 20th was brought to us for insertion in our advertising columns, we told the representatives of the Union that we thought that in justice to Mr. Carry they should communicate their resolution to him before publication, and give him an opportunity of conferring with them. As we put this strongly we hoped they would do so, and we still think that would have been the right course, as being only fair to him and giving an opportunity for an amicable adjustment of the points at issue. In the interests of the community we would gladly see the arbitration carried out a satisfactory termination, as it would be a loss to the town if a new manufacturing industry such as we had been glad to see established among us should be hampered.

RAILWAY ACCIDENT!

Several Passengers and Train Hands Injured.

FIVE CARS JUMP OFF A BRIDGE

AND DASH THEMSELVES AGAINST THE ICE SIX FEET BELOW.

The Cars Take Fire—The Flames Extinguished by Cakes of Frozen Snow and Ice—Incidents of the Wreck.

The account of the railway accident which appeared in the REVIEW yesterday, though in the main correct, was incomplete. The facts are as follows:—

At about a quarter of a mile south-east of Birdzell's, and about six miles northwest of the village of Hastings, the course of the River Ouse is marked by a narrow strip of swamp trees. The line of the Grand Junction branch of the Midland Division of the Grand Trunk Railway runs through this strip of wood, and over the river at this point. The bridge is a wooden one, about three hundred feet long, and is approached from the north-west by a down grade about a half mile in length.

At a few minutes to nine o'clock on Tuesday morning the mail train, in charge of Conductor Morris, which leaves Peterborough at 7.30 a.m., was

SLEEPING DOWN THE GRADE at a good rate of speed. The seven passengers which the one coach in the train contained were engaged in the usual kill-time train occupations—reading and talking. Suddenly they were all roughly awakened from the prevailing evenness of things by the few preliminary bumps, which tell the experienced traveller that the train is off the track. The coaches had not got fairly on the bridge ere they were thrown off, being precipitated to the ice below about six feet. All was confusion. The ladies in the car shrieked and more than one of the men groaned at the bruises received. The coach, happily, made only a half turn, coming to the ice on its right side with a crash, smashing every window on that side. The coal boxes were emptied the coal scattered in all directions and the coal oil in the overturned lamps flowed freely about. Mr. J. Keyes, of this town, was the first to regain self-possession. He had been sitting in the car with Mrs. Waller of Campbellford. He picked himself up and, on looking for Mr. Waller, found her wedged up in a corner behind the stove. Her

DRESS WAS ALREADY AFIRE. Mr. Keyes shoved the stove to one side and assisted the lady out of the car, having first to kick off the end door. Two other passengers followed, and Mr. Keyes went back for more. The car was now filled with smoke and he could hardly distinguish anyone in the car. He found Mrs. Clancy, wife of the proprietor of the City Hotel, Peterborough, just recovered from the shock. Her little two-year-old daughter had been thrown from her and was crying piteously in another part of the car. Both were soon assisted out. While Mr. Keyes was on his way out for the second time he observed something lying on the floor, what appeared to him to be a cloak. He stooped to pick it up, but found it to be the unconscious form of Mrs. James Campbell. He lifted her up and carried her out. Apparently she had been very badly hurt. The blood flowed from an

COLLIER CUT in the top of the head. When taken out she did not regain consciousness. Mrs. Waller, the left side of whose face was bruised and torn, and whose dress was partly burned off, very pluckily disregarded her own injuries to attend to those of Mrs. Campbell. The wound was stanching with handkerchiefs, there and then, on the ice. A farmer who was cutting wood near by brought his sleigh and took Mrs. Clancy and her child to Birdzell's station, about a quarter of a mile distant. Mrs. Campbell was carried on the door of the coach while the others followed. At the time she train jumped the track Mr. Fred Russell was in the smoking room. He was tossed about considerably, hit on the shoulder and painfully hurt in the ribs. He had the presence of mind however, to steer clear of the stove, and escaped with only a few burnt holes in one of the legs of his trousers. He succeeded in getting out of the one and started to find out the state of Conductor Morris. He found Mr. Morris

SECRETLY WEDGED in the narrow passage which leads from the smoker to the baggage car. The overturning of the car had thrown all of the baggage against the partition, broke it in, and pinned the conductor against the outer shell of the car. So tight was he squeezed up that he could scarcely use lung power to give a signal of distress. Fred Russell, when he located Mr. Morris' whereabouts, took immediate steps to extricate him. The outside door was smashed in and the conductor was pulled upward. None too soon, however, for the flames had already reached after him, and even some papers in his pockets were burned. The driver, Mr. W. Pilling, the fireman, Mr. Cal. Frisco, and another brakeman, Mr. A. McNeally, who went on with the engine and occupied the accident had been giving active aid for some time. The train hands, one and all, worked with a will to render all possible assistance. The first thing done was that of EXTINGUISHING THE FLAMES. This was done by carrying pieces of crusted snow and throwing them in the cars. The injured were conveyed to Birdzell station, and the engine was dispatched to Hastings after a doctor. In about three quarters of an hour Dr. Clarke was brought to the station, where he bandaged the wounded and did all he could to relieve the pain of the sufferers.

A special train arrived at the scene of the wreck from Peterborough, bringing Mr. J. J. Machin, Mechanical Engineer of this Division, and Mr. J. Riddell, the Superintendent. Mrs. Clancy and Mr. James Flemming, who represents the dry-goods firm of Messrs. Gault Bros. Montreal, were brought back to Peterborough on this train, arriving in Peterborough about two o'clock. Shortly after the arrival of the train another left for the scene of the wreck, Mr. Macklin, Dr. Boucher, and Mr. G. W. Hutton, son-in-law of Mrs. Campbell, being among those who went down. A gang of men and a quantity of materials to repair the bridge, were taken on this train. The materials were dumped off, the men started to work at repairing the breakages, and those who were taken down the line were conducted to another train which stood in readiness at the other side of the gap. Mrs. Waller, in trying to help others of the injured, overtaxed her own failing strength, and in about an hour after the accident fell down in a swoon. She was picked up, restoratives were applied, and she was brought back to consciousness. On the arrival of the second special train from Peterborough she was carried to the car and sent home in charge of Dr. Clarke and her husband, who had arrived some time before. Mrs. Campbell was propped on couch cushions and pillows, carried out of the station to the Peterborough special train, and arrived home about seven o'clock. The accident was caused by a loose car wheel on a box car next to the tender and engine. The wheel ran along all right down the grade but as soon as the car struck the bridge the wheel shifted over and left the track, followed by the car. From the sheer force of the train's momentum the freight cars were forced along for about 250 feet.

SHATTERING THEMSELVES IN SPLINTERS, stripping the ties from the stringers, twisting the heavy rails, and making great gashes in the timbers of the bridge. Not a tie nor a rail was left on the bridge except a few on each end. After bumping along to nearly the other end of the bridge, the three freight cars, their forces spent, fell on their side over the left edge of the bridge, but did not succeed in dragging the engine off, the drawhead being pulled out which attached it to the cars. The wreck of these three cars was complete. Their wheels were scattered along, some under the bridge and some not. The framework was irreparably smashed. The coach and the combined smoker and baggage car are not so badly injured. The windows on one side are broken, but the seats are all right, and the carriage wheels are apparently not much out of order. Even the stoves in the coach remained in position, one at the bottom side at one end and the other occupying an aerial perch at the other. The bridge was repaired at a comparatively small cost. Dangerously cut timbers were taken out and replaced, ties replenished, the rails laid, and the bridge is now open for communication.

INJURED AND UNINJURED. The passengers on board, injured and uninjured were:—Mrs. Campbell, of Peterborough, widow of the late Jas. Campbell, "Watersfield", suffers from a gaping cut on the top of the head and several bad bruises. Dr. Boucher is in attendance.

Mrs. Waller of Campbellford was badly bruised on the left side of the face. Her arms, too, are considerably bruised.

Mrs. Clancy, of Peterborough, received a cut in the back of the head, a bruise over the left eye and forehead, a bruise on the right arm and a severe bruise on the back. Dr. King is in attendance.

Mr. James Flemming, of Montreal, now lying at the Oriental Hotel, Peterborough, has several painful body bruises. Dr. Pigeon is in attendance.

Mr. G. Levett, representing the Montreal Optical and Jewelry Co. escaped with a few little cuts and bruises.

Mr. Keyes, of Peterborough, was uninjured.

Mr. Fred Russell, brakeman, received a bruise on the left shoulder and a heavy knock on the left ribs.

Mr. Morris, conductor, feels sore all over. He was not thrown around but got a queezing that he will not likely forget for the next week or two.

Another passenger, whose name has not been received, was uninjured.

INCIDENTS. Just before the run off, and at the time of the accident, two of the passengers were talking of the accident on the Northern Railway.

Messrs. Morris and Russell brought up the night train from Belleville on Tuesday night, but are laying off to-day.

Both train hands and train officials are deserving of high praise for the prompt action which was taken in providing accommodation for the injured.

The Telegram Concert Company, who gave a performance in Peterborough last fall, luckily missed the morning connection in Peterborough and were spared the trouble of undergoing the unpleasantness of a run off.

HIS LORDSHIP'S RETURN. Bishop Jamot, of Arrive in Town to-morrow.

His Lordship, Bishop Jamot, of Peterborough, will arrive in town by Grand Trunk Railway at noon to-morrow. He will be met at the depot by his people. Carriages will be in readiness and His Lordship will be driven to St. Peter's Cathedral, where a formal welcome will be accorded to him.

Twenty-four Times Round the large rink on the glare ice is the distance of the race between Mr. J. Sherville and the "unknown," to be asked on Friday evening, March 12th, at the grand carnival under the auspices of the Fire Brigade Band. Wait for it.

Chief of Police. The Toronto Mail of to-day says:—"W. H. Cooper, at one time Canadian agent for the Chicago and North Western railway, and formerly a member of the Mad staff, has received the appointment of Chief of Police at Peterborough. Mr. Cooper has the best wishes of his many friends in this city in his new sphere of usefulness. He is a man of energy and ability, and will no doubt give a good account of himself in his new position."

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

THE FOURTH SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

Billie Inventions—Information Wanted
—The Departmental Reports.

NEW BILLS.
MONDAY, March 1.—Several new bills were introduced the most important being Mr. Mulock's to amend the Railway Act.

PUBLIC DEBT.
Mr. McLELLAN, in reply to Sir R. Cartwright, said the gross debt was $241,314,532, with assets reducing it to $208,575,000. About fourteen millions of the debt was temporary.

RIEL.
Sir J. MACDONALD, in reply to Mr. Couriel said an enquiry had been made as to Riel's sanity and the report would be laid before the House.

A RIELITE INVENTION.
Mr. CARBRAIN moved for a return of grants of North West lands to Mr. Valin, pretending to believe that he and Sir H. Langevin had taken the property of the half-breeds of St. Louis de Langevin.

Mr. VALIN said this was a fabrication in revenge for his having refused to join the so-called National Party because he held that the Conservatives was the true National Party of Canada. He had no land at or near the place mentioned, but had taken part in the colonization of the North West as anyone else might do.

Mr. CARBRAIN continued to accuse Mr. Valin of stealing a church and a presbytery.

RIELITE LITERATURE.
Mr. BLAKE, Mr. Cameron (Huron), and Mr. Laurier (the rebel Priory Councillor) wanted papers as to Riel and the Rebellion.

DEPARTMENTAL REPORTS.
A number of reports of departments were laid on the table, the great majority of them having been brought down already at the very commencement of the session.

GENTS' LINED KID GLOVES marked down to cost to make room for spring goods at ANDREW MCNEIL'S, George street.

Knights of Labor.
A meeting of the Knights of Labor will be held this evening in the Museum's Hall, Water street, at 8 o'clock. Mr. March, Provincial organizer, will be present. Members and all wishing to become members are requested to attend.

A Windfall.
Mr. Richard P. Smith, clerk at the Oriental Hotel, received a telegram on Tuesday stating that his grandmother had died and had left him $240,000. Mr. Smith is not, however, very much overjoyed by his sudden prosperity. He will preside over the Oriental Hotel office until May, when he intends to go travelling through the west.

The City Battalion.
Col. Villiers, Deputy-Adjutant General for this, the third military district, is in town to-day for the purpose of inspecting the armory. In conversation with some of the officers of the battalion he said, "You must have a city battalion if you want one. I see no reason why you should not have as good a city battalion here as any place in my district. Go at it at once and I will assist you in all I can." The Col. appeared very anxious that the proposed city battalion be organized, and strongly commended the scheme when it was first broached. If the officers go at it now and get the battalion organized the necessity of going to camp next June will be obviated.

CALL AT ANDREW MCNEIL'S, George street and see the sweeping reductions made on all winter clothing.

The Shoemaker's Strike.
To the Editor of the Review.
Sir,—Allow me to state that yesterday offered to pay for a hawk which met the Shoemaker's Union to accept matters satisfactorily, and that, though the hawk was then declined, it will remain open and willing to confer with the Union or to refer the matter to arbitration. Such being the case, I consider that they have no ground for a grievance.
Yours, etc.,
J. O'BREY.

Nor kiss the lonely child.

Lulled to sleep by the breakers,
Blissed shore by the tide;
Alone in the stormy midnight
Lay some fond mother's pride.

Lulled to sleep by the breakers,
Away o'er the mighty deep,
With only the seabirds watching,
Oh, what a lonely sleep!

What only the seabirds watching?
An Almighty God above
Was watching the ship-wrecked sailor
With an eye of holy love.

Lulled to sleep by the breakers,
The sun rose o'er the deep,
But too late to warn the films of him
The waves had lured to sleep.

Lulled to sleep by the breakers,
Waved to mercy's shore,
The Heavenly Eye that was watching
Had guided to heaven's door.

Lulled to sleep by the breakers,
But a mother wept all night,
For she heard the storm boat wildly,
The sea was at its height.

She thought of a ship on the ocean,
Tossed about on the wave,
And an earnest prayer went up to God,
That he her boy might save.

She sat alone by the ocean,
When the morning sun rose high,
And gazed o'er the treacherous waters
With aching and steadfast eye.

The sea-breeze moaned around her,
The breakers rushed to her feet,
And murmured softly, "Mother,
We lulled your boy to sleep."

VIOLET.

LAKEFIELD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

CURLING.—The Lakefield Club is now playing off the first draws of a thirteen point game for the President's medal.

NEW MILL.—The new flour mill, which has been named the "Trent Valley Flour Mill," is being rapidly fitted with machinery. The two water wheels are now in position, and the work under the superintendence of Mr. McAnas is being done in a first class manner.

REPAIRING A DAM.—The water is shut out of the mill race to allow the necessary repairs to be made to the stoplog dam at the head of the raceway.

A MARKET PLACE.—The by-law to authorize the purchase of mill reserve No. 1 for a market place will be submitted to the ratepayers on March 22nd. There is, of course, a certain amount of opposition to this measure, but as it arises from chronic grumblers who have the greatest objections to any improvements in the village, it will not amount to anything, and the by-law will no doubt be carried by a handsome majority. Why these grumblers do the latter is that a very large majority of the ratepayers are far seeing enough to know that Lakefield will in time become a large town, and it requires liberal minded men at the head of affairs to make it such.

AN OFFER.—Mr. Harvey W. Pearson has requested me to state that he is willing to give $100 to Mrs. Hunter if she can prove that he ever spoke to or intimated to her that he wished to purchase the tavern now occupied by Mr. Mason.

HURWOOD.

VILLAGE FINANCE.—The audited treasurer's statement for the village for the year 1885, shows a balance on hand of $150.15, the total receipts amounting to $2,751.63 and total expenditures to $3,606.48.

LECTURE.—The Rev. E. F. Torrance of Peterborough, in the Presbyterian church on Tuesday evening last, delivered a lecture on "Martin Luther." The lecture was instructive and able and was listened to by a large and appreciative audience. This is the last lecture of the course and our Presbyterian friends deserve the thanks of the people of the village for providing such a series of rich literary treats.

CARRIAGE SHOP BURNED.—On Tuesday morning, last, between four and five o'clock, our citizens were aroused from their peaceful slumbers by the alarm of fire. On investigation it was found that Minaker's carriage factory was in flames and that the fire had made such headway that it would be utterly useless to attempt to save the building. The "bucket brigade" consequently confined their attention to saving the adjoining buildings and to their efforts is mainly due the fact that Messrs. Minaker's and Armstrong's dwelling houses were not consumed. As it was these buildings which had narrow escape, Mr. Armstrong's residence being badly scorched. The window frames and eaves on one side were burned black and it was only by the most strenuous efforts of those present that the building escaped destruction. Mr. Minaker's loss amounts to $2,500 and is only covered by $300 of insurance. The fire is supposed to have originated in the coal bin. Mr. Armstrong's loss will amount to nearly $150.—Register.

COBOW.

MASONIC SUPPER.—The members of St. John's lodge, No. 16 of the Masonic order, gave their brother members, Messrs. James Clark and A. E. Barber, a farewell supper at the "Arlington" on Monday evening, March 1. It was in honor of their leaving for other fields of labor, the former having been appointed to the governmental position of mechanical superintendent of the Canadian department of the Colonial exhibition, and the latter, being ex-manager of the Cobourg and Peterborough railway, is about to enter into partnership with his brother-in-law, Mr. Lascombe, a barrister at Kingston.

Terrible Accident.

On Tuesday morning a man was found lying across the railway track on the Eglamie, opposite the Grey hall, Toronto, with both his legs cut off. O'Connell Shiel had his legs removed to the hospital. He gave his name as James McDonald, but refused to state where he lived. The injured man succumbed to his injuries shortly after his admission to the hospital. He had a C. P. R. ticket from Windsor in his pocket. He was about thirty years of age and poorly clad. It is not known how the accident occurred further than that the unfortunate was run over by a freight train, which passed under the influence of liquor. No inquiry was held, as it was considered that the deceased committed suicide.

THE FASHIONS

Morning Dresses.

At home and in private houses nothing is prettier than a loose breakfast and morning wrapper. These are not properly worn at hotels. For negligence notes in general they are quite bewitching when tastefully made, besides being so very comfortable.

A dishabille to be really convenient can only be cut in one way—princess shape, without a train. Lace wrappers are as elegant as ball dresses. For instance, a short skirt is of light pink satin merveilleux, plaited lengthwise. Down either side are panels of Valenciennes lace insertion, surrounded by the same kind of lace. The lower parts of these panels are pointed and have pink moire bows. The Valenciennes polonaise is prettily draped and shows the front of the skirt and a pink satin vest. This vest is also open and has the edges fastened against a Valenciennes chemise. Down either side of the vest are tiny pink pearl buttons. Around the neck of the polonaise is a full lace ruching closed in front under a pink bow.

Another wrapper, different, but equally handsome, is the one in

FIG. 1—LACE WRAPPER.

It is of lace, over a colored fabric of silk, foulard or satin. If satin is used, with the cheap piece lace that is now so common, this handsome morning dress is not at all expensive. Light blue or rose pink satens are extremely pretty, shining out through the lace. The wrapper in Fig. 1 has a Watteau plait in the back, fastened flat down at the waist, and for eight inches below the waist. Beyond that it spreads out in the skirt. A short train is shown in the illustration, but the dress is just as well made without it. The colored satin is cut to fit the waist plain in the Watteau plait. Only the lace is doubled over in the Watteau plait. The means of the skirt are slashed at the bottom and the edges turned back to form revers, the space being filled with fan plaitings of lace. A long lace scarf is attached at the throat and tied on the front, and ribbon bows trim the waist and skirt.

FIG. 2—CARMINE WRAPPER.

Lead-colored cashmere with black velvet are the materials of which this morning gown is composed in the model. The front spreads apart from the waist down, opening on a plaited collar; the latter is in three parts, the two shorter forming fountains across the bottom of the skirt, and the longer a plaiting extending from the throat to the first founce. Three bands of velvet, ornamented with a button at the ends, extend down the sides and around the bottom of the demi-trained skirt. The collar and cuffs are of the same velvet.

Dressing the Hair.

The Hair Dressing association of New York, which also comprises the leading hair dressers of that and other cities, have issued the following "Fashion Notes on Ladies' Hair Dressing":

A great change has quietly taken place in hair dressing fashions. Fashionable ladies, tired of the high styles, are gradually wearing the Catogan braid or wavy curls low on the neck, worn by the London and Parisian ladies last winter. The Puritan style of hair cutting, close all over the head, and shaved in saucer bang on the forehead, which was quite a favorite with sporting ladies, has been eagerly adopted by our shop girls, perhaps because it saves time. This style is not worn any more in Europe, and the sooner it is discontinued here the better for our fair countrywomen.

The back hair for daily wear is dressed in Catogan braid about two lines from the nape of the neck, looped up, and a figure 8 made of wavy tresses on the crown, closed to the front curls. For evening wear the hair is dressed in fluffy curls in front, Pompadour style, and the back hair in wavy loops, not too large, but long ending in two or three graceful, wavy curls falling on the neck.

FROM ALL OVER

NATIONAL PILLS is the favorite purgative and anti-bilious medicine, they are mild and thorough.

Mr. Percy Wood, the English artist, has finished a fine statue of Grant, which is to be erected in Bradford next summer.

Worms often destroy children, but Freeman's Worm Powders destroy worms, and expel them from the system.

Messrs. Harrington and Davitt, who were nominees for election to the Dublin Chamber of Commerce, have been rejected by that body.

A CRYING EVIL.—Children are often fretful and ill when worms is the cause. Dr. Low's Worm Syrup safely expels all worms.

It is stated that the Toronto and Fredericton infant schools will compose the North-West flying column, and that they will start about the end of this month.

To REMOVE DANDRUFF.—Cleanse the scalp with Prof. Low's Magic Hairbrush Soap. A delightful medicated soap for the toilet.

The Executive Committee of the Ontario Manufacturers' Association met in Toronto on Tuesday, and prepared a constitution for the proposed Dominion Association.

It is spring. A resurrection of nature's latent forces is taking place. Like the world around you, renew your complexion, invigorate your powers, cleanse the channels of life. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the means to use for this purpose.

The new building of the Toronto University Y.M.C.A. was opened and dedicated on Tuesday. The building cost $4,000, and was furnished by Ladies of Toronto at an expenditure of $800.

Is your hair turning gray and falling out? Hall's Hair Renewer will restore it to its original color, and stimulate the follicles to produce a new and luxuriant growth. It cleanses the scalp, eradicates dandruff, and is a most agreeable and harmless dressing.

The Dominion Franchise Act of last session has added about thirteen hundred voters to the list for West Hastings. About fifteen hundred have also been added in the city of Hamilton.

A HOUSE OF GREAT TROUBLE.—Probably the most prolific source of chronic ill is indigestion or dyspepsia, causing unhealthy blood. Yet taken in time it is positively curable. Hurdock Blood Bitters has cured some of the worst cases known, even of 15 years' duration. It troubled with indigestion try it.

Toronto Presbytery at its meeting on Tuesday decided to correspond with the Presbyterian Church in the United States with a view to international action towards minimizing the evil of Sunday work on railways.

"What is good for a cold?" is a question often asked, and seldom satisfactorily answered. We can answer to the satisfaction of all, if they will follow our advice and try Hagar's Pectoral Balm, a safe, pleasant and certain throat and lung balm, sold by all druggists.

MURRAY & LAMAR'S FLORIDA WATER.—We earnestly urge every purchaser to ask for that which is prepared by Messrs. Lamman & Kemp, New York, who are the sole proprietors of the true perfume. All other so-called Florida Waters are only ordinary Colognes.

The Canadian Niagara Falls park arbitrators met at the Falls on Tuesday and commenced their labours. The case of Mr. John Bush was first taken, and was not concluded when the arbitrators adjourned.

"HURTS AND KILLS"—If you are so unfortunate as to injure yourself in this way we can suggest a remedy that will (we speak from experience) soon relieve you of all pain and quickly heal the wound it comes from, treating the same and is sold by all druggists—ask for Perry Davis' Pain-Killer.

IS GOOD REPETE.—James McMurdoch, writing from Kinross, says: "B. H. H., as a remedy for diseases of the blood, liver and kidneys, has an excellent reputation in this locality. I have used it, and speak from experience as well as observation. It is the only medicine I want, and I advise others afflicted to try it."

It is announced that the Queen will lay the corner stone of a medical college on the Embankment towards the latter end of the present month, will take other opportunities of appearing in public in the near future.

HANDY TO HAVE.—Every household should have some ready remedy at hand for painful diseases, sudden attacks of inflammation and accidental injuries. Such a remedy is best found in Hagar's Yellow Oil for internal and external use. It cures rheumatism, sore throat, sprains, neuralgia, lame back, sprains, bruises and burns.

WHAT A wonderful discovery is Perry Davis' Pain-Killer! It not only cures the life of the human family, but is also the sure remedy for horses with colic. It has never been known to fail in a cure of the worst cases; and for sprains, galls, &c., it never fails—try it once. Directions accompany each bottle. Sold by druggists generally.—Keweenaw County (N.Y.) Democrat.

Archbishop Tache was interviewed in Montreal on Tuesday on the probability of an Indian or half breed rising in the North West this spring. His answer stated that the felt confident nothing of the kind would take place, both the Indians and half-breeds being more than contented with their liberal treatment by the Dominion Government.

THERE IS NOTHING LIKE IT.—There is no one remedy offered to suffering humanity whose use is so universally and frequently required as Hagar's Yellow Oil, for rheumatism, neuralgia, colds, sore throat, deafness, croup, lumbago and aches, pains, lameness and soreness of all kinds, when internally and externally used.

A GREAT AWAKENING.—There is a great awakening of the sluggish organs of the human system whenever Burdock Blood Bitters are taken. It arouses the torpid liver to action, regulates the bowels and the kidneys, purifies the blood, and restores a healthy tone to the system generally.

If you are afflicted with rheumatism call on J. D. Tully, druggist, immediately and procure a bottle of West's World's Wonder or Family Liniment. It is a certain and positive cure. It is infallible for sprains, cuts, bruises, burns, sores and all diseases requiring external application. Price, 25 and 50 cents per bottle. Sold by J. D. Tully, druggist.

Cholera Preventative.—In order to withstand cholera and such like epidemic a perfect purity of blood, and the proper action of the stomach, are required. To insure that end, the cheapest, most available and complete manner, use McMurdoch's Spicy cure for cholera and impure blood. There is no purifier, safer or more reliable remedy in existence for indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation, &c. Ask your neighbor or any person who has used it. Sold by John McLean. Trial bottle given free.

Forewarned

of danger by the condition of your blood, as shown in pimples, blotches, boils, or discolorations of the skin; or by a feeling of languor, induced, perhaps, by inactivity of the stomach, liver, and kidneys, you should take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It will renew and invigorate your blood, and cause the vital organs to properly perform their functions. If you suffer from Rheumatism,

or Neuralgia, a few bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla will relieve and cure you. Alice Kendall, 218 Tremont st., Boston, Mass., writes: "I have been troubled with Neuralgia, pain in the arm, and weakness, and have found greater relief from Ayer's Sarsaparilla than from any other remedy." J. C. Tolman, of Merrimack, Lowell, Mass., writes: "In no other remedy have I ever found such a happy relief from Rheumatism as in with Ayer's Sarsaparilla, there need be no fear of Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, St. Rheum, Tetters, Eczema, Catarrh, Liver troubles, or any of the diseases arising from a poisonous taint in the blood." Geo. Barwood, Big Springs, Ohio, writes: "Ayer's Sarsaparilla has been used in my family for a number of years. I was a constant sufferer from Dyspepsia,

Forearmed

but Ayer's Sarsaparilla effected a permanent cure. Seven years ago my wife was troubled with Dyspepsia, two bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla cured her, and she has never had any return of the disease. I regard the preparation as the best medicine in use for the blood." B. Barnard Wair, 75 Adams st., Lynn, Mass., writes: "For many years I suffered terribly from Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and Constipation. Almost hopeless, I took Ayer's Sar-

THURSDAY, MARCH 4, 1886.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours commencing from 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Northwest and west winds, fair and a little milder weather.

GENTS' CARRIAGE JACKETS marked down to cost to make room for spring goods at ANDREW McNEIL'S, George street.

Announcement.

With confidence we make the announcement on first page of a special list of our Spring importations, and in doing so we pledge ourselves to maintain throughout the season that high standard of merit for the best quality of fine dry goods for which the "Golden Lion" is noted. R. K. K.

A Portrait.

Quite a number of lovers of art have been attracted to Mr. N. H. Ramey's studio, over China Hall, within the last few days. The attraction is a three fourths length portrait in oil of the wife of Mr. C. A. Weller. The subject, which has been imported an eminent degree of animation, is well treated in every particular. The velvet brocade on the dress has a dainty appearance, and the green silk, on which it stands, has the faint green which tells of the texture. The background consists of exquisitely commingled light and shade, the end of an antique cabinet, and appropriate appointments. The portrait is enclosed in a gilded frame. It may be seen for the next few days.

Knights of Labor.

A meeting of the Knights of Labor was held in Trenton's hall on Wednesday evening at eight o'clock, for the purpose of laying open the membership roll and for the purpose of completing the organization of the Peterborough branch of this labor organization. The attendance was large and the meeting was an enthusiastic one. Owing, however, to the absence of Mr. March, of Toronto, the Provincial Organizer, who found it impossible to be present, it was decided to postpone the completion of the organization until next Wednesday evening, when Mr. March will be present and will deliver an address. The prospects of a strong branch being organized in Peterborough are bright.

Redpath Concert Company.

The Redpath Concert Company gave an entertainment in Bradburn's Opera House on Wednesday evening, under the auspices of Ontario Ladies of Oddfellows. The Company consisted of three ladies and two gentlemen. Miss Ella Chamberlin, whistling soloist, Miss Edith Christie, solo violinist, Miss H. Louise Warner, soprano, Mr. John Gilder, pianist, and Mr. Frank G. Rynde, humorous vocalist. The audience filled the reserved seats and about half of the back seats. Mr. Gilder, who opened the concert by giving a piano solo, is a finished pianist. He possesses alike firmness and dexterity of touch, as well as the easy gliding glissando. His position is natural, and without apparent effort his fingers chase each other through the hidden windings of harmony. Local amateurs who work themselves up to paroxysms of emphasis, doubtless profited by Mr. Gilder's example in this respect on Wednesday evening. The whistling of Miss Chamberlin was as charming as it was novel. At each appearance she was loudly applauded, and as many times recalled. Her rendition of that so much bandied "Mocking Bird" was exquisite. Mr. Rynde's was down on the programme as a "humorous" vocalist. When he commenced singing a doleful and soulful dirge, many of the audience smiled and wondered where the fun was. This came afterwards. His humorous songs, as well as his recitals, were highly appreciated, especially the last, "The Musical Party," the rendering of which called forth a storm of applause. Miss Christie's violin playing was very pleasing. Her bowing is graceful and the music drawn from the four strings such as merited the warmest approbation. She was frequently recalled. Miss Warner was apparently suffering from a cold, which impaired to her low and middle notes a roughness. Her singing, however, even under these circumstances, was received with approval by the audience. She was twice encored. The concert altogether was very successful.

The toboggan race, which was to come off this evening has been postponed on account of the water on the pond.

Twenty-four Times

Round the large rink on the glare ice is the distance of the race between Mr. J. Shewlin and the "unknown," to be skated on Friday evening, March 12th, at the grand carnival under the auspices of the Fire Brigade Band. Wait for it.

Trent Valley Canal Deputation.

Mr. E. A. Peck, Secretary of the Committee of the Trent Valley Canal Deputation, has received a letter from Mr. George Hilliard, M. P., stating he has arranged with the Minister of Railways and Canals to receive the deputation on March 11th, the day decided upon by the Committee.

Carey's Work.

Mr. Johnston Carey is confident that the large circle of customers who have entrusted their orders for measured work during the last number of years, are well aware of the quality of the goods he has supplied. The high standard of work, he says, will be kept up in the future, and that he will, with increased facilities, turn out even superior goods. Sale of imported stock now going on.

Arrived in Toronto.

The Toronto Mail says:—"The Right Rev. Dr. Jamot, Bishop of Peterborough, arrived in the city on Wednesday, having just returned from Rome. Bishop Jamot was in the Eternal city on November 14 to make the necessary returns regarding his diocese. His reports having been received very kindly by the Holy Father. He will remain at St. Michael's palace till Friday, when he will proceed to Peterborough."

Coming to a Focus.

The contest for the President's and Vice President's medals, for which nearly all the members of the curling club have taken part during the last couple of months, is now coming to a focus. Mr. Atwell, Mr. Ferguson and Mr. Budden alone remain to cross beams. The all but final draw will be played this evening between Messrs. Ferguson and Budden, and the winner will then enter in the deciding draw with Mr. Atwell.

A Find.

While Mr. J. Keyes, of Peterborough, was employed in assisting the injured from the railway wreck on the Grand Junction road on Tuesday, he found a sum of money. None of the passengers claiming it at the time he held possession of it awaiting the owner. Having to leave town for a few days he has left the find at Mr. J. Braden's. By reference to an advertisement it will be seen that by proving property the owner will be given the money.

It is Probable.

—That the Knights of Labor will be March into line next Wednesday night.

—That the bachelor's ball will be a brilliant success.

—That the "small pox" rocket will be in vogue at the Police Court for a while.

—That the Magistrate will soon "catch on."

—That small boys will arm themselves with tin whistles and take a shy at the "Mocking Bird."

It May be Remarkable.

—That the new Chief of Police took the oath of office yesterday afternoon.

—That he will not don the uniform for the next few days.

—That the Tobogganers and Snowshoers take possession of the Riverside park this afternoon.

—That the final tie honor will be a budding at the risk this evening.

—That everybody is wishing for windfalls.

—That though there are a host of Smiths the particular Dicks are remarkably scarce.

A New Citizen.

Mr. J. Meldrum, of Paris, Ont., has arrived in town, and is engaged in overseeing the rejuvenation of Clegg's Mills, of which he is to become proprietor. This flourishing mill, when completed, will have as large a capacity as any in Peterborough, and fitted with the latest improvements will doubtless, in the hands of Mr. Meldrum, turn out a first class article. The Brant Review, of February 26th, contains an account of a complimentary dinner given to Mr. Meldrum on the eve of his departure for Peterborough. Mr. J. Allen, in proposing the health of the guest of the evening, referred with many eulogistic remarks to the high moral worth of Mr. Meldrum, his studious habits and his thorough knowledge of those branches of mechanics which he was likely to require in his business. Now, says it was the energetic, enterprising man, such as Mr. Meldrum, who succeeds in the milling business; old foggies who took no pains to be up with the times were useless. Millers had to keep pace with the improvements in their machinery and system if they were to achieve success. He testified to the neighborly qualities of Mr. Meldrum, who had visited beside him for some time. B. H. was so much and kept obnoxious, yet had never had an unpleasantness. Mr. Meldrum responded suitably to the toast. Mr. Henry T. Tim then came forward and read the following address:—

PARIS, Feb. 25, 1886.

To Mr. Meldrum: We, the employees of the New Paris Mills, having a great respect for our esteemed foreman, Mr. Meldrum, and regretting his departure from us, we feel it our duty to present you with this gold watch, as a token of our esteem. Please accept this gift from your well-wishing friends.

Signed on behalf of the employees, JOHN WILES, HARRY TATUM, THOMAS BUTTON, JOHN P. KEAVENY, HENRY METCALF, WM. PATTERSON.

Toasts to "The Corporation," "The Employees," "The Parisians," "The Press," and others were drunk, and the company separated after singing "Auld Land Syne."

GENTS' LINED KID GLOVES marked down to cost to make room for spring goods at ANDREW McNEIL'S, George street.

BISHOP JAMOT'S ARRIVAL.

His Lordship is to come home to-morrow. A Reception.

Bishop Jamot, of Peterborough, arrived in Toronto yesterday and remained there last night and to-day. He will arrive in Peterborough to-morrow by the noon train on the Grand Trunk. He will on his arrival, proceed to the Cathedral, where a formal reception will be tendered.

Better.

Mr. D. A. Flemming, representing Messrs. Gault Bros. & Company, Montreal, who was injured in the railway accident on Tuesday is considerably better to-day. Mrs. Flemming arrived in town this morning. Mr. Flemming contemplates returning to Montreal to-morrow.

Anti-Sawdust Association.

An Ottawa despatch to the Mail on March 3d says:—

"A deputation consisting of Messrs. Burnham, M. P., Guillet, M. P., and Edwards of the Peterborough Anti-Sawdust Association, waited on the Minister of Marine this afternoon, to represent to him that the throwing of sawdust in the river in the vicinity of Peterborough impeded navigation, killed the fish, and produced malarial fevers, and to ask him to prohibit this mode of disposing of mill refuse. The Minister promised to take the subject into consideration."

THOMAS KELLY'S

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, MARCH 5, 1886.

VIEWS IN ACCORD.

BRING one of that section of the Reform party that is now engaged in upholding rebellion and murder the London Advertiser says:—
Discussing the case of Mr. Gaspard Picaud, the position taken by the Tories in the Ontario House seems to be that a seasonal clerk should not be retained if his views are not on all questions in accord with those of the Government.
The "Tories" both in and out of the Ontario House take the position that a man like Picaud should not be employed at the expense of the people of Ontario because, as Mr. Mowat confesses, his views are in accord with those of the Government, that Canadian judges, Canadian jurors and the Canadian executive are murderers because justice was done to the murderous rebel Picaud according to law. These are the views of Mr. Mowat and Mr. Picaud, but not of the loyal men of Ontario.

The Hatching Risk.

The Band will be at the risk to-night.

New Store.

Mr. H. S. Griffin is now in town to make preparations for opening up a new dry goods and millinery business on George Street, which his firm purpose to do in about a fortnight.

We may expect another strike after this. One hundred men's Cordovan Hand-sewed Lace Boots, five dollars each, former price $6.50, at JOHNSTON CAREY'S.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Moderate winds, generally fair weather, stationary or slightly higher temperatures.

Last of the Season.

Doubtless all the lovers of skating will avail themselves of the opportunity presented of attending the last grand revival of the season on the evening of Friday, March 12th, under the auspices of the Fire Brigade Band. The management are determined that this carnival will be the crowning event of the season.

Local Directory.

Mr. W. H. Morrey, publisher of Morrey's Directory, is now in town at the Grand Central Hotel to provide for the immediate delivery of the Farmers and Business Directory for Peterborough, Victoria, Northumberland and Durham. The directory is well printed, bound and arranged so that the information it contains will be found readily available and of much value to our merchants, &c.

Bachelors and Bachelorettes.

The bachelors and bachelorettes ball given in the Opera House on Thursday evening was a very successful and brilliant affair. The large area of available floor was kept well occupied throughout the evening. There were about two hundred people present, many from Port Hope, Lindsay, Cobourg, and other places being among the guests. An orchestra of six pieces, from Toronto, supplied the music. Mr. H. Long superintended the refreshment tables, which were richly laden and beautifully decorated, standing in the large hall adjoining the Opera House. The lady patronesses were Mrs. Hamilton, Mrs. Bocher, Mrs. Weller, Mrs. Oude, Mrs. Halliday, Mrs. Morrow, Mrs. J. E. Hammond, Mrs. Grubbe, Mrs. G. Barnham and Mrs. O'Sullivan. The committee of management was composed of the following named gentlemen:—Messrs. R. A. Morrow, C. A. Waller, Dr. Bocher, J. E. Hammond, Dr. Barnham, H. A. Hammond, A. St. A. Smith, J. G. Macchia, C. A. Lawford, J. Morris, A. Stevenson, E. A. Peck. The names of the stewards are as follows:—Messrs. R. A. Morrow, C. A. Waller, Dr. Bocher, Dr. Barnham, A. St. A. Smith, J. G. Macchia, C. A. Lawford, J. Morris. The assemblage dispersed at an early hour this morning.

Chamberlain's Parlor Dining Rooms.

Suppers, Luncheons, etc., will be served in suits at all hours.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

THE FOURTH SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

Railway Legislation—The Consolidated Statutes—Landers Re-elected—The Cost of the Rebels.

STANDING COMMITTEES.
WEDNESDAY, March 3.—Mr. Corbett moved that Messrs. Dewar, Amyot and Bergeron, who had not been put on the Standing Committees by either party, be added to various Committees.

The Government assented on condition of adding additional Conservative names, which was done.

RAILWAY LEGISLATION.
Mr. McCARTHY introduced three bills, as to railway commissioners, carriers by land, and compensation for railway accidents.

CONSOLIDATED STATUTES.
Mr. THOMPSON introduced a bill to adopt the revised consolidated statutes.

NORTH-WEST LANDS.
Mr. THOMPSON introduced a bill to establish the "Terrace" system of land registration in the North-West.

THE CHARLTON ISLANDS.
The Hon. THOS. WHITE, in reply to Mr. Wallace (York) read that 308 applications for licenses to cut timber in the disputed territory since 1872 had been received. Of these 103 were granted in 1883, 126 in 1884, and 3 in 1885. No licenses had been issued for 1886. In 1883, 48 orders-in-council were issued authorizing the issue of licenses, and 60 in 1884. For the ground rent of timber $18,000 was received. Three persons are now entitled to cut timber in this territory by license from the Dominion. Sixty-three permits had been issued since 1872 to cut timber, including 14 in 1882, 28 in 1883, and 16 in 1884. None had been issued since May, 1884, and there were none now in force. Under the permits $37,000 had been collected. No refunds were made to persons who did not cut under their licenses.

THE PUBLIC DEBT.
Mr. McLELLAN, in reply to Sir Richard Cartwright, said the net public debt was $306,065,218 on March 1st.

NORTH-WEST CLAIMS.
Sir ADOLPHUS CARON, in reply to Mr. Casey, said the report of the commission on North-West claims would be laid on the table in a few days.

NORTH-WEST POPULATION.
Mr. CARLTON, in reply to Mr. Charlton, said 7,240 settlers had settled in Manitoba and the North-West territories during 1885. The census of the Assiniboia, Alberta and Saskatchewan districts was taken in August 1885, with the result: Whites 23,344, Indians 20,170, half-breeds 4,848, total 48,362.

COST OF THE REBELS.
Sir A. CARON, in reply to Sir Richard Cartwright, said that since July 1, 1885, till March 1, 1886, the rebellion expenditure was $2,286,960. The amount expended up to July 1, 1885, was $1,700,000. So that outside of compensation for losses in the rebellion, the expenditure in the field and for transport has been nearly four millions.

FLOOR FOR THE INDIANS.
Sir JOHN MACDONALD, in reply to Mr. Patterson (Brn.) said the floor for the Indians was inspected by persons not connected with the Government.

MORE PAPERS WANTED.
Mr. BLAKE and others wanted more papers about R. E. L.

REVISING OFFICERS.
Mr. CAREY made an attack upon the judges as revising officers.

Mr. CHAPLEAU exposed the fallacies of the charges.

Mr. CAMERON (Humb.) continued the assault upon the judges till recess, when the House adjourned.

Pianos.
Two very good second hand Pianos for sale cheap at E. J. Hartley's Music Store.

Business Chance.
In another column will be found the advertisement of Mr. Thos. Bradburn, offering for sale the stock-in-trade of the Town Clock Grocery. The stock is a good one, and there should be numerous applicants for the business.

Announcement.
With confidence we make the announcement on first page of a partial list of our Spring importations, and in doing so we pledge ourselves to maintain throughout the season that high standard of merit for the best quality of fine dry goods for which the "Golden Lion" is noted. R. FAIR.

Building Brick.
So completely was the local supply of brick exhausted last season what scarcely a vestige of burned clay could be found in any of the brickyards. Preparations for next season's building operations have already begun, but builders and themselves compelled to import the bricks required. A very good quality of white brick being brought from Millbrook.

Far from Home.
Mr. R. B. McKee while recently on a visit from Peterborough was in a New York theatre. While reading the programme of the performance saw among the surrounding extracts one from the Burke's Falls "Arrow" published in Muskoka by Mr. W. A. Kelsey, an old resident and well known in Peterborough. The paragraph had gone a long way from home to the Commercial Metropolis of the United States.

GLADSTONE'S LAND SCHEME.
LONDON, March 4.—It is stated upon the authority of leading members of the Irish party that Mr. Gladstone has prepared and will submit to Mr. Parrell for consideration a land bill the provisions of which secure to the Government the right to purchase Irish estates for the purpose of selling them in parcels to tenant farmers at a valuation amounting to their year's rent at the present rates, and accompanying a resolution providing for Home Rule.

BURNED TO DEATH.
MANCHESTER, Va., March 4.—Mrs. Jan. P. Sampson and her daughter, Martha, were fatally burned yesterday. The young lady was dressing when her clothing caught fire from a stove. She was instantly enveloped in flames. The mother came to her assistance and her clothing ignited and she was burned from head to foot. Mrs. Sampson died last evening.

WHAT THE CARLISTS OFFERED.
LONDON, March 4.—The Madrid correspondent of the Times says: "The Carlites, before the death of King Alfonso, offered a reward of $100,000 for his head, and that when a man volunteered to assassinate the King, the Carlites backed out."

ENGLAND AND THE VATICAN.
LONDON, March 4.—The German of Berlin writes that the English Government has decided to have an accredited agent at the Vatican. The Affaire de Rome believes that the English agent will not be Sir George Erskine.

STORM IN GREAT BRITAIN.
LONDON, March 4.—The snowstorm which has been raging for several days across the northern part of Great Britain is now ceasing. The off-rains among the mountains on the north coast, which have been snowed in the storm, has been very great. Some trains were subside in snowdrifts for four or five hours. The loss of cattle in transit is enormous.

RE-BUILDING OF ROME.
BERLIN, March 4.—The German press loudly protests that the proposed re-building of Rome will result in the destruction of its remaining antiquities. Memorials are being signed by artists and architects everywhere, protesting against the sacrifice of Roman buildings to modern architecture. The National Zeitung warns the municipal authorities of Rome that it may learn in an unpleasant manner what are the views of the world of culture.

A RUPTURE.
PARIS, March 4.—Negotiations for the Congo loan have been broken off. A French commission went to Congo to meet a Belgian commission for the purpose of delimiting the boundary line between the territory of France and that of the Congo State. The French commission waited a month, but the Belgians did not come out to meet them. The French commission is now returning home. Premier de Freycinet has demanded an explanation from the Belgian Government.

STRIKE IN THE SHOE TRADE.
The Difference Still Unsolved—New Point of Difference.

We regret to find that the difference between the Shoemakers' Union and Mr. Johnston Carey still remains unsolved, though we hope this will not long be the case.

On Thursday morning Mr. Carey sent the following communication to the Union:—
John Wells, Esq., Secy Shoemakers' Union:

DEAR SIR,—I am prepared to pay your bill of wages dated April 1st, 1882, on order of work.

J. CAREY.

Peterborough, March 4th, 1886.

On the same afternoon a delegation from the Union called on Mr. Carey and presented the following document to him for signature:—

"I will pay the Union bill of wages of April 1st, 1882, not asking any discount for the use of my machinery. All men of the present Union or any who may come hereafter work for me shall be paid the full bill, and each man shall be given out his work and shall finish it himself. No team work will be asked from Union Men. Nor will I get custom work made by factory of team work. I will also withdraw my suit against the town papers. I will also discontinue Antoine Dumas."

Peterborough, March 4th, 1886.

"At a meeting of the Shoemakers' Union of Peterborough held in Treasurer's Hall on March 4th, 1886, it was agreed, seconded and carried unanimously that if Mr. Carey signs the above stipulations this Union will withdraw the strike from his shop."

JOHN S. WELLS
Secretary of Union.

Peterborough, March 4th, 1886.

Mr. Carey declined to sign the document as interfering with the management of his factory and with his right to employ such workmen as he found to suit him.

As Mr. Carey has conceded the main point originally at issue, it appears as if an arbitration could easily settle the details of carrying this out in an amicable manner. We hope this comes will be adopted by both sides, and with satisfactory results.

As to the contention in the above document about suits against newspapers, we may remark that we have received notice of such proceedings from Mr. Carey's lawyers. We took it only to right it, say that we disclaim any concurrence with or responsibility for the words objected to, which were inadvertently inserted in the absence of the editor. We cannot enforce any restriction on the character of his goods, having had no personal experience of their satisfactory quality. This phrase of the question is, however, a matter quite apart from the question of wages.

We again express our hope that by mutual agreement or the decision of disinterested arbitrators a speedy and may be put to this trouble which cannot be to the advantage of either employer, employed or the community.

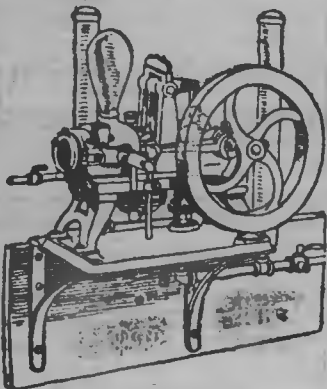

Riots in New York.
There were serious riots in New York on Thursday on account of the street railway strike. The lines were blocked, C. R. Wines occurred between the mob and the police, the latter using their clubs freely, and many were wounded.

SCIENCE & PROGRESS

Gas Pumping Engines.

In New York there is not sufficient water pressure from the reservoir to lift water above the first or second floors of buildings. It is, therefore, necessary to pump it. Various devices have been invented for this purpose—hand, dog, steam and other powers. But the most unique, the one at once the most simple and scientific, is apparently a gas-pumping engine that has been in use a little while. It is a machine that would be well adapted for use in all cities where there is difficulty in raising water.

CROWN GAS-PUMPING ENGINE.

The pumping engine consists of a strong iron table, secured to an iron base, upon which are supported, at the opposite ends, the power cylinder and the fly wheel and shaft bearings. The motion of the piston is imparted by the piston rod to the rocker arm, which drives the pump, and a uniform steady motion is maintained by the heavy fly wheel. The engine may be set up in the basement, kitchen or any other part of a building. Screw it fast in its place by the iron brackets. It is the water suction pipe, P is the pump.

The motor force of the machine is obtained by the explosive property of gas when mingled with air. A chamber is arranged which admits the gas, and where it is mingled with air. It is ignited in a jet in such a way as to cause a series of tiny explosions. These drive the rod. The heavy fly wheel maintains a steady motion. The pump works noiselessly on, and the flow of water is in a steady stream. After being once set up it can be started at any moment instantly with a match. It is as easily managed as the turn-on and off of a gas jet.

It looks almost like a toy engine, it is so small and well finished. Yet it is able to lift 500 gallons of water an hour, to a height of fifty feet. The expense of the gas used is astonishingly small. It is said to be only two cents an hour.

The Fastest Sailing Vessel.

Capt. Samuel, an old-time mariner, has been recently recalling some facts about the clipper sailing ship, the Dreadnought. This famous old vessel actually once crossed the ocean, from New York to Queenstown, in nine days and seventeen hours. She was the swiftest sailing vessel ever built.

THE OLD DREADNOUGHT.

The Dreadnought, in which Capt. Samuel gained his reputation, was built at Newburyport, Mass., in 1853, and when on her first return trip from Liverpool she ran in over the Ready Hook bar before the Cunard steamer, which sailed a day earlier, had reached Boston. It was as much the mass as the ship. She was not very sharp, but she was wonderfully well proportioned in hull and spar, and carried royals when an ordinary boat would be hoisted under a goose wing in the mainmast. Though she was built over thirty years ago, her time on that famous passage has never been equaled by a sailer. To this day the average steamship does not beat it.

The Curare Poison.

A French writer gives the following graphic description of the action of curare on animals:

"But see, doctor, what has that great spotted dog taken! He is but lightly fastened to the plank, and that calm-looking gentleman best his heavy blows on the most tender parts, and yet he neither moves nor barks, nor shows the slightest indication of suffering."

Do not trust appearances. That animal has been curarized. He is kept alive by artificial respiration. Now they are about to experiment on a squirrel. A few drops of the thick solution of the curare are injected under his skin, and he is left alone in his cage. For three or four minutes he seems to feel nothing; then, irritated with a slight pain, he appeals to his masters from his highest bar. Soon fatigue overcomes him; he drops on the floor. He turns his head and takes the nut we offer him; but he puts aside this favorite food. His eyes close, respiration ceases, although the heart still beats.

"But surely death must be very easy in this case, with neither spasms nor convulsions!"

On the contrary, you cannot imagine a more frightful death. Curare acts on the nerves of movement, without affecting those of sensibility. That dog feels intense suffering, but can make no movement to express it. That seems difficult to prove, but it has been discovered in this way: A bandage is tied round a frog in such a way that all the system of nerves shall be subject to the influence of the poison except those of the thigh. He is then curarized; and all the nerves of movement are paralyzed, except those of the hind legs. The convulsions of the hind feet will show the suffering of the poor little beast. Now if the animal is pricked in the fore foot, the head or the chest, he can make no movement to avoid the torture; but the desperate convulsions of his hind legs which are thus induced, indicate how sensitive he remains to pain.

A man possessed by a sub-conscious intention of curare would watch his own agony without the power to make a gesture, and would feel paralysis creep gradually over his limbs, his head, and the muscles of his jaws. In intense vividness he would realize one of those horrid nightmares in which one struggles to fly or cry, but feels nailed to the ground, and the voice arrested in the throat. While preserving the most placid appearance, the anguish of suffocation would creep on the muscles of inspiration being affected in their turn, and the air no longer reaching the lungs. The heart would keep on beating and the brain would retain all its intelligence, anticipating and analyzing every step towards the final termination.

Children Born With Seal-like Claws.

Two hairy children are being exhibited at a London aquarium, and are exciting scientific curiosity. They are natives of Paraguay of light complexion, intelligent, and members of a family with skins as smooth as ordinary. Their backs are completely covered with fine, dark-colored hair or fur, short, soft, and unlike the black hair of the head; in the boy the hairy covering extends down the thighs to the knees. In addition to these large covered spaces, the bodies of both are covered with circular patches of fur, varying in size from that of a pea to a hand's breadth, as many as a hundred of these spots showing upon the girl. Abnormal development of the sub-cutaneous synovial sacs and other peculiarities are noted by medical observers.

Micro-Photography.

Photography is employed to recognize good wood. Micro-photographs are taken of sections, longitudinal and transverse, of standard pieces of timber bearing a certain known maximum or minimum strain. These are enlarged, and serve as comparison for other samples. Any piece which the educated eye detects to have fewer rings per inch of diameter, fewer fibres or fewer radial plates per square inch of section, is rejected. "The advantage of the method is," says The Ohio Lumber Journal, "that it allows all timber for important positions to be tested before being used."

"Red Line" Wheat Swindle.

A wheat swindle, on the plan of the Bohemian oat swindle, as nearly as we can learn, is being worked. The "company," which belongs in Ohio, through its agents proposes to sell to the farmer from 10 to 100 bushels of "Red Line" wheat, at $10 per bushel, and take a note due in a year or more; they give a bond from the company, said bond stating that the company agrees to deliver the wheat to the farmer at $10 per bushel, and sell it for him at $10 per bushel, less 25 per cent commission.—Indiana Farmer.

The House.

Indian corn should not be the exclusive food of hens in the winter, as it tends to fatten them rather than to make them lay eggs. Wheat screenings, oats, barley and buckwheat, with crushed bone, oyster shells and scrap cake, with warm water in their drinking troughs given daily, constitute a system of feeding which requires little thought or care. Hens cannot resist this feed long. If they sleep warm, have a sheltered run upon bare ground, as along the south side of a barn or fence, or under an open wagon shed, and are not overfed, eggs will reward the keeper. Poultry houses are usually too high. Plenty of air is a good thing in summer, but high quarters are always cold.

A Hybrid Grain.

The proprietors of The Rural New Yorker experiment grounds have succeeded in producing a cross between wheat and rye, which promises to be very interesting, at least. There was great variety in the heads that resulted from the cross. Some were more like rye, and were heavily bearded. Others more nearly resembled wheat, and were smoother. Some heads were small and feeble, others large and strong. They were of different colors, too—yellow, dark brown and purplish.

The experimenters are going to follow the matter up, and by planting and replanting, produce a new kind of grain, eventually. The experiment was conducted by introducing pollen from rye flowers upon the blossoms of the Landreth wheat.

Molasses Candy.

Here is an excellent recipe for making old-fashioned molasses candy. Put in a saucepan one pint of molasses, half a pint of sugar, better the size of a small egg and one tablespoonful of glycerine, and boil for twenty minutes. When the mixture is thick, try a few drops in a cup of cold water. If the drops retain their form the candy is nearly done; try a few drops more; if they are brittle, take off the saucepan immediately, and stir in a half a teaspoonful of cream of tartar, and pour the mixture into buttered pans. When it is cool enough pull until it is as white as desired. Be careful not to boil it too much. Always try the candy at the end of twenty minutes. If flavor is wished, pour the vanilla or lemon or any other essence desired on the candy before it cools.

Worth Knowing.

One spoonful of coal tar to a peck of seed corn will prevent crows from pecking up the corn.

Coal tar will have no effect on the potato bug. It will preserve stringless, if put on as they are laid, but pick tar mixed with oil and mixed with paint is much better. Fifty years ago, I helped to put stringless on a potato prepared in this way, and most of them are there yet.

Oil and pulverized charcoal will preserve fence posts, but burning the end that goes into the ground, is the best preservative. I have some posts which were prepared in this way and set in 1888, and to-day they are just as sound as ever.

Plew the Garden.

This is the time of year to begin to lay out the farm garden. Once for all, have it in the corner of a field near the house, and have a plot large enough to be tended by a man with plow and cultivator. The man who does this, and the time, and the vegetables will be larger, finer and in greater abundance and variety. Women will be spared much of the back-breaking toil which makes the farm-wife's lot a dreary one. Farm women have far too much to do where they attend to their duties properly. Everything that promises to lighten their labors should be welcomed.

A new traveling hat for women is coming from Paris. It is called the "Lady Doctor," from the name of a play in which it figured. It is a soft crush hat, with a flowing brush pompadour at the side or in front.

FROM ALL OVER

On Wednesday $500,000 of City of Toronto four per cent. bonds were sold at 104.

NATIONAL PILLS is the favorite purgative and anti-bilious medicine, they are mild and thorough.

The officers of "A" Battery have received information that twenty-five men of the battery will join the North-West flying column.

WORMS often destroy children, but Freeman's Worm Powders destroy worms, and expel them from the system.

The expenditure of the Turkish Government for armaments to the date amounts to $10,000,000, and the expenditure of Greece to $4,000,000.

A CURIOUS EVIL.—Children are often fretful and ill when worms is the cause. Dr. Low's Worm Syrup safely expels all worms.

TO REMOVE DANDRUFF.—Cleanse the scalp with Prof. Low's Magic Sulphur Soap. A delightful medicated soap for the toilet.

The president on Wednesday nominated Brigadier-General Alfred H. Merry to be major-general, vice Handcock, deceased.

A SOURCE OF GREAT TROUBLE.—Probably the most prolific source of cholera is indigestion or dyspepsia, causing unhealthy blood. Yet taken in time it is positively curable. Blood Purifier has cured some of the worst cases known, even of 15 years' duration. It troubles with indigestion try it.

Jeffrey O'Hara, who jumped from the six-story window of the Palmer house, Chicago, on Tuesday, while delirious, died in the evening.

"What is good for a cold?" is a question often asked, but seldom satisfactorily answered. We can answer to the satisfaction of all, if they will follow our advice and try Hagar's Pectoral Balsam, a safe, pleasant and certain throat and lung healer. Sold by all druggists.

The Anglican Mission collections in the Diocese of Ontario already exceed the total collections last year, many parishes having doubled the amounts collected last year.

MURRAY & LAMMAN FLORIDA WATER.—We earnestly urge every purchaser to ask for that which is prepared by Messrs Lamman & Kemp, New York, who are the sole proprietors of the true Florida Water. All other so-called Florida Waters are only ordinary Colognes.

"BURNS AND SCALDS."—If you are so unfortunate as to injure yourself in this way we can suggest a remedy that will (we speak from experience) soon relieve you of all pain and quickly heal the wound; it costs but twenty-five cents and is sold by all druggists—ask for Perry Davis' Pain Killer.

A deputation from Ottawa City Council and Carleton County Council waited upon Hon. Mr. Mowat on Wednesday and asked for the abolition of tail-pieces in the county. The city representatives also asked for more control over police and school expenditure. Mr. Mowat promised to consider the matters.

IN GOOD REPUTE.—James McMurdoch, writing from Kilmak, says:—"B. R. M., as a remedy for diseases of the blood, liver and kidneys, has an excellent reputation in this locality. I have used it, and speak from experience as well as observation. It is the only medicine I want, and I advise others afflicted to try it."

HANDY TO HAVE.—Every household should have some ready remedy at hand for painful diseases, sudden attacks of inflammation and accidents, injuries, "stomach" remedy, is based upon Hagar's Yellow Oil for internal and external use. It cures rheumatism, sore throat, croup, neuralgia, lame back, sprains, bruises and ulcers.

A deputation from Toronto City Council waited upon Hon. Mr. Mowat on Wednesday, and presented a memorial asking for improvements to the liquor license law. Mr. Mowat replied that he thought the Government would not be able to go much beyond the bill now before the Legislature, but their suggestions would be considered.

WHAT A wonderful discovery is Perry Davis Pain Killer! It not only cures the ills of the human family, but is also the sure remedy for women with pain. It has never been known to fail in a cure of the worst cases; and for sprains, pains, etc., it never fails—try it once. Directions accompany each bottle. Sold by druggists generally.—Kenton County (Ky.) Democrat.

Archbishop Tache was interviewed in Montreal on Tuesday on the probability of an Indian or half-breed rising in the North-West this spring. His Grace stated that he felt confident nothing of the kind would take place, both the Indians and half-breeds being more than contented with their liberal treatment by the Dominion Government.

THERE IS NOTHING LIKE IT.—There is no cure recently offered to suffering humanity more one is so universally and frequently required as Hagar's Yellow Oil, for rheumatism, neuralgia, colds, sore throat, deafness, croup, lumbago and aches, pains, lameness and soreness of all kinds, when internally and externally used.

A GREAT AWAKENING.—There is a great awakening of the sluggish organs of the human system whenever Burdock Blood Purifiers are taken. It arouses the torpid liver to action, regulates the bowels and the kidneys, purifies the blood, and restores a healthy tone to the system generally.

If you are afflicted with rheumatism call on J. D. Tully, druggist, immediately and procure a bottle of West's World's Wonder or Family Linctament, it is a certain and positive cure. It is infallible for sprains, cuts, bruises, burns, scalds and all diseases requiring external application. Price, 25 and 50 cents per bottle. Sold by J. D. Tully, druggist.

SATURDAY, MARCH 6, 1886.

THE CHILDREN'S RECEPTION.

Two hundred little ones at Notre Dame Convent Welcome His Lordship.

At half past three o'clock on Friday afternoon His Lordship Bishop Jamot was tendered a particularly glad welcome by the children in attendance at Notre Dame Convent.

Previous to the entrance of His Lordship into the reception hall the children had all been arranged in semi-circular rows rising tier above tier, all dressed in black, the usual convent custom. The hall was specially decorated for the occasion. The column in the centre of the room was covered with a network of white lace, divided by emerald and golden circles, a few inches apart. The arch, which separates the hall from the inner recess, was fringed with white lace, dotted with gay coloured flowers, and caught up with emerald bands at the extremities. The windows were similarly draped and the whole room was a bright, cheerful appearance.

At half past three o'clock His Lordship, entered the room accompanied by the Vicar-General Laurent, of Lindsay, Father Conway, Peterborough, Father Lavigne, Peterborough, Father Bretherton, Brantford, Father Quirk, Hamilton, Father O'Connell, Deser, Father Brown, Peter Hope, Father Kieley, Concession, Father Murray, Cobourg, Father Casey, Campbellford, Father O'Connell, Brighton, Father McCorky, Victoria Road, Father Connolly, Downeyville, Father McKiver, Fenelon Falls, Father O'Brien, Peterborough, and Mr. J. R. Stratton of the Peterborough Examiner.

His Lordship and the visitors all took seats opposite the wave of bright expectation faces. When all were seated the children bowed as one and then a song of welcome broke forth from their lips, entitled "Welcome Home from Foreign Shores." The singing was exceedingly sweet, blithe, and was without fault. Miss Dunn and Miss McCabe took the solos in this chorus.

Then several little girls that stood in the first semi-circle each recited little verses, some of which, from the droll of the delivery, created much merriment. One little one asked if His Lordship really did think of his little babies when he was away, while another wanted to know if His Lordship saw any babies in Ireland. To these His Lordship replied that he saw lots of babies, but none so good as his own little ones before him. Those who recited were Miss Cahill, Lily Simons, Kate Mahoney, May Donohue, Josie Morrow, Nellie Muncaster, Gerlie Sullivan, Susan Kelly, Eva L. Plante and Mary Muncaster.

Another chorus followed, "Once More we Greet Thee, Father Dear." This also was sung with fine effect, and in a manner which did most in charge of the training great credit. Miss Watson and Miss Hurley took the solos in this chorus. At the conclusion of this chorus Miss Eske Crommie came forward and read an address to His Lordship. The address was all in verse, expressive of gladness at his safe return, their solicitude for his safety while traveling by land and by water, their joy when they heard of his safe landing in Ireland, and their happiness at learning of his commencement of his journey homeward and his safe arrival. Miss Crommie read the address in a very pleasing manner. When the address was finished and handed to His Lordship, little Josie Morrow, a bright little girl of about five summers, came forward and presented a beautiful bouquet to His Lordship, at the same time reciting a little verse.

His Lordship replied briefly, assuring his children that he did think of them while he was away, thanking them for their beautiful address, and praising them for their very nice singing. The children all knelt to receive the episcopal benediction.

We may expect another strike after this. One hundred pair Men's Cordovan Hand-sewed Lace Boots, five dollars net, former price $6.50, at JOHNSTON CARBET.

Chamberlain's Parlor Dining Rooms Suppers, Luncheons, etc., will be served at all hours.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

THE FOURTH SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

At War with the Judge—Not all on one side—The Indians too Enlightened—Criminal or Hero.

THE REVISING OFFICERS.

THURSDAY, March 4.—Mr. Cameron (Huron) resumed his attack upon the judges with the animosity of one who had felt the weight of the law. As he made his case charges he was called upon to give names, but he prudently declined.

Mr. Cook followed with a similar attack for the same cause. He said he would make the judges Act honest, and the House burst into uncontrollable laughter at the comical ideas from such a man.

Mr. Dundas pointed out that in Victoria Judge Dean had refused some hundred Conservative applications, without there being any doubt of his acting impartially, but this showed that the judges were not all on one side.

Mr. Lester threatened the judges with dismissal when Mr. Blake came into power.

Mr. LANIERIN complained of voters' lists being sent to T. T. T. to be printed, but it was shown that this was done because the local printing office could not undertake them.

Mr. PATRICKSON (Brant), Mr. MILLER and others showed fear of the Indian vote.

Mr. LESTER continued the discussion, and the most of the instructions to revising officers were carried.

TEMPORARY LOANS.

SIR R. CARTWRIGHT and Mr. BLAKE wanted the names of those who had made temporary loans to the Government.

Mr. McLELLAN and Mr. BOWELL declined to give the names as the lenders objected in some cases.

HERO OR CRIMINAL.

Mr. BLAKE wanted more papers to make up his mind whether Riel was a murderous rebel or a murdered hero.

Mr. LAURIER, the rebel Privy Councillor and joint leader of the Opposition, also wanted papers.

THE MILITIA.

SIR A. CARON brought down the report of his department.

DECEIVED CANADIANS.

A Party of Ship Carpenters Enticed to Detroit, Where a Strike is in Progress.

DETROIT, Mich., March 4.—When the river front patrol of striking ship carpenters got around to the Brush Street Depot this morning they found a crowd of thirty-two French Canadians waiting to get their baggage through the Customs. They at once recognized them as ship carpenters. On being questioned the strangers admitted freely that they had come to go to work in Craig's ship yard at Trenton, and that they had been hired at Point Levi, Quebec, by Mr. Craig in person. Being apprised of the state of affairs they expressed themselves as disgusted at the misrepresentation under which they had been brought here.

The newcomers expressed perfect willingness to return to Quebec or to do anything in reason which the strike asked. The strikers immediately carried off the newcomers and quartered them in various boarding houses. Word of the capture was carried to several leaders of the strike and a committee immediately started out to see what could be done in the way of procuring Mr. Craig for importing foreign labor. The committee called upon Mayor Commissioner McGrath, who gave them a letter of introduction to District Attorney Black. Mr. Black suggested that the best course to pursue would be to get written statements as to who hired them and what arrangement had been made with them. The committee then called on the Frenchmen, the majority of whom stated that they had been hired by Mr. Craig, and that they had been paid for six months and a day their fare to Detroit. The charges a saint Craig admitted their case to District Attorney Black again, and were requested to try again and bring in further proof. "There's no hurry," said Mr. Black, "I don't mean to let them out until I know there is a good case against Craig. The law is a thing, however, to prevent any of the carpenters themselves from making a complaint, which I shall be obliged to prosecute. They can bring a suit against me for each alien imported, and the maximum penalty in such case is $10,000. The men from Quebec are nearly penniless."

JOHN HANIFER'S DEATH.

Suspicious Circumstances that Point to His Last Companion.

MORRISBURG, Ont., March 3.—The inquest on the body of John Hanifer, found frozen on Saturday morning, closed last night. Dr. Colquhoun was the coroner. Evidence was conclusive that the deceased was last in the company of Michael Beckett, who has not been seen since Saturday. An effusion was found behind the ear, supposed to have been caused by a blow from the whip found beside the body, and which belonged to Beckett. Dr. South, who held the post mortem, testified that the effect of such a blow would be to stun. The jury brought in a verdict that the deceased came to his death by suffocation and exposure, first having received a blow from a blunt instrument in the hands of a party unknown, and ordering that Michael Beckett be apprehended and dealt with as the law directs.

THE CHINESE PROBLEM.

EL PASO, Tex., March 4.—Within the last few days a large number of Chinese from California passed through El Paso on their way to New Orleans and Texas cities. Many of them are also leaving in the territorial towns of New Mexico and Arizona. San Francisco is represented as swarming with Mexicans, and have been driven out of Oregon and Washington territory, and the pressure, it is claimed, is being relieved by "the six companies" shipping them east, where the antagonism against the Chinese is not as strong as on the Pacific slope. The influx, however, into Arizona and New Mexico has aroused the latent antagonism in those and anti-Chinese leagues are being formed.

"MADRE E HIJO"

What Does It Mean?

STRIKE IN THE SHOE TRADE.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR.—Under the above heading, Mr. Carey has seen fit to publish our correspondence of the 4th in the Review of 5th inst., and, as no doubt his object in so doing was to create the impression that we are acting in an arbitrary manner, and as you have commented thereon editorially, I therefore ask space to make an explanation. There are no new points of difference. All we ask that he pay the wages on the bill that he signed in 1882 and give out his work as other employees do, and as his dies and other appliances for factory are more of a detriment than a help to a shoemaker we won't stand any reduction on their account, because a shoemaker is not a factory man neither is a factory man a shoemaker as a rule. Now sir, had any other employer in the trade sent our Union a letter such as he did promising to pay the bill we would know that they meant what they said. We believe that all he wants is the at the least, then he would do as he thought proper, for instance how would his men know that they were working on custom work if they were not told, and they would never have any custom work. The fact is, it would take a Philadelphia lawyer to frame a bill that he would not cross through as some of us have seen to know. (To make this plain to Mr. Carey, I would ask him if he has ever yet made any bill for men.) Ever since he signed our bill he has been bawling and wailing to find a way out of his bill, but he might as well pay the full bill, hence our reason for asking him to sign the bill of particulars which he published to-day. As to Dundas, Union men cannot work with him till he pays two scab faces we built against him.

Thanking you for space,

I remain, yours,

JOHN IRWIN.

Peterborough, March 6th, 1886.

PAVING STONE.

The following letter appeared in the Toronto Mail:—

SIR.—I read with pleasure the remarks of "A. H." in the Mail of a recent date, and I fear that our city officials are to prove to go to the Americans for everything connected with our streets.

While endorsing the remarks of "A. H." permit me to add, that there exists in this township a slate quarry from which could be obtained a sufficient quantity of flags for the sidewalks of every town and city in this province. The quarry is situated on the north-west corner of lot 5, in the 6th concession of this township, is about 300 yards from the line of the B. & N. H. railway, and two miles from that of the Central Ontario railway. The slate is about one mile and a half from this village. The bank of slate crops out about 30 feet high, it is about 1,000 feet from south-west to north-east, and averages 250 feet wide. Little digging is required. Slate can be split off with wedges, in sizes varying from 2 1/2 x 4 1/2 and even 4 x 13 feet, and in thicknesses to suit the purposes required. The slate is very fine, of great tension, and of sufficient softness to be worked into mantle, counter-top, etc.

A few years ago some parties undertook to work the quarry. Welsh stone-makers were introduced, some roughing slate of a very good quality was made, and it is to be seen on buildings in both Hamilton and Markham. The parties, not being experienced in the business, were not able to make it pay and dropped the work. Had they turned their attention to the manufacture of flags for walks, etc., until they got below the water line, where roughing only to be found, they would have made a success of it. As it is, however, there is an important industry awaiting capital and enterprise to develop it.

In view of the facility with which flags can be obtained and shipped, the growing scarcity of lumber, and the non-availability of plank walks, this interest is worth looking into by enterprising capitalists.</

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, MARCH 6, 1886.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE

Latest Spring styles in hand now at W. Lusk's.

The Ontario Canoe Company's exhibit for the Colonial Exhibition will be on exhibition at their factory in Ashburnham on Monday afternoon. They will undoubtedly be an interesting sight for canoeists.

Charlotte Street Church. Rev. I. Tovel will conduct the services in the morning and the Pastor, Rev. F. H. Wallace, in the evening. At the close of the evening service there will be a public reception of members.

Wm. Fowler. On the night of Thursday, February 11th, Wm. Fowler left his home in Bradford and has not since been heard of. The Chief of Police here has received a notice from the wife of the missing man, who offers $50 reward for information of the whereabouts of the missing.

Found His Coat. At one of the hotels this morning one of the guests worked himself up into a terrible state of excitement on account of his new fur coat, and as he was about to leave the hotel he found his coat missing. After the bell boys had searched high and low, and after word had been given to the police, and after telegrams were sent for the apprehension of the habilitated pilferer—the coat was found in a friend's room.

The Chief of Police. The Chief of Police will formally assume the functions of his office on Tuesday, when he will appear in full regalia. But during the interim his hands will not be idle. Several matters of at present a private nature are being attended to. Those who are in the habit of making standing nuisances of themselves on the George street corners are to be interviewed this evening.

The Carnival Prizes. The prizes for the carnival that is to come off next Friday evening under the auspices of the Fire Brigade Band, are now on exhibition in the window of Mr. John McClelland's store. The medals are now in the hands of skilled workmen, and will also be on exhibition on Monday. The elegant cane, to be presented to either Sir John A. Macdonald or the Hon. Edward Blake, is on exhibition in the window of Salisbury and Brewster. Take a look at both windows.

St. John's Church Bazaar. Contributions for the bazaar in aid of the organ fund of St. John's Church may be sent to any of the following ladies:—Mrs. J. E. Hamond, Mrs. Donaldson, Mrs. Ferguson, go to the fancy and plain table to Mrs. G. Burroughs, Mrs. Bell, Mrs. Sherwood, Mrs. Wallis, Mrs. T. Rubidge, Mrs. H. Hammond, Mrs. King, Mrs. H. Smith, Mrs. Archer, Mrs. Chamberlain, Mrs. Bell, Mrs. McDonald, Miss Fry.

The Revival Services. For the past four weeks evangelistic services have been conducted in the lecture room of the George Street Methodist Church by the pastor, with unabated interest. On Friday evening the room was crowded, over four hundred people being present, and the service was marked by a spirit of devoutness and earnestness that was most impressive. The sermon was preached by the Rev. I. Tovel, based on the passage of scripture as found in Isaiah 55, 7th verse, after which a praise and testimony service was conducted. Many persons took part. Young and old bore testimony to the saving results of faith in Christ. There will be a reception given on Sunday evening (to-morrow) to all who have recently professed Christ and who desire to unite with the church. This reception service will follow the regular preaching service, when the pastor, on behalf of the church, will extend the right hand of fellowship to the new members. It is the intention of Mr. Tovel and his co-workers to close their meetings for the present and enter the union evangelistic movement which will commence next Tuesday under the direction of the pastors of the different churches, taking part, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Saurance, of New York.

Last of the Season. Doubtless all the lovers of skating will avail themselves of the opportunity presented of attending the last grand revival of the season on the evening of Friday, March 12th, under the auspices of the Fire Brigade Band. The management are determined that this carnival will be the crowning event of the season.

Personal. Mr. L. O. Camp, Manager for Canada for Phoenix, of Brooklyn, N.Y., is registered at the Oriental. Mr. D. A. Fleming, who was injured in the Quaker accident, has not recovered sufficiently to enable him to be removed to his home in Montreal. It is probable that he will be removed on Monday.

The Assessors. The assessors are still hard at work in Number Three Ward. They are making good progress and report that the assessment this year will be largely increased. This arises in a great measure out of the fact that there are a large number of new buildings, which according to the Review's building report, amounts in value to about $213,000. Another cause of the increased assessment is that of the assessment of park lots as building lots. It is said that the owners of park lots will at once object to this procedure and will bring their cases before the Court of Revision. In the meantime, however, the assessors are carrying out instructions and the assessment of these lots run up to about twice the value heretofore placed upon them.

It is Probable. That we'll have some weatherable weather now.

That Mr. T. P. Attrill feels proud. That he'll wear his well worn medal as he wears all his honors—modestly.

That W. G. F.'s in-turn will come next year.

That the new Chief of Police will introduce some acceptable innovations.

That tobogganing and snowshoeing will soon get sick and die.

That one of the local legal lights will soon leave fair Peterborough.

That he will take up his residence in Belleville.

That the coming evangelistic movement will cause a great stir.

The Market. The market square was filled to overflowing with conveyances of all kinds this morning, and the attendance at the butter and egg market was also large. There was quite a large quantity of hay offered at from $13 to $15 per ton. Wood was also well represented, selling at $2.50 per load for soft wood, and from $3.75 to $4.25 per load for hard wood. The movement in grain was fairly large, prices remaining materially unchanged. Apples sold at from 75 cents to $1.25 per bag, and potatoes at 65 cents per bag. Beef, of which there was a large quantity offered for sale, sold at from $4 to $6 per cwt. Mutton brought 7 and 8 cents per pound by the quarter. Chickens sold at from 50 to 70 cents per pair; geese, at 60 cents each; turkeys, at from 75 cents to $1.00 each. Butter in prints brought 20 cents per pound, and eggs 20 cents per dozen.

Down to a Unit. The contest between W. G. Ferguson and W. H. Budden, for the President's and Vice President's medals, was keen and close, the former only winning by 1 shot. This tie decided brought on the final contest between Mr. Attrill and Mr. Ferguson. The match was played in the Charlotte street rink on Friday morning, and was, perhaps, the most exciting thirteen pointer of the season. Even the early hour at which it was played did not deter quite a number of curlers from being present. Each took alternate leads during the fore part of the game, but toward the end Mr. Attrill secured the lead, which he maintained till the finish, winning by six shots. Mr. Budden held the medal last year, and stood well in the foreword also this year. The next excitement will be the finishing up of the rink matches, which have been standing in abeyance for a time.

This makes a total subscription list of $1,024.50.

Now on Exhibition. The elegant gilded cane, which is to be disposed of either in favor of Sir John Macdonald or Hon. Edward Blake at the Fire Brigade Band Carnival, on Friday evening next, is on exhibition in the window of Messrs. Salisbury and Brewster's book store. Messrs. Salisbury, the only whom the cane was ordered, selected three of the handsomest canes in the stock of Messrs. A. Lee, Toronto. These three were brought here, and the most expensive of the three was chosen by the Carnival management. The chosen cane is a beauty. It is of medium length, of polished ebony, and mounted by a heavy golden knob at the end. The top of the knob is a plain polished golden surface, edged with a beaten gold rim. Below this is an encrusted surface on which birds and floral ornaments of polished gold are boldly embossed. The lower edge is rimmed about by two bands of beaten gold. The cane is an exceedingly handsome one—one that either of the political leaders ought to feel proud to carry. The cane will remain on exhibition for several days.

Planes. Two very good second hand Planes for sale cheap at E. J. Hartley's Meat Store.

The Probabilities. The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Light to moderate winds, fine and slightly milder weather.

Announcements. With confidence we make the announcement on first page of a partial list of our Spring importations, and in doing so we pledge ourselves to maintain throughout the season that high standard of merit for the best quality of fine dry goods for which the "Golden Lion" is noted. R. FAIR.

Closing Concert. The last of the series of splendid entertainments held in the Luke's School Room, Ashburnham, this winter will be on on Monday evening next, at 8 o'clock. An excellent and interesting program, consisting of songs by the children of the Barnardo Home, and an entertaining farce by competent actors, will be presented. Admission free, ten cents.

Evening Entertainment. A very successful evening entertainment was given in the Orange Hall, corner of George and Simcoe streets, on Friday evening, under the auspices of L. O. L. No. 49. The hall was crowded to the doors, and the applause given to those who took part in the entertainment was enthusiastic and liberal. The following is a programme of the entertainment, which speaks for its excellence:—

Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, MARCH 9, 1886.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Great Attractions at the Golden Elm.
We continue to offer great attractions this week in fresh new goods embracing many novelties in Dress Fabrics never before produced. R. FAIR.

Church Guardian.
Mr. John Burnham, of Cobourg has paid a visit. He is now in town representing the Church Guardian published in Montreal but containing a large amount of news from the other dioceses throughout Canada, as well as any events in Great Britain and the United States that have an interest for churchmen. It is an excellent church paper without being wedded to any extreme party views, and should be well received by members of the Church of England.

Received His Medal.
The Calgary, N. W. T., Tribune of February 27th says:

"HANDSOME MEDAL.—Mr. A. B. Rogers, of this town, who arrived at Blatchford with Co. G of the Midland Battalion, has received a medal from the ladies of Peterborough, who have awarded similar ones to each member of the company. The medal is made from a ten dollar gold piece with a clasp attached. On the clasp is inscribed Co. G, Midland Battalion, and on one side of the medal, presented to Corporal A. B. Rogers, by the ladies of Peterborough, for service at Blatchford."

New Books.
In these days, when so many books come out that only prove "a weariness to the flesh," it is a treat to receive such a package as came to us recently from R. H. McDonald Drug Co., 528 to 532 Washington St., New York. Chief among them are "Our Ladies Book," "Farmers' Hand-Book," "Merchants' Manual," and "Catechism on Intemperance and Tobacco." For four cents, in stamps, the Drug Co. will send any two of the above books; they are well worth sending for. Ten cents, sent to their address, will procure the fascinating game of Verbe, which should be in every household.

A line of very fine Ladies Books, our own make, at two dollars, at Johnson's Carey's.

An Evening with Popular Authors.
Stormy weather and a number of past and coming entertainments combined to limit the attendance at the educational entertainment at the Opera House on Monday evening. The programme was carefully selected and the recitals were given with good effect. The dramatic "Defence of the Bridge against the Tuscan Army," the pathetic "Song of a London Weir," the tragic "Rajada of Niagara," the humorous "Jenny Butler and the Owl," and selections from Mark Twain, were all given with much force, eloquent finish and dramatic power. The only defect was a slight indistinctness of articulation noticeable at times. Prof. Vallance appreciated the marked attention of the audience and added three pieces to the number on the programme.

Peterborough Presbytery.
A regular meeting of the members of the Peterborough Presbytery was held in the lecture room of St. Paul's Church to-day. There were present: The Rev. J. B. Smith, Clerk of the Presbytery; the Rev. J. Cleland, Port Hope; the Rev. Wm. C. Windall, Cartwright; the Rev. P. Duncan, Cobourg; the Rev. D. Sutherland, Warkworth; the Rev. J. Cameron, Millbrook; the Rev. E. F. Torrance and the Rev. A. Bell, Peterborough; the Rev. Jas. Ross, Roseneath; the Rev. D. L. McCrae, Cobourg; the Rev. H. Cook, Baltimore; the Rev. W. H. Jamison, Garden Hill; the Rev. J. Carmichael, Norwood; the Rev. J. Craigie, Bouchesash; the Rev. D. A. Thompson, Hastings; R. McKnight, Warkworth, and elders J. Craig, Port Hope, and Robt. Tully, Peterborough. A variety of affairs connected with the Presbytery were duly discussed and considered. At noon the members of the Presbytery partook of the dinner which had been prepared by the ladies connected with the church. The tables were set in the ladies' parlor.

GENTS' CARDIGAN JACKETS marked down to cost to make room for spring goods at ANDREW McNELL'S, George street.

Last and Best.
Preparations for the "last and best" carnival of the season, which is to be held on Friday night, proceeds apace. The members of the Fire Brigade Band are putting forth every effort to make this closing carnival the most successful of the season. The political contest promises to be a warm one.

Colonial Exhibition.
Besides sending two very finely executed photographs of their respective buildings to the Colonial Exhibition, the Convent De Notre Dame and the Murray Street Separate School officials have decided to send specimens of the work done in those buildings. Specimens of pupils' work in writing, drawing, map drawing and arithmetic have been prepared at the boys' separate school and the convent sends similar exhibits of its pupils progress in the arts. The collection, altogether, made up a very pretty and interesting exhibit.

The Mission Band.
An entertainment was given in the school room of St. Paul's church on Monday evening under the auspices of the Mission Band connected with the church. The attendance was fairly large. Mr. Geo. Roger occupied the chair, and performed the duties devolving upon him in a graceful manner. The programme presented is as follows:

PART I.
Chorus..... Mission Band
Instrumental solo..... Miss Logan
Kindergarten..... Children
Dialogue..... Masters H. Dawson and A. Wood
Vocal solo..... Miss Johnston Instrumental duet..... Miss Paterson and
(Prof. Parker)
Recitation..... Master V. McWilliams
Vocal solo..... Miss Eva Carey

PART II.
Chorus..... Mission Band
Reading..... Miss R. Cameron
Vocal solo..... Miss Logan
Dialogue, 2nd part..... Masters H. Dawson and A. Wood Kindergarten..... Children
Instrumental duet..... Miss H. Hazlett and
(Prof. Parker)
Quintette..... Five little girls
Chorus..... Mission Band

In the first part Miss Johnston's singing, the pianoforte duet by Miss Paterson and Mr. Parker and a vocal solo by Miss Eva Carey, were all warmly applauded, to which a response was given. The principal event of the evening was the Kindergarten singing by a number of children under the guidance of Miss Hattie Johnston. Their performance, was exceedingly interesting and amusing.

Canadian Canoes.
The canoes which are to be sent by the Ontario Canoe Company to the Indian and Colonial Exhibition, are on exhibition in the drill shed Ashburnham. The array is an imposing one. The canoes are arranged in a pyramid—small as can be so arranged—or spread out with full canvas as if ready to send along in some race. In all there are about twenty-five canoes to be sent some of which are an open butternut rib canoe, an open spruce rib canoe, an open alternate butternut and spruce rib canoe, a butternut longitudinal, pointed, a cedar rib skiff. These form one side of the pyramid. The other side is composed of a basswood and butternut board canoe, a basswood board canoe, a cedar board canoe, a butternut board canoe, a basswood painted board canoe. Near the pyramid is an elegant decked cedar rib Ontario canoe stands with two lateen sails spread. It is a beautiful craft. The shape is symmetrical and the workman-ship is of the most finished character. Another not fitted with sails is a pretty little Juniper made of butternut. In addition to being fitted with sails it is also furnished with a tent. Another Juniper is similarly rigged excepting that it has no tent attached. Still another of the white winged variety is a cedar rib longitudinal, beautifully finished with silver mountings, including a centre board and a drop rudder of the most improved type. Two mobikan sails are extended. The array looks as if on exhibition till to-morrow at noon and all wishing to see them are invited to go. The exhibit is well worthy of inspection.

End of the Series.
During the last few months a series of evening entertainments have been given in the St. Luke's School room, fortnightly. Every one given has been well worthy of patronage but none other in the series was so successful as the concluding one, which was given on Monday evening. The attendance was large and the programme was particularly interesting, in which the Bernardo Home boys, under the superintendence of Mr. Duff, gave material assistance. The programme as follows, speaks for itself:—
1. Toy Symphony..... Hayden
Piano, Mrs. Duff, lat violin, Mr. Cooper, 2nd violin, Mr. W. Leeb, bass, Miss Nellie Smith, nightingale, Miss Ella Taylor, rapier, Miss Lily Hall, triangle, Miss Laura Davidson, cello, Miss Kathleen Duff, trumpet and whistle, Mr. Duff, drum, Master Alex. Duff.
2. Singing Quadrilles..... Farmer
Children of the Bernardo Home.
3. Whistling Tom..... Foxwell
Children of the Bernardo Home.
4. Three Little Pigs..... A. & G. Gully
Children of the Bernardo Home.
5. Will You Our Native Land Inevitably..... Children of the Bernardo Home.
6. Home Again Returning..... Children of the Bernardo Home.
The entertainment closed with a comical farce entitled, "Two Heads are Better than One," with the following cast of characters:—
Mr. Strange..... Mr. Tylor
Chas. Conquest..... Mr. Cooper
Mr. Maxwellton..... Mr. R. B. Rogers
Sammy Maxwellton..... Mr. Carter
Helen Maxwellton..... Miss McNab
The acting of Mr. Carter, as Simpleton Sam may, was for an amateur, exceedingly creditable. The droolery he infused into the character kept the audience in roars of laughter. No less humor was caused by the straight into which Charles Conquest put and himself in his efforts to secure the fair Helen's hand. The other characters were well taken.

GENTS' ALL WOOL SHIRTS AND DRAWERS marked down to cost to make room for spring goods at ANDREW McNELL'S, George street.

Operations Commenced.
Mr. A. Rutherford, contractor, inaugurated the building operations of the season on Monday. A relay of men commenced building a dwelling in No. 1 Ward. The snow was ploughed off and removed and the cellar digging was commenced. Preparations are being made in all directions.

Quarterly Meeting.
A meeting of the Quarterly Board in connection with the George Street Methodist Church was held on Monday evening. There was a representative attendance. Reports were handed in by the stewards, received and adopted. Mr. Dumble reported as to the disposal of the old Bible Christian Church property, and the amount realized by its sale to the Baptist Church congregation. The proceeds had been divided among the three churches. The amount received by the George Street Church was, approximately, $1,000, that received by the Charlotte Street Church, $1,100, and that received by the Mark Street Church, $500. The question of letting the contract for the building of the new church organ was discussed, but the contract was not let. Tenders were submitted by Messrs. Lyle & Son, and Messrs. Warren & Son, both of Toronto.

POLICE COURT.
INSULTING LANGUAGE.
TUESDAY, March 9.—J. E. McIntyre was charged by P. C. Pickson with having used grossly insulting language towards him. The defendant pleaded not guilty. A good deal of evidence of a contradictory character was gone into. Mr. J. O'Meara appeared for the defendant. The Magistrate reserved judgment until to-morrow.

WIT AND WISDOM.
Talk about women being flighty; look at bank robbers.

If a man gets up when the day breaks, can he be said to have a whole day before him? What cup is that which, although it never chafes nor inclines, sometimes arouses suspicion?—The hip-cup.

It is said there are more lies told in the sentence, "I am glad to see you," than in any other six words in the English language.

A young man whose girl had red hair sang, as he bade her good-night a few evenings since, "Farewell, my love, light of my life, farewell," and he can't imagine what makes her so cool now.

A young Scotchman at Aldershot fell ill, and was sent to the hospital. A bath was ordered. It was brought into the chamber where the invalid lay. He looked at it hard for some time, and then he threw up his hands and bawled:—"Oh, doctor, doctor, I can't drink a bath!"

An old gentleman, finding a couple of his nieces fencing with broomsticks, said, "Come, my dears, that kind of a compliment will not help you to get husbands." "I know it, uncle," responded one of the girls, as she gave a lunge, "but it will help us to keep our husbands in order when we have 'em."

EVANGELISTIC SERVICES

THE UNION MEETINGS COMMENCED IN THE BAPTIST CHURCH.

Mr. Ferdinand Shiver's First Appearance in Peterborough—A Grand church and Numbers Unable to Get In.

The first of the series of evangelistic meetings conducted by the Ministerial Association, assisted by Mr. Ferdinand Shiver, an evangelist from Brooklyn, N. Y., a convert of one of Mr. Moody's meetings, was held in the Baptist Church on Tuesday evening. The church was crowded to the doors, all the seats being packed and numbers were unable to get inside the door and were compelled to go away.

On the platform were Mr. Shiver, the Rev. A. H. Munn, pastor of the church, and other clergymen. The meeting was opened by devotional exercises, during which the Rev. G. H. Davis, the Rev. F. H. Walcott and the Rev. E. F. Torrance led in prayer.

The Rev. Mr. MUNN then gave the meeting into Mr. Shiver's charge, and in doing so well commended him to Peterborough.

THE EVANGELIST.
Mr. SHIVER, after offering a prayer, chose for his text St. John XI., 40—"If thou wouldst believe thou shouldst see the glory of God." He said that he was glad he was here, with the blessed message of love. He was not here to give glory to the church, or to exaltation, or to any individual, but in the name and strength of God to try to have them enjoy some of the glory due to God. He did not want the ministers, churches or individuals to have glory, but God. He wanted to hold up God to them. An invitation was once sent to him in a certain place to "come, and get up a revival." That message.

CAME FROM THE DEVIL DIRECT.
A revival, to do good, must come down from God, as it did on the day of Pentecost. They must put all dependence on Almighty God, who was more anxious to revive them than they were to be revived. There was no particular revival season, neither in winter or summer. "Now is the accepted time." He believed in a perpetual revival going on continuously year after year. He believed that God was anxious to give Peterborough such a revival as that, to go on until all were saved. He held a meeting once, at a certain place, from 7.30 o'clock one evening until 12 o'clock the next night. Some said, "Shiver has gone crazy, he has been holding a revival meeting for two days." He was only letting God have His own way. Near that place there were rum shops open from Saturday till Monday night, and although the devil was having a revival for two days no one said they were crazy. He wanted to see the glory of God, and not the glory of man. He wanted to get the flesh out of sight and have God's glory manifested in the meetings, and in their lives, characters and countenances. If every mother in the house got filled with the love of God and tried to bring their children to Christ there would be a great revival among the children. Wise by crying along sent their husbands to the grog shop. If wives were converted they would tell their husbands. If they were filled with the love of God their acquaintances would be drawn to Him. He wanted the power of God to take such possession of the congregation that the TOWN WOULD BE SET ON FIRE.

There were some things they had to believe in order to see the glory of God manifested in the meetings. They must believe that God was ready to show His glory and to manifest His power. It was wrong to put God off until a certain season of the year. God was ready then. The night when he was converted at one of Mr. Moody's meetings he went home and told his mother. She did not seem surprised, and that astonished him, but she was a true Christian because she had prayed for his conversion, and believed that he would be saved. Only a few hours after she had asked and believed he was saved. Twenty-four hours after that his mother, who was now a Congregational minister, came in and told a mother how much he had been impressed at Moody's meetings. The mother had been paying for him, too, while he was there. He related an experience of his at a series of meetings to show that God was always ready to save. If they believed that God would save now, He would do so. They should not put it away off at a distance, but should believe that he was present and ready to work, and then they would have reason to rejoice. The reason why so little work was done was because so much time was spent in trying to bring about an EMOTIONAL REVIVAL.

People were continually passing into eternity, but Christ, the Light of the World, was in it and was waiting, ready and anxious to save. A small party of men were once praying for the power of God. A thunder storm came up and a streak of lightning flashed through the building. They were frightened, and the man who was praying, thinking it was the power, cried out to the Lord to wait for they were not ready yet! They must believe that God would cleanse and purify their hearts now. He would rather see one saved than have a hundred names brought in by emotional means. They should not try to make an exhibit of a lot of names, but they should try to get the power of God into the meetings at once and the work done would be for time and eternity. It would be better for the people not to try to be Christians than to come out on anything else than the blood of Christ and His saving power. He wanted them to come on account of the convincing power of the Spirit of God. Nothing less than the power of God could save souls, and they wanted it in the first meeting. They could have it if they believed. They must believe that God did not want them and that He would help them to do their work. If God saved souls He would do it indirectly. He saved souls through souls. He took Christians and used them to fill Heaven. They must know that they were saved themselves before they could assist in bringing others to Christ. They could not work their way to eternal life; it was a gift. The Roman Catholics (in whose church he had been a member) did penance—were penance—for their sins, thinking that by doing they would be forgiven. God did not require that. They were sinners, but Christ had completed the work, saying, "It is finished." They had only to accept Christ's finished work. After they were saved they must take Christ's cross up and then they would work from the cross, not to it. They should not work to make themselves sure of Heaven, but because they were sure of Heaven. A saved sinner was a sinner with the Spirit of God. He says, "I am ready, now you get ready and we will work together." Oh, how grand it was to be yoked up with the Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ! God saved through human instrumentality. It was not for them to look for results. They were only to be faithful and do their duty. Christ did not roll them away from the grave of Lazarus. He could have done so, but He wanted to teach Mary and Martha and the Jews that there was something more than that. There were lots of stones for them to roll away from their sepulchre doors before the dead would be made alive. Christ was crying calling out to them to

BOLL AWAY THE STONES.

One of the stones was unbelted. There was not a stone left unbelted to day this unbelted. There were lots of church members who were there but they were not saved, and it was on account of unbelted. If they got unbelted out of their hearts nations would be saved. At the day of Pentecost 3,000 were converted and now 12,000 signs to convert one sinner. They were converted and were surprised if they were converted. Z. Charles was struck dumb on account of his unbelted. The reason they had so many dumb and dumb Christians today was unbelted. They must also remove the stone of excuse. There was not an individual in the house that day who was not unbelted. He expected to unbelted to his duty. M. there should not scold their unconverted. His mother, when she came home late at night, put her arms around his neck and often a remark, "I'll unbelt your back." Many a woman, when she could not unbelt her back, cry like a child on account of her tears. The text that fell on his cheek went to his heart and broke it all up. They should speak kindly to the children and with them. He believed in a conversion of a children, and children could work for Christ. If they did their duty

EVERY UNBELTED SOUL.

In Peterborough was the barest of the influence of saving grace. They wanted to roll away the stone of unbelief. God could use the lukewarm people. They wanted to believe that the salvation of lost souls depended on their submission and obedience to the will of God. If they were submissive and obedient, God would night after night in these meetings say to us, "Come forth, come forth," and they would see their boys, neighbors, friends and loved ones saved.

Mr. SHIVER then led in prayer.

Mr. MUNN announced that a prayer meeting would be held at 9.30 every morning in the Y. M. C. A. rooms and a Bible class at 3.30 in the afternoon in the Baptist Church. On Wednesday evening Mr. Shiver would preach in the Baptist Church, on Thursday evening, in St. Paul's on Friday evening, and on Saturday evening there would be a meeting in the Opera House for men only.

Mr. SHIVER asked all in the church who were unbelted to get up and come to him. He wanted to have the glory of God manifested in their hearts, homes and churches and stand up.

After singing a hymn the Rev. Alex. Bell closed the meeting with prayer.

Mr. Shiver, the evangelist, is a young looking, amiable, well-to-do man, who uses plain and, as he said himself, not always grammatical language, and he speaks to the point and very earnestly.

Some English tourists were talking of shooting when a Highland minister, after some very tall stories had been told, remarked:—"Once I had a trial. The first time I ever had a gun out of a fine white furred once." He said that the tourists had exhausted their compliments on his superior marksmanship, when he bravely added, "My brother shot fourteen times and I shot once and missed." And he smiled just as he said it as if he had not accomplished anything particularly worth speaking about.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

THE FOURTH SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

Sanction to Rebel—Cabinet Appointment.
—Mr. Blake's New pet, Dumont—The Junior's Meaning The Lady Motion.

REPORTS.
MONDAY, March 8.—Mr. White and Mr. Pope brought down their departmental reports.

NORTHWEST REBEL.
Mr. THOMPSON, in reply to Mr. Blake's question, in relation to the treatment of rebels and other criminals in the North West, showing the leniency that had been shown in the great majority of cases.

CABINET APPOINTMENTS.
SIR JOHN MACDONALD, in reply to Mr. Blake, said in 1882 negotiations had been held with Mr. O'Donoghue and his Excellency's consent had been obtained for his entering the Cabinet. Subsequently it being found that he would not add strength, it was resolved after consulting with him and Mr. Frank Smith to place him in the Senate and Mr. Smith in the Cabinet.

IMMIGRATION.
MR. CARLING, in reply to Sir R. Cartwright, said that there had been 7,969 immigrants into Canada last year.

BLAKE AND DUMONT.
SIR J. MACDONALD, in reply to Mr. Blake as to the intention of granting an amnesty to persons not yet tried for the North-West rebellion, which would include Dumont, said the question was one of great delicacy and was under consideration.

THE CHINESE.
MR. CHAPLEAU, in reply to Mr. Blake, said there had been no official communication from the Imperial Government as to legislation concerning Chinese immigrants.

REBEL'S TRIAL.
MR. THOMPSON, in reply to Mr. Desautels, said he had no means of ascertaining the motive of the jury in recommending Riel to mercy. It could only be learned from the individual juror, which would be hardly constitutional.

THE LANDRY MOTION.
SIR JOHN MACDONALD, in reply to Mr. Landry's motion of regret at Riel's execution should stand till Thursday. The government would not go on with the estimates or the budget till they knew the result.

MR. BLAKE WANTS TO KNOW.
SIR JOHN MACDONALD, in reply to Mr. Blake, said he had asked for such a mass of papers regarding the Northwest that it was hard to know where to begin, but such of them as could be brought down were in preparation.

A TERRIBLE CRIME.
A Whole Family Battered in Kearsu—A Boy Thought to be Gaily.

ONAGE MINISTON, Ks., March 9.—Mr. Macdonald, living 10 miles northwest of this town, was awakened this morning by Willie Wells, son of a neighbor, J. W. Sills. The boy said: "A man is at our place with a hatchet and has hurt father and mother." Macdonald and a neighbor went with the boy. Upon reaching Sells' house they found the man in bed in the north room. Walter, Willie's eldest brother and bed fellow, aged 15, with his throat cut and the entire top of his head cut off. Passing into the south room they stumbled over the prostrate form of Mr. Sells, with his head crushed and almost severed from the body. Near by Mrs. Sells, a lady of 43 years, with her head mangled and a fearful gash in her throat. On a bed in the same room lay Willie's sister, aged 14, killed in the same manner. Lying near Sells' body was a bloody butcher knife and on a chair a hatchet, matted with hair and blood. The boy said he had been awakened by something, and looking up to see a heavy low set man, with dark hair, cut the door, standing in the door. This man struck Walter. Willie jumped up, dressed, rushed out and started up the road. A short distance off stood a man on horseback, holding another horse, upon which the man had sat and started off. Willie then went to Mendell's. A coroner's jury was empanelled. The boy swore that he had not washed his hands since the murder, but an inspection showed that his arms were deeply encrusted with blood. Around his finger nails was blood, his drawers were saturated with blood, his bare feet were covered with the same fluid, and his feet were fitted into all the bloody footmarks to be found. The boy stood dead, being the murderer, and maintained a bold front throughout. The boy was smuggled into a buggy by the officers and driven to the jail for fear of lynching. There is hardly a doubt but that the boy committed the crime.

AN IMPERIAL ASIATIC MAIL.
The Importance of the Canadian Pacific Recognized by the British Parliament.

LONDON, March 9.—Lord Granville, in the House of Lords, last evening, announced that a special committee had been appointed and instructed to acquire thoroughly into and report to Government upon the question of the advisability of establishing a British mail line between Vancouver Island, British Columbia, Japan and Hong Kong.

OTTAWA, March 9.—A cablegram from London states that Lord Harcourt, in putting his question to the Government about the subsidy to the Canadian Pacific Company for the steamship line from Vancouver to Hong Kong and Australia, said nothing could exceed the importance to the Empire of the Canadian Pacific line, giving an alternative access to the East and to Australia, placing the Empire independent of the Suez Canal. His Lordship appealed in eloquent terms to the Imperial Government to support this great work, which he characterized as the marvel of the age, which made England feel proud of Canada, and begged the Government to meet in no grudging spirit Canada's liberal and courageous expenditure. His Lordship spoke in high terms of Sir John Macdonald, the Premier, and Sir George Stephen

MR. BLAKE'S POSITION.

Reform papers are endeavoring to persuade the people that Mr. Landry, of Montserrat, is not sincere in giving notice of a motion regarding the execution of Riel, yet Mr. Landry was among the "blatant" whom those papers said would vote against the Government on this question. In a list of the voters published more than once in the Ottawa Free Press Mr. Landry's name appeared. There is no reason to believe that Mr. Landry is not as sincere in this matter as if he were to wait Mr. Blake's convenience and play into Mr. Blake's hands. These bluffs are not in accord with the Government simply because Riel was allowed to be executed, and it is only by joining them on this question that the Reformers can secure their support in defeating the Government. It is right, therefore, that the people should know exactly the opinion of members, and if the "blatant" wish to ascertain whether the Reformers will keep faith with them a straight declaration on the question is the best way to find it out. Mr. Blake would, no doubt, judging by his usual tactics, prefer a side issue upon which a straight declaration of opinion would not have to be made, so that he could face both ways, as suited his purpose in different places, but if the "blatant" force him to vote squarely one way or the other there will be one question, as any rule, upon which his views will be known. That is, if he does force him to make his views known, for he may yet, if the motion is pressed, find a way, by vigorous questioning, to pose as a friend of Riel, when with his friends, and as a friend of law and order when with the friends of justice and right. If he does not do so, it will be because he cannot.

The more unscrupulous Reform organs, especially those of the Maritime section, are howling at the Reformers, because some Reform applications to be placed of the voters' lists have been refused as insufficient. In neighboring counties, as it happens, the great majority of applications thus refused have been those of Conservatives, but still these false charges of Conservative unfairness are being reiterated. It is also absurd to talk of rejected applicants as being disqualified, for they will have an opportunity on the revision of correcting their mistakes.

Sir John Macdonald is accused by the Globe of "wrong-headed malignity" for not confirming the award of the Boundary Arbitration. The Globe seems to forget that the Privy Council decided the award to be utterly invalid and unconstitutional. If Mr. Macdonald, instead of trying to make political capital out of the question, had taken Sir J. Macdonald's opinion, sustained by the Privy Council, that it was a case for dissolution of the Empire, Ontario would have obtained her rights years before, instead of having to wait till Mr. Macdonald's obstinate ignorance was overcome.

The Northwest census shows that while there is sufficient population in the territories to make their representation in Parliament a fairly reasonable concession the number of the white inhabitants would not warrant the establishment of an expensive machinery of local self-government. It would be injudicious to burden a population not exceeding that of a large village with the staff of a Province. They will soon attain the required growth, if the Railways will only abstain from inciting further rebellion.

The Globe takes a great many occasions to tell its readers that the member for West Peterborough in the local House amounts to very little. Of course it is because he is not worth mentioning that the Globe is constantly mentioning him and misrepresenting him. The abuse of the Globe is always a high compliment.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

It now turns out that the charge formulated by certain Maritime journals, and repeated by a few Ontario papers, to the effect that the International Railway has been carrying passengers for the last three years at free, is without any foundation. Indeed, so explicit is the denial so as to leave no room for cavil.—Newmarket Era (Ref.)

EMBARRASSING FRIENDS.

The Patrie having heard a reproach to the Conservatives on the statement of a minister that the late Breckers had been because they had been the victims of fifteen years of ill-treatment from the Government, and closed its account by the question, "What does Mr. Tasse think of that?" the Minister very justly retorts that the writer is simply rebuking his own party in his eagerness to find fault with his opponents. If the half-truths have been referring for fifteen years, it is evident that all the responsibility does not fall upon the Conservatives. Save us from our friends.—Montreal Herald.

DEFENDING A DEFAMER.

It is not a very dignified thing for a member of Parliament to single out a newspaper man in the gallery, and abuse him by name. He has no chance to reply, and to attack him under such circumstances is cowardly. Still, newspaper people are not in need of any special sympathy. They can take care of themselves in the long run.—London Advertiser (Ref.)

"My little boy," said a gentleman, "you ought not to eat green apples. They are not good for little boys." "They ain't, eh?" the boy replied with his mouth full. "Give you don't know much about 'em, mister. Three of these apples 'll keep me out of school for a week."

WILL NOT AMALGAMATE

THE EAST AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY REFUSES TO JOIN THE WEST.

The West Goes Weeping to Norwood and is Rejected.—The East to Abandon the 1st Grant System and Locate on the 2nd.

On Tuesday at noon a deputation from the West Riding Agricultural Society proceeded to Norwood to attend a meeting of the East Riding Society, to invite the East to join with the West and have a grand central exhibition. The deputation was composed of Messrs. John Garbutt, Smith, President; W. Rutherford, South Monaghan, 1st Vice-President; R. Bert Vance, Cavan, 2nd Vice-President; Hugh Davidson, Smith; Wm. Collins, North Monaghan; John McCallum, J. R. McWilliam, J. R. Stratton, Peterborough; G. W. Fitzgerald, Smith, all Directors of the West Riding Society, and Mr. Joseph R. Edmund, of Otonabee. After calling at Mr. Greaves' Hotel, and partaking of the abundance of the hotel table, the deputation proceeded to the Town Hall, where the meeting was held. There was a large attendance of members of Societies south of the Otonabee.

Mr. A. R. Kinn, President of the East Riding Agricultural Society, was called to the chair, and read the notice issued calling the meeting, which stated that the meeting was called especially to consider "whether in the future it would be advisable to hold the Society's annual exhibition permanently at one place, instead of the itinerant system hitherto followed." The members of the East Peterborough Society and the Directors of the Otonabee, the Dunbar and Dorcas, the Appleton, Belmont and Dunbar Townships Societies were requested to attend.

The President said that no doubt they were aware that the County Council had voted a grant of $600 to the Agricultural Societies of the County, on condition that the East Riding and West Riding Societies amalgamate. There was a deputation present from the West, and they might hear their views.

On motion, the deputation was invited to express their views.

Mr. Garbutt said they were present to see if anything could be done towards uniting. They thought it would be for the benefit of both societies if they could hold a central exhibition in Peterborough, that would be worthy of the Societies. They had grounds leased for eight years at a small rent and had some buildings upon them, the only thing needed being a main building. If united, they could have a grand exhibition worth the County Council.

The President said that it was important that the West Riding deputation should propose some plan by which, if they amalgamated, the East Riding Society membership would be kept up.

Mr. Garbutt said that if the amalgamation was favorably considered a joint committee could be appointed to devise a plan. If they united permanently they could get legislation to ratify it, and the membership would remain.

Mr. Rutherford suggested that they might unite in holding a joint exhibition for one year and see how it would work.

Mr. John McCallum said they were present to invite the East Riding Society to join with them. The advantages they had to offer were extensive grounds under long lease, the grounds had been cleared at considerable expense, and 92 horse stalls erected. Cattle sheds, extended 600 feet had also been built, and it was intended to erect them. Along with their own grounds they had 14 or 15 acres of a driving park, with a track round it, and in the Province, which they could use. They had the right of purchase of ground for 10 years; and they also had a right of purchase of the driving park after the Park Association. The advantages were great, the ground being easily accessible by different railways. If they decided to amalgamate the details could be arranged. The membership of the East Riding would be retained, and the two Boards of Directors might unite. They proposed to erect a building, and the amalgamation which had been proposed for ten years had not been a member of the Council of the Arts and Agriculture Association, and they expected to have the Provincial Exhibition in Peterborough, for which they had already prepared by having suitable accommodation in the shape of buildings. He had no doubt that the town of Peterborough would assist in erecting buildings for such accommodation. There had been a strong move to establish a Provincial Exhibition, and to divide up the $100,000 grant among districts. If this was done, they wanted to be in a position (the East and West Riding) to claim a grant as a district. He was convinced that this was a promising place for their exhibition would be a wise step, and with the amalgamation they could offer an exhibition that would compare favorably with any. A Committee could be appointed to arrange the details.

The President read the law bearing on the question of uniting for exhibition.

Mr. Vance said that the West did not expect the East to grant more towards the grant than the municipal grant. The union would not interfere with their township societies or exhibitions. The East could have nothing by uniting for one year.

The President said that he did not think that any less was necessary for a unit.

Mr. McWilliam advocated the appointment of a committee, and thought a preliminary arrangement could be made. The exhibition could also be held in Norwood and Peterborough would give it assistance. The first central exhibition, held last year, was very successful.

Mr. Rutherford asked what the County Council meant by amalgamation. He thought the Council intended to make the grant of $600 on condition that the amalgamation was permanent.

The President said that he knew that the feeling of the County Council was that a permanent amalgamation should take place in order to secure the County grant. If the union was to be for one year they should go before the Council and state the facts, in order to deal fairly with them. The Council had seen fit, for some reason, to sit on the two most important interests of the county—the agricultural and educational interests. He agreed with those who thought that the Provincial exhibition had added its usefulness. He agreed with the proposition to divide the grant given to the Provincial to assist in erecting buildings in different sections. The activities of the county should memorialize the Government to also in the Province.

Mr. McCallum said that the President's remarks supported the view of amalgamation. Mr. H. Davidson expressed that it would be for the advantage of such society to amalgamate.

Divided as they were it was difficult to have a grand permanent central show. If the Provincial exhibition were abolished they might get a portion of the $100,000, or even $20,000, if the Dominion grant was withheld in the same way. The desire of the West was to have a permanent and permanent exhibition. The means they could unite their funds until legislation was secured. He could not understand why a set of intelligent men like the County Council should neglect the agricultural interests, the very interests they were sent to represent. He was astonished at the Smith members, but they had never been allied with agricultural societies.

Mr. W. COLLINS said that under the system of uniting from year to year each society would have to keep up a full band and separate sets of machinery, while if they were permanently united one band and one set of machinery only would be required. The West had 1200 acres of land, and a large exhibition of stallion and bull, and the East had 1000 acres of land. The amalgamation would benefit the branch societies of the East and West.

Mr. COLLINS said that if the consolidated Society were to be a permanent one, they would only get one Government grant. Mr. McWilliam thought there would be no difficulty in getting legislation to get over that difficulty. If they were to get a grant of $80,000 they could, he felt sure, arrange for a double grant, or the full amount received by the two societies, for the large society they would have a double grant.

Mr. CHARLES O'RILEY moved, seconded by Mr. JOHN P. BROWN, that the members of this Society do not consider that it is advisable to amalgamate with the West Riding Society, but to continue the agricultural grants would find that they have opposed their own interests.

Mr. J. P. BROWN said that the idea of amalgamation was not a new one, and though worthy of consideration, it required a great deal of consideration. It was an old story that any grant to the East must be conditional—some condition or other. The West must always be included. He drew out the advantages of a competitive exhibition, and feared that they would not get it. It was to go to Peterborough. He believed that they could have a successful exhibition in Norwood, and that exhibition would be in Peterborough would be a great success.

Mr. WATTS wanted the two subjects in the motion—amalgamation and permanency of location—divided and voted on separately.

Mr. MOORE advised them not to depend too much on the County grant.

The President pointed out, in reference to what Mr. Brown had said, that the motion regarding the $600 grant was moved by a member from the East, Mr. Lang. Mr. Lang caused by mistake or an infernal machine, which the superintendent avers was possibly placed among the freight while the steamer was lying at dock in London previous to sailing for New York.

NEW YORK March 8.—The agents of the Monarch Line say the outward cargo of the Egyptian Monarch was not injured by fire, she will sail to-morrow. Her inward cargo that remained on the dock was totally destroyed. The Egyptian Monarch's cargo was uninjured. The outward business of the line is being transacted as usual.

Collision on the Canada Atlantic.

OTTAWA, March 8.—A collision occurred on the Canadian Atlantic Railway on Friday last. The mixed train which left Ottawa at 10 o'clock, after crossing the St. Lawrence river, met a stone train on a curve. Both engines were badly wrecked. The engine drawing the stone train was perfectly safe, and had just been put on the line. The fireman and engineer of the mixed train jumped and saved themselves. No one was hurt. Both engines have been sent to the shops for repairs.

"Rebecca, you shall not speak with dot Mose. Let me voice more." "Oh, fader, you speak mine heart. You've almost engaged. You shall not speak of him." "He's a head me. He had told me a pester and for a shameless story." "Oh, fader, don't forget to tell him to go as a son-in-law. If he can find a wife man like you, we've a lot for one he's in der chawley pinner." "Well, Rebecca, you've schmeared as I thought. Get married on you like. I am anxious to go into partnership with mine son-in-law."

Mr. RICHARD HOSBY said that if they had buildings in Norwood good stock would be exhibited.

Mr. GOSWAM approved of township societies and feared that, if they amalgamated with the West, only four or five would be left in it. The amendment was put and lost and the original motion was adopted. The meeting then adjourned.

GREAT FIRE IN NEW YORK.

Steamship Warehouse, the Erie Passenger Depot and Several Cars Burned.

NEW YORK, March 8.—A fire broke out in the extensive warehouse of the Monarch line of steamers, adjoining the Erie railway passenger depot and the Pavia ferry house. The steamers of the Monarch line were hastily removed. The damage to the steamers is insignificant.

2.45.—The flames are extending upwards along the river front in the direction of the ferry house and depot of the Erie Railway. A large steamer, presumably the Lydian Monarch, is still lying at the dock. Her masts are burning and tongues of flame are leaping through her rigging.

3 a.m.—The fire originated in the floor above on the Monarch line dock, owing to the combustible nature of the merchandise on the wharf, and spread rapidly. The entire fire department of Jersey City is now working at the scene, and assistance has been received from New York. The fire is still burning furiously in the direction of the Erie depot.

3.45 a.m.—The Monarch line dock is entirely destroyed. A large quantity of European freight is burned. The steamships Lydian Monarch and Egyptian Monarch appear to be more or less damaged. The flames destroyed the Erie Company's milk depot, and burned five cars loaded with milk. The Erie depot and ferry house are out of danger.

4 a.m.—The fire is now under control, having been confined to the property above described.

The Erie Railway Company sustained a loss of about $30,000 by last night's fire in Jersey City. The Erie Egyptian Monarch caught fire, and spread so fast that there was little chance for the fireman to subdue the flames. The hat was so intense that the workers could get no way near her. After the most and spare had been consumed the flames made their way into the above first, and then to her side, where the fire caught what was there of her cargo, and in a short while she was a raging furnace of flames, that threatened her sides to white heat, and made her hull at the water line throw off clouds of steam, caused by the heat within. There will be a loss on the ship of about $100,000, and on freight, which is total, about $250,000. The superintendent of the Monarch line said that just before the fire started an explosion was heard, and in his opinion the shock was among the freight that had been discharged from the Egyptian Monarch. It is supposed to have been caused by dynamite or an infernal machine, which the superintendent avers was possibly placed among the freight while the steamer was lying at dock in London previous to sailing for New York.

NEW YORK March 8.—The agents of the Monarch Line say the outward cargo of the Egyptian Monarch was not injured by fire, she will sail to-morrow. Her inward cargo that remained on the dock was totally destroyed. The Egyptian Monarch's cargo was uninjured. The outward business of the line is being transacted as usual.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 10, 1886.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Tom Irwin Ahead.

It seems it was not correct to give Mr. A. Rutherford the credit of being the first to start building operations in No. 1 ward, this season. We learn that Mr. Tom Irwin, Contractor, opened his ground on Friday last, the 5th instant, for a cellar for a new house to be built for Mr. Benjamin Cooley, on Sherbrooke Street adjoining the South Ward School.

Acknowledgement.

The Committee of the P. F. H. thankfully acknowledge the following donations for February:—Mrs. Manser, quantity dried apples; Ladies Charlotte Street Methodist Church, basket cakes; Mrs. Tom Hay, package reading matter; Mrs. J. B. McWilliams, parcel clothing; Mrs. Bruce Ferguson, sundries; Mrs. Best, parcel clothing; Mrs. Danlop, magazines, papers &c.

Personal.

Mr. S. Hughes, of the Landay Warder, was in town on Tuesday. He twirled a good stone in the Lindsay—Peterborough curling match.

Mr. Geo. Riegleton, one of the early settlers of Essexmore, is about to leave the old home-stand to live in a new and retirement. He has purchased a comfortable house and lot in No. 1 Ward Peterborough and will shortly take up his residence there. His many warm friends in Essexmore regret his departure.

The Market.

The attendance at this morning's market was not large. There was a considerable quantity of meat, in quarters, offered, beef selling at from $4 to $6 per cwt; pork, at 6 and 7 cents per pound; veal at 6 and 6 cents per pound and mutton at 6 and 7 cents per pound. Chickens brought 60 cents per pair. Eggs sold at 18 cents per dozen and butter at 30 cents per pound. The supply of vegetables was fair, being obtainable at prices unchanged. Hay, wood, and grain, also appeared on the square in quantities.

Horse.

One of the most novel specimens of window dressing that has been presented on George Street for a long time is now to be seen through the plate glass front of Messrs. Morrow, Tierney & Co.'s grocery. Mr. M. Tierney has always had a peculiar fondness of hand and sleight of contrivance in dressing windows, but this effort is strikingly surpassing. Each of the windows contains a monster Moose head, preserved by the taxidermist in remarkable naturalness. The background is composed of concave pyramids formed of cases of canned goods, ornamented with little knick-knacks. The moose were both shot last fall by Master James Fitzgerald, son of Mr. J. W. Fitzgerald, while camping along the River Petawawa, some distance back of the town of Pembroke. The mode of window dressing is significant—the new firm will strive to be ahead in all departments in the trade.

"Our Boys."

The comedietta, "Our Boys," was presented on Tuesday evening at Bradburn's Opera House by an amateur company under the auspices of the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association. The attraction was fairly large. Talbot Champney, the bumptious son of Sir Geoffrey, the county magistrate, was represented by Mr. St. George Slight in capital style, while the character of the other of the "boys," Ossa Middelweck, son of the retired bottomman, was capably taken by Mr. C. A. Lawford. Ten brief, blunt old Peckys Middelweck, Charles' father, was the character that fell to the lot of Mr. A. St. A. Smith. He did full justice to the part. Mr. H. A. Hammond was very successful in his delineation of the character of the pompous Sir Geoffrey. Miss McKerran made a charming Violet, while Mr. R. H. Denison was none the less successful in impersonating Mary McKerran, Violet's cousin. Miss Wallis, as Charles, the prim sister of Sir Geoffrey, took her part with considerable ability. Miss Crawford, as Belinda, Mr. J. Morris, as Poddles, and Mr. J. E. Hammond, as Kempter, all did creditably.

Last and Best.

Preparations for the "last and best" carnival of the season, which is to be held on Friday night, proceeds apace. The members of the Fire Brigade Band are putting forth every effort to make this closing carnival the most successful of the season. The political contest promises to be a warm one.

ALL WINTER GOODS are marked down to cost to make room for spring goods at ANDREW McNEILL, George Street.

Songs of Music.

All songs of music should make an early visit to the Music Store. The proprietor, with commendable enterprise, has just laid in a large stock—comprising hundreds of pieces—of sheet music. Bright songs for soprano, tenor, and alto, and the sweetest selections to suit both tenors and sopranos—all to be had at suitable prices. A number of duets, fresh from the printing press, from the pens of the best authors, are also among the stock.

Persistently Infectious.

Concerning "The Barber's Scrape," a light comedy which is just now having a great run, the Montreal Gazette says:—

"The latest musical absurdity, 'A Barber's Scrape,' adapted by Mr. W. H. Fuller, is presented again last evening, to a house packed to the doors. It is full of fun and frolic, sparkling with rich gems of humor and overflowing with wit. In the hands of Dick Golden and his factotum, Mr. Harry Kelly, it is made the brightest and most persistently infectious farce comedy ever seen upon any stage. There is no flagging and the play runs to a charm. The cast is a strong one and each member an artist; together they make a perfect firmament of stars. Standing room only for the remainder of the week will be the bill board of Gilman & Company."

"The Barber's Scrape" will be presented here on the evenings of the 15th and 16th of March.

Teachers' Convention.

The following is the programme of the work to be done at the teachers' convention, which meets at the Central School buildings tomorrow.

THURSDAY—FIRST DAY.

10 to 12—Election of Temporary Officers. Appointment of Committees. Suggestions as to general business.

2 to 5—Relation of the Teacher to his Work by Mr. J. J. Tilley. Decimals with Class by Mr. Hutchison. Township Institutes by Mr. Mark.

In the evening at eight o'clock a lecture will be delivered in Bradburn's Opera House by Mr. J. J. Tilley. The subject of the lecture will be "The Relation of Education to the State." The public are invited to attend. Admission, free.

FRIDAY—SECOND DAY.

9 to 10—Paper by Mr. Long. Development Lesson in Fractions with Class, Mr. J. J. Tilley. Penmanship by Mr. Sawyer.

2 to 5—Grammar with Third Class by Mr. Myles. Geography for Fourth Class by Mr. McInroy. Reports of Committees, General Business. Election of Officers.

Lindsay Wins.

A three rink curling match was played at the Charlotte Street rink on Tuesday afternoon between the Lindsay and Peterborough clubs. The ice was in fine condition and the play was, as it always is between Lindsay and Peterborough, keen and interesting. The match resulted in the home rink being defeated by 13 shots. The score is as follows:—

Trent Valley Canal.

The delegates from the counties, towns and villages along the Trent Valley Canal route met in Ottawa tomorrow to set forth the claims this part of the country has on the Government in the matter of the construction of the Trent Valley Canal. Those representing the town of Peterborough who left on the noon train over the Canadian Pacific Railway are: Mr. James Stevenson, Mayor of Peterborough; Councillors Cahill, McNaughton, Davidson, McNeil, Kelly, Yalland, Meeson, and Messrs. D. W. Dunlop, Geo. A. C. E. J. Toker, of the Review, W. H. Robertson, of the Times, J. R. Stratton of the Examiner, J. J. Lundy, Geo. Brownlee, E. Phelan, C. D. Macdonald, Wm. Van Every. Several more will leave this evening. Col. Deacon writes to Mr. E. A. Peck, Secretary of the Central Committee, that a large delegation will leave Lindsay this evening, will come by way of Peterborough, and go to Ottawa on the midnight express over the Canadian Pacific Railway. Arrangements have been made as to hotel accommodation. The Grand Union will be the headquarters of the delegation while in Ottawa.

The Spring Exhibition.

The Directors of the West Riding Agricultural Society held a meeting on Tuesday in reference to the exhibition of stallions and bulls to be held here on May 1st. The prize list used in 1885 was adopted for this exhibition also. A committee was appointed to carry out the arrangements, consisting of Messrs. Rutherford, Collins, Fitzgerald and Davidson.

Conservative Meetings.

A largely attended meeting of Conservatives was held in the Town Hall, South Monaghan, on Monday night, and a township association was formed. On Tuesday evening another enthusiastic meeting was held in the Town Hall, North Monaghan. An association was formed here also. Messrs. A. P. Poussette, Q. C., and Mr. Geo. W. Hutton, President of the Junior Liberal Conservative Club, Peterborough, attended both meetings and gave short addresses on the new Franchise Act.

Peterborough Presbytery.

A regular meeting of the members of the Peterborough Presbytery was held in the lecture room of St. Paul's Church on Tuesday. There were present: Rev. J. Bennett, Clerk of the Presbytery; the Rev. J. Cleland, Port Hope; the Rev. Wm. C. Windall, Cartwright; the Rev. F. Duncan, Coburn; the Rev. D. Sutherland, Markham; the Rev. J. Cameron, Millbrook; the Rev. E. F. Torrance, and the Rev. A. Bell, Peterborough; the Rev. Jas. Ross, Roseneath; the Rev. D. L. McCrack, Cobourg; the Rev. H. Cook, Baltimore; the Rev. W. H. Jamieson, Garden Hill; the Rev. J. Carmichael, Norwood; the Rev. J. Craigie, Blyth; the Rev. D. A. Thompson, Hastings; R. McKnight, Warsaw, and elders J. Craig, Port Hope, and Robt. Tully, Peterborough. Mr. Duncan of Coburn, the Moderator, occupied the chair. The minutes of the former meeting were read and confirmed.

Fresh instructions were given to the Committee on Church Property at Oshkosh to enquire into all matters affecting the title deeds and report to next meeting. Interesting reports were received from the Home Mission Committee and the Committee on Augmentation of Stipends. Special attention was given to the latter subject, and a resolution passed that visitations of congregations be made in future not later than Sept. in each year. The next meeting of Presbytery was appointed to be held in the last church, Port Hope, on July 6, at 10 o'clock a.m. The ministers appointed (all in the order of the roll) as delegates to the General Assembly are Messrs. Sutherland, Cameron, Torrance, Bell, White and Ross. The elders chosen by election were Messrs. I. Russell, Cobourg; Gabriel Orr, Cuddepring; J. Aitken, Cobourg; W. E. Ryburgh, Norwood; — Martin, Garden Hill; and R. Tully, Peterborough. Principal Grant, of Queen's College, was nominated as Moderator of the Assembly. Mr. Rumble, of Cobourg, was recommended to the Home Mission Committee for work in the mission field during the summer. The congregation at Dundas, obtained leave to sell their mass property. Messrs. Cameron and Ryburgh were appointed as members of the Synod Committee on Business.

Mr. McNight was in due form licensed to take upon himself the work of the preaching of the Gospel. A resolution was passed to require moderators of vacancies to report from time to time the steps taken to effect settlements.

THE C. P. R. WESTERN TERMINUS.

A Description of the Town of Farwell and its Surroundings.

Mr. S. H. Green, a former resident of Peterborough, writes to a friend here as follows:—

FARWELL, B.C., Jan. 31st, 1886.

DEAR ALEX.—According to promise I must try to have a letter ready for the next mail. I will not promise that it will be a very interesting one for I am well aware of my inability to write a good letter. I do not remember where I wrote you last, so I will begin at Donald (first Crossing). When we decided to come over here the roads were not passable for teams and we had some goods we wished to bring over, so we decided to boat them down the river. The distance by water between the two Crossings is about three hundred miles, while by the grade it is only eighty. After making enquiries about the river I decided not to go, not that I was afraid of being drowned; but when I was told that there was one five mile portage all the goods in the country would not induce me to make the trip. I tried to persuade W. J. from going, but it was useless. He had said he was going and had he known that it was certain death I think he would have taken the risk. So he, in company with two others, loaded three boats and started off, trying to look happy, but I do not think they succeeded very well.

I stayed two weeks in Donald expecting Bob, but he did not come, so I started on my weary journey over the mountains. In walking over the rough road between the two places one must walk every foot of one hundred miles. Imagine yourself walking one hundred miles over your level roads, and then think of me stepping it out over the worst kind of mountain road. I had a very sorry trip of it, and I am sure I presented a comical appearance on my arrival at Farwell. I suddenly awoke that the next time I take a walk of that kind again I will take it on the ridge bone of a hyena. I was disappointed on my arrival at Farwell that W. J. had not arrived, as they intended to make the trip in one week. I put in three weeks in a very miserable state of mind, expecting he boys every day. On day, about noon, five weeks after they left Donald, the (as I thought) drowned men arrived safely at the dock at Farwell. Imagine my delight at their safe arrival, for I was fully convinced that they were all drowned, and was trying to make up my mind to inform the folks at home. There were several boats that started with them arrived 2 and 3 weeks before them, but they drew three of their men on the trip. They had acting of any value when they arrived, it had all been washed over board—our books, papers and clothes included with the last. They reported a horrible trip, having to carry their cargo the greater part of the distance over the beach, while they let the boats down with a line. When they struck here they were a hard looking outfit—their clothing and boats were all in tatters from climbing over the rocks. I have thought since that their slow trip was all for the best, for had they been in a week or two sooner we would have had a building up in that portion of the town that was burned. The town of Farwell is situated in a valley about two miles wide, by four or five long; the river divides it at about the centre. This valley connects the Eagle and Shikik passes. The town is, both as to the east bank of the river. We are situated about the centre of the town on the river side of the street. A fire started about the centre of the town last spring and burned every building in the west and side of twenty minutes. There was no time to save any goods and in a great many cases the people had a very narrow escape with their lives. The buildings were built of cedar split lumber, and the wood was very high at the time. By the way, there, the worst place for wind I ever saw. There are four openings in the mountains into this valley and the winds seem to meet in our little town to have a jubilee and make our lives uncomfortable. The C. P. R. had a bust about the size of the G. I. E. E. E. on the river last season carrying supplies from Washington Territory. The evil one had full possession of our little town last summer. As the American soldiers rushed here to grab up the poor C. P. R. navies' hard earned money, which they succeeded in doing in a good many cases. I am afraid if a person from the east could have dropped down in our midst without being prepared, he would think he had drifted into the lower regions. When one of the official trains was passing through last fall two young dunces of the party broke loose from their keepers and wandered down town. A crowd of kids and roughs mistook them for some kind of animals, and after them yelling like fiends; but the giddy creatures were light footed and made their escape. When the road closed down all our hard cases but for other passengers leaving about two hundred of us here. The only real bad, tough, characters left in the mountains are the kids, they imagine that to be men they must be bold, and carry a knife in their boot leg. But I can assure you they are harmless. We have had a hard time killing time this winter. We sleep, read and play whilst, and when we feel like a little recreation we saw wood. We have had several dances and sports to have a few more before spring. There are about a dozen ladies in town all married, with the exception of two, the Misses S—. The eldest is a charming creature, five feet high, weighs 210 pounds, and is built pretty much like a brick stable. The youngest, age 13 years, built pretty much like her sister, only more so. Which would you advise me to try for?

We did very well last summer, but we are not any more than keeping even this winter. We respect business will be good next summer. There is a road to be built south of here. This will be the point for all supplies. Then the Big Bend country is expected to turn out some very rich ore, both in silver and gold. All supplies for that country must come from here. There is also a great deal of work to be done on the C. P. R. before it is fit for traffic. If this country turns out as I expect it will I will settle and for good, but if not I will leave it for good next fall. I really think that a trip through this country would well repay you for the expense connected with it. I often think what a glorious time our old picnic crowd would have if they were here in the mountains. Jim McInroy is one of the isolated two hundred. W. Walton (Mr. Joseph Walton's youngest son) is also here. Every time we meet we have something to say about Peterborough. As I write you before, we have only had one mail this winter. We are charged 25 cents per letter by the mail carriers. Bob and I paid $5 the last trip. The mail is carried over two hundred miles over the mountains by dog train. Bob, W. J. and myself are living together here. We take turn about at cooking our two meals per day—we do not get up early enough in the morning for a third. I will be able to fill the position of pot wren in any man's kitchen when I am through here. I think I have said pretty near enough about myself and surroundings.

Yours faithfully,

S. H. GREEN.

THE PATH OF DUTY.

The Members of the Town Council have Certain Rules for their Own Guidance.

The rules regulating the sessions, as well as the enforcement of the Town Council's duty were made valid at the last meeting of the Council. For some time Councillor Moore and others have been reviving the old rules of order and making additions thereto. The result of their labors has been the annulling of some rules, the revision of a few, and the addition of fifteen new ones.

The first important change made (that is, to representatives of the press) is that embodied in rule No. 3. This rule makes adjournment imperative at eleven o'clock, if the Council is in session up till that hour, unless otherwise determined by a vote of two-thirds of the members present.

Rule 4 provides that the members shall not leave their places on adjournment until the Mayor or presiding officer leave the chair.

Rule 9 gives the Mayor or other presiding officer power to call any other member of the Council to the chair if he desires to say any part in the discussion or for any other purpose.

Rule 10, in addition to former clauses, has one which compels all members to abide by the rules and obey the ruling of the presiding officer. If he resist or disobey the ruling of the presiding officer, the offender may be ordered by the Council to vacate his seat at the Board, and if he shall object to the services of the police may be brought into requisition. But in case of an ample apology being made, the ejected member may be restored forthwith to his seat by a vote of the Council.

Rule 11 does not allow members to vote upon any question or motion in which he has a direct or indirect interest such as is peculiar to that member and not in common with the citizens at large. If any member does vote under such circumstances his vote shall be disallowed.

Rule 14 commands respect to be shown to not only the Queen and the Royal family, and Her Majesty's administrators, but it says particular stress upon respect being shown to the Governor-General.

Rule 16 says that no Councillor shall, in the Council, speak more than ten minutes on the same question except the Mayor, who shall have the right to reply (but not longer than ten minutes), when all other speakers shall have finished. A Councillor, who thinks he has been misunderstood, however, may rise and offer an explanation, provided he gets permission from the presiding officer.

Rule 17 allows the Clerk to take the yeas and nays at the request of any single member.

Rule 19 allows a second motion for adjournment from being made until some intermediate business has been taken up.

Rule 22 declares that no more than one motion for reconsideration of a question shall be permitted.

Rule 27 expresses that all votes giving command shall be couched in the term "ordered," and of opinions, principles, facts and purposes in the term "resolved."

Rule 28 allows only one amendment to an amendment to be made. Other amendments must be made to the main question.

Rule 35 permits the election of any member of a committee to the chair, pro tem, provided the chairman of such committee is absent.

Rule 36 prohibits the presentation of any report from a committee to the Council unless agreed to by the majority of that committee actually assembled for the transaction of business.

Rule 39 makes it illegal for any meeting of a committee to be called upon less than 24 hours notice, except in a case of emergency.

Rule 40 allows members of committees, while in session, to observe the standing rules of order of the Council, as well as the by-laws of the town, relating to order.

Rule 41 calls for the appointment of the standing committees at the second meeting of the Council in the year.

Rule 42 names the Standing Committees as follows:—The Finance Committee, the Appointment and Supervision of Police Committee, the License Committee, the Streets and Bridges Committee, the Charity Committee, the Fire Water and Light Committee, the Market Committee, the Prison Committee, the Health and Sanitary Committee, the Property and Building Committee, the Joint Committee, (with County) and the Court of Revision.

Rule 45 states that a motion for a Committee to rise and report the question shall be decided without debate.

Rule 46 precludes members from making more than one speech in Committees of the whole until every other member, desiring to speak shall have spoken. The first speech shall not be more than five minutes duration.

MR. FERDINAND SCHIVEREA, THE EVANGELIST.

and the second not more than 10 minutes, unless by the consent of the Council the speaker is permitted to further express his views.

Rule 47 dissolves the introduction of any by-law in imperfect form, except as to number, dates, names and amounts.

Rule 57 changes the Name of the Select Committee to that of Special Committee. The chairman of such committee is empowered to request the Clerk to call the committee together, which request the Clerk shall comply with.

Rule 58 demands the sending of all accounts and claims against the town to committees, unless otherwise specially provided for.

Rule 59 forbids any member or officer to enter into any contract for the purchase of any article from any member or officer of the Council.

Rule 60 forbids any member or officer from incurring any debt in the Council's behalf, except by the consent of the Council.

Rule 61 makes a breach of the regulation imposed in Rule 60 by any officer punishable by the forfeiture of the office held by such officer.

Other changes have been made, but they are of an unimportant character.

A MASSACRE OF YEARS AGO.

The Gull of an Awful Tragedy Traced Home at Last.

Advice from British Columbia state that, after fourteen years' waiting, the authorities believe they have discovered and have in custody one of the participants in the massacre of the passengers and crew of the steamship G. S. Wright, which was lost on the down trip from Alaska in 1872. No authentic details of the massacre or of the fate of the unfortunate passengers and crew were ever known, as no white man lived to tell the tale. Authentic rumors, which were subsequently confirmed, were in circulation sometime after the catastrophe of the escape of a number of white people from the wreck and of their subsequent massacre by the Indians on the coast when they landed. The supposition was that the ill-fated vessel, during a snow storm, struck a reef when entering Queen Charlotte Sound, at the northern end of the island, the entrance to the Sound being dangerous in the thick weather on account of the number of treacherous reefs. One of the firemen on George S. Wright was an Indian, who escaped with others from a watery grave and then sent his brother seeking to kill the unfortunate officers and passengers who escaped with him. It is now believed, beyond doubt, that an Indian named Kamah, who is held in custody at Victoria, B. C., for having stolen liquor in his possession, is none other than the fireman of the ill-fated vessel who took part in the massacre. The authorities are now working up the case, and from the evidence of several Indians from the vicinity of the wreck there is every probability that one at least of the guilty parties will be brought to justice, although fourteen years have gone by since the terrible deed was committed.

INDISCRIMINATE DISTRESS.

The Terrible State of Things on the West Coast of Ireland.

London, March 10.—The government has placed a gunboat at the service of Mr. Tuke in his work of relieving the distress among the inhabitants of the islands along the western Irish coast. Indiscriminate distress has been developed among the people inhabiting the Aran Isles, off Galway, who, besides having hardly anything but moss and sea grass to eat, are without fire and often without clothing and shelter. It is not rare to find girls of 17 and 18 years of age kept in enforced hiding during the day time because of every thread of clothing, loose and ragged, which they are obliged to wear. It is feared that unless prompt relief measures are inaugurated, scores of these people will die of starvation.

TWENTY LIVES LOST.

Terrible Collision on the Railway Between Monte Carlo and Mentone.

LONDON, March 11.—A collision occurred yesterday between two trains on the railway between Monte Carlo and Mentone. The train from Mentone was filled with English visitors. A number of carriages were smashed and fell into the sea. The number of deaths is unknown but it is believed that at least twenty persons lost their lives.

Napier & Sons the great Glasgow ship-builders have contracted with the Russian Government for three sets of 24-horse-power triple-expansion engines, each to indicate 2000 horse-power. They have also on hand for the Russian navy one set of engines of 13,000 horse-power—the largest engines known—and for the British Government two sets of 8500 horse-power engines for the cruisers "Australia" and "Galeata" being built by them.

Fluid Lightning.
All sufferers from that terrible torment, Neuralgia, can be made happy by one moment by a single application of Fluid Lightning, which rubs on the painful parts, and without using any disgusting medicine day after day with little or no result. Fluid Lightning also cures all Rheumatism, Lumbago, Rheumatism, Sciatica, and is only 25 cents per bottle at John McKee's drug store.

Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil With Hypophosphates.
It acts both as a food and as a medicine. It not only gives flesh and strength by virtue of its nutritious properties, but creates an appetite for food that builds up the wasted body.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS

AN EXPLANATION

The London Advertiser explains that it is not the editor but a wicked advertiser who is responsible for a "processive" puff which lately appeared in its columns. No one but a base traitor or a corrupt independent would suspect the L. A. Mr. Miller is a p. p. nothing progressive. —Toronto World (Indep.).

COULD DO NO MORE

Mr. Morris's rather limited list knocks the stuffing out of the Globe's pretence that we would have made a big success of it any day, only for Sir John. If Mr. Blake was in power to-day he could not do any more towards reciprocity than is now being done. The Globe had better take the situation at Washington. —Toronto World (Indep.).

BORROWED FAULTS

The Globe publishes an article in disparage of the late Earl of Beaconsfield for the purpose of using the alleged likeness between him and Sir John Macdonald as a ground for attack upon the latter. This is a weak thing to do. It will not alienate his Conservative followers; it will merely be a question of balance, for that is all it is; but it will tend to drive to his support the independent-minded members of the House of Commons. The Globe had better take the situation at Washington. —Toronto World (Indep.).

DIRECT TAXATION COMING

The revenue of Ontario is fixed; it cannot be increased except in one of two ways, and then only slightly. The tax on income is constantly increasing as the price of the Province rises. The time is coming when the municipalities must tax the people directly for objects to which the Legislature now grants material aid, and it will be wise on the part of our Government to give the municipalities a little of coming events, and gradually prepare them for the inevitable by lifting off small grants from time to time. —Kingston Whig (Reform.).

NON WITHOUT CAUSE

The fact, however, that the criticism of the Opposition (if the Agricultural College) has compelled the admission that some change in future management of the college is necessary, may be regarded as an acknowledgment that criticism was not altogether without cause. —New market Era (Reform.).

WILL NOT JOIN IT

The Reformers of Ontario are a law-abiding and loyal people. They think the Ministry responsible for many mistakes and sins in their general policy, but the Reformers of Ontario do have no sympathy with rebels in a free country, or with blackguards who represent the interests of the crown for the one reason that the latter suppress and punish rebels. No respectable leader in this Province regards the Ministry of the Crown as a bunch of murderers, but when the Globe applauds and sympathizes with a mob which assaults and kills an employer and approver of mob law, the Reformers of this Province will not join in any such crusade, and by inviting them to do so, the Globe does not weaken but strengthens the hands of the Tories. —Toronto World (Indep.).

ENGLAND

It is said there is a project for purchasing the magnificent ruins of Ludlow Castle in Herefordshire and restoring them and presenting the place to the Prince of Wales. This would cost about $1,500,000.

Rev. GEORGE LAMB, who two years ago was president of the Primitive Methodist Conference in the Argentine to £100,000 a year—a very substantial piece of patronage for any man to possess. In addition to it, the Ministers themselves have at their disposal several appointments, and an average of £10,000 a year each. These appointments, however, are not annual, but occur as vacancies arise from death or resignation. There are nearly 1500 other officers, with salaries from £500 to £1000, that are also at the disposal of Ministers.

The Duke of Abercorn was to be installed Grand Master of the Masonic order in Ireland on the 3rd of March, and to preside at a special meeting of the Grand Lodge in Dublin on the following evening.

The death is reported from Dublin, at the age of 86, of Colonel George Thomson, C.B., late of the Royal Engineers. Col. Thomson entered the army in the Waterloo year, 1815, and retired in 1841, having been granted a Companionship of the Bath two years previously.

A GREAT convention of British and Irish millers will be held in Dublin in June, at which an Oxford Point Ure, as President of the National Association of Millers, will preside. It is expected that about five hundred British millers will cross to Dublin. Several parties will be sent to the mills in all parts of Ireland to inspect them.

Up to the 31st August last 127,784 applications had been made under the Irish Land Commission to have fair rents fixed in Convent. Of these rents were fixed in 85,120 cases, 28,082 applications were dismissed or struck out, and 10,471 applications were withdrawn. In addition to the foregoing cases, all of which were disposed of in Court, 84,355 agreements fixing fair rents were made out of Court. During the same period there were 20,140 appeals lodged against the fair rent fixed by the Court, of which 11,075 have been disposed of.

SCIENCE AND PROGRESS.

Circumpolar Stations.

Lieut. A. W. Greely's book on his Arctic explorations has lately been published. It is called "Three Years of Arctic Service," and is full of interest. It does not, however, give any estimate of the money that has been spent and the lives that have been lost in trying to reach the north pole. There is a strange and fatal fascination about these seas of ice that draws adventurous souls thither, at the hazard of everything.

In 1975 a sort of international proposition was made that hereafter the chief countries of the earth, instead of trying merely to enlarge geographical boundaries in these polar expeditions, should direct their attention chiefly to the "ascertainment of scientific facts." As a means to this end, observatory and supply stations should be established by the different governments as far north as was practicable. Eleven nations acted on the suggestion, and the United States was one of them. Fourteen such stations were established. The number of these was at length increased to forty. Seven hundred men were appointed to them. This international polar commission spent winters and summers here, taking observations, which, when fully completed, will give to the world, with new light on the mysterious realm of ice and snow.

MAP OF CIRCUMPOLAR STATIONS.

The diagram shows the points where the stations were located. It is taken from Greely's book, published by the Scribners. It will be a matter of pride to Americans to know that the United States expedition was the one that reached nearest to the north pole. The station nearest the pole marks the point gained by the Lady Franklin expedition. Lieut. Greely, from 1881 to 1884. In the latter year the remnants of the expedition were found perishing by the relief party sent in search of them. Sixty hours more would have ended their sufferings and their lives.

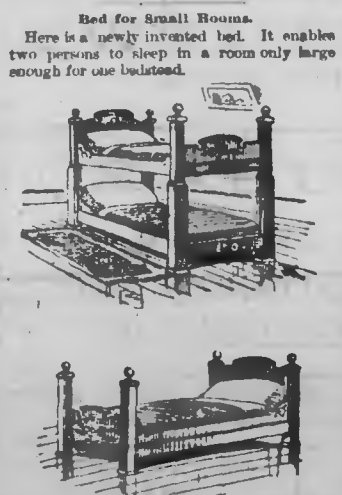

The point the very closest to the pole was gained by two explorers on a foot expedition from the Lady Franklin bay party. The explorers were Lockwood and Brainard. They went in a short journey to within 430 miles of the pole. Lockwood died before the arrival of the relief party. This brave man made a tour across Grinnell Land and discovered fertile valleys and herds of musk oxen. He saw, too, what seems to be the most northerly spot where human beings have had a dwelling, but the people who lived there had disappeared. The north polar regions are growing colder and colder in the process of the years. The earth is probably cooling off toward the equator. There is evidence that the places nearest the poles which have yet been visited in our time were once occupied by the life and vegetation of temperate climates.

Every sort of information that could be gained was faithfully sought by the party. Observations on wind, cloud, temperature and electricity were faithfully kept; so were botanical and zoological notes.

The way the survivors of the party have been treated since their rescue is not, however, a credit to their countrymen. Brainard, who reached the highest latitude, along with Lockwood, has returned to his place as a humble sergeant in the regular army. The widow of the gallant Dr. Pavy cannot even get a pension out of Congress. On this point Lieut. Greely says frankly:

"No man of the party has received promotion except such temporary advancement as my personal urging could secure. Two men, with broken health, have adventured their private fortunes, and one, a most self-sacrificing, soldierly, temperate, and loyal man, lives, as these lines are penned, helpless in a city hospital, aided by private charity. His pension has not even been decided. Even the meager allowances originally promised for Arctic service have not been fully paid, and the widows of the dead are generally as yet unrecognized."

Bed for Small Rooms. Here is a newly invented bed. It enables two persons to sleep in a room only large enough for one bedstead.

The device is shown in the illustration. At the top is the rough folded up, one bed being under the other. At the bottom the thing is unfolded, ready for use. The four legs of the bedstead are hollow, and open at the top. Sliding posts are fixed inside the hollow ones. These are joined to form a bed frame, and when the bedstead is opened the sliding posts are lifted up and out of the other posts, and so the couch for two is set up. They sleep bunk-wise, one above the other.

The Foundations of Chicago Buildings. Most people are aware that Chicago is built over a swamp. Architectural Sketch and throws some light on the subject. The soil beneath the city is very peculiar. It is composed first of sand and gravel ground to a depth of eight to twelve feet. Below this is the foundation bed of Chicago. It is a dry blue clay called "hard pan," from three to six feet deep. Below the hard pan is a bed of "blue muck," fifty feet deep.

In building houses care must be taken not to break through the hard pan into the blue muck. For the latter is highly compressible and will cause structures above it to sink irregularly. The hard pan is of different depths in different spots, and allowance must be made for this.

Destruction of Birds for the Milliners.

To such an extent has the recent fashion of using birds for hat ornaments been carried that the waters and beaches in this vicinity have been entirely depopulated of their birds. On the coast line of Long Island the slaughter has been carried to such a degree, that within a few years since, thousands and thousands of terns were gracefully sailing over the surf beaten shore and the wind rippled hairs, now there is rarely to be seen.

The demand for sea birds of white or delicate shades of color was so great, that many of the professional gunners and market shooters gave up their usual shooting to enter upon what has proved to be a war of extermination. So long as the taxidermist who work for milliners in the large cities would take all the birds that could be supplied, the gunners were shooting day after day, from daylight until dark. —Science.

A Soap Woman.

The body of a young Indian woman was recently shipped from southern Colorado to Washington that had become completely petrified, as it is called. It is not, however, a real turning into stone, but more nearly into hard soap. The ammonia released by decomposition sometimes unites with fat of the body, chemists say, and produces a hard, alkaline compound. This arrests decay. The substance may be scraped off with a knife.

The Greatest Preparation Yet. "Enkele," Dr. Brown's world renowned Hair Destroyer, destroys all superfluous hair on the face or arms of Ladies or Gentlemen. It is harmless, causes no pain in using, and leaves no disfigurement; can be easily applied, and works quickly and surely. Thousands have used it and pronounced it to be the best article of the kind before the public. To be had from J. D. Tully, Druggist, Agent for Peterborough.

"MADRE E HIJO"
What Does It Mean?

FROM ALL OVER

Every bride is beautiful, and it is a mystery where all the plain married women come from. NATIONAL PILLS is the favorite purgative and anti-bilious medicine, they are mild and thorough.

A man may profess the sublimest doctrine; he may at the same time object to pay his honest debts.

Worms often destroy children, but Freeman's Worm Powders destroy worms, and expel them from the system.

A Crying Evil—Children are often fretful and ill when worms is the cause. Dr. Low's Worm Syrup safely expels all worms.

It has been decided that a woman cannot be an offensive partisan; but she can be just as provoking in other ways.

To REMOVE Dandruff—Cleanse the scalp with Prof. Low's Magic Sulphur Soap. A delightful medicinal soap for the toilet.

The extraordinary popularity of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the natural result of its use by intelligent people for over forty years. It has proved itself the very best specific for colds, coughs, and pulmonary complaints.

Truth—the open, bold, honest truth—is always the wisest, always the safest, for every one in any and all circumstances.

Take Ayer's Sarsaparilla in the spring of the year to purify the blood, invigorate the system, excite the liver function, and restore the healthy tone and vigor of the whole physical mechanism.

A SOURCE OF GREAT TROUBLE—Probably the most prolific source of chronic ill is indigestion or dyspepsia, causing unhealthy blood. Yet taken in time it is positively curable. Hurdock Blood Bitters has cured some of the worst cases known, even of 15 years' duration. It troubles with indigestion try it.

There are but few, and those men of great courage and wisdom, that are either desirous of liberty or capable of using it. —Milton.

"What is good for a cold?" is a question often asked, but seldom satisfactorily answered. We can answer to the satisfaction of all, if they will follow our advice and try Hurdock's Pectoral Balm, a safe, pleasant and certain throat and lung healer. Sold by all druggists.

"BURNS AND SCALDS"—If you use our ointment to cure a burn or scald, it will (two weeks from experience) soon relieve you of all pain and quickly heal the wound; it costs but twenty-five cents and is sold by all druggists—ask for "Perry Davis' Pain Killer."

Julia (aged six)—"We've got a new baby at our house." Clara (aged six)—"What is it—a boy or a girl?" Julia—"Oh, we don't know yet. We've only had it two days."

IN GOOD REPUTE—James McMurdoch, writing from Kansas, says:—"B. B. H., as a remedy for diseases of the blood, liver and kidneys, has an excellent reputation in this locality. I have used it, and speak from experience as well as observation. It is the only medicine I want, and I advise others to use it."

HANDY TO HAVE—Every household should have some ready remedy at hand for just such diseases, sudden attacks of inflammation and accidental injuries. Such a remedy is best found in Hurdock's Yellow Oil for Internal and External Use. It cures rheumatism, sore throat, cramp, neuralgia, lame back, sprains, bruises and burns.

Proud mamma—"Don't you think dear baby is the image of his papa?" Well-meaning, but dull friend—"Well, yes, perhaps he is; but I dare say he'll outgrow it in time."

THERE IS NOTHING LIKE IT—There is no other remedy offered to suffering humanity whose use is so universally and frequently required as Hurdock's Yellow Oil, for rheumatism, neuralgia, colds, sore throat, deafness, cramp, lumbago and sciatic pain, lameness and soreness of all kinds, when internally and externally used.

A GREAT AWAKENING—There is a great awakening of the sluggish organs of the human system whenever Hurdock Blood Bitters are taken. It arouses the torpid liver to action, regulates the bowels and the kidneys, purifies the blood, and restores a healthy tone to the system generally.

Temperance puts wood on the fire, meal in the barrel, flour in the tub, money in the purse, credit in the country, contentment in the house, clothes on the back, and vigor in the body. —Dr. Franklin.

MURRAY & LANMAN'S FLORIDA WATER.—We earnestly urge every purchaser to see for himself which is prepared by Murray & Lanman & Kemp, New York, who are the sole proprietors of the true Florida Water. All other so-called Florida Waters are only ordinary Colognes.

About forty ladies and gentlemen and a clergyman assembled at the house of a gentleman in Fort Howe, N. H., to attend the wedding of his daughter. At the time set down for the ceremony the groom sent word that he had changed his mind.

Rich uncle sends his physician—"No you think there is hope for me?" "Not only that, but I can assure you that you are saved."

"Very well, I wish you would inform my nephew, but break the news gently to him."

What a wonderful discovery is Perry Davis' Pain Killer! It not only cures the ill of the human family, but is also the sure remedy for horses with colic. It has never been known to fail in a case of the worst case, and for a price gain, etc., it never fails to try it once. Directions accompany each bottle. Sold by druggists generally.

If you are afflicted with rheumatism call on J. D. Tully, druggist, immediately and procure a bottle of West's World's Wonder or Family Liniment. It is a certain and positive cure. It is infallible for sprains, colds, bruises, burns, and all diseases requiring external application. Price, 25 cents and 50 cents per bottle. Sold by J. D. Tully, druggist.

LAKELAND.

From Our Own Correspondent.

VILLAGE COUNCIL.—A regular meeting of the Village Council was held on Monday evening. Present, the Reeve in the chair, Councillors Cox, Moore and Webster. A petition signed by J. C. Sherin, W. J. Wallis, W. M. Graham and others praying that a public meeting might be held to discuss the proposed purchase of mill reserve No. 1 for a market place was received. The auditor's report was received and a report of the Clerk was ordered to have the required number of copies printed. Moved by Councillor Cox, seconded by Councillor Webster, That the printing for the corporation of Lakeland be equally divided between the Examiner and Review provided that they will do the printing on the same terms as they do it for the county.—Carried. Moved by Councillor Webster, seconded by Councillor Cox, That the Reeve, Isaac Garbutt, Sr., Councillor Moore and W. D. Strickland, do attend on the deputation to meet at Ottawa on the 11th March, to urge upon the Government the speedy construction of the Trent Valley Canal, and that the three latter be allowed $10 each to pay their expenses.—Carried. The following accounts were ordered to be paid:—

John Simpson, removing snow..... $7 50
Isaac Watson, wages..... 72
A. Mowry..... 300
Thos. Watson do..... 50
John Simpson, wages..... 100

Moved by Councillor Webster, seconded by Councillor Moore, That the Council do now adjourn to meet on Tuesday, March 3rd.

THE MARKET BY-LAW.—A public meeting will be held on Monday evening the 15th inst. to discuss the advisability of purchasing Mill Reserve No. 1 for a market place. It is evident that there will be a certain amount of opposition to the proposed by-law, and this opposition will come from those persons who are not in the market place for the village to purchase at a cost of $800 or $900, the Bible Christian Church, as every one knows this church has no surrounding grounds whatever and is situated in a side street. There are several reasons given for the hostility of the opponents of the by-law, one of which could hardly be expected to arise from any man with an ordinary amount of intelligence, and that is the noise of the Flour, Woollen, Flaxing mills would be higher in houses than they would be on the proposed market place. This objection is too absurd to require further notice. Another reason given is that Lakeland does not require a market. This is the opinion of those who would like to see Lakeland remain a small village for the rest of her days and have no ambition beyond the present. I also understand that one prominent opponent to the by-law offers his house and grounds at the same, or a lower figure. It has been current in the village for some time that this gentleman is anxious to dispose of his property here, therefore this offer is probably one for the village and not for himself. Take the advantages that will accrue to Lakeland. The corporation will have a piece of land that belongs to them situated in the heart of the village, and in what ever direction the village may grow this property will be the centre of the business portion of the village. The Dundas Street and Smiths roads all meet here, and last but not least, the establishment of a market will bring farmers to the village who would materially benefit (if they could but see it) our local merchants. As to the cost, it will be spread over a number of years, and the increased taxation will be so small as to be hardly felt by the ratepayers. In conclusion, it is to be hoped that all who are anxious to see our village prosper as a regular town, all who hope to see Lakeland increase in trade and prosperity, will make a point of supporting the Council in their efforts to make Lakeland worthy of the great advantages it enjoys in possessing an unrivalled water power, and in being surrounded by a first-class farming country.

INVADED.—The Salvation Army has invaded our quiet village, and if the noise they made on Sunday is any criterion of the amount of riotousness they will have to deal with, they will have their hands full for some time to come.

AN ARREST.—On Monday Mr. O. Cochrane, village constable, arrested a mad woman who had been found wandering in the woods. Mr. Hall sent her to the lunatic asylum at a regular rate.

CHINA.—On Tuesday a friendly curling match for a boom took place between the following rink:—

G. Cochrane, J. D. Macdonald, skip, 20
J. J. Hall, skip, 10
Mr. Strickland's rink winning by 10 shots.

KEENE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

CURLING.—The draws for the Russell medal resulted as follows:—

M. Kennaley, 14 shots, H. J. English, 6 shots, J. Dickson, 5 shots, J. Shaw, 13 shots, M. Kennaley, 13 shots, J. Shaw, 13 shots.

M. Kennaley thus holds the Russell medal for this year. The Keene Club sent one rink to Campbellford on Friday, and it came home victorious, after playing two rinks, by a majority of 5 shots. They speak in glowing terms of the way they were treated while in Campbellford.

SOCIAL.—A social will be given at the Methodist Parsonage by Mrs. Johnston, in behalf of the L. A. S. on Monday next, 19th. All are invited.

HYMNICAL.—Marriages are all the talk now. On the 27th ult. Mr. J. Porter and Miss Ella Shearer were married, and also on the same day Mr. Fred. Armstrong and Miss Elmhirst. Arrangements for the wedding of Mr. Porter and Miss Shearer were made on Wednesday last.

DEATH.—Mr. P. A. Ross, 81, died on Friday last. The funeral took place on Sunday and was very largely attended by his numerous friends. Miss L. Carter died on the same day, deeply revered.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOL.—The following is the report for the month of February of Keene Public School, School Department, Mr. K. Mark, teacher:—

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, MARCH 12, 1886.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Personal.

Mr. Wm. Gibson, contractor, Beamsville, Ontario, and a brother of the well-known bicyclist, Mr. Alex. Gibson, is in town.

The Premier Ill.

The Mail's Ottawa correspondent says that in consequence of Sir John Macdonald suffering from a severe cold the deputations about the Trent Valley Canal did not present their case to Government on Wednesday. Sir John Macdonald was in the House though his cold is so severe that he can hardly speak above a whisper.

The Carnival To-Night.

It is almost needless to remind the public that the last carnival of the season, under the auspices of the Fire Brigade Band, takes place this evening, at the Charlotte Street rink. The preparations for this event have been steadily going on since the last carnival, and it is expected that it will be even more successful than its predecessors. The contest for the cane to be presented to either John A. Macdonald or Hon. Edward Blake, is causing no little excitement. Don't miss the event. For the information of those attending we may state that the voting will be conducted the same as at any general election.

Wedding Bells.

On Wednesday evening Mr. John D. Criss, Assistant Chief of the Fire Brigade, deserted the position he has held so many years—he deserted the ranks of the beehive. The lady of his choice was Miss Frances Rutherford, sister of Mr. T. Rutherford, Chief of the Fire Brigade. The happy event took place at the residence of the bride's father-in-law, Mr. James Kendry, Auburn. Mr. S. Sharpe was groomsmen and Miss Louise Rutherford, bridesmaid. The rites were solemnized by the Rev. I. Tovel, after which the customary felicitation took place. The presents the bride received were many, handsome and costly. The newly wed were followed to their new home on McDougal street by the well wishes of the wedding guests and their friends.

A Little Prevision.

Early this morning when quietness reigned on George street, and the new rice ran calmly and gleams of diamonds in the new fallen snow, a certain office clerk industriously plied the beam on the sidewalk. While he brushed off the couple of inches of feathery flakes an early-to-rise printer happened to come along. "Good morning—a fine morning," said the clerk. The printer did not deny the latter part of the assertion and was about to pass on. "You're not going to work this morning, are you?" persisted the clerk. "Why not?" innocently asked the printer, with a kind of sarcasm. "Why, you are not going to work on Good Friday, are you?" ejaculated the former with wide open eyes. "No," was the remark, "but I'm going to work this morning." The brown was laid by, and the retiring form of the printer was watched till it faded into a comforting room.

THE TEACHERS' CONVENTION

Held in the Central School Building, Largely Attended.

A two days' convention of the public school teachers of the town and county of Peterborough was opened at the Central school building on Thursday at ten o'clock in the forenoon. The attendance was large.

Mr. J. D. McIlmoyle, Principal of the Separate School, Murray street, was chosen President, to fill the vacancy caused by the absence of Mr. H. Kay Coleman. Mr. McIlmoyle took the chair and called the meeting to order.

The minutes of the last convention were read by the Secretary, Mr. Beattie. The Secretary-Treasurer's report was presented, received, and an audit committee was appointed to audit the report and to consider the advisability of charging a fee on members to defray expenses.

An advisory committee was appointed, consisting of Messrs. Hutchinson, Roney, and Misses McLeod and Wright, to take into consideration the question of the reduction of the summer holidays, that of a reading course for teachers, and the matter of authorized books for schools.

The audit committee, consisting of Messrs. Rooney, Hutchinson and Mark, reported that the Secretary-Treasurer's report was satisfactory. They deemed it inadvisable to charge a fee on members, inasmuch as there were sufficient funds on hand to defray all expenses for another year.

The advisory committee reported. They repudiated with jealousy any step towards curtailing the holidays. In regard to the course of reading the committee approved of the recommendation of the Educational Department in providing a past course of reading for the teachers and recommended that "Hopkin's Outline of Man" and "Fairy Science" be read by the teachers for discussion at the next assembly of the convention. They also recommended that half of the amount of the subscription to any educational publication be paid by the Association. In regard to the matter of authorized books for use in public schools they recommended that the County Inspector communicate with the Educational Department and provide a list of the authorized textbooks to be used in the schools and that the list be published in the newspapers.

After a brief discussion the reports were adopted and the convention adjourned for dinner.

At the afternoon session the attendance of teachers was larger, there being nearly a hundred present.

Mr. TILLEY opened the Convention by his disquisition on the "Development of Fractions with Class," and gave a very interesting lesson to the teachers in the form of a practical illustrated lecture on the method of "proceeding from the known to the unknown." This principle of education, he said, was one of the most important both in aiding the teacher to success and in developing the mind of the child to rely upon its own resources in independent thought. The principle was illustrated by the resistance of four little girls and four boys, whom he taught to add fractions, to change fractions into others having a common denominator, to change a mixed number into an improper fraction, and other processes in fractions without any definitions or other explanations than that which they received from dividing several long strips of paper into halves, quarters, thirds, &c., and combining these again to form wholes and other parts or fractions. Mr. Tilley is an excellent example of patience and showed that his ability was not theory, for some of the pupils were remarkable for their foggy comprehension of things, even after they had gone through it practically, but Mr. Tilley, who had himself learned the difficulties of the profession in many years of experience by giving life as a teacher met the pupils half way and assisted their stupidity when they floundered.

Mr. HUTCHINSON gave a short address on "How to Teach Decimal Fractions."

Mr. MARK followed by giving an interesting rehearsal of the modes of conducting Township Institutes.

The Committee adjourned until the evening, when a lecture was given by Mr. Tilley in the Music Hall.

WIFE—John, no wonder the shoemakers that don't work for Johnston Carey were told to strike his shop, for I bought a pair of B-ots that fit me just lovely, his own make, for $2.

HUSBAND—Yes, my dear: Edward bought a pair of Boots to-day at Carey's for $6, better than mine that cost $6 50. I am going to get a pair like them on Saturday, and I think it will pay to get him make for the boys.

MILN.

The Miln company arrived in the city this morning from Belleville and will appear at the Opera House to night in Tom Taylor's tragedy "The Fool's Revenge." The piece has ever been received with enthusiasm and Mr. Miln's interpretation of the principal character, Bertuccio, favorably compares with that of Booth, who gives it a foremost place in his repertoire. The Canadian press has been universal in its commendation of Mr. Miln and the splendid company supporting him, which is said to have the finest wardrobe of any company playing the legitimate drama travelling. The very reasonable prices of admission should alone insure a good house and there is no hesitancy in guaranteeing a splendid performance.

MR. LANDREY'S MOTION.

The Government of the Dominion has been severely assailed since last November because it allowed the law to take its course in the case of Louis Riel. Members of the Government have been denounced as traitors and cowards, and it was declared by those friends of the executed rebel that the Government would be punished for not rescuing Riel from the punishment the law inflicted for crimes such as his. The Government was prepared to face the issue thus raised, and to defend their course in the matter. The Ministers were prepared to face their assailants in Parliament, and to defend themselves before the representatives of the people. Having been attacked on this question, they desired a vote on the question, and a straightforward vote on it was the way in which the decision could be secured. With such a vote taken they would know whether the House agreed with those who defended Riel or believed that the Government had acted wisely in not setting aside the judgment of the courts. When, therefore, a motion was moved which censured them for the course they had adopted, the opportunity arrived for ascertaining the opinion of the House. The only way in which an explicit expression of opinion might be averted was by the introduction of an amendment. It was not desirable that a direct vote on the question should be avoided. The Government had been assailed on this point, and they desired to know whether the House would sustain them on it. The country was also anxious to ascertain whether the House would uphold the Government in the matter, and, therefore, in order that there might be no doubt as to the decision of the House, Sir Hector Langevin moved the previous question, thus preventing the introduction of an amendment and forcing a vote on the motion as it stood.

The chief Reform organ is very angry because this course was adopted. A party leader who always endeavours to avoid committing himself on any question, and whose political ability consists chiefly of sharp practice in trying to face both ways on important subjects, would naturally dislike being forced into a position where he could not do otherwise than take a stand on one side or the other. The champion of the Globe accounts for its violent language, but to say that the Government has "interfered with the freedom of debate" or "practically imposed a censure" is absurd. The motion for the previous question does not shut off debate. It does not limit the debate on the question before the House. In this case only provided for a vote that will not leave a decision doubtful. That is what the country wants, as well as the Government.

PECK AND MOWAT.

It is to be hoped that the last scene of the disgraceful Mowat-Peck episode has been witnessed. The Ontario Legislature has seen the abolition of the office of Superintendent of the Provincial County of Haliburton, a post that was created for the sole purpose of enabling Mr. Mowat to buy B. S. Peck with the money of the people of Ontario, though Peck had embezzled the money of the ratepayers of Haliburton in his previous capacity of County Treasurer. Mr. Mowat having thus adroitly combined the debasement of the Bench, the encouragement of embezzlement, the corruption of a previous political opponent, and the misappropriation of the Provincial funds entrusted to his care, consequently bore this combined weight of ignominy till he quailed before public opinion and the condemnation even of his own supporters. To rid himself of his incubus Mr. Mowat did not still deeper into the mire, and actually took several hundred dollars of the money of the people of Ontario entrusted to him for other and more honest purposes, in order that he might induce Peck to rid him and the Province of such a disgraceful presence. Of course Mr. Mowat is too sharp to let this dirty transaction appear in the public accounts in all its naked deformity, so the pretence is made of a payment to Peck for services on the Bench, though he had resigned and was living in a foreign country during the period for which it is pretended that he was thus remunerated. And to show the hollowness of the pretence, the fictitious account on purpose to buy Peck is abolished as soon as Peck's services are no longer required.

Here is another modern instance of the old saw that one cannot touch pitch without being defiled. Mr. Mowat associated himself with Peck till he learned from his unscrupulous friend to adopt the dishonest practice of appropriating for his own purposes the money of others entrusted to his keeping.

A Reform organ says that "Riel's offence, was, as has already been remarked, a purely political one, and the principles of true Liberalism forbid the execution of a man for an offence of that character." So that, according to this exponent of Reform ideas, the Rouges and Blancs who want to avenge the execution of Riel take their stand upon the true principles of the K-forn party.

The friends of Riel and opponents of the Government still base arguments on the alleged surrender of Riel. Riel "surrendered" because he could not escape. He was captured.

THE CLOSING CARNIVAL

OWING TO OTHER ATTRACTIONS AND UNFAVORABLE WEATHER

The Carnival is Not so Well Attended as it Should Have Been—Masqueraders and Prize Winners—Mr. John Wins the Case.

Though the Fire Brigade Band went to great expense and put forth much exertion to make the last carnival of the season a success, their efforts and elaborate preparation, to judge by the attendance at the rink on Friday evening, did not seem to be fully appreciated. But the members of the band may be assured that the lack of appreciation is only a passing fancy. To townspeople know well the value of having such a musical organization as the Fire Brigade Band here, and are ready to reward any undertaking for its good, financially or otherwise. But under the circumstances it is not surprising that the rink was not filled on Friday night, notwithstanding the excellent programme of red. Not only were the unfavorable weather and other attractions to be combated, but other circumstances tended to lessen the attendance.

The preparations for this carnival were in the hands of a capable committee, as was evidenced by the tasteful decorations and by the manner in which all matters connected with their duties were looked to.

At eight o'clock there were not many either on the ice or in the galleries, and things looked as if the affair was going to turn out a failure. But as the evening wore on the attendance grew to a fair size, while the ice was comfortably covered with figures. Quite a number of masqueraders omitted handling in their names, and in consequence only a partial list is given. It is as follows:—

GENTLEMEN.
 A. K. Reid, Marshall Ney; Spanish Count; White Alien; School Boy; Nelson Koldy; Chambermaid; E. Marshall; Prince Hal; T. Mavingy; Peterborough Trade; G. Evans; Zulu Chief; Fred Boudry; Dutchman; Jas. W. King; C. L. C.; W. J. Craig; Robinson Crusoe; W. E. Laing; England's Light House; C. Armstrong; Photographer; F. Larne; Mexican; F. McNaughton; Counsellor McNaughton; H. T. Everett; Henry II of France; Robt. Hay; Cowen; Geo. Heubeck; Mexican; Walter Derry; Cow Hen; H. Stenson; Ashburnham Swell; G. Hay; Capt. Jinks.

LADIES.
 Maud Roddy; Grace Darling; Nellie Thorndyke; Night; May Heubeck; Five-o'clock Tea; B. H. Braden; Watteau Shepherdess; Maud Braden; Housemaid; Little Derry; Surge of Hay; Jessie Breake; Grandma; Hattie Green; Tambourine Girl; Hannah Hagerman; Welsh Peasant; Miss MacKernan; Hospital Nurse.

At half past eight o'clock the judges, Mr. and Mrs. R. Hall, and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Sanders, took seats on the platform and after duly surveying the passing figures decided to give the prizes as follows:—

BEST DRESSED LADY IN COSTUME.—Miss Little Green, as Tambourine Girl. Prize, a solid silver brooch.

BEST DRESSED GENTLEMAN IN COSTUME.—Mr. E. A. Reid, as Marshall Ney. Prize, a solid silver cup.

BEST DRESSED LADY IN C. MIO COSTUME.—Miss Jessie Breake, as Grandma. Prize, a pair of gold rim glasses.

BEST DRESSED GENTLEMAN IN COMIC COSTUME.—Mr. W. L. Gan, as Bud Frog from Spalding's Bay. Prize, a nickel clock.

After the awarding and presentation of the prizes the races were brought on. The first was a matched race between Messrs. H. Kirby and J. Shvlin. The distance was a mile and a half, or twenty-four laps. At the start Kirby took the lead, which he held for half a lap, when he fell, giving his opponent first place. Shvlin held first place for seven laps. Here Kirby again resumed the lead and increased it till the finish, winning by three-quarters of a lap.

Next came the potato race. Four boys entered: Leslie Barrie, Geo. Miller, K. Martin and W. Gillespie. The last named won by one length. The prize given was a silver cup.

A. Bell, of Luskfield, W. Grieron and M. Minore, entered for the barrel race. The first named won the race and a silver medal.

The boys' race, twelve times around the rink, was won by M. Minore, who was immediately after the race made the owner of a silver cup.

VICTORY FOR SIR JOHN.

A special attraction of the carnival was the contest between Sir John A. Macdonald and the Hon. Edward Blake for a gold headed cane presented by the Bard. The admirers of each political leader came to the polling booth in considerable numbers. At first the voting was pretty close, but at the close of the poll the ballot papers were re-counted, and it was found that the case had been disposed of in Sir John's favor by a majority of 73.

During the evening the Board rendered a choice programme of music.

Horses for the Army

LONDON, March 11.—The British War Office is considering seriously a plan for the establishment of an agency for the regular purchase of cavalry horses in Canada for use in the British army. It is suggested that this will open a new market for Canada, and will compensate to a certain extent, the people of the Dominion for the losses they have sustained through the operation of the American tariff. The project contemplates the purchase of 300 horses annually.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

THE THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT.

Measures—Advanced a Stage—Mechanics' Institutes—Immigration Expenses—The Expenditure on Government House.

BILLS INTRODUCED.
 THURSDAY, March 11.—Several bills were introduced, including one by Mr. Blizard to amend the Assessment Act.

TO RUSH BUSINESS.
 Mr. MOWAT moved that Government business have precedence of other business, except private bills, on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, and that a Saturday session be held—Carried.

QUIETING OF TITLES.
 Mr. MOWAT's bill to facilitate the quieting of titles where the Land Titles Act is not in force was passed through committee with some amendment.

ADVANCED.
 The Haliburton County bill and the bill to amend the Mining Act were passed through Committee, and the bill respecting Division Courts received the second reading.

MECHANICS' INSTITUTES.
 Mr. ROSS (Middlesex) moved the second reading of the bill respecting Mechanics' Institutes and Artichoke. It defines the meaning of member and limits his liability to the amount of money subscribed, exacts rules for incorporation and management, and rectifies conditions for obtaining legislative aid. The bill embodies the M. C. I. Association. It makes provision for aiding Art schools and here the want for the Ontario Society of Artists at $300.

Mr. MERRITT thought the directors of these Mechanics' Institutes should be given more freedom in regard to their management.

The bill was read the second time.

SUPPLY.
 The House again went into Committee of supply on the estimates.

On the item of $18,800 for immigration, Mr. CLANCY asked why a large staff of immigration officials should be kept up, seeing that it had been universally agreed that the encouragement of immigration was not now in the public interest. The agencies in Europe cost $3.00 and those in Ontario $4000. Surely these items should be cut down.

The item passed.

Mr. McLESTER urged that the Lieutenant-Governor should be relieved from the obligation to dispense public hospitality, and that the items for maintenance of Government House and office should be abolished.

Mr. MOWAT defended the expenditure, and suggested that, if Mr. McLeister was anxious to save money for the country, he might give up a portion of his indemnity.

Mr. WOOD argued that the expenditure was unnecessary.

Mr. MERRITT was in favor of any reasonable economy in Government House expenditures, but could not support the proposition to abolish Government House.

After further discussion the item passed and the House adjourned.

A WONDERFUL REMEDY.

The value of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, in the protection it affords from the dangers of pulmonary disorders, cannot be over-estimated. Mr. C. K. Phillips, Pittsburgh, Pa., writes: "About three years ago I had severe Laryngitis, which resulted in chronic hoarseness. By the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral I have since entirely regained my health." Mr. Henry Russell, Executive Printing Co., New York, writes: "Influenza became epidemic in my neighborhood. Several members of my family suffered severely with it, and were cured by it in a few days. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is a wonderful medicine for Influenza. Too much cannot be said in its favor."

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has cured a Cough in a few doses, always relieves irritation of the lungs or throat, arrests the tendency to inflammation. It strikes at the foundation of all pulmonary diseases, without a rival as an expectorant, and is a sure cure for the most obstinate Coughs and Colds. Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass., writes: "I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my family for twenty years for throat and lung diseases. I consider it a wonderful remedy."

ANNUAL MEETING.

of the Members of the Peterborough Cheese Board.

The annual meeting of the members of the Peterborough Cheese Board was held in the old Music Hall on Friday afternoon. There was a representative number of members present from the counties of Victoria and Peterborough. The cheese-makers of these counties were also present in large numbers.

Mr. J. M. Drummond, President of the association, took the chair.

Mr. Warren Taylor, secretary, read the minutes of the last regular meeting.

The first business proceeded with that of amending rule No. 5 so that an inspector be appointed to inspect the cheese and adjust difficulties which might arise between buyers and cheese-makers. It was explained by several speakers that such difficulties often arose between buyers and makers. A buyer paid a high price for cheese and in some cases when the price went down, in order to get out of taking the cheese he rejected a large amount of the cheese bought, when he had no right to do so.

Mr. GALVIN, of Larkfield, held that though much of the rejection was to be accounted for from the fact that the cheese was not as good as it was represented to be, yet he was another cause.

It was the rivalry between the factories. Rivalry in sales was well enough, but when it went as far as to influence the cheese-makers to feel exultant over the rejection of a neighboring cheese-maker's cheese, then this rivalry became dangerous. Buyers were not slow to take advantage of this. They hinted at rejection, and when the makers, fearful that their workmanship would get a bad name, heard of this, in too many cases they were content to let it go at a lower rate than he had it on his hands.

The Larkfield people were, however, a little too old for this game. A buyer had come there last season trying to play that dodge; but they let him pass and afterwards sold their cheese to a better man at a better price. The factory afterwards refused to deal with this man although he offered higher prices. When told that he felt pretty small, although he was a six-footer.

Mr. TAYLOR advised the appointing of an inspector whose duty it will be not only to inspect the cheese, but to inspect the milk, and try to bring about a uniformity of the products represented by the Board.

Mr. CHAMBERLAIN also referred to the dishonesty of some buyers. He recommended throwing such buyers overboard altogether—to have nothing to do with them.

Mr. TAYLOR said that if a case was satisfactory to you was a buyer had dealt dishonestly that buyer would surely have to be suspended from purchasing in this market. But until such was done all buyers should be treated with respect. He did not favor anything in the way of coercion in regard to prices.

Mr. TAYLOR moved, seconded by Mr. YOUNG, that rule 5 be amended so as to provide for the appointment of an inspector by the Board, to act in case of difference between buyers and sellers in point of quality.—Carried.

After some discussion as to whether the duties of inspector and auditor should be combined it was decided to keep the duties separate. Mr. W. H. Whitton was appointed as local inspector and Mr. J. A. Whitton was appointed as auditor.

A communication was read from Mr. Whitton stating that, until the meeting of the Board, the Larkfield Dairyman's Association had the services of the inspectors could not be obtained. Each member was entitled to a copy of the Eastern and Western Association reports, which were with the inspectors for the day.

Mr. TAYLOR mentioned that he had been informed that the cheese which had been rejected this year. There would be no right of appeal. He said that the Board at its annual meeting would be of the opinion that the cheese would be of the market. He also mentioned that the buyers had asked for the same degree of quality this season, viz., two ounces to the pound.

The question of these cheese was discussed. Mr. TAYLOR said that complaint had been received from England in regard to the matter in which the cheese from this district was rejected. He was of opinion that the time had come when they would have not only to turn out a better article, but that the cheese would also have to be better boxed.

Mr. DRUMMOND submitted papers. A first class box of cheese at $1.15 per box at 12 cases each. At $1.10 per box of 12 cases each.

Mr. PICKER, of Port Hope addressed the Board. He said that he had a new class box in Peterborough for 12 cases each.

THE FARM AND GARDEN.

White Leghorn Fowls.

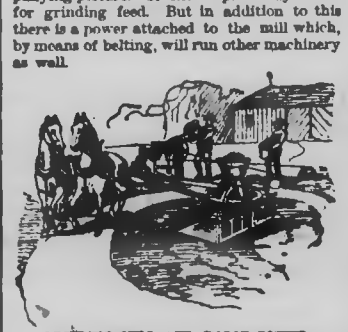

The eggs that command an extra price are those of the White Leghorn hen. These chickens are becoming extremely popular. They can fly farther and higher than the heavy Asiatic breeds, but this difficulty is easily got over by clipping a wing in each fowl as the birds become grown. The White Leghorns are the most noted layers, while the Cochins and Brahmas are the largest fowls for table purposes. The Leghorns are especially prolific winter layers. A good hen of this breed averages 150 eggs a year and upward. The average is not so good as that of the speckled hen in the rhyme that laid two eggs each day, and Sundays she laid three, but for a hen out of poetry it is a first-class record.

PAIR OF WHITE LEGHORNS.

These birds have pure white feathers and yellow legs and beak. They have handsome lobes and rose combs, and are very handsome in form. The Brown Leghorns are not so beautiful as the White, but they, too, are first-class layers, and their dark plumage enables them to escape the clutches of the hawk, in districts where that bird of prey is not yet extinct.

A Combination Mill and Horse Power. The modern principle of combination and co-operation is well illustrated in the accompanying picture. It shows primarily a mill for grinding feed. But in addition to this there is a power attached to the mill which, by means of belting, will run other machinery as well.

GRINDING MILL AND HORSE POWER. The illustration shows an ordinary two-horse farm mill, grinding feed. But attached to it is a long iron shaft which is turned by cog wheels, which change the direction of the motion. At the end of it a belt passes over a wheel, crosses, and turns the large wheel of a corn sheller. The picture shows the combination mill at once grinding feed and shelling corn. The horse shaft around the track, stepping over the shaft, which revolves so as to just clear the ground. Besides shelling corn, the power may be used for cutting fodder, mowing wood, etc. It is also arranged that the mill may be used without the additional horse power.

BOMBING A RAILWAY CAR Deadly Struggle Between Desperadoes and an Express Messenger.

JOLIET, Ill., March 15.—A daring and bloody express robbery occurred on the Chicago and Rock Island westbound express last night between this place and Morris. Shortly after the train which leaves here at 12:45 a. m. had left the city the henchmen had heard a rum at the baggage car door. He opened it and was met by masked robbers, who covered him with revolvers and demanded the keys to the express car. The key was given up. One robber held a revolver on the baggage man through a transom in the roof of the car, while his confederates turned their attention to the express car. It is thought they rapped on the express car door and informed Messenger that H. S. Nichols the baggage man wanted to go in. At any rate the express car was opened and the desperadoes marched in. Being confronted by murderous villains the man was terrified and fled. He left his life and the property of his passengers in the hands of the robbers.

In his pocket. The interior of the car shows that he fought the robbers from one end or the car to the other, but at last the murderous blows they rained on his head with an iron poker forced him to succumb and he was left dead in the car. The robbers rifled his pockets of the key to the safe, which they robbed of all its contents, variously estimated at from $25,000 to $100,000. Checks and valuable packages not containing money they left scattered about the floor. Nothing was known of the occurrence until the train reached Morris, where the local express messenger rapped on the express car door, but as the summons was not answered he thought that the train messenger was asleep. Upon the door of the car being opened, the horrible evidence of the desperate struggle and the dead body of messenger Nicholas was discovered. In one of the seats tightly closed he had torn a piece of dark-colored hair that had come from the head of one of the assailants. A large force of officers and men from this place and Morris are now scouring the country. It is thought the guilty men will be captured in which event they will probably be lynched. The dead messenger was married and lived at Chicago. He had been in the service of the United States express company about 10 years and was one of their most trusted em-

CHICAGO, March 13.—The Rock Island railroad will offer a reward of $10,000 for the capture of the men who committed the express robbery this morning, and $5,000 for the arrest of any of them. It is thought the men are convicted lately released from Joliet penitentiary. Nichols was found with his throat cut from rear to ear, the wound being an open gash, and it had been inflicted with a hatchet. The express officials say that Nichols had in his custody $75,000, $20,000 to $25,000 more in packages of jewelry consigned to jewelry firms in the country. The value of the jewelry cannot be less than $3,000 and may be worth double that.

LOOKING FOR HIS WIFE.

A Man who Made a Fortune Without his Wife Now Invites Her to Share it.

Some years ago one William Dickson and his wife were forced to quit their happy home in Harvey, York county, through want of means to obtain their daily bread. Dickson moved to Western Ontario and his wife with her three children, George, Catherine and Isabella, traveled to be alone in Leithwaite. At the time the canal was being widened, and Mrs. Dickson believed that by keeping a boarding house where the many laborers at work for the Government could obtain good food and board, she and her children would gain an honorable livelihood. This was consequently done and business soon became prosperous. On the other hand affairs with her husband prospered very nicely and now he finds himself the possessor of most little romance, the Japanese is duly impressed by the fact that he is unable to find any trace of his wife and children. He has written to the Chief of Police here who is making inquiries as to their whereabouts. She has left Quebec, and any information in connection with her present abode will be thankfully received.—Montreal Star.

authority that orders have been issued from Ottawa, directing the commanders of infantry regiments to cease all preparations for a demonstration in force in the North-West. The date of the departure had been fixed for the 25th March. It is supposed the Government have received information leading to the belief that the Indians are better satisfied than there was a short time ago.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 13.—Authentic information has been received that secret negotiations were begun on Thursday for a settlement of the great strike. Communication between the Missouri Pacific officials and the Knights of Labor Executive Committee at Sedalla was established through State Labor Commissioner Kochtitzky, and to-day there will probably be at least a slight rift in the clouds.

St. Louis, March 13.—The resumption of freight traffic by the Missouri Pacific seems more of a possibility to-day than at any time since the strike began. Labor Commissioner Kochitzky has strong hopes for an amicable adjustment of the present difficulties. It is understood that Governor Marmaduke is attempting to open negotiations between the railway officials and the Knights of Labor. Should all efforts fail, the business men in this city express the opinion that freight traffic will be resumed within a few days. They base their hopes upon the fact that numerous applications have already been made to all the pieces vacated by the strikers.' It is expected a sufficient number of new men will have been hired by Monday to enable the company to resume freight business all along the lines.

THE TRUST VALLEY CANAL

THAT the Dominion Administration recognized the importance of the deputation which went to Ottawa last week, and of the business which took them to the capital, was shown by the fact that five Ministers attended to hear the views and receive the petition of the delegates. The deputation received a most courteous reception and hearing, and it was very satisfactory to know that their visit was not without good results. The Minister of Railways and Canals stated that the sum of $300,000 would be placed in the estimates this session for the continuance of the work.

A larger sum could be expended at this time with advantage in pushing forward the work, but the placing of the sum mentioned in the estimates is, we presume, an indication of the intention of the Government to place another section under contract. The more rapidly the Canal is constructed the sooner the country will receive the full benefit of this great waterway, and it is to be hoped that the Finance Minister will yet consider whether the appropriation could not be increased. The country, this section included, understands that the public works which have been constructed have drawn heavily upon the public treasury, and it knows that they were necessary; but the importance of the Trust Valley Canal is such that there should not be the least unnecessary delay in its completion. It is a source of satisfaction to see that the Government have taken the matter up in earnest and are committed to the construction of the Canal, for the completion of the work can be looked forward to with confidence, but the more rapidly it can be pushed forward the better for the sections through which it passes and for the country at large.

"Riel's greatest crime lay in his folly—in the absurdity of supposing that a handful of half-breeds, armed as they were by the conviction of their own wrongs, could withstand the force of the great Dominion lying east of Manitoba."
 —Ottawa Free Press.

If, then, Riel had been able to withstand the force of the Dominion and to defeat the volunteers his crimes would have been less—his greatest crime would not have been committed. In other words, his greatest crime was not defeating the volunteers. Most people believe that his greatest crime was in rebellion, and not in being unsuccessful, and the Reform leaders will have difficulty in getting the country to endorse such opinions as the one just quoted.

THE Rielites press a statement that Mr. Cameron (Huron) made a great speech in support of Mr. Landry's motion condemning the execution. It however was not sufficiently awakening to arouse from his slumbers Mr. Blake, who throughout his delivery kept his head bowed, in real or simulated sleep, on his desk close by. Not so Mr. Landry, the avowed rebel and perjurer Privy Counsellor, who as joint leader of the Reform party, shares the desk with Mr. Blake, for he turned round in his seat and gazed with sympathy and admiration directly into the face of the Reform defender of treason and murder.

Col. AMYOT boasted of leading his regiment against the rebels in the North-West. Yet in his place in the House of Commons he argued that Riel was undeserving of death because the conduct of the Government justified his rebellion. Thus, according to his own showing, Col. Amyot was the hired murderer of innocent men. If the rebellion was unjustifiable, Col. Amyot should have resigned rather than shoot down men whom he considered patriots seeking their rights.

Those who heard or read the screams of Mr. Cameron (Huron) for vengeance on the MacDonald Administration for allowing Riel to suffer the penalty of the law for his crimes, can have no doubt that this blatant advocate of treason and murder would have roared an equal amount of Bellinggate if Riel had been allowed to escape punishment.

Mr. AMYOT complains that Major Crozier did not read the Riot Act when he met Riel and the rebels at Duck Lake. If the Mounted Police officer had tried to do so under the fire of the rebels he would scarcely have lived to complete the reading. Execution is a poor weapon with which to oppose bullets.

It is not surprising to see what foolish things the Rielites will say. They denounce the Government for "most cruelly respecting Riel," yet he was executed to give his counsel an opportunity to carry the case to the higher courts.

THE House of Commons is still occupied in the consideration of the Rielite attempt to secure the apothecaries of treason, murder and rapine.

Wedded over their Child's Grave

A Nashville, Tenn., despatch says—A remarkable wedding occurred at Nashville, Tenn., to-day. The bride is of a good family, and the bridegroom is a young man of good family. He refused to receive his bride, and to escape the vengeance of her friends he fled. During the absence a child was born and died. The father subsequently repented and obtained forgiveness by a solemn promise to atone by at once making her his wife. The ceremony took place this morning. They repaired to the grave of their child with friends and the minister, and kneeling on each side of the tomb with hands clasped above it, they spoke the vows which unite them, the service being read by the minister, who stood at the foot of the grave.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

THE THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT.

The School Readers—Timber Dues—Fair Treatment—Audit of Municipal Accounts—Appointment of Registrar.

THIRD READING.
 FRIDAY, March 12.—Several bills were read a third time, including the bill respecting the Town of Peterborough.

HIRE RECEIPTS.
 Mr. MOWAT, in reply to Mr. French, said it was not the intention of the Government to introduce a bill to provide for the registration of hire receipts, or receipt notes, or other evidence of conditional sale of chattels.

NEW FIFTH READER.
 Mr. ROWE (Middlesex), in reply to Mr. McKay, said that the fifth reader would be published by a private firm in October.

TIMBER DUES.
 Mr. PARKE, in reply to Mr. Meredith, said that the balance due and unpaid on December 31st for timber dues and ground rent was $277,390.

LAKE SIMCOE.
 Mr. GOULD moved for a return giving correspondence and other information regarding the regulation of the waters of Lakes Simcoe and Couchiching.

A PORT ARTHUR AFFAIR.
 Mr. MEREDITH moved for a return of papers regarding the claim of Thomas Smith, of Port Arthur. Mr. Smith, he said, had erected a $2,000 building on lot and had made application to the Department and paid his fees, and considered he had the right of pre-emption. His claim was set aside and patent issued to a company composed of active supporters of the Government.

Mr. PARKE argued that Mr. Smith had no right of pre-emption. He said that the company agreed to refer the question of the value of the building to arbitration, but Mr. Smith refused, and the company and having been defeated, the building was seized for costs.

Mr. MEREDITH read a letter from the Assistant Commissioner to Mr. Smith, stating that as there were no improvements on the lot his claim could not be recognized.

The motion passed.

MUNICIPAL ACCOUNTS.
 Mr. FELL moved that in the opinion of the House a more efficient mode of auditing municipal accounts should be devised.

Mr. WOOD agreed that there was often cause for complaint in the present system, but did not see how the House could interfere.

Mr. ROSE (Huron) said it was now too late in the session to take up the matter.

Mr. CHEWORTH suggested that there should be a statutory definition of the duties of auditors.

The motion was withdrawn.

THE MASSEY COMPANY.
 Mr. ERMATINGER moved for a return of correspondence, etc., relating to the proposed increase of the capital stock of the Massey Manufacturing Company.

THE SCHOOL READERS.
 Mr. MORGAN moved for a return giving statements regarding payments made on account of the school readers, copies of advertisements and circulars inviting tenders for the privilege of publishing the fifth reader, and other matters, and the names of text books authorized or intended to be authorized.

RECEIPTS.
 Mr. ERMATINGER moved the second reading of the bill making it compulsory for persons receiving money to give a receipt.

Mr. MOWAT opposed the bill and the order was discharged.

MEASURED ADVANCE.
 Several private bills were advanced a step and public bills read a second time.

THE REGISTRY ACT.
 Mr. MEREDITH moved the second reading of the bill to amend the Registry Act. It transferred the power of appointing registrars from the Government to the county councils.

Mr. MOWAT opposed the bill.

Mr. CAMERON said from the time the Government came into office they had been allowing all the parties they could, and had been using it for purely party purposes. The appointments they had made in Wellington, Wentworth, Bruce, which they had given to members of this Legislature, showed how the Government had violated their trust. In Peterborough the Government patronage had been used to corrupt the electorate, it being held out that if the Government candidate were elected, his nominee would be appointed to be registrar.

After further discussion the House divided and the motion was lost by 19 to 34.

WHITBY

TAKING MEDICINE IN THE DARK.—Mrs. Alex. Walker took a teaspoonful of medicine from the wrong bottle in the dark early Monday morning. The dose made her sleepy in a few minutes, when an examination showed that an almost fatal mistake had been made, for enough belladonna and opium had been swallowed to kill several persons. Mr. D. McMillan, of Mr. K. Howe's drug store, living near at hand, was roused from his late morning nap, and between he, Dr. Ryart and the jeopardized woman's father, Mr. Wm. Murray, proper directions were given, and medicine procured. Some time and administered in time to save her life. She is now recovering from the ill effects of the powerful drugs.

A PRATE LITTLE GIRL.—Tuesday afternoon, while Mrs. John Foley was down town, her three-year-old little daughter Amy started to "play mother," as she called it, and forthwith donned a bonnet and began poking the kitchen fire. The eldest girl Mary Ann, who had charge of the house, happened to go upstairs for a moment while the little mimic was busy at the stove. Cry of "Come help me, Mamma," the nearest she could pronounce her mother's name, brought the young housekeeper down. Little Amy was all ablaze, the apron having caught fire. Mary Ann quickly dashed a pail of water over her burning sister and put out the flames. As it is Amy is very badly burned about the arms and neck, and but for her presence of mind in holding her hands to her face the results would have been much worse. Dr. Ryart has charge of the little little sufferer, for in spite of the paid she never mourns. Her father, Mr. John Foley, a true-hearted son of Erin, is favorably known by most everybody in Whitby. Their home is on Palace street, immediately south of St. John's R. C. Church. At last accounts the unfortunate little Amy is very ill.—Gazette.

Killed while Combing Hair

GALT, Ont., March 12.—John Reinhardt, brakeman on the Galt branch of the Grand Trunk Railway, was about 12 years, was killed at the station here this afternoon while combing his hair. He was so badly crushed that death ensued in a few minutes. Mr. Reinhardt was about 40 years of age and leaves a wife with several children.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

THE FOURTH SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

The Riel Debate Continued—An Ontario Reformer Believes the Execution to have been a Judicial Murder.

PRIVATE BILLS.
 FRIDAY, March 12.—Several private bills were introduced.

THE RIEL QUESTION.
 Mr. ROYAL resumed the debate on Mr. Landry's motion. He held that the half-breeds had not been well treated by Canada, but they had never been treated with more respect than by the Reform Government. The rebellion, he said, had been brought about by white settlers who were unfriendly to the Government. If the half-breeds learned the word rebellion it was taught them by the Globe and by the Manitoba Farmers' Union. He showed that on March the 4th, 1885, before any collision took place, a telegram had been received at Batavia informing them that their claims would be attended to. He defended the Government from the charge of acting unfairly regarding the trial, and pointed out the evil might come from the agitation started by the Reformers in Quebec. He turned the Reformers with being insinuated in this matter, and with having demanded Riel's blood after he was captured.

Mr. GAGNON said that the question now was as to the justice of Riel's execution. He did not approve of the rebellion, because the grievances of which the half-breeds complained were not such as to justify the rebellion, but he would vote against the Government on the question of the execution. He laid stress on the insanity plea, and the argument that hanging for political offences was not in accordance with the spirit of the age.

Mr. WALLACE (York) taunted Mr. Blake with endeavoring to sit on the fence and contrasted his conduct now with his course after the murder of Scott. Riel's case, he pointed out, was the cause of rebellion and murder. He said that not one petition for the execution of Riel had been sent in from the Orange body, and the statements that such petitions had been sent were incorrect. He proceeded to consider the insanity plea, and argued that Riel was sane and had received a fair trial.

Mr. CAMERON (Huron) began by announcing that he would vote for the motion, which elicited an approving "hear, hear," from Mr. Mills. He believed that Riel was hanged, not for the last rebellion, but for the death of Scott. His opinion was that evidence was strained and the law entirely misread in order to secure the conviction of Riel; and Riel was executed, not to vindicate the law, but contrary to the law, contrary to the plainest principles of British justice, and in obedience to a power not responsible to this Parliament. He contended that Riel had not a fair trial as a criminal, if he was a criminal; that the Government were greater criminals than Riel was, and that the execution was a judicial murder. The Government had set an example of bad faith and material atrocity without parallel in the history of civilization. After Riel's death the Orange ladders gleamed over the tragic fate of this lunatic. They thirsted with an unquenchable thirst for his blood. They gazed with an inhuman delight over their victim, and at the end of a long procession with their vengeance, if the people of that province dared to call the conduct of their servants, the Ministers, into question.

Mr. URRMAN moved the adjournment of the debate.

The House adjourned at 11:20 p.m.

WOMEN'S WORLD'S WORKERS or family liniment has proved to be one of the greatest blessings of the age. It is a never failing remedy for rheumatism, cuts, sprains and bruises. Call on J. D. Tully or a trial bottle and you will use no other.

THREE MEALS A DAY.

Common-sense suggestions about food in its relation to health.

Yes, breakfast ought to be a hearty one, eaten early in the morning, and eaten slowly, so as to preclude the possibility of eating too heavily, which would materially interfere with the business of the day. A man or woman who is no breakfast eater must either be a heavy over-eater, or be in a bad state of health. A person who requires the stimulus of a cup of tea, or any other stimulant, is not in the heyday of health. I like to see a man have his breakfast first, and then feel round for his cup of coffee, tea or chocolate. I have known the strongest and healthiest of men positively forget all about the regular part of their breakfast and leave the table with it. I have known men who scarcely ever touched a drop of liquid of any kind from one week's end to another, and who, nevertheless, were in ruddy and robust health. What a person eats for breakfast often gives me a clue to the state of his health. One example: If, while enjoying at a hotel, I see a man come down to breakfast between 10 and 11 o'clock, and sit down to devour his breakfast with plenty of sauce (puissant), and perhaps one poor penny egg to follow, I would be willing to aver that he carries a white tongue and that his liver is in a state of disrepair. He has eaten a breakfast of no value, and he has done so, with butted egg to follow, and then a cup of nice tea, is a sensible breakfast for a man who is going away into the fresh air, to walk, or ride, or work all day, but not for a person who has to sit all day, in the same position at manual labor. I emphasize the word manual because intellectual or mental work conduces to appetite. As a rule, a man who is in the habit of eating freely, if he is happy at his work, and time flying swiftly with him, soon gets hungry, which only proves that we must support the body well when there is a strain upon the mind, so that no extra expenditure of tissue may lead to debility. Cheerful conversation ensures the easy digestion of a good breakfast. It is a pity that in this country the custom of inviting friends to the maternal meal is not more prevalent. It may seem a strange thing to say, but I would ten times sooner go out to breakfast than to dinner. One is, or ought to be, freshest in the morning; he then needs no artificial stimulus to make him feel bright, witty and happy—as he too often does after the duties of the day are over.

The mid-day meal, or luncheon, to those who dine in the evening and who have work to do in the afternoon, should be a light one. I am not quite sure that I do not quite approve of the city "snack." It puts one past, it is true, but it leaves the mind free to think and do its duty, and, above all, it enables the stomach to have a rest before the principal meal of the day. Now, about this meal I have to say that, if partaken of alone by one's self, it ought to be an appetizing one. Even in company it need not be a heavy one. No matter how many courses there are, there is not the slightest necessity of making too free with them. But it is a fact which every one must have felt, that even a moderately heavy meal is quickly and easily digested if accompanied with and followed by witty or intellectual and suggestive conversation.

"I am a dyspeptic; I must not dine out," I have heard a gentleman more than once remark.

Well, my impression is that it does dyspepsia a deal of good if they can eat out in moderation and judiciously, never being tempted to call in the aid of artificial stimulus to enable them to do as men of more robust physique are doing around them. —From Cassell's Magazine.

JEWELS ON A SKELETON.

A Highly Mysterious Murder Revealed Near Boston.

A Boston despatch says:—The skeleton of a young woman found today concealed under a heap of brush in the woods at Wrentham gives shuddering evidence of a mysterious murder. The bones were unearthed by a dog with Thomas and John Olin, who were hunting rabbits near Archer's Pond. Thomas Olin stirred the brush and untold something white which they first thought was a jug, but which proved to be a human skull with a bullet hole above the right temple, and another hole higher up, above the left temple, where the bullet had passed out.

Pushing away the brush the hunters found some braided golden hair, and soon the entire skeleton of a woman was disclosed. Clinging to the boneless fingers were several rings, and about the wrists were handsomely wrought bracelets, tarnished by long exposure.

A chain around what had been a shapely neck supported on the bosom of the skeleton a small gold locket, tightly fastened with rust and dirt. It was found open and inside was a found, well preserved, the picture of two handsome young men, both strangers to all who have yet seen the picture.

Another gold chain lay beside the skeleton and under the outstretched body hand were the remains of what had been a fine cambric handkerchief. The body had been exposed to the weather so long that the flesh was entirely gone from the bones, and even the soft part of the bones had crumbled away.

The skeleton was dressed in winter clothing, which was badly decayed. Upon the toes of tangled golden hair were a pair of black velvet slippers, with the gilly ladders almost as fresh to-day as when they gazed jauntily above the fair face of the wearer. A long black and red dress of basket cloth, trimmed with black velvet, reached the bottom of the murdered woman's dress.

The dress itself was of soft brown woolen goods, tastefully cut and trimmed with blue in the style of two years ago. A silk bank-ruff was knotted around the bare neck bone. The under-clothing was badly decayed excepting a knitted worsted chemise which was in good condition. The stockings were dark and the shoes were of dainty French silk with high heels.

A small handbag lying by the body contained a toothbrush, a comb and a buttonhook, but no money. The rings were a cameo and an opal. A bar-brooch, a skull-like ornament, a cameo earring and a string of white beads were found near the body. There was no name on the clothing and nothing to show the identity of the murdered woman.

That she was murdered is proven by the .35 calibre bullet hole in the skull. The fact that no revolver was found after careful search, and the fact that the body was fully hidden from sight under a pile of brush, prove this theory to be true. Who she was and where the crime was committed it is hoped strict investigation will discover.

In December, 1933, a gray checked shawl was found in the brush near where the skeleton was discovered, which has never been claimed by its owner. The night before that two carriages were heard driving furiously over the road, which is a lonely one.

It is believed that the woman, who was about thirty years old, was killed somewhere at a distance, that the body was brought here in a carriage and that the shawl fell unnoticed to the ground as the corpse was being dragged out of the vehicle to be buried under the brush heap three rods from the road. Skilled detectives are working on the mystery.

THE SPRING FASHIONS.

Fashions for the Hair.

The prevailing modes of doing the hair are illustrated in the accompanying pictures. These most in favor are still the French twist and the figure 8 style.

FIG. 1.

The bulk of the hair is "washed up," so to speak, all upon the head, combed up loosely from the back and sides, often without being parted anywhere. A fringe of short ends is then curled about the forehead and the back of the neck. The arrangement of the mass of the hair is shown plainly in the picture. You will know from this how to do it, front and back, without further description. Mass it in loose loops, or rolls, about the crown, extending them towards the front on top. The effect is altogether airy and artistic. There never was a time when the style of doing ladies' hair was either prettier or more healthful than it is at present.

All manner of fancy pins are used—long, plain tortoise shell, gold, silver, jet and ivory topped, and imitation and real diamond beaded ones. These pins, a comb and other hair ornaments are shown in Fig. 2.

HAIR ORNAMENTS.

When the comb is used, it is tucked in side-wise rather often than any other way. The jet and feather pompadour and the knot of ribbon are for full dress ornaments in the evening. They are fastened slightly at one side, near the crown. The same ornaments may also be worn in the corsage. Young ladies wear the ribbon; married and elderly ones the feathers. The pins are stuck in various places, to suit the fancy, and serve the purpose both of use and ornament.

Fig. 3 shows other styles of doing the hair. The lady on the left has her back hair tucked up something in the manner already shown in Fig. 1. It is loosely parted in front, however. The neat little beaded comb is set diagonally at the top. Little curling locks around the forehead and neck.

On the right is shown the newest fashion of all for young ladies. Many adhere to the fashion already described, but this style is also popular. The hair is parted in front. A long, thick side lock is also parted off. It is waved lightly in front, and the end of it is curled. Then it is drawn behind and caught by a pin to the back of the head, leaving the end to hang upon the shoulders in long, loose curls. A small knot of the back hair is fastened upon the crown of the head with jeweled and ornamental pins. Short front locks are arranged in a fringe, the little curls are also made behind the ears and at the nape of the neck. This is the fashion of hair to be worn with full dress, or low-necked dresses. It is girlish and pretty.

Spring Wraps and Jackets.

Jaunty jackets, a little longer behind than the short-backed ones of last fall, will be worn for spring. Single-breasted jackets, with the bottom of the fronts rounded instead of pointed, are the newest style. They are either close or half fitting. For common wear they are made of the dark, woolly cloth. The back is sometimes plain, sometimes box pleated, but is always cut loose enough to allow for a full bust. Dress jackets are of smooth cloth or velvet in various colors—tan, bright red, copper red, etc. They are always braided in black, and ornamented with coral, frogs and gimp. There are to be worn over light summer toilets, for driving.

Short mantles will continue to be worn for dress wraps, because they do not conceal the handsome costume with which they are worn. The paleot front is the new feature in mantles, and is made in pointed neck shape, fitted by a dart on each side, while the back is that of a short mantle, and the sides have flowing dolman sleeves, or may be turned under to form the square sleeves so familiar in the vases now worn. Black, tan, color, and moose green are the colors seen in dressy mantles, and beaded fabrics are much used in colors as well as black. Entire mantles are made of jetted green, lined with black, gray, copper red, or green, and the trimmings are frills of French lace on the edges, and beaded pascamenterie arranged in V-shape in the back and front, and also in a shorter V on the sleeves from the shoulder to the elbow.

Medicine collars with lace frills inside trim the neck. For early spring there are short necks of black fringe velvet, the latter with copper red ground made with full ruffs of soft ruffled silk set in V-shape, while the velvet of the garment is pushed back beside the vest, gathered on the shoulders, and held at the waist line by a ribbon belt that is sewed in under the square sleeves. The collar is turned over in Byron shape, and edges are finished with beads, but otherwise these wraps are untrimmed.

Low-Necked Dresses.

The fashion of wearing low-necked dresses at dinner has become so pronounced that the moralists begin to issue weekly essays against this reviving, as if it had never been done before. Our virtuous grandmothers would be astonished to hear that their ball dresses (never cut high) were so immoral and indecent. The fact remains that a sleeveless gown, cut in a Pompadour form, is far more of a revelation of figure than a low-necked dinner dress, properly made. There is no line of the figure so dear to the artist as that one revealed from the nape of the neck to the shoulder. A beautiful back is the delight of the sculptor. No lady who understands the fine art of dress would ever have her gown cut too low; it is only, besides being immodest, the person who brings discredit on fashion are those who misinterpret it. The truly artistic modiste cuts a low-necked dress to reveal the fine lines of the back, but it is never in France cut too low in front. The excessive heat of an American dining room makes this dress very uncomfortable. You then the high dresses which were brought in several years ago, because a princess had a gown which she wished to disguise. —Harper's Bazar.

The New Bonnets.

Bonnets for the spring are being made of embroidered tulle, of ruffled uncut velvet, and of tulle combined with plush or uncut velvet. There are small capotes without any other trimming than a high diadem of different heights and colors from the crown; very often the diadem is of beads; sulphur colored and amber diadems are very popular, for even now the elegant bonnets for the spring are seen with dressy toilets at the various theatres. Some of the capotes are shaped like a tiara, and others almost remind one of the pointed head dresses of the fifteenth century. Shapes remain very high, and when they are not very high in themselves the property is conferred by the trimming. It is affirmed, however, that for morning and walking hats shapes will be less eccentric, and that ribbons, a profusion of ribbons, will be the sole trimming. The fact is, ladies are growing a little tired of wearing upon their bonnets an ornithological cabinet of stuffed birds.

The Aesthetic Lamp.

Lamps in which oil is burned are much more fashionable than gas lights for aesthetic parlors or suites of rooms. Some of these lamps in Doulton ware, Crow-Deby, colored metals and the glass are marvels of artistic thought and feeling. They give, when lighted, a dreamy splendour to the simplest of furnishings in the least pretentious rooms.

FASHIONABLES.

Gold neck chains are coming in again.

Plain colors with side clocks are preferred to stripes in hose.

White evening kid gloves are worn with white-crowned dresses.

Even new pouncers come in boucette or boutonniere and corset straps.

Leant began very late this year, not till far into March. It is said it has not fallen so late before for 1,500 years.

Now, if you have a smart gown of brocade or satin, you must send some of the material to your bootmaker, because your boots must match your costume.

There's no earthly use in making under-clothing when it can be bought ready made for the price of the material, and if you like you can trim to suit your own fancy.

Some of the new Paris bonnets have perfectly square crowns, with little brims to speak of, but the profuse trimmings hide the shape of the bonnet.

FROM ALL OVER.

Petroleum has struck at Highbury.

NATIONAL FILLS are the favorite purgative and natural medicine, they are mild and thorough.

Everett Wyckoff of Amesbury, and 17, has mysteriously disappeared.

Worms often destroy children, but Freeman's Worm Powders destroy worms, and expel them from the system.

Since Jan. 1, 1875 in fines and costs in liquor cases have been collected in Hamilton.

A CRUEL KILL—Children are often fearful and ill when worms are the cause. Dr. Low's Worm Syrup safely expels all worms.

Winder ovens "worked" a train on the transfer boat between that place and Detroit. Their target was small.

TO REMOVE DANDRUFF—Cleanse the scalp with Prof. Low's Magic Sulphur Soap. A delightful medicinal soap for the toilet.

A SOURCE OF GREAT TROUBLE—Probably the most prolific source of chronic ill is indigestion or dyspepsia, causing unhealthy blood. Yet taken in time it is positively curable. Burdock blood purifier has cured some of the worst cases known, even of 10 years' duration. It troubles with indigestion try it.

The Erie and Huron Extension railway between Sault Ste. Marie and Wawatung was opened for traffic on Wednesday last.

What is good for a cold? It is a question often asked, but seldom satisfactorily answered. We can answer to the satisfaction of all, if they will follow our advice and try Hagyard's Pectoral Balm, a safe, pleasant and certain throat and lung healer. Sold by all druggists.

In GOD HEUTE, James McMurdoch, writing from Kinross, says:—"B. H. B. as a remedy for diseases of the blood, liver and kidneys, has obtained the reputation in this locality. I have used it, and speak from experience as well as observation. It is the only medicine I want, and I advise others afflicted to try it."

Mrs. Mary Cowan, 74 years of age, of Sault Ste. Marie, fell down stairs, breaking her leg and arm. She may recover.

"HURTS AND MALARIA"—If you are so unfortunate as to injure yourself in any way, we can suggest a remedy that will (we speak from experience) soon relieve you of all pain and quickly heal the wound; it costs but twenty-five cents, and is sold by all druggists—ask for Perry Davis Pain Killer.

John Ross of Renfrew had been admitted to Kingston hospital suffering from glandular caught from a horse.

MORRIS & LAMMERS FLORIDA WATER.—We earnestly urge every proprietor to ask for this which is prepared by Morris Lammer & Morris, New York, who are the sole proprietors of the true perfume. All other so-called Florida Waters are only ordinary Colognes.

HANDY TO HAVE.—Every household should have some ready remedy at hand for painful diseases, sudden attacks of inflammation and accidental injuries. Such a remedy is best found in Hagyard's Yellow Oil for internal and external use. It cures rheumatism, sore throat, croup, neuritis, lame back, sprains, bruises and burns.

Leithbridge sent two blocks of coal to the Cobalt exhibition, each 3 ft. wide and 3 ft. thick.

THERE IS NOTHING LIKE IT.—There is no other remedy offered to suffering humanity whose use is so universal and frequently required as Hagyard's Yellow Oil, for rheumatism, neuralgia, colds, sore throat, deafness, croup, lumbago and aches, pains, lameness and soreness of all kinds, when internally and externally used.

Five prisoners accused of theft who were confined in the police quarters at Leithbridge made a dash for liberty. Three of them got it.

A GREAT AWAKENING.—There is a great awakening of the sluggish organs of the human system whenever Burdock Blood Purifiers are taken. It arouses the torpid liver to action, regulates the bowels and the kidneys, purifies the blood, and restores a healthy tone to the system generally.

Stephen Leblanc, an old and respected resident of St. Mary's, N.B., while temporarily insane, clubbed his wife to death with a piece of a sled-knife.

WHAT A wonderful discovery in Perry Davis Pain Killer! It not only cures the ill of the human family, but is also the sure remedy for horses with colic. It has never been known to fail in a cure of the worst case, and for sprains, galls, etc., it never fails—try it once. Directions accompany each bottle. Sold by druggists generally.—Acetone County (Ky.) Democrat.

If you are afflicted with rheumatism call on J. D. Tully, druggist, immediately and procure a bottle of West's Wonderful or Family Liniment. It is a certain and positive cure. It is infallible for sprains, cuts, bruises, burns, scalds and all diseases requiring external application. Price, 25 and 50 cents per bottle. Sold by J. D. Tully, druggist.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 17, 1886.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Broom Drill.

The ladies of the congregation of St. John's Church have a broom drill in Bradburn's Hall on Easter Monday, April 26th.

A Thoroughbred.

The appearance of one of Mr. Wm. Collins' thoroughbred Durham bulls on the market attracted considerable attention. His well proportioned animal, has a magnificent head and neck, and has not yet reached his third birthday. He weighs 1505 pounds.

To the Gentlemen.

We are showing a complete assortment of every desirable style and pattern in English, Scotch and Canadian Tweeds, Black and Colored Worsted Coatings and Pantings. For a neat and stylish suit of any description go to R. FAIR, sign of the "Golden Lion."

Shipments of Horses.

Mr. Ted Caranach has been buying horses for Messrs. Brisson & Co., of Montreal, for the past week or two. He succeeded in getting together sixteen fine heavy draught horses, for which he paid an average price of $107.50 each. They were shipped to Montreal on Tuesday.

Important Conservative Meeting.

A meeting of the Ward Committee of the Junior Liberal Conservative Club will be held at 7.30 o'clock this evening in the rooms of the club, over Mr. Geo. Stethem's store. A full attendance of the members of the committee and executive is requested, and persons desirous of having their names placed on the voters' list are requested to attend.

Tour of Inspection.

Inspector Leary, accompanied by Capt. Cooper, made a tour of inspection on Tuesday, visiting several places where it was suspected that intoxicants were being sold. Four places were visited and the premises thoroughly ransacked. In some cases coal oil cans were poured into, and the stables in connection with the premises were looked through, but not a drop of the article was found. When the Inspector arrived at Edward Tait's grocery latest upon "destroying" those three barrels of beer, he found that they had taken wings. The closest scrutiny failed to discover them anywhere on the premises.

The Market.

The market was fairly well attended this morning. The movement in grain, owing to the slushy roads, was not so large as usual. Prices remained materially unaltered since Saturday. There seems to be quite a rush just now in the hay market. The supply has been in excess of the local demand for the last week or two and as a consequence the price per ton has sunk from $14 to $13. Straw sells slowly at from $3 to $3.50 per load. The attendance at the butter and egg market was decidedly meagre this morning. Prime butter in prints sold quickly at 20 cents per pound. Eggs brought 15 cents per dozen. Beef sold at $4 and $5 per cwt; pork, at 6 and 7 cents per pound; mutton, at 7 and 8 cents per pound; and veal at 5 and 6 cents per pound. The supply of vegetables was light. Potatoes sold at 60 cents per bag.

Change of Proprietors.

The livery and boarding stables situated on Chambers street have changed hands. Messrs. McGregor Bros., the former proprietors, have sold out and have gone to Newwood, giving place to Mr. A. R. Stephenson, Veterinary Surgeon, of Cobourg. Mr. Stephenson has taken possession of the premises for some time, and has settled down to business. Mr. Stephenson will continue to keep a boarding stable in connection with his veterinary practice, but the livery branch has been cut off. The stables are conveniently situated and partitioned. At the north part of the stable there are some ten or a dozen stalls filled with "boarders." The centre part of the stable, divided into box and ordinary stalls, is kept for the use of "patients." At the south end there is a commodious harness room. A neat office fronts on Chambers street. It is comfortably furnished, heated by a coal stove, and is in connection with the telephone exchange. Mr. Stephenson has already developed a considerable practice and is meeting with success.

Ladies' Kid Gloves.
In Mosquitos and four buttons. We are showing all the newest shades, comprising Tans, Beiges, Fawns and Golden Browns. R. FAIR.

The Mystery Solved.
WIFE—John, no wonder the shoemakers that don't work for Johnston Carey were told to strike his shop, for I bought a pair of Boots that fit me just lovely, his own make, for $2.
HUSBAND—Yes, my dear; Edward bought a pair of Boots to-day at Carey's for $5, better than mine that cost $6.50. I am going to get a pair like them on Saturday, and I think it will pay to get his make for the boys.

Evangelistic Meetings.
Mr. Ferdinand Schiverea is doing a good evangelistic work in Peterborough at the present time. Every meeting held is a success, and the attendance at each is very large. In the morning at 9 o'clock a praise meeting is held in the Y. M. C. A. rooms, another between the hours of 12 and 1 o'clock in the same place, one in the school room of St. Andrew's Church in the afternoon at 4 o'clock, and another in the George Street Methodist Church at 7.30. On Tuesday evening Mr. Schiverea preached an impressive and touching sermon from the words "He that cometh unto Me, I will in no wise cast out." A number of clergymen were on the platform, and took part in the proceedings. The meetings are exceedingly interesting, and much good is being done on every hand.

Still Leading.
Very few establishments in the town of Peterborough can boast of doing such a nice business as Andrew McNeil tailor and clothier George St., which can only be attributed to the superior class of goods kept, and the fair dealing meted out to his many patrons. This Spring he has just opened out the finest range of Scotch and Canadian suitings, French and English coatings and trousseurs, ever brought by any firm to Peterborough. In his gent's furnishing department, a glance over the new stock just opened out must convince the most critical, that all the leading markets must have been visited. We might mention neck wear in particular. A handsome lot of ties cannot be found. Gentlemen in want of a spring outfit will study their own interest by paying Mr. McNeil a visit before purchasing.

St. Patrick's Day.
To-day, the day observed in honor of Ireland's patron saint, was celebrated in a quiet manner in Peterborough. In the morning at 6 o'clock and 8 o'clock large numbers attended Low Mass at St. Peter's Cathedral, and at half past ten o'clock, when the Pontifical High Mass was celebrated, the cathedral was again filled with people. His Lordship Bishop Jamot officiated, assisted by the Rev. Father Conway, High Priest, the Rev. Father O'Brien, Deacon, Mr. Rudkins, Sub-Deacon, and the Rev. Father Levesque, Master of Ceremonies. At this service His Lordship gave the Apostolic Benediction in the Holy Father's name. At the services there were more than six hundred availed themselves of the rite of communion. In the streets there was nothing out of the ordinary observable otherwise than the appearance of large numbers of shamrock bquets on the hats or coats of sons of the Emerald Isle, and here and there a knot of venerable Irishmen congratulating each other and talking over old times.

A Jubilee.
The Salvation Army held a jubilee on Tuesday night. The jubilee commenced by a big parade. The soldiers mustered in full numbers, and they, together with the visiting officers, formed a procession nearly a block long. The procession proceeded up and down George street and thence along Hunter street to the Aylmer street barracks. When the procession reached there the barracks was full of people. The soldiers and officers entered from the back door and the standard bearers furled their flags in the rear of the platform. The jubilee continued after singing "We'll Storm the Forts of Darkness" in full chorus with snare and bass drum, cymbals, and triangle accompaniment, several officers prayed. Then Capt. Philpotts, of Toronto, stood up. He looks and acts much like Staff Capt. Eddie, gesticulating considerably, but is without forcible. He told the story of the calling of the first four apostles by Jesus, in conversational style, remarking that when the fishermen heard that they were to receive salvation nets instead of worldly ones, they did not take three weeks to get ready to say adieu, but immediately obeyed the call. He described Christ's career until his return to Capernaum. Then, he said, four men that were cleansed by Jesus hastened after one who was sick of the palsy. They entered his house and bore him away on his bed in order that he might be healed like themselves. When they reached the house where Jesus was the crowd was so great that they could not enter. But these were men that laughed at impossibilities. They took the man on the top of the house, tore open the roof and let him down through the aperture. "These men had faith," shouted the captain leaning forward and looking the gathering straight in the eye. He aided in tones of reproach reminding his upright attitude: "They would be called 'Yankees' if they did such a thing in Peterborough." Capt. Hart took charge of the meeting. She was a former cadet here. She had left Perth to walk 15 miles to another place to open a station. But the Lord sent a buggy for her, and she rode to her destination. The first six converts she made advised her to leave; that she could not do much good there. But before leaving she had 150 soldiers in the march. She called on saved soldiers in the audience to stand and testify for Christ. She did not want them to preach long winded sermons. If they did she would sing them down. She wanted them simply to tell how they were getting along in the faith. Several briefly testified as to the good the Spirit worked within them. Capt. Thoroughgood, of Onondago sang. During the evening several prayers were offered for the success of the evangelistic services now being held in the George Street Methodist Church.

Marriage.
One of those happy events which always create such a stir in social circles took place at the residence of Mrs. Uin, Aylmer Street, on Tuesday afternoon, when Miss Josephine, Mrs. Uin's third daughter, was united in the marriage bonds with Mr. W.H. Dayman, eldest son of Mr. T.G. Dayman, of Port Hope. Miss Moore was the bridesmaid while Mr. J. R. McCrae acted as the groom. The Rev. J.W.R. Beck, Rector of Peterborough, officiated. After the nuptials had been solemnized the wedding guests, to the number of twenty-five sat down to a luxurious dinner. The newly married left on the evening train for Toronto and other parts west. Presents for the bride, whose winning ways made her exceedingly popular in the community, were sent in by the score, while those to the groom also, were numerous. A few of Mr. Dayman's friends sent a very handsome set of china and his fellow employees in the Great North Western Telegraph Co.'s office presented an elaborate silver fruit stand. Mr. George A. Cox sent his well wished together with a handsome set of parlor furniture. Among the large collection of silverware given were trays, spoon holders, knives and forks, etc. May Mr. and Mrs. Dayman be spared to live long and happy lives.

Fluid Lightning.
All sufferers from that terrible torment, Neuralgia, can be made happy in one moment by a single application of Fluid Lightning. It is a rubric on painful parts, and without using any disgusting medicine day after day with little or no result. Fluid Lightning also cures as effectively Toothache, Lumbago, Rheumatism, Headache, and is only 15 cents per bottle at John McKee's drug store.

Personal.
Mr. Henry Best, who has been suffering from an acute attack of bronchitis for the last several weeks, is able to be about again.
Mr. Edward Blake, of Toronto, is registered at the Grand Central Hotel. He is not the honorable gentleman of the Opposition.

Mite Meeting.
The mite meeting held at the residence of Mrs. McDonald, London street, on Tuesday evening was fairly well attended. A good programme of music was provided and the evening passed off most pleasantly. The proceeds will be devoted to the organ fund in connection with St. John's Church.

Smith's Market.

Cookery Classes.
The cookery classes open this evening at 7.15 with the household cookery, and will be for every evening for the next six weeks. Saturday evenings excepted; $2 for the course, 25 cents for single admission. Superior cooking commences to-morrow at 2.30 till 4.30 o'clock; for the course of 12 lessons, 50 cents single admission.

It Might be Remarked.
—That wedding seem to be fashionable.
—That the vehicles on George street to-day are driven "swimmingly."
—That there was a great demand for the little green leaves to-day.
—That if some enterprising merchant had laid in a supply of shamrocks he might have sold out at his own price.
—That "The Barber's Shave" Company played to a small house last night.
—That Inspector Leary is on the trail.
—That all law breakers in the liquor line should take warning.

Colonists' Train.
A colonist's train passed through Peterborough at about midnight on Tuesday, bound for the North-West. The colonists came chiefly from Cavan, one or two from Hope and Manvers Townships, one from Bewdly, near Rice Lake, and one from Beaverton. Those who came from Cavan, Hope and Manvers are: Messrs. J. Graham, W. Cathcart, Jas. Armstrong, J. H. Clark, W. A. Grier, R. Henders, W. Deyell, J. Deyell, H. Heaslip, T. Heaslip, S. McKnight and D. McKnight. Three will all settle in the Alameda district, about eighty miles south of the Canadian Pacific Railway at Moose Creek. They take with them several car loads of stock and household effects. Among the stock is twelve teams of heavy draught horses and four stallions. Mr. A. Turnbull, of Bewdly, took a car load of household effects and implements and ten head of live stock, and Mr. John Burns, of Beaverton, a car load of horses. The colonists are all burly, strong young men, and will no doubt prove a valuable acquisition to the section in which they are to settle.

Wedding Bells.
A large number of friends of the contracting parties assembled at the residence of Mr. Frank Sanderson, Smith, to celebrate the marriage of Mr. Andrew Johnston, second son of Mr. Geo. Johnston, Smith, to Miss Ella Dyke, an estimable young lady who has been as one of Mr. Sanderson's family since childhood. The bride, who was beautifully attired in white and cream satin trimmed with oriental lace and orange blossoms was attended by Miss Flora Nethercutt, Miss May Edgar and Miss Maggie McKee, while Mr. Ed. Sanderson performed the duties of groomman. Miss Nethercutt was dressed in white satin with white lace trimmings; Miss Edgar wore a dress of pink nun's veiling trimmed with cream lace, and Miss McKee, one of pale blue satin with white lace trimmings. The Rev. F. E. Torrance, of St. Paul's, Peterborough, performed the marriage ceremony. The usual festivities followed, during which a large number of beautiful presents were bestowed upon both bride and bridegroom. Mr. and Mrs. Johnston departed to their newly erected home in Smith, followed by the well wishes of a host of friends.

Marriage.
One of those happy events which always create such a stir in social circles took place at the residence of Mrs. Uin, Aylmer Street, on Tuesday afternoon, when Miss Josephine, Mrs. Uin's third daughter, was united in the marriage bonds with Mr. W.H. Dayman, eldest son of Mr. T.G. Dayman, of Port Hope. Miss Moore was the bridesmaid while Mr. J. R. McCrae acted as the groom. The Rev. J.W.R. Beck, Rector of Peterborough, officiated. After the nuptials had been solemnized the wedding guests, to the number of twenty-five sat down to a luxurious dinner. The newly married left on the evening train for Toronto and other parts west. Presents for the bride, whose winning ways made her exceedingly popular in the community, were sent in by the score, while those to the groom also, were numerous. A few of Mr. Dayman's friends sent a very handsome set of china and his fellow employees in the Great North Western Telegraph Co.'s office presented an elaborate silver fruit stand. Mr. George A. Cox sent his well wished together with a handsome set of parlor furniture. Among the large collection of silverware given were trays, spoon holders, knives and forks, etc. May Mr. and Mrs. Dayman be spared to live long and happy lives.

A MOST TEMPTING
A MOST TEMPTING
A MOST TEMPTING

A most tempting opportunity is now offered by us to buyers of Dry Goods to make their Spring purchases at ROCK BOTTOM PRICES. Our last year's business having been very satisfactory, notwithstanding the general cry of depression, we have decided to make an earnest effort to sell more goods during 1886 than we have sold in any previous year. Our first move toward the accomplishment of this end has been to buy largely of Spring Goods for CASH. We have marked them at the lowest possible figures, feeling assured that the securing of Bargains by our customers is the best mode of advertising we can adopt. This is no new measure with us, only an enlargement of our former method.

Wife Murderer at Windsor.

The Result of a Drunken Quarrel—Arrest of the Mayor.

WINDSOR, Ont., March 16.—Mike Reilly a boiler maker living on Mercer Street, killed his wife this afternoon. They both are in the habit of getting intoxicated and quarrelling and it is supposed this is the result of one of their quarrels. Reilly has been arrested.

Fashionable Wedding.

KINGSTON, March 17.—To-day Miss Hewitt, daughter of Colonel Hewitt, R. A., Commandant of the Royal Military College, was given in marriage to Mr. A. W. Grassett, son of the late Dean Grassett, of Toronto, and nephew of Colonel Grassett, 10th Royals, Toronto. The marriage was a quiet one at St. George's Cathedral. Among the distinguished guests were Chief Justice Hargrave and Colonel Grassett, Toronto. Rev. H. H. Baldwin, cousin of the groom, performed the ceremony.

Clear Sidewalks.

A by-law to compel owners of property within the fire limits to keep the sidewalks passing such property clear from snow has been in force for several years. At first it was enforced, but during the last two or three winters there has been a bad retrogression. Capt. Cooper, however, is determined that this law shall be enforced. Those within the fire limits whose sidewalks are covered with snow and ice, to the great inconvenience of the pedestrian, will be notified at once. One day's grace will be given and then those not complying will be brought to the notice of the Magistrate.

Swarms of Grasshoppers.

CHICAGO, March 17.—A special asserts that farmers in Northern Ohio are much alarmed over the appearance of swarms of young grasshoppers. Several farmers have discovered strawberries alive with young grasshoppers about half an inch in length.

Told Them Very Briefly.

DENVER, Col., March 16.—Vice-President Potter, of the Burlington and Missouri R.R., was telegraphed by the striking knights on the Burlington line that they would strike if his road did not stop doing business with the Missouri and Pacific. Potter's reply was, "Strike."

Big Fire in Chicago.

CHICAGO, March 15.—The business block at the corner of Wabash Avenue and Congress Street was destroyed by fire to-night. Daniel Bros., furniture manufacturers, loss $45,000. The building is damaged $10,000. Belford, Clarke & Co., publishers, loss $5,000.

The Missouri Pacific Strike.

ST. LOUIS, March 15.—Contrary to general expectation, the Missouri Pacific officials have not made any attempt to move freight trains to-day. Accommodation trains, however, have been running on their regular schedule time and have not been interfered with.

Epidemic Among Cattle.

KINGSTON, March 16.—An epidemic has broken out among the cattle in the Township of Pittsburg. Already a dozen or more cows affected have died. The disease begins by an effusion of matter from the eyes and nose, the body swells and after much agony the animal dies.

Saving the Wreck of the Oregon.

NEW YORK, March 16.—The Merritt Wrecking Co. will make a report in regard to the raising of the wreck of the Oregon, but as she lies in 120 feet of water it is hardly thought probable the steamer will be raised. The cargo, engines and valuable parts of the vessel, however, will be brought to the surface.

Communitarian Groups.

CHICAGO, March 16.—Testimony yesterday in the case of Henry and Rudolph Blaustein, charged by Fred Kuhl with shooting with intent to kill, developed the fact that a communitarian order of riflemen exists in this city, of which the defendants are members. This group, as it is called, consists of twelve members who practice every other Sunday at rifle shooting. It is said there were over 500 of these "groups" in the United States.

The Canadian Cardinal.

QUEBEC, March 16.—A telegram from Rome states that Cardinal Simoni has forwarded an official notification of Archbishop Teasdale's elevation to the cardinalate. The report that an attempt was made yesterday to assassinate the Archbishop by a man named Leroy is absolutely false. Leroy is a lunatic, in whose possession a pistol was discovered yesterday, and the rumor in question doubtless arose from the fact that he had been heard talking against the Archbishop.

The Oregon's Assailant.

NEW YORK, March 16.—Nothing further has been heard from the schooner that ran into the Oregon. The first word of her name is thought to be Ella D.—The only schooner correspondent in any way to that name is the schooner Emma C. Cotton, which left Philadelphia on March 10 for East Cambridge, Mass. She has not yet been heard of. Seafaring men think she was out of her course if she was so near Long Island coast as the point where the Oregon was struck.

Three Acres and a Cow.

Mr. Quaritch, the book king, has discovered that in Knorr's German History of the Polish Revolution of 1848, the phrase "three acres and a cow" originated. He quotes the following passage: The leaders of the revolutionary body could no longer hold the rough masses in control, and the misled peasantry who placed trust in their adventurously offered bait, among which the promise of three acres and a cow was conspicuous, found themselves deceived, and turned the whole course of their anger against their noble betrayers."

A Chief of Police Arrested.

HALIFAX, N. S., March 16.—The Hamilton Chief of Police, Mr. Stewart, with the former Cadby, of Hudson, N. Y., in charge, en route for Hamilton, for extradition, having refused to obey the Halifax judge's telegraphed order for return of the prisoner here, he was arrested this morning at New Castle, N. B., by the police there for contempt of court in returning, and both Stewart and Cadby are held on a writ of Habeas corpus, sent hence by the same train which the pair took at Moncton. Argument for their return to Halifax will be held at New Castle.

Somewhat Severe.

"I'll bet $10 you haven't paid Mrs. Flapjack yet for your last month's board," said Bill Yard to Tom Anger, both students at the University of Texas.

"You're right. I offered to pay her, but she wouldn't take it."

"How was that?"

"I wanted her to take in payment some of your notes of hand at ten cents on the dollar, but she said she would rather have Confederate money, old issues, and as I didn't have any I couldn't pay her."—Texas Siftings.

Freight Blockade Broken.

PORT WORTH, Tex., March 17.—U. S. Marshal Cahill, with ten deputies, arrived yesterday and swore in thirty special deputies. Sheriff Maddox and Mayor Smith were called on to aid in moving the blockade lines. The deputy sheriffs and policemen repaired to the yards. The strikers were spoken to plainly and a train of twenty cars, which had come in from Houston, was moved to the Texas and Pacific road and went West. Not a striker moved. The work will continue this morning.

"You're right. I offered to pay her, but she wouldn't take it."

"How was that?"

"I wanted her to take in payment some of your notes of hand at ten cents on the dollar, but she said she would rather have Confederate money, old issues, and as I didn't have any I couldn't pay her."—Texas Siftings.

Freight Blockade Broken.

PORT WORTH, Tex., March 17.—U. S. Marshal Cahill, with ten deputies, arrived yesterday and swore in thirty special deputies. Sheriff Maddox and Mayor Smith were called on to aid in moving the blockade lines. The deputy sheriffs and policemen repaired to the yards. The strikers were spoken to plainly and a train of twenty cars, which had come in from Houston, was moved to the Texas and Pacific road and went West. Not a striker moved. The work will continue this morning.

RIVALS IN THE CONGO.

LONDON, March 17.—Herr Fligel, the German explorer and chief of the Bena Expedition, has returned to Germany and submitted his report on the alleged aggression of England in the Congo country. Germany maintains that the 9th degree of east longitude was the boundary between the German and English territories. Fligel says the English are occupying the whole of Bena and the surrounding districts as far as the 13th degree. The negotiations on the subject between the English and German Governments are amiable, but Prince Bismarck insists upon the 9th degree as the boundary.

DAVITT ON HOME RULE.

LONDON, March 17.—Michael Davitt, in a speech at Oxford, announced that his idea of a Home Rule Government was that it would always be the representative of the Crown and have command of the Imperial forces of Ireland. The power of veto should be allowed the assembly, which would consist of 800 members, 70 or 80 of whom, perhaps, might not be Home Rulers. The Government should consist of ministers of finance, land, agriculture, local government, public works and education, and should have control of the police and licenses and of the excise department. Without it, he would be a farce. He believed Ireland will not impose import duties.

THE GREAT RAILROAD STRIKE.

Knights Convinced—Little Hope of a Speedy Resumption of Freight Traffic.

WACO, Tex., March 17.—Jas. Murray and J. A. Anthony, two Knights of Labor, who were arrested on the 8th inst., charged with malicious mischief in disabling a freight locomotive on the Missouri Pacific Railway, were found guilty by the court and fined $100 each. The one will be appealed.

St. Louis, March 17.—The thirteenth day of the Gould system strike opens with as little hope of a speedy resumption of freight traffic as ever. Suburban passenger traffic is partially resuscitated with the aid of policemen and deputy sheriffs. Vice-President Horne's reply to the chairman of the Knights Executive Committee inclines many to the belief that the company will attempt no settlement with the strikers as a body, but it will wait until the number of new men employed shall be sufficient to carry on its business. Should this prove true it is understood that the order which nullified the contract will be rescinded and the strikers will be employed upon the Gould roads and their Southwestern connections to cross work.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

To the Trade.

We have instituted legal proceedings against parties who have manufactured and sold, and those now selling Cigars with narrow bands of different colors, similar to those used and registered by us, and respectfully request the trade to treat manufacturers and dealers who employ such disreputable means to resist their claims upon the public in the manner they deserve. Those who encourage them by calling their imitations we will prosecute to the fullest extent of the law, and we rely upon our friends and the respectable dealers to assist us in putting down this obnoxious class, who are a disgrace to the trade. The standard of our celebrated brands, "Cable," "E. P. Pader," "Queen's Own," and others, will always be maintained, the statements of others to the contrary notwithstanding. S. DAVIS & SONS.

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, MARCH 18, 1886.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

The ladies of the St. John's Church have a room drill at the Redburn Hall on Monday, April 26th.

The Toronto and Ottawa.

A despatch from Ottawa says it is stated that the Grand Trunk Railway Company are making arrangements to begin at an early date the construction of a line from Peterborough to Ottawa on the survey of the old Toronto and Ottawa road. Such a line, it is said, running in connection with the Canada Atlantic, would be shorter than the Canadian Pacific Railway line between Toronto and Montreal, even with the air line from Smith's Falls finished.

Gathering in.

The local billiard houses are dated yearly from the 1st of March. The houses held last year expired on that date, and for seventeen days the rooms have been running without license. Capt. Cooper abruptly put an end to this state of things on Wednesday. At four o'clock in the afternoon no license had been taken out, but by six he prevailed on all billiard room proprietors to come within the pale of the law. The money paid into the town treasury from this source on Wednesday evening amounted to $700.00.

A suggestion from Fairlyland.

The Dubuque, Clinton County, Iowa, Register says:

"Mrs. Harris, of Dubuque, recently drew a handsome span of horses, harness and buggy, raffled by James Cushing of this city. On the night before purchasing a ticket she had dreamed that she held ticket No. 75, and that it had drawn the team, she therefore, bought the ticket to test the reality of the dream. Saturday night the raffle came off and No. 75 was the lucky number. There is something in a dream after all."

Mrs. Harris is mother of Mrs. Wm. Rutherford, Ottumwa, and lived several years in that township.

Remembering their Loss.

The sorrow at Hyman's altar during the last few days have caused great tugging at the heartstrings of some would be husbands. A case has been reported where two love lions, when hearing of the tying of the nuptial knot in the case of a certain fair one, fainted dead away. When restored to consciousness they appeared before the bar of a railway ticket office and with the deepest languor in their eyes and wretchedness overhauling their jaw bones they reached out in a hopeless sort of manner and asked for a pair of tickets—single tickets—to Farnwell, B. C. The sympathizing agent soothed them and from what it is to be learned they are not dangerously ill now.

Restored.

The deputations sent by the county of Peterborough to watch legislation at the Ontario House in regard to the proposed changes in the Municipal Act have returned. The council of the county felt somewhat anxious as to the manner in which the clause dealing with extension of boundaries would be dealt with, as by widening the boundaries of the county at certain points would make the county responsible for the maintenance of several more bridges. It was decided, however, that the bills presented would be withdrawn and that a comprehensive measure would be introduced at another time, due notice of the introduction of which would be given to municipalities interested.

A Peterborough Representative.

A Kingston correspondent writes to the Toronto Mail on Wednesday as follows:

"It being necessary to elect seven members of the Senate of Queen's University, to retire in 1891, the principal and registers of the Council met today to scrutinize and count up the votes sent up by the graduates and alumni. The seven successful candidates were—Rev. Geo. McKinnon, B.A., Toronto; J. R. Mackenzie, B.A., Kingston; John Murrie, B.A., Kingston; James Burgess, M.A., Sydney; H. B. Rathbun, B.A., Deseronto; Robert Kincaid, M.D., Peterborough; and Judge Fralich, B.A., Belleville. Dr. MacArthur, B.A., London, and F. H. Crayle, B.A., Ottawa, came within one each of being elected."

No doubt Dr. Kincaid will do credit to both himself and the town of Peterborough while occupying the honorable position to which he has been appointed.

Ladies' Kid Gloves.

The Bicycle.
There will be a meeting of the Peterborough Bicycle Club in Mr. J. McNamara's room, over Mr. W. A. Sanderson's jewellery store, at eight o'clock this evening. All riders who were members last season are requested to attend, as the Club wishes to re-organize.

Saved from the Wreck.
Mr. Early, photographer, received this morning a newspaper from England which had dipped in the briny with the wrecked Oregon. The parcel was quite damp when taken from the Post Office here, and emitted a fragrance much like that which comes from a barrel of salt herring. The address was scarcely legible owing to some of the letters having been quite rubbed off.

The Mystery Solved.
WIFE—John, no wonder the shoemakers that don't work for Johnston Carey were told to strike his shop, for I bought a pair of Boots that fit me just lovely, his own make, for $2.
HUSBAND—Yes, my dear; Edward bought a pair of Boots to-day at Carey's for $5, better than mine that cost $6.50. I am going to get a pair like them on Saturday, and I think it will pay to get his make for the boys.

Scavengers.
Several men who are desirous of getting jobs as scavengers have made applications to the Medical Health Officer for such work. Dr. Clark has kept the names and addresses of these men which he will give to parties desirous of having such work done. This is the time that such work should be attended to, and ratapayers will consult their own, as well as their neighbors' interests, by attending promptly to this matter. The Sanitary Inspectors will soon make their rounds.

The Fifth in Easter.

The 17th of March, St. Patrick's Day, was duly observed by the Etonians people. The church was crowded at the celebration of High Mass at 10.30 a.m. and at the Vesper service in the evening. In the afternoon an entertainment was given in the school house, which was packed to the doors. A good programme of readings, recitations, songs, etc., was presented. During the course of the entertainment three rousing cheers were given for Gladstone and Parnell.

Still Loading.

Very few establishments in the town of Peterborough can boast of doing such a nice business as Andrew McNeil tailor and clothier George St., which can only be attributed to the superior class of goods kept, and the fair dealing meted out to his many patrons. This Spring he has just opened out the finest range of Scotch and Canadian suitings, French and English coatings and trousers, ever brought by any firm to Peterborough. In his gent's furnishing department, a glance over the new stock just opened out must convince the most critical, that all the leading markets must have been visited. We might mention neck wear in particular. A handsome lot of the cannot be found. Gentlemen in want of a spring outfit will study their own interest by paying Mr. McNeil a visit before purchasing.

It Might be Remarkable.

- That License Inspector Beavis is indignant that his patent right should be infringed on.
- That he is industriously paying his respects to keepers of refreshment stands this afternoon.
- That another cycle of time is measured.
- That the cyclists think it time to measure out their programme for the season.
- That the curriers are preparing to attend the funeral of their patron season.
- That tobogganers and skaters will follow in the wake.
- That another railway enterprise, favorable to Peterborough, is projected.
- That our fair borough is becoming a railway, as well as a commercial, centre.
- That the Grand Trunk people say the new line will shorten the distance between Toronto and Montreal.
- That the C. P. R. says it won't.

Business Notes.

Messrs. Morrow, Tierney & Co., and Messrs. Rash Bros., sport newly lettered signs in front of their places of business.
Mr. M. Dann has returned from Barlegh, where he has been taking charge of the supply house on the Trent Valley Works for the past few months. He says that the back country incidents made no impression on him whatever. He reports the work on the canal as booming in that quarter.

Mr. J. Kitchey, formerly clerk in Mr. J. Garvey's, has been engaged by Messrs. Rash Bros.

Mr. Joseph Armstrong, who has since his departure from town a few years ago, considerably widened his experience in the dry goods line, presides over one of the counters in Messrs. Griffin & Co's establishment, Crystal block.

Mr. E. K. Henderson, agent of the British Empire and Phoenix insurance companies, has fitted up a very handsome and commodious office over Mr. J. D. Tully's drug store.

Messrs. Kingston & Meekies have started business as dressmakers on Hunter street west, next to the residence of Mr. Walter Patterson, Jr. Both young ladies have had a good experience in garment making for ladies, and should do well in this part of the town. Besides it will no doubt be found convenient for ladies in the locality to leave their work where they can call so easily, and have their work attended to.

Mr. Ecos Dunford has opened a new grocery and provision store on George street in the premises formerly occupied by Mr. Comstock, south of the Market Square. Mr. Dunford has had considerable experience in the business, having done a profitable trade for a number of years on the corner of Sherbrooke and Rutledge streets, and ought to largely increase his business now that he has moved up into the town.

The Cooking School.

On Wednesday evening the cooking school was opened one door west of the Ontario Bank, under the superintendence of Miss Munro, a graduate of the National School of Cookery South Kensington, Eng. The place was brilliantly lighted and comfortably heated. Miss Munro appeared before her class wearing a copious supply of snow white apron and white gauntlets. The culinary appliances were kept in a kitchen in the rear, and were produced by attendants when required. The ins and outs of the following dishes were explained on Wednesday evening:

- Helena Pudding.
- Scotch Collops.
- Apple Fritters.
- Tomato Soup.
- Baking Powder.

Miss Munro's method of teaching is an admirable one—one resembling that of Aristotle in one point of view; she walks and talks at the same time. For instance: she says to the members of her class, who are, by the way, all armed with note books and pencils, "Take — of flour," and suiting the action to the word, she deposits the flour in the bowl and then proceeds with the next process. One feature of Miss Munro's method of teaching is especially commendable. She is unerringly economical. Each little odd and end, which most caterers would consign to the refuse bucket, is made to do service. No one can attend this school without deriving great benefit.

Mr. Schiverson's Good Work.

The George Street Methodist Church was again filled to its utmost capacity on Wednesday evening to listen to the Gospel preaching of Mr. Schiverson, the evangelist. On the platform were several clergymen who took part in the services. After half an hour had been spent in singing suitable and appropriate hymns, the speaker of the evening took his text from Matt. xii, 18th to 25th verse, as follows:

"Hear ye, therefore, the parable of the sower. When anyone heareth the word of the Kingdom and understandeth it not, then cometh the wicked one and taketh away that which was sown in the heart. This is he which receiveth seed by the way-side. But he that received the seed unto stony places, the same is he that heareth the word, and anon with joy receiveth it; yet hath he not root in himself, but endureth for a while; for when tribulation or persecution ariseth because of the word, by and by he is offended. He also that received seed among the thorns is he that heareth the word; and the case of this world, and the deceitfulness of riches choke the word, and he becometh unfruitful. But he that received seed unto the good ground is he that heareth the word and understandeth it: which also beareth fruit, and bringeth forth some an hundredfold, some sixty, some thirty."

The preacher went on to show the reasons why it was that only one-fourth of those who heard the gospel preached to them were saved. It was not God's fault, nor Jesus Christ's fault that only one-fourth of those who heard God's word preached were saved. Jesus Christ died on the cross at Calvary to save sinners—he suffered death for every man and woman that breathed the breath of life, and ever since that time men and women have been striving with their consciences, knowing that they had a Mediator for their sins in Christ. God so loved the world, that he gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth on Him, should have everlasting life. Jesus Christ finished His work for the salvation of our souls on Calvary's cross, the rest was left to mortal men, to take Christ for his example and follow in His footsteps. "If any man thirst, let him come unto Me and I will give him drink." The preacher explained in a forcible manner the reasons why it was that only one-fourth of those who heard the gospel of Jesus Christ preached unto them were saved, and concluded an excellent discourse by calling on all present to seek the Lord and His salvation.

THE FARM AND GARDEN.

An Arabian Horse.
Arabian horses are being imported into America to a slight extent of recent years. However, the famous old stallion from whom our American trotting stock is all descended, had a large strain of Arabian blood in him.

Arabian stallions have been brought to this country from time to time as presents to public men and others. But it is doubtful if a full-blooded Arabian mare was ever in the United States. They are valued more highly than the stallions, and not allowed to leave the country.

ARABIAN STALLION.

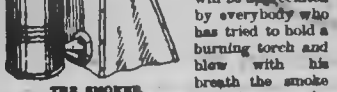

The fine animal in the picture was the favorite saddle horse of the late king of Bavaria. There are six distinct families of horses in Arabia, and the pedigree of some of these runs back unmistakably for 500 years.

There are the types for swiftness and endurance. They are not draught horses, but in the two qualities named they excel all other breeds in the world. They have delicate necks and fine, small, straight limbs, flashing eyes and a strong, flowing mane and tail. They are not large, 15½ hands being the usual height. The back is not arched much, the tail is high set, and the hoofs are always small, black, and very tough. Centuries of pounding over the sands of the desert have made them so. They have small ears and powerful chest, from which they get their great endurance. They are distinguished for soundness of wind and limb, though their high-bred, far-off cousin, the Kentucky horse, of late years seems to be developing a lack of hardiness.

The Arabian horse is noted, too, for its gentle temper and intelligence. Its master, the Arab, says the horse is Allah's best gift to man.

Bee Smoker.

A very necessary part of a bee-keeper's outfit is the smoker, with which to blow away the bees from the hive. The smoker is a small device which can be used to drive away bees from the hive. It consists of a small furnace with a bellows, attached. The smoker is used to drive away bees from the hive. It consists of a small furnace with a bellows, attached. The smoker is used to drive away bees from the hive.

THE SMOKER.

These ready-made smokers are not expensive.

To Sow Blue Grass.

I got some thirty bushels of extra cleaned seed, then I went to the saw mill and got a load of sawdust. I spread a layer of sawdust on the farm floor, then I took a bushel of blue grass seed and mixed it with the sawdust, and so on until the blue grass seed was all mixed up. I then took a rake and mixed it thoroughly. When done mixing I shoveled all into the wagon and drove to the field and went to work sowing, taking as much in my hand at a time as my hand would hold and spread it like sowing seed by hand, aiming to put two bushels of seed to the acre, or at least a bushel and a half to the acre.

The advantage of using sawdust over dirt to mix with is, first, it is much lighter to carry, and the sawdust being about the same buoyancy as the blue grass seed, the seed would stick to the sawdust, which gave a better spread of the seed. The objection to sowing dirt besides the weight was that when you throw your handful out to spread it, the dirt, being much heavier than the blue grass seed would spread off by itself and not carry the seed along with it.

Should you not get the amount of seed you desire to put on an acre the first time of sowing you can easily go over the ground a second time by going cross ways of the way you went first. The amount of sawdust you use is not particular, but to begin with, as an experiment, I would advise to take three bushels of sawdust and mix twenty-one pounds of blue grass seed with it, then measure off an acre as near as you can, and try how evenly you can spread the three bushels of sawdust and twenty-one pounds of blue grass seed on that acre. By the time you have done this you have learned about how to proportion your seed and sawdust, so as to give you an even spread of the seed you want to sow.

Treatment of Calves.

By long experience we have learned that a cow should be turned dry at least six weeks before calving; if not, the cow will not be strong, and the calf will be little and sometimes very weak. We take the calf away from the cow as soon as it is dropped, put it in a warm place, if it is cold weather, and rub it with oil. In dry time get milk from its mother and put one finger in its mouth and hold its mouth in the milk, so it can breathe. As soon as it tastes the milk it will begin to suck; then take the finger out of its mouth. In two or three times feeding a calf will learn to drink with the further trouble. By this treatment the calf is warmed, and if it is kept out of sight of the cow a few weeks the cow will not pay any attention to it, and the calf can be put in the same pasture with the cow. We keep the calf in a suitable place until it is quite tank. By gentle treatment it soon learns to come to its owner when called.

Calves treated with gentleness always make tame, quiet cows. On the other hand, if a calf is beaten and handled roughly it becomes timid and will not drink enough milk. The result is a poor, weak calf and if it lives to maturity it will never be tame. In fact, a calf that is neglected and frightened while it is being fed milk, will never make a nice quiet animal. We feed our calves milk about three months. The first four weeks we feed them three times a day, after that morning and evening. They will drink skim milk well. In summer time turn them on pasture, in winter give them clover hay—as much as they will eat. If milk is not plenty we soak pieces of stale bread in the milk, and for a change put in the milk a tablespoonful of cotton seed meal. They relish it and it makes them fat.—Mrs. J. W. Archard in New York World.

"The Flowers" Bloom in the Spring Time.

Or rather they bloom in spring, summer and early autumn. Here is a list, which is a very good one, of flowers to plant about a country home. Many can be obtained from alpine, others grow from seed, which can be got from friends or bought cheap from any good seedman.

By all means have some, if you cannot have all of them. They will cover up every defect about a house, and make it look, no matter how ugly it is, as if it was set in the center of a tower of beauty. We have made the list small so that it will be in reach of the means and strength of all our readers. Ladies and gents, we call your attention especially to it.

Annuals.—Alyssum, ageratum, aster, balsam, candytuft, carnation, calliopsis, convolvulus minor, edelweiss, heliopsis, mignonette, marigold, pink, pansy, phlox drummondii, petunia, tropeolum, verbena, zinnia.

Perennials.—Hyacinth, blue, scarlet runner, morning glory, pansy, balloon vine, sweet pea, thunbergia, canary flower, perennials, yellow, white blue, etc. Digitalis, delphinium, honesty, cypress, lily, pyrethrum, rock, sweet William, wallflower.

You will also want some of the flowering shrubs that help to make life a poem.

Among these the most desirable are the scarlet salvia, the dentata, the spirea and the syringa. Do not omit, either, the exquisite old fashioned, sweet scented honeysuckle.

How Corn is Raised in Kansas.

We commence plowing the latter part of March or the first of April, using a sixteen-inch or fourteen-inch plow for two horses. There is no need of plowing more than four inches deep. When we get through plowing we are ready to go to planting. Don't have to harrow, drag, roll and mark off the ground, but go to work with a two-horse drill, which drops the corn, one grain in a place, ten or twelve inches apart. Just as the corn is coming up we give it a good harrowing. Some, however, never touch it until it is large enough to plow, and then use the cultivator. Our success depends mainly on the first plowing, and it pays to do it well, if only three or four acres are cultivated per day. Our aim is to not leave a weed the first plowing.

Three plowings are all we ever get to give it, and very frequently it is "laid by" the second, for it keeps fellow busy to give forty or sixty acres of corn three good plowings before it gets too large to plow. Forty-five acres of corn is an average crop here for one team, some cultivate as high as eighty.

Some time in August we go over our corn with the hoe and cut all the weeds out we can find. If this is practiced year after year it will require one-half less cultivating to keep down the weeds.

I raised on an average sixty-three bushels of corn to the acre, planted and cultivated as above described, except it got but two plowings. Some of you try our plan and don't let yourselves trying to "lead" twenty or twenty-five acres of corn.

Gathering Seed Corn.

Here is the result of the experiments of Professor W. C. Latta, of Purdue university, in gathering seed corn. It will be well worth bearing in mind next fall, when the corn is ripe. Professor Latta writes:

Every year our farmers suffer great loss from defective seed corn—a loss which is just as unnecessary as it is great. We may sometimes console ourselves with the thought that we have done all we could, and that our misfortunes are the result of causes beyond our control. But so in the case of poor seed corn, for it is the result of ignorance or carelessness. Now that many farmers are facing the unpleasant prospect of having to buy seed corn at a good round price, it may be an opportune time to call attention to the fact that it is not only possible, but easy, for every farmer to produce his own seed corn. The secret of success lies in gathering the corn early enough to get it well dried before severe frosty weather comes. The corn may be gathered very early—even in the "roasting ear" stage; and if it is hung up in a dry room, or loft, in which the air can circulate freely, it will cure and grow with certainty.

Kerosene Jug Cook.

Small conveniences save much labor in the household. In the way of these there is nothing better than the cork for a kerosene jug, shown in the illustration.

A jug is better to keep kerosene in than any other vessel, but it is hard to get the fluid out. It is apt to spill when being poured out. To obtain this use a cork having two small tin tubes through it, as shown in the sketch. One of the tubes is for an air vent, the other is to pour the oil out. The tubes can be made by any tinner. Get a good, close-grained cork, burn holes in it with pointed red hot wire or rod, then force the tubes tightly through them as shown. Keep this cork at home, and use another when the jug is sent to be refilled.

Things to Do and to Know.

Baltimore will not stop stamps. The freeze has killed the Florida bloom for a while, it is feared.

Niagara county, N. Y., last year produced 709,000 barrels of apples.

President M. P. Wilder recommends the Washington strawberry apple as next in value to the Greenheart.

The last terrible weather has destroyed great numbers of quails. Whole coveys have been found frozen to death.

One of the delights of country life, in the winter, is derived from having plenty of evergreen trees about the country home.

It is claimed by an Iowa wood grower that five fine-woolled sheep can be easily kept on the feed required by three coarse-woolled ones.

Get out the manure now before you are driven with the spring work, if you have not done so already. It loses little by evaporation and washes.

Commercial phosphate manures are very valuable for old pasture lands and meadows. The production of milk takes the phosphate constituents out of the soil.

There is a great crane now over the progressive chrysanthemum. What the gardeners will finally develop from this flower it is hard to say.

Miss Eleanor Ormerod, the British government entomologist, declares that in England (beside the English sparrow) is a national agricultural pest, and must be got rid of.

The yellow Persian powder, or pyrethrum, mixed with Scotch snuff, will kill ticks in sheep, effectively. Dust in, in places about six inches apart, with a powder bellows. Take equal parts of the snuff and the powder.

The Japan chestnut will prove a valuable addition to the nuts of this country. But do not mistake it for the Spanish, which is far inferior. The shoots of the Japan chestnut are smaller than the other, and its leaves are not so broad.

HANDY TO HAVE—Every household should have some ready remedy at hand for painful diseases, sudden attacks of inflammation and accidental injury. Such a remedy is best found in Hagyard's Yellow Oil for internal and external use. It cures rheumatism, if you want, croup, neuritis, lame back, sprains, bruises and burns.

John Higgins, a old country Frenchman, and a veteran of the Crimea, has mysteriously disappeared from Montreal. His wife suspects foul play, as he is supposed to have gone to the bank to draw some money for the completion of certain business started in the suburb of St. Laumier.

THINGS IN NOTHING LIKE IT.—There is no remedy offered to suffering humanity whose use is so universally and frequently required as Hagyard's Yellow Oil, for rheumatism, neuralgia, colic, sore throat, deafness, croup, lumbago and sores, pains, lameness and soreness of all kinds, when internally and externally used.

A GREAT AWAKENING.—There is a great awakening of the sluggish organs of the human system whenever Burdock Blood Bitters are taken. It arouses the torpid liver to action, regulates the bowels and the kidneys, purifies the blood, and restores a healthy tone to the system generally.

WHAT A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY is Perry Davis Pain Killer! It not only cures the life of the human family, but it also the sure remedy for horses with colic. It has never been known to fail in a cure of the worst cases and for sprains, galls, etc., it never fails—try it once. Directions accompany many such bottles. Sold by druggists generally.—London County (L.C.) Dispensary.

If you are afflicted with rheumatism call on J. D. Tully, druggist, immediately and procure a bottle of West's Wonder or Family Liniment, it is a certain and positive cure. It is infallible for sprains, cuts, bruises, burns, sores and all diseases requiring external application. Price, 25 and 50 cents per bottle. Sold by J. D. Tully, druggist.

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, MARCH 19, 1886.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Changed Hands and Villages.

The Hastings Observer, after being published for thirty-two weeks, has ceased publication, owing, it is stated in the last number of the paper, to the state of the health of the proprietor, Mr. H. Morton. The plant of the Observer has been purchased by Mr. A. Neil Clark, who intends to start a paper in Campbellford. Campbellford has now one smallest village paper, the Herald, but perhaps there is room for another weekly journal in that prosperous village.

Police Reform.

At the meeting of the Committee on Appointment and Police Supervision held on Thursday evening a motion was passed recommending the furnishing of the members of the police force with regulation uniforms. This is a good move. Nothing gives a police force an air of respectability in the eyes of strangers, especially, sooner than seeing them all dressed alike, and neatly so. On the other hand, to see one officer dressed one way and one another, is associated with the idea of poor organization.

To the Ladies.

Miss Delaney has just received a large assortment of dress goods in a great variety of new shades, with lace and trimmings to match. Having determined to make a special feature in future of this branch of her business, she calls special attention to the prices for these goods, which will be found exceptionally cheap. Miss Delaney is also making a specialty of ladies' and children's underwear, a department which has long been wanted in Peterborough. The millinery department is also complete.

Oregon Mail.

The REVIEW received to-day some English exchanges which were dipped in the sea at the wreck of the Oregon. The addresses were somewhat blurred, but otherwise they were not much the worse for their salt water bath. About twenty mail parcels which came out by the Oregon were received at the post office to-day, and were all properly distributed with the exception of one religious periodical. This one which survived the wave and is looking for an owner is peculiarly entitled Living Water.

Where to Find Them.

In times past much complaint has been made by persons in urgent need of the assistance of the police, that when an officer is wanted he is nowhere to be found. Capt. Cooper has remedied this defect to a considerable degree. He will be in the new police station himself a good part of the time, but persons may rely on seeing a constable in the station as the clock strikes each hour, commencing at eight in the morning and ending at ten o'clock at night. At these times it has been arranged that the police-men shall take turns in coming off their beats and stay in the office for a short while. After ten o'clock the night duties commence.

Grand and Highly Attractive Sale.

Mr. C. Stapleton will, on Wednesday next, 24th March, commence an auction sale of high class English art manufactures, in the store south of the REVIEW office, George street. The goods consist of an extensive consignment of Silver Electro-plate, Oxidized Gold and Silver Goods, articles mounted on Oak, Wedgwood, Crown, Derby and other China-ware, Ivory, Handled Table Cutlery (Joseph Rodgers & Son), a selection of Musical Boxes playing the most popular operatic and other airs, Sets of Dish Covers, Entire Dishes, Turkeys, Tea and Coffee Services, Liquor and Wine Stands, Sugar and Cream Holders, Cups, Goblets, Fruit and Flower Stands, &c., &c., the whole offering an excellent opportunity to parties furnishing, and to the purchase of birthday, wedding and other presents. All will be on view on Tuesday next.

The temptation of not only obtaining a better selection of better bargains makes necessary with the fact of business to open yearly the European market. To bring leave or my friends and Peterborough shall endeavor as I have in the past to continue to the future to place them in a position for past and future to respect for a continuance of the same.

POLICE MATTERS.

The New Rules of General Governance Adopted by the Committee.

The Committee on Police Supervision met on Thursday evening for the purpose of considering the adoption of a new code of rules.

The rules were, in the main, adopted by the Committee, but have, of course, yet to receive the sanction of the Council.

The rules, as adopted by the Committee, first give the Chief Constable exclusive control of the force, subject, when necessary, to orders from the Committee.

The Chief is held responsible for the good order and discipline of the men, and for the regularity and efficiency of their work.

The Chief is enjoined to see that all standing regulations, and all others, are strictly obeyed, and he is held responsible for the general performance of the duties within the town. He must give clear and precise instructions to the men under him, and take prompt action against any constable guilty of disobedience or neglect.

It is made incumbent on the Chief to visit the men frequently in the day time, and occasionally at night, to see that they are regular, sober and efficient in the discharge of their duties.

The Chief is empowered to issue such orders as he may deem expedient for the good government of the force; and the members of the force are to obey implicitly.

In case of a charge being preferred against any constable the Chief is authorized to investigate. If the charges are of importance he shall submit the charge in writing to the committee. The committee shall hear evidence and dispose of the case.

It will be the Chief's duty to submit to the committee all significant charges he may make against members of the force, such as for dereliction of duty, when on or off duty, drunkenness, disobedience, incivility; but minor offences he will dispose of himself. He may reprimand a constable or impose a penalty for such misconduct.

It will be the Chief's duty to appear in person at all tumultuous assemblies and to take charge of the force in person.

In important cases the Chief is authorized to prepare a memorandum of the evidence for the information of the Magistrate.

The Chief is to be thoroughly cognizant of the exigencies of the department, and no order or action is to be taken without his certifying to the same before the signature of the chairman of the committee is attached.

The Chief is given the power of immediate suspension of members of the force in such cases as demand immediate action.

Every member of the force is to devote his whole time to business of the department.

The efforts of the force must be directed, first, to the prevention of crime, and second, to the detection and punishment of offenders.

The members must be ready to turn out on duty at any time and be prepared to act where they may be required. They must be quiet and orderly, perform their duties with decorum and discretion, and they must refrain from profane and insolent language. They must be neat in their persons, and dress in conformity with the regulations. Whenever member shirts duty in time of danger will be discharged as an unworthy officer.

No communications between members of the force and outsiders in regard to police duties shall be permitted, unless passing the censorship of the Chief.

The cow by-law is to be strictly enforced.

Members wishing to resign must give a month's notice. Those resigning to avoid charges being made against them shall be dismissed with loss of arrears of pay.

The Committee will discharge any constable convicted of being unfit for duty from the effects of liquor, or for being found asleep on beat.

Constables found slightly under the influence of liquor will be subject to severe punishment or dismissal. Drinking or card-playing in public houses is forbidden to members of the force.

Any of them found frequenting public houses, except on duty, or frequenting shops where liquor is sold, will be dismissed.

The Chief Constable is to do all in his power by example, admonition and precautionary measures, to prevent the evils of drinking among the police-men.

The punishment of an officer found guilty of not enforcing the license law is placed at $10 for each wilful neglect.

The right of entry to any licensed premises is not to be demanded unless the constable has grounds for believing that a violation of the law is at the time going on. In general a constable is not to enter a public house, except by the direction of the Chief.

An officer on special duty, or at meals, may be furnished with spirituous liquor, but in other cases a constable can consume liquor only under pain of severe punishment or dismissal.

Appended to the report was a set of regulations regarding what constituted assaults, vagrants, etc., and in what manner prisoners should be used.

Symposium.

St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, was crowded on Thursday afternoon at four o'clock, the occasion of the marriage of Mr. W. Davenport Card, of Grafton, to Miss Sidney, daughter of Mr. W. L. Johnston, of Peterborough.

The bride was attended by Miss Alice Blackburn, while the groom was supported by his brother, Mr. John Card. The Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, the Rector, officiated. After the marriage service was performed there followed the usual felicitation. The newly-wed departed in the evening for Belleville and other points east.

Miss Johnston occupied the position of superintendent in Messrs. Fair, Van Every & Co.'s dressmaking department almost since that firm commenced business in Peterborough, the duties of which she fulfilled to the satisfaction of the large number of patrons, and at the same time made herself exceedingly popular with her staff.

The firm under the new regime regret very much to lose her valuable services, but at the same time join with her many friends in wishing her a long and happy married life.

Ladies' Kid Gloves. In Mouquiere and four buttons. We are showing all the newest shades, comprising Tan, Beiges, Fawns and Golden Browns. R. FAIR.

The Mystery Solved.

Wise—John, no wonder the shoemakers that don't work for Johnston Carey were told to strike his shop, for I bought a pair of Boots that fit me just lovely, his own make, for $2.

HUBBARD—Yes, my dear; Edward bought a pair of Boots to-day at Carey's for $5, better than mine that cost $6.50. I am going to get a pair like them on Saturday, and I think it will pay to get his make for the boys.

For England.

Mr. William English will ship to-morrow five nests of his celebrated varnish finished canoes to his agents for Great Britain, Messrs. Ward & Co., 166 Piccadilly, London, England. The nests contain six canoes each, making in all a shipment of thirty canoes. This attests the growing popularity of the English canoes with the English people, as well as with the Canadians.

Attractive.

Behind one of the broad sheets of plate glass in the front of Mr. R. Fair's dry goods store is a sight which attracts considerable attention. The window is dressed with finely printed linen lawn handkerchiefs, exquisitely embroidered and hand sewed. Scores of these are ranged in delicate mounds while a revolving stand placed in the center shows off the various styles in a pleasing manner. The whole is overhung with a wealth of colored Spanish laces.

Personal.

Mr. Joseph English has been paying a visit to his relations in town. He has been absent from town for nine years, during which time he has, by honest exertion, raised himself to attain to the responsible position which he now holds, that of a traveller for the Baldwin Locomotive Works of Philadelphia. Mr. English operates chiefly in South America.

Col. Brown Chamberlin, Queen's Printer, has been in town visiting his daughter and other relations.

Still Landing.

Very few establishments in the town of Peterborough can boast of doing such a nice business as Andrew McNeil tailor and clothier George St., which can only be attributed to the superior class of goods kept, and the fair dealing meted out to his many patrons. This Spring he has just opened out the finest range of Scotch and Canadian suitings, French and English coatings and trousers, ever brought by any firm to Peterborough. In his giant's furnishing department, a glance over the new stock just opened out must convince the most critical, that all the leading markets must have been visited. We might mention neck wear in particular. A hand, some lot of ties cannot be found. Gentlemen in want of a spring outfit will study their own interest by paying Mr. McNeil a visit before purchasing.

ARTIFICIAL HELP TO THE EYE

TO

THE EYE

To those suffering or in danger of suffering from Defective Sight, the selection of an artificial help to the eye is of the utmost importance. It should be taken to consult a responsible specialist in Spectacles or Eye Glasses who will give you true advice on the subject. Great pains should also be taken to procure information as to the best market of the goods, whose long experience will warrant the conviction that his goods are constructed in accordance with the scientific and philosophic of nature.
